DEEP CREEK REALTY
REAL ESTATE
BY ROBERT HUEBNER
DEEP CREEK REALTY

GO AHEAD! TAKE THE FIRST STEP!

When you're ready to buy a home, what's the first step you'll need to take? Start looking at homes? No. Here's a better suggestion.

You probably have a pretty good idea what type home you'll be wanting to buy, don't you? Do you know how many bedrooms and baths will be needed? What style home do you prefer and in what location?

Do you know how much home you can afford to purchase, how much cash you have available for a down payment, and what monthly payments will be satisfactory?

Once you know the answers to all those questions, your first step should be in the direction of the office of the best real estate agent you can locate. You see, there are numerous details involved in locating the right property for you. Those details center around the agent's knowledge of your family's wants and needs. That's why it's so important to meet first at the agent's office, then make plans to inspect homes.

During the first meeting with your agent you'll have the opportunity to explain the importance of school locations, shopping, and other amenities. Close proximity to your employment may also be a factor in making your housing decision.

By understanding your living style, a wide selection of homes can be located. Your purchase can then be made with confidence.

If you'd like to purchase a home, but feel out-of-touch with what's happening in real estate, give us a call today at 387-5303, or drop by our office in the McHenry Plaza.

GFWC Holds Meeting, Discusses Show And Sale

The GFWC Civic Club of Oakland held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, September 28, to discuss plans for the 16th Autumn Glory Antique Show and Sale.

The Antique Show and Sale will begin on Friday, October 13 through Sunday, October 15, at the National Guard Armory. Shirley Panther is the antique show management committee chairman and Faye Denison is the co-chairman.

The Antique Show and Sale was first suggested to Frances Riley, former president, by Bob Proudfoot, an area pharmacist. "We decided to try it in the hope that we would at least break even, and the gain these past years has gone in contributions to many different worthy organizations," said Lollie Fridinger, president.

Bobby Henderson and Agnes Dzenzel will take charge of the food booth at the National Guard Armory during the sale; Phyllis Winkelvoss will be in charge of quilts; Ann Grant will lead pie-making on October 3 at St. Paul's United Methodist Church; and Roberta Anderson will take charge of soup-making using Polly Hanst's Autumn Glory Soup Recipe.

Faye Denison gave a demonstration on making Christmas tree decorations.

Vice-president Martha Jachowski presided over the meeting as Lollie Fridinger was attending the Maryland Federation of Women's Club Board of Directors' meeting held in Ocean City.

Lioness Club Holds Meeting

The McHenry Lioness Club held its September meeting at the home of Lioness Jan Davis, Lake Shore Drive.

Historical Trust Seeks Applicants For CLG Funds

The Maryland Historical Trust, a unit of the Department of Housing and Community Development, is seeking applications from qualified local governments who wish to participate in the State's Certified Local Government (CLG) Program.

Under provisions of the National Historic Preservation Amendments Act of 1980, Congress expanded the successful federal-state preservation partnership to include participation by counties and incorporated towns. Certified Local Governments are responsible for the review and evaluation of properties from within their respective jurisdictions nominated for listing in the National Register of Historic Places, and are eligible to apply to the State Historic Preservation Office for matching funds earmarked for Certified Local Governments. In order to become certified, a local government must have enacted an historic preservation ordinance and appointed an adequate and qualified historic district/preservation commission, among other requirements.

Approved Certified Local Governments are eligible to apply for a share of matching federal Survey and Planning grant-in-aid funds, made available through the Maryland Historical Trust. The Trust must make available to these governments at least 10 percent of its federal funds allocated for FY 90, estimated to be approximately $64,000. Funds may be used for survey, registration, preservation planning and educational purposes.

To date, 11 Maryland jurisdictions — the City of Annapolis, Baltimore County, the Town of Bel Air, Calvert County, the Town of Chestertown, the City of Frederick, the City of Hagerstown, Montgomery County, Price George's County, the City of Rockville, and Talbot County — have been approved and are participating in this program.

Certified Local Government status is required before local governments may apply for current FY 1990 CLG-share matching funds. Applications for such funding are due no later than February 1, 1990. To obtain a copy of the Maryland CLG procedures or an application for FY 1990 matching funds, persons may contact Michael K. Day, administrator, Local Government Preservation Programs, Maryland Historical Trust, 45 Calvert Street, Annapolis, MD 21401 or call 974-3642.

Transportation Program Sponsors Training Course

The Garrett Transportation Program of Community Action recently sponsored a passenger assistance training course at the Community Action offices. The session was directed by Rick Adams of Hanover Patient Services, Gettysburg, Pa.

Transportation drivers and supervisors were instructed on the proper method of assisting and transporting elderly and/or handicapped clients. Instruction consisted of a series of films and lectures, as well as several practical application exercises such as using blindfolds to conceptualize sightlessness and negotiating wheelchairs on ramps provided for the handicapped. Adams also gave individualized instruction on the mechanics of operating the wheelchair lift van.

Linda Green, program director, stated, "This application is another valuable tool whereby we may offer the county quality transportation service. It is our goal to keep our driving staff safety and comfort concious."

Participants of the program will receive certification patches, and will carry PAT Certified Technician cards.

PE Continues To Supply Computers To Local Schools

When children returned to school earlier this fall, they were greeted by more computers than ever — the results of a partnership between Potomac Edison, school districts, and state departments of education in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

More than 2,300 computer screens in 150 classrooms teach math, science and language arts, helping students to make academic progress and interact with state-of-the-art technology.

"The computer is a private tutor that gives instant feedback and individualized instruction to each student," said PE President Elmer Kaelin. "Through these individually-tutored classrooms, students in our rural service territory have access to educational opportunities on par with the best in the country."

The electric utility began the program in 1986, placing its first networked computer classroom in Oldtown (Md). During 1987 and 1988, more than 70 other classrooms were placed in public schools and colleges throughout Potomac's Edison's 7,300-square-mile service area. In 1989, the number of classrooms exceeded 150, with more planned for this school year.

Garret County schools receiving new computers this year were Accident, Friendsville, Grantsville, and Route 40 elementary schools. Local schools that already had computer classrooms through this program include Dennett Road and Kitzmiller elementary, Southern High School, and Garrett Community College.

In the beginning, Potomac Edison provided entire classrooms of computers, each with a network, printers and some software, but the partnerships with the three states and local districts are really blossoming, Kaelin said. Now, the company is often providing a network and five computers, which will be matched by 15 more computers over three years by the local districts.

Frostburg State Theatre To Open With "Reckless"

The University Theatre of Frostburg State University will raise the curtain on its 1989-1990 season with Craig Lucas comedy "Reckless," October 12-14. The performances will begin each evening at 8:15 p.m. in Compton Auditorium on the University campus.

Linda G. McCulloch, assistant professor of communications and theatre arts at FSU, will direct this production which she feels can best be summed up as a "comic nightmare." Robert L. Smith, FSU assistant professor of communication and theatre arts, is designing the show.

McCulloch noted she chose this play not only because of its bizarre humor, but also for its artistic merit. "The humor of the play is undercutting and is derived mainly from the heavily ironic situations written in Lucas' clever script," she explained.

A cinematic, episodic look at the life of a "happy" suburban housewife in the 1980s, "Reckless" revolves around Rachel's odd and eye-opening struggle to maturity. The play opens one Christmas Eve when Rachel is suddenly forced to flee her "perfect" home to save her life. She undertakes a journey of dangerous adventures as she wanders from town to town. Through humor and vividly delineated characters, Lucas creates wonderfully strange and engrossing worlds in which faith and love are still possible despite all odds. Without wanting to reveal too much of the play's thematic threads, McCulloch has chosen selections of famous quotations for her program notes, all of which deal with the concept of dream versus reality.

Although the play has 28 scenes in all, "Reckless" is staged with suggestive sets and scenery. Because of the use of suggestive sets and set dressings, McCulloch pointed out that the weight of the production falls back onto the actors and the script. She feels the combination of Lucas' comedy and the talents and efforts of the student actors at the University is a strong enough one to create both an entertaining and thought-provoking show.

"Reckless" was first staged, in an earlier form, by The Production Company in 1983. The current version was first performed in September of 1988 at New York's Circle Repertory Company. The New York Times deemed the play as "exhilarating . . . a bittersweet Christmas fable for our time."

For ticket reservations or additional information, persons may contact the University Theatre, Monday-Friday, 1-4:30 p.m., at (301) 689-4145.

Bob Teets Joins GCC Faculty To Teach Journalism

Bob Teets, publisher and free lance journalist, has joined the adjunct faculty of Garrett Community College to teach the introductory journalism course. The former editor and publisher of the Preston County News is the instructor of Journalism 101 and advisor to the college newspaper.

Teets, who lives in Terra Alta, has a B.S. degree in journalism from West Virginia University. He was editor and publisher of the Preston County News for five years and has done free lance writing of newspaper and magazine articles and speeches for many years. He is currently working on two mystery novels.

Through his affiliation with the West Virginia Press Association, Teets formed a publishing company that published two books about the 1985 flood in West Virginia, Killing Waters and Killing Waters II. The success of these books led to a call from the California Press Association, and the publishing company subsequently produced a book, Rivers of Fear, about the flood there.

Other books published by the firm have been art books, children's activity books, illustrated trade books, and Garrett County Today, an illustrated account of places and events in Garrett County. According to Teets, the firm is currently working on a biography of A. James Manchin, former treasurer of West Virginia.

Teets has taught creative writing as part of the Salt Lick Arts Project in West Virginia and says he is looking forward to teaching the journalism course. "It is a tremendous opportunity for me. I am delighted with the interest the students have shown and with the cooperation I have received from the administration and faculty," he said.

The journalism class plans to publish three issues of the GCC Observer this semester, with the first issue to appear in early October. According to Teets, the students in the class will get "hands-on" journalism experience in publishing the paper. The staff is encouraging submission of articles and letters to the editor.

"We want the students and faculty to let us know what they would like to see in the newspaper," Teets said. "A newspaper is an expression of its readers."

Police Request Public Support In War On Drugs

Senior members of the Maryland Chiefs of Police Association are calling on communities to support law enforcement efforts in Maryland's battle against drugs.

"It's going to take everybody working together," said J. Earl Walker, retired Chief, Havre de Grace Police Department.

Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service broadcast, Chief Walker was joined by J. Vaughan McMahan, retired Chief, Bel Air Police Department in a plea for public support in the war on drugs.

"We need more relations with the family and schools," said Chief McMahan. "I think we have to educate the people first," Chief McMahan added.

"Hopefully the public will get involved and say, hey . . . we've had enough," added Lemuel E. Porter, retired Chief, Aberdeen Police Department. "Law enforcement (alone) cannot do it," Chief Porter stated.

J. Vaughan McMahan retired from the Bel Air Police Department in 1973 after serving 36 years on the force, 26 of them as Chief of Police. Chief McMahan is a charter member of the Maryland Chiefs of Police Association and served as the association's third president. J. Earl Walker retired from the Havre De Grace Police Department after serving for 38 years with the department, 28 years as Chief of Police. Lemuel E. Porter retired after serving 8 years as Chief of the Aberdeen Police Department. Chief Porter, a retired Lieutenant Colonel with the Maryland State Police, served 32 years with the agency.

All three retired police chiefs remain active with the Maryland Chiefs of Police Association, which held its 25th Annual Conference in Ocean City, Maryland earlier this month.

During the five-day conference, law enforcement executives attended lectures and workshops feturing a variety of topics including Maryland's drug epidemic. A presentation on a new infrared breath program for DWI testing was offered by Yale H. Caplan, Ph.D., State of Maryland Toxicologist. The DWI presentation included a video production on the automation, computerization and modernization of Maryland's system for blood alcohol content analysis.

The Maryland Chiefs of Police Association is comprised of approximately 300 members statewide. The association has participated in a number of community based crime prevention and highway safety programs including National Night Out and Operation C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort).

The Maryland State Police Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

Garrett County Census Planners Meet AT GCC

Representatives of 11 agencies met recently at Garrett Community College to begin preparing Garrett County for the upcoming 1990 census of population. The Garrett County Commissioners have stressed the importance of an accurate census count. County funding for housing, roads, schools, and many other features of regional life is tied to the census of population. Communities that do not achieve an accurate census of population stand to lose funding they should rightfully receive.

Dr. Steve Herman, GCC president, convened the meeting. Attending were Bill Aspinall, Appalachian Crossroads; Roberta Baker, Garrett County Department of Social Services; Norma B. Bolding, Garrett County Health Department; Edith Brock, Ruth Enlow Library; Robert Clark, Western Maryland Consortium; Al Feldstein, Maryland Office of Planning; Ronald Gillum, Town of Grantsville; Jim Morris, Garrett County Board of Education; John Nelson, Garrett County Planning Office; and Duane Yoder, Garrett County Community Action.

All participants agreed that an accurate census benefits every Garrett Countian and that the county should make a maximum effort to get one hundred percent participation. Two factors were identified as most important: community awareness and community cooperation. "People need to know first that completing the forms is the law and second that the people who benefit most from completing the census are Garrett Countians themselves," stated a spokesman for the group.

The group will seek to coordinate with state and federal agencies. Local Census Assistance Centers shall be established, although only one in 20 people will be required to fill out the census long form. "The short form is very easy to complete," the spokesman said.

The Commissioners will be taking a lead role in advertising and promoting the census. They are hopeful that every Garrett Countian will complete the census form when it arrives. "Full participation means a better Garrett County for everyone," the spokesman concluded.

PLANNING THE CENSUS — Various local persons, representing a variety of agencies, met recently at Garrett Community College to begin preparation for the 1990 census of U.S. population. County funding for various agencies and programs is based partially upon population, so local organizers are hoping for 100 percent participation in the census by Garrett County residents. Dr. Stephen Herman, GCC president, pictured right foreground above, convened the meeting.

Evans Receives Scholarship From NASE

Melinda Evans, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., has received a $500 scholarship from the National Association for the Self-Employed (NASE) for the fall 1989 school semester.

The NASE was founded in 1981 by a group of entrepreneurs who recognized that small-business owners had been locked out of the benefits big businesses could negotiate. The Fort Worth-based association now has 165,000 members nationwide.

Evans will be a sophomore at Waynesburg College, majoring in English/Secondary Education. Her application was one of more than 800 received by the NASE Foundation, Inc., which oversees scholarships for the NASE. The $35,000 was divided among 70 students from across the nation.

"The NASE hopes to take a role in developing tomorrow's leaders by providing scholarship funds for young people today," said Bill Witcher, association president. Among the qualities judged in the awards, the NASE considered dedication, commitment, above-average academic standing, leadership ability, ingenuity, desire, and need.

"We also looked for students who exemplify the entrepreneurial spirit that is not only the backbone of American business success, but the cornerstone of democracy," explained Witcher. "It is the NASE's wish that those students who receive scholarship awards will make significant economic and social contributions to their families, their communities, and their country."

FSU Homecoming Event Scheduled For This Weekend

The good times are sure to roll at Frostburg State University this coming weekend as the University celebrates its annual Homecoming, October 5-8, with a full schedule of events, FSU Director of Alumni Affairs Colleen T. Peterson anticipates this year's return of alumni and visitors to the campus will top last year's record attendance. She added that the theme of this year's Homecoming is "Let the Good Times Roll."

The University's celebration has all the ingredients of true traditional homecoming weekend, she said, including Friday night's annual Bobcat Growl Pep Rally and Fireworks Show at 9:30 p.m. in Bobcat Stadium, as well as Saturday's parade at 11 a.m. along Frostburg's Main Street, football game at 1:30 p.m., and homecoming dance with dance band Coverstory in the Lane Center Multi-use Room, beginning at 9:30 p.m.

The weekend's festivities get underway this evening, October 5, with a new addition to the traditional Bobcat Homecoming schedule. The first-ever Alumni Achievement Award Lecture Series and Reception will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Lane Center, Room 201, featuring three of this year's FSU Alumni Achievement Award recipient and two from last year's group. Slated to speak are Martin P. Welch, Timothy Martin and James Narron, this year's recipients, and Alfred E. Martin and J. Ronald Hennings, two of last year's honorees.

Scheduled for Friday, October 6, FSU's Career Day 1989 will once again be held in conjunction with the campus' Homecoming activities. Dr. Ernestine Montgomery, FSU director of career services, coordinates the day-long event which features 87 alumni who will speak to students, the campus community and the general public on their career experiences in a vast range of professional fields. Included on this year's program are the five Alumni Achievement Award recipients — Timothy Martin, class of 1970, associate professor of fine arts at the Junior College of Albany; James Harron, class of 1978, director of the Maryland State Games; David Edgerley, class of 1974, director of Allegany County Department of Economic Development; Martin Welch, class of 1974, assistant Baltimore City solicitor; and Henry (Hank) Heller, class of 1964, assistant director of the Secondary Learning Centers.

Following the morning Career Day presentation, the Alumni Achievement Award recipients will be honored with a luncheon, beginning at noon. Presentation of their awards will be made at that time. FSU President Herb. F. Reinhard will welcome the guests, while Dr. Montgomery will offer opening remarks and Peterson will make introductions.

Saturday's events will get underway with the six-division parade along Frostburg's Main Street. The parade will step off at 11 a.m. at the intersection of West Main Street and Armstrong Avenue and proceed down Main Street, finally disbanding at Bowery Street. The parade will feature seven local bands, including FSU's own marching band, floats, and a host of state, local and University dignitaries. Lewis J. Ort, of LaVale, is serving as the parade's grand marshal.

Later in the afternoon, the Bobcat football team will take on St. Francis College at 1:30 p.m. in Bobcat Stadium. The coronation of the new 1989 FSU Homecoming royalty will be held during the game's halftime events, which also will feature the University's marching band and Kittenette drill team. Also the Bobcat team will play an Eastern College on Saturday at 11 a.m.

In addition, a variety of departmental receptions are also scheduled throughout the weekend, as well as a show in the campus' Planetarium and an Alumni Music Recital and Reception at 2:30 p.m. on Sunday, October 8 in Pullen Auditorium.

Welding Students At GCC Observe Newest Technology

Students in the welding classes at Garrett Community College were treated to a demonstration of the most modern metal cutting technology available last week when Jeff Purinton of the Thermal Dynamics Corporation and Kenneth Glessner of Cumberland Welding and Supply demonstrated and explained a process known as plasma arc metal cutting.

Unlike the traditional methods of metal cutting that uses saws, grinders, and oxy-acetylene torches, the plasma arc system uses super heated gas, compressed air, and electricity to cut any type of metal. In this technology, the term plasma refers to a gas that is heated to such a high temperature, as much as 30,000-40,000 degrees Fahrenheit, that it becomes capable of conducting electricity.

This process attracted the attention of the industry because of its ability to cut non-ferrous metal such as stainless steel, aluminum and copper. Unlike oxy-acetylene, which is an oxidation process and does not work on metals that do not oxidize, plasma is a melting process that will work on virtually any metal. In recent years, the plasma process has been greatly improved, largely as a result of inventions perfected by the Thermal Dynamics Corporation, until it is now an efficient and cost effective system to use for metal cutting.

During the demonstration at GCC, students viewed videos on the subject and actual demonstrations in the welding shop. These demonstrations were made possible by the presence of the Thermal Dynamics demo van which is equipped with plasma arc cutting equipment of various sizes and designs. The equipment was used to cut steel, aluminum, and copper. Following the demonstration, the students had an opportunity to try their hands using the machines they had been observing.

Garrett Community College has been conducting welding classes in the Technical Center since 1976 and is equipped to teach arc, mig, tig, oxy-acetylene and plasma arc welding and cutting. According to Ed Norman, instructional shop supervisor, courses are designed to offer training to individuals with no welding experience or to upgrade skills of experienced welders. The program can be shaped to fit individual needs, with emphasis in all classes on safety and hands-on experience.

Welding classes for this fall semester are currently underway, but beginning and advanced courses will be offered in the spring. Anyone desiring further information should call Tom Kierstead in the Continuing Education Office, 387-6666.

DIDN'T MOW SO WILDLIFE COULD GROW — Arnold and Oma Moses, pictured above center, have 36 acres of their farm on Paradise Point Road in the Conservation Reserve Program (CRP). This year, in cooperation with the County ASCS and the state Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, a part of this land was used to promote wildlife by leaving an unmowed buffer strip to provide food, protective cover and nesting sites for wildlife. According to ASCS officials, earlier CRP contracts specified that the land must be mowed twice, approximately June 15 and August 15. This wildlife program relaxes the June 15 mowing to benefit nesting animals and small game. This also allows good grass to go to seed, but owners should watch for the growth of noxious weeds which must still be controlled. Officials say that the Moses' farm is an ideal area to promote wildlife. "Being so near the lake (Deep Creek Lake), there is a lot of building going on," said District Conservationist Gary Morfoot. "The land makes a good transition from woods to high grass to low grass, and the area is home to deer, turkey, small game, quail and grouse." The sign pictured below is posted on the property to let the public know why the land has not been mowed. Pictured above, left to right, are Mike Kozier, County ASCS executive director; Gary Morfoot, district conservationist; Mr. and Mrs. Moses, and Al Bourgeois, county wildlife manager, Forest, Parks and Wildlife Service. The Conservation Reserve Program is a voluntary program designed to encourage farmers to stop growing crops on highly erodible cropland and to plant those acres to grass, trees, or wildlife cover for a 10-year contract period.

Four County Jersey Herds Place In State's Top 10 For August

A number of dairy herds in Garrett County were listed as "top" herds in Maryland for the month of August by the Maryland DHIA, including four Jersey herds which placed in the top 10 for the breed.

The four Jersey herds which placed in the state's top 10 were owned by: Paul and Naomi Petersheim, 23 cows, 56.4 pounds of milk per day of 3.5 percent fat-corrected milk, top Jersey herd; Eli Swartzentruber, 34 cows, 53.2 pounds of milk per day of 3.5 percent fat-corrected milk, second highest herd; Homer Kinsinger, 40 cows, 48.5 pounds of milk per day of 3.5 percent fat-corrected milk, fourth highest herd; and Acorn Acres, Howard and Mike Kepple, 28 cows, 47.4 pounds of milk per day of 3.5 percent fat-corrected milk, sixth highest herd.

The Marvin Kinsinger Guernsey herd placed seventh in the state's 10 highest herds of that breed with 31 cows and 43.4 pounds of milk per day of 3.5 percent fat-corrected milk.

Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation To Hold Fundraiser

The Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation, Inc. will kick off a major fund-raising effort to promote agricultural education throughout the state. The kick-off will be $50 a plate dinner at 6 p.m. Thursday, November 16, at the Stouffer Harbor Place Hotel at 202 East Pratt Street in downtown Baltimore. The evening's main speaker will be Shirley Traxler, director, Ag in the Classroom, U.S. Department of Agriculture. She will talk on the importance of agricultural education in the school curriculum.

Maryland Governor William Donald Schaefer requested that the foundation be created to coordinate public/private sector cooperation to improve agricultural education in the classroom. Wayne A. Cawley Jr., Maryland secretary of Agriculture, responded to the governor's request by forming the foundation. Included on the foundation's board of directors are Secretary Cawley; Dr. James Norton, interim chancellor of the University of Maryland System; Dr. Joseph Shilling, state superintendent of schools, and individuals representing a myriad of interests within the agricultural industry.

"This dinner will be our first public effort to provide financial support for continued development of educational programs that help students understand the important role that agriculture has in this state and in the United States," said foundation president, Vaughn Bradley, an executive of the Baltimore Gas and Electric Company.

In addition to providing financial support for the teaching of agricultural education at all levels, the foundation will also support curriculum development, training programs for teachers and textbook review.

For further information on the dinner, those interested may contact Carol Ann Hilton, executive director, at 301-467-5695.

Fairboard Treats Volunteers With Appreciation Meal

The Garrett County Fair Board treated a large crowd of volunteers and fair organizers to a baked steak dinner Saturday night at the Bittinger Community Building.

Following dinner, Board President Gerald Glotfelty introduced guests, including Monica Miller, first runner-up in the Garrett County Farm Queen Contest. Glotfelty thanked the Garrett County Extension Agents for all they do before, during and after the fair, and thanked County Commissioner Elwood Groves for his personal donation to the county fair.

Glotfelty said that exhibits at the 1989 county fair were up 672 from 1988's 3,648 exhibits, with the 1989 figure at 4,320. Exhibitors were also up, with 1988 figures at 1,099 and 1989 totals at 1,353, an increase of 254. Premiums also increased with this year's total $13,957, almost a $1,000 increase from 1988's total of $13,119.

IN APPRECIATION — This large crowd of organizers and volunteers were treated to an appreciation dinner by the Garrett County Fair Board for their help in making the 1989 Garrett County Fair a huge success. The dinner was held last Saturday night at the Bittinger Community Building.

"It doesn't look like our fair is going backwards," Glotfelty said. "It's going in the right direction."

Glotfelty noted improvements which were seen at the 1989 fair for the first time. They included a new dairy barn, a new well, and new announcers' stand. One member of the crowd said, on behalf of the volunteers, she would like to thank the fair board for the many other improvements which have been made in recent years, such as the new restroom, paved walkways which got everyone out of the mud, and the landscaping, all of which made the week easier for those helping with the fair.

It was announced that the First United National Bank and Trust, Oakland, had donated one-half a beef to the fair board and that tickets were being sold for a raffle.

Glotfelty announced that Claude Wagner Jr. retired as fair manager in August, and thanked him and his wife, Jane, for their 33-plus years of help and support given to the fair.

Wagner, in return, recognized Glotfelty for "making more trips to the fairgrounds, spending more hours on the telephone, and chewing more 'Honneycut' tobacco" to make the fair a success.

Entertainment for the evening was presented by Pam and Tammy Brenneman, who sang a selection of country and gospel songs. At the evening's end, a benediction was given by Rev. Louise Knotts.

Hints To Growers

by Jim Simms
Extension Agent, Agriculture Science

Fall Lawn Care

Thatch: What is thatch? Thatch is all of the grass clippings that have accumulated at ground level that has failed to decay. This undecayed material can present problems. First of all, it provides an ideal environment for over-wintering diseases and insects. Secondly, heavy thatch crowds out new grass seedlings. Now is the time to remove the thatch and give your grass a chance to develop new seedlings.

Fertilization: Bluegrass and fine fescues mainly reproduce in the fall. This is one reason why it is importance to lime and fertilize in the fall. An application of two to three pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet will be very beneficial. The nitrogen will make your grass speed up growth; therefore, it is very important to keep mowing the grass regularly until it goes dormant which could be as late as Thanksgiving.

Weed Control: Fall is by far the most effective time to kill weeds. The perennial weeds such as ground ivy, chickweed (winter annual), henbit, etc., are storing up food for winter; therefore, the plants easily absorb the herbicide. I would suggest using a herbicide that contains two, 4-D and MCPP. Some of the mixed herbicides contain dicamba (Banvel). Be very careful using dicamba around trees and ornamental shrubs. Dicamba is systemic and can be absorbed through the roots and possibly kill trees and shrubs. Read and follow the label carefully.

Dormant Oil Spray

Dormant oil is a very effective and safe pesticide to use on plants for insects and disease control. Many insects, eggs, etc., over-winter on plants. The oil spray will kill many of these causative agents — apply the oil spray when the plants are dormant and the temperature is above freezing.

Crop Notes

*Last week I moisture tested a lot of field corn. Quite a lot was ready to put in as corn silage and some was ready for high moisture corn. My advice is to keep a close check on your corn. I would rather have corn silage a little on the wet side than too dry.

*In most areas of the county the frost was not hard enough to put the alfalfa to "sleep." Don't harvest until dormant.

*Fall is an excellent time to kill perennial weeds such as dock, milkweed, etc. Many times the corn leaf will keep the weeds from getting frosted. If the weeds are still green after you remove the corn, spray with 1 to 1.5 qts. of Roundup with a surfactant.

*Potash puts winter hardiness into alfalfa. Although the potash should have been applied 3 or 4 weeks ago, you still will benefit from 200 lbs/acre.

Will Microbial Inoculants Improve Corn Silage Quality?

There are several "schools" of thought on the benefits derived from Microbial Inoculants applied to corn silage. Most everyone agrees that forage crops such as alfalfa benefit much more from the inoculant. The objective in silage is to have fermentation take place as soon as possible which means you would like a rapid drop in pH. In the fermentation process lactic acid is produced (you hope, sometimes other acids are produced) that drops the pH for good feedstuff preservation. If corn silage is harvested at the optimum moisture content, you probably won't benefit much from the inoculant. However, if the corn is wet and has a high sugar content, it may be an economic advantage to inoculate. In any case, the inoculant will not replace good management and harvesting practices.

ALCOHOLIC?

Are you having a drinking problem — i.e. problems caused by drinking? Do you suffer from torment, guilt, remorse and try to make up for wrongs you did once you are sober? Do you want to stop? Really? There are several ways a person can stop, however, the basic first step is to admit to oneself that there is a problem — i.e. trouble stopping, causing problems, hurting others, family. Once you can admit you have a problem, then you can take steps to correct it. Sometimes the admission is sufficient to arrest the problem, but for most of us who have suffered from alcohol for years it took a special jolt to realize that we actually had a problem — such as DWI, family breakup, car wreck, loss of job, or a good dose of humiliation — any of which may trigger the realization that "Yes, I have a problem." Once you take that first step, then you can get help and it can be in one of many ways — all of which work, but sometimes what works for one is not for another.

Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) is a very good approach for many people. In it there are certain steps that are taken, and to gain a recovery it is realized that we must remove ourselves from the center of the universe and turn ourselves over to a higher power (generally referred to and acknowledged as God).

Another method of cure (remission) is direct contact with God, however, it is not what we often meant when we asked Him for help to get over a hangover. To gain contact with Him we must be quite sincere. He must be convinced we are sincere and we must turn ourselves over to His care and pray for help.

He is always there and it is we who actually open the door and ask for help. BUT, we must be serious; we must want to change our lives; we must be willing to step into another world of living — and may you seek that world as the rewards are so many you can't count them. You receive peace, happiness, a realization that there is nature out there; you see the birds as they were created; you find a reason to go on (which you didn't have while drinking); you find excitement in each day and problems become opportunities. Yes, when you turn to God for help, He returns all you need, and more. Try it — listen to the words of experience — I was there and thanks to God I have sunshine, peace, happiness, and a reason to live!

Maryland Fire Prevention Week Is October 8-14

Governor William Donald Schaefer has annouced that Fire Prevention Week shall be observed October 8-14. In a proclamation ceremony held at the State House on Monday, Lt. Governor Melvin A. Steinburg presented Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele and Joseph Robison, president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, with proclamations from Governor Schaefer proclaiming Fire Prevention Week in Maryland.

"Big Fires Start Small — Keep Matches and Lighters in the Right Hands" is the theme for National Fire Prevention Week. The 1989 theme stresses the importance of keeping children from playing with matches and lighters which often lead to disaster.

Fire Marshal Gabriele stated that children playing with fire has been one of Maryland's most significant fire problems during the last several years. The theme "Big Fires Start Small — Keep Matches and Lighters in the Right Hands" helps to emphasize the importance of early fire safety education to our young children, he said.

In 1988, 129 Marylanders died as a result of fires in the state. Of that number, approximately 40 were children under the age of 15. Children playing with matches accounted for seven of the fire deaths in the state.

Throughout Maryland, the Office of the State Fire Marshal, the Maryland State Firemen's Association, the Maryland Fire Chiefs Association and nearly 350 career and volunteer fire department will recognize the importance of Fire Prevention Week with a variety of programs for the public.

National Fire Prevention Week was first proclaimed by President Warren G. Harding in 1922 to commemorate the Great Chicago Fire which occurred on October 9, 1871. The Great Chicago Fire claimed 250 people, left 100,000 homeless and destroyed more than 17,430 buildings.

As part of the commitment from the Office of the State Fire Marshal to reduce fire loss, deaths and injuries, the following safety tips are provided to the citizens of Maryland:

*Every residential occupancy in the state must be equipped with an operating smoke detector. Smoke detectors should be checked periodically to be sure they are in proper working condition.

*During a fire situation, people need to know how to escape immediately. Take time to develop a home escape plan, commonly known as E.D.I.T.H. (Exit Drills In The Home).

*Smoking related fires are one of the leading causes of deaths and injuries to the citizens of Maryland. Smokers must use good common sense when handling all smoking materials and dispose of them properly.

"Educating adults, as well as our children, is important in the on-going battle against fires," remarked Fire Marshal Gabriele. "However, intervention is also a critical component. Matches, lighters and other heat sources must be kept out of the reach of children."

Card Of Thanks

I would like to thank everyone for the cards, flowers, and the best wishes that were extended to me during my recent illness. Many thanks.

Beaver Creek Bluegrass Band To Perform

The Beaver Creek Bluegrass Band, of Beaver, Pa., will offer an evening of foot-stomping bluegrass music on Friday, October 13, as part of the 22nd Annual Autumn Glory Festival.

The Beaver Creek Band started entertaining audiences in 1981, and from the beginning, according to a spokesman for the group, decided not only to play quality music, but to entertain their audiences. The band is composed of five entertainers who perform a variety of bluegrass music, complete with costumes, including truck stop, railroad and gospel themes.

Band members include Ed Mahonen, banjo player from West Finley, W. Va.; Rich Ord, bass player and vocalist from Monaca, Pa., who has performed with the popular bluegrass gospel group Country Sunshine; Randy Ord, guitar player, lead and harmony vocalist, from Glenwillard, Pa., who began playing guitar at age 13; Mary Mahonen, guitar player and vocalist from West Finley, now a regular on the WWVA Wheeling Jamboree; and Brad Oviatt, fiddle player and vocalist from Hagerstown, a past Maryland State champion fiddler. The band recently released a new album entitled "Just In Time."

This performance will begin at 8 p.m. at the Southern High School gymnasium. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children, and refreshments will be available. Tickets may be purchased from Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, Md. 21550, or at the door prior to the concert. For more information or a free festival brochure, persons may call Festival Headquarters at (301) 334-1948.

State Banjo, Fiddle Championships Slated

Garrett County's 22nd Annual Autumn Glory Festival, scheduled for October 12-15, will once again feature the "Official" Maryland State 5-String Banjo Championship and the "Official" Maryland State Fiddle Championship.

Both championships will be held on Saturday, October 14, at the Southern High School Gymnasium. The Maryland State Banjo Championship will begin at 7 p.m. and, following intermission and presentation of trophies, the Maryland State Fiddle Championship will begin at approximately 8:30 p.m. Trophies and prize money will be awarded to first, second, third and fourth place winners of the Banjo Championships. Fiddle contestants will be judged in two age categories — 60 and over, and 59 and under. Trophies and prize money for the Fiddle Championship will be awarded to first, second and third place winners in each age category.

Contestants for the Banjo and Fiddle Championships are from Maryland and the surrounding five-state area. Following the last intermission, winners of both contests will return for a "jam session."

Anyone wishing to enter these contests may do so by contacting the Autumn Glory Festival Headquarters, Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948. Contestants may also register the night of the championships.

Limited seating is available for these contests, and refreshments will be served. Admission is $6 for adults and $3 for children under 12. Advance tickets and more information may be obtained at Festival Headquarters.

LOTS OF PICKIN', FIDDLIN', AND GRINNIN' await local residents, as the Maryland State Five-String Banjo and Maryland State Fiddle Championships will again be part of the Autumn Glory Festival. Top musicians from a five-state area are expected to compete in the contests, both of which are slated for Saturday, Oct. 14, in the Southern High School gymnasium. A "jam session" by the winners of both contests will be held following the competition.

Manny Sanguillen

Manny Sanguillen To Be Feature Parade Marshal

Manny Sanguillen, former Pittsburgh Pirates catcher, will be the Grand Marshal of the 22nd Annual Autumn Glory Festival Grand Feature Parade on Saturday, October 14, beginning at 1 p.m. in downtown Oakland, and will also be signing autographs from 10 a.m. to noon at the TLT Baseball Card Show at the Center Street School, 104 East Center Street, Oakland, on Saturday.

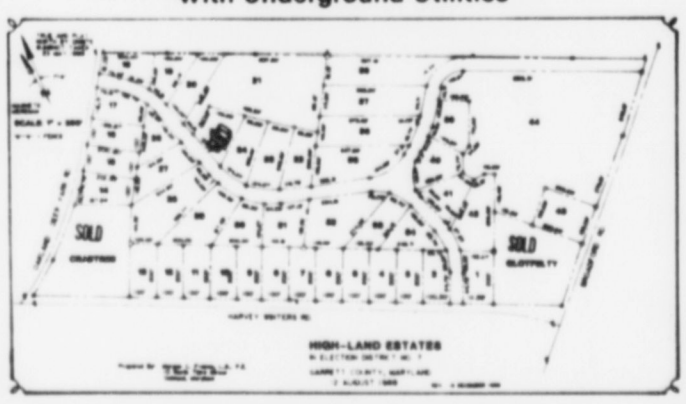

During Manny's career with the Pirates, he was called the "Iron Man," and played in 53 straight games at the end of the '74 season and in 93 of the Buc's final contests, starting 90. He finished with a .287 batting average, setting career highs in hits, games, at bats and runs scored, while maintaining his lifetime batting figure at .300. Twice in one game, he threw out the swift Lou Brock attempting to steal. With Duffy Dyer available to spell him on occasion in 1975, Manny could have had an even more productive year.

Manny was born in Colon, Panama and now resides in Pittsburgh. His boyhood participation in track, soccor, basketball and boxing led to an introduction to baseball at the age of 18. Manny played all positions and played for only a few months before signing a contract with the Pirate organization.

WILL HE RETURN? That's what is on the minds of all those who attended the annual Oakland Volunteer Fire Department's Oktoberfest Celebration last year and are planning to come back this year. This unusual character, who seemed to be vaguely familiar to a number of local folks, took the "oompah" band stage during a break last year and entertained the crowd with what were allegedly funny stories. There has been no word on his whereabouts since.

The following poem was written by Roberta Anderson, a member of the Civic Club of Oakland, concerning the 16th Antique Show and Sale:

LOOKING AHEAD . . . LOOKING BACK

Your Antique Show Committee isn't wasting any time,
All the Chairmen got together to make our plans for Eighty-Nine.
And, as we laughed and chatted as ladies always do,
Some happy memories came to mind that we'd like to share with you.
Robert Proudfoot whispered into Frances Riley's ear,
And from that little tate-tate, came the project of the year.
The year was nineteen seventy-three, our Antique Show was born,
And Frances lived and breathed antiques each day from dusk till dawn.
The Railroad Station housed us, it was charming, old and quaint.
Soon Frances was surrounded by paper work and paint.
We made a pretty penny, three hundred fifty dollar gain,
And the only casualty we had was our Chairman's ankle sprain.
Success produced the need to grow, the time came to expand.
These dedicated ladies were quick to lend a hand.
Helen Nordeck made her quilts, we raffled them with pride,
Knowing all the loving care in every stitch she tied.
Mabel Hauser's fingers flew, typing recipes galore,
And turning out the work sheets that assigned us each a chore.
Luscious lemon bon bons, and snickerdoodles, too;
For a quarter or a nickel, these goodies came to you.
Our Polly Hanst is famous, she puts Campbell's soup to shame.
The Civic Club's best seller will always bear her name.
It's much the same with pie crust, Diane Thayer was the champ.
Every apple pie in Oakland had her special stamp.
Looking back it's plain to see the standards set are high.
We know your shoes are hard to fill, but we promise that we'll try.
And, maybe some day down the road, we'll have a tribute, too,

Somerset Man Sentenced To Ten-Year Term

A Somerset, Pa., man was sentenced to 10 years in the Department of Corrections for a charge of robbery with a dangerous and deadly weapon during a Circuit Court trial last Thursday.

Stephen A. Walter, 22, pled guilty to the charge on August 31, when Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Judge Thayer ruled that the 10-year jail term run concurrently with a sentence Walter is serving in Pennsylvania.

Not prosecuted were charges of conspiracy, carrying a weapon openly with intent to injure, and three counts of assault.

The charges stemmed from a September 27 robbery at Grantsville Mart.

Walter was represented by John R. Toston, assistant public defender.

In another case, Beverly A. Beitzel, Mtn. Lake Park, was sentenced to five days in the Garrett County Jail for possession of marijuana.

Beitzel pled guilty to the charge during a September 14 hearing, when Judge Thayer ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

Charges of distributing marijuana and conspiracy were not prosecuted.

Beitzel was indicted on May 8, 1989. The charges stemmed from a February 2 incident.

In a separate case, the judge ordered a pre-sentence in-

WE WANT YOU! Uncle Sams they are not, however the message is a similar one from the Garrett Community College Foundation Board of Directors and local business persons who have kicked off the fund-raising campaign for the Foundation by issuing a challenge to the community. Already $125,000 has been raised for the Foundation's Endowment Fund, the interest from which will provide extra monies for GCC scholarships and services. The Foundation will begin a phonathon on October 23, when students and community volunteers will telephone local residents to request contributions. Pictured left to right, seated, are Wayne Hamilton, chairman of the GCC Board of Trustees; Christina Sheetz, of McDonald's in Oakland; Don Brenneman, of the Beitzel Corporation; Dave Thomas, of Mettiki Coal Company; and Mike Belmonte, president of the GCC Foundation. Standing, same order, are Bill Grant, of First United National Bank & Trust; Rich Schick, Bausch & Lomb; Milford Beckman, Garrett National Bank; Al Tuomisto, Mettiki Coal Company; and Steve Herman, president of GCC. See story for details of the "challenge."

Local Businesses Issue Challenge To Contribute To GCC Foundation

Six Garrett County companies have joined together to kick-off the Garrett Community College Foundation fund-raising campaign by issuing a challenge to the community. Bausch and Lomb, Beitzel Corporation, First United National Bank and Trust, Garrett National Bank, McDonald's, and the Mettiki Coal Corporation will match every dollar given from the community with one dollar of their own, up to the total amount of the challenge. To date, a total of $125,000 has been raised, and the challenge donors are asking the community to support GCC by contributing an equal sum.

According to Mike Belmonte, Foundation president, stated that the challenge adds to matching monies available through a State matching program. Maryland will also match each dollar given with a dollar in State monies, up to $250,000. This means that every private dollar donated is worth $4.00 to the college, Belmonte said.

Hearing To Rescind Zoning In Friendsville Is Well Attended

Approximately 50 persons turned out for a public hearing that was held Monday night by the Town Council of Friendsville, concerning the plan to rescind the town's current zoning ordinance.

Ralph Burnett, lawyer for the Town of Friendsville, explained that the Town wished to rescind zoning for three reasons: the current zoning ordinance was put into place in the 1970's, so it is outdated and does not take into account the effects of Route 48 running through the center of town; the influx of whitewater enthusiasts; and the fact that spot zoning has occurred throughout the town from commercial development.

Burnett explained that the town has been working with the Office of State Planning to adopt a new, comprehensive zoning plan which would go into effect sometime in January, 1990.

"The state planners will take these three things into account while planning the new

Man Found In Wrecked Car, Is Listed "Stable"

A Deer Park man remains in "stable" condition at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, where he was admitted last Thursday after reportedly spending the night in his wrecked vehicle in Potomac State Forest.

Richard Trickett, 69, was injured when his four-wheel drive Chevrolet Blazer ran over an embankment and struck a tree in a remote area off of Schell Road, according to the Department of Natural Resources Police.

Trickett was found in the vehicle by hunters around 1 p.m. He was taken to the hospital by Medevac helicopter. Also responding to the scene were Gorman volunteer firefighters and the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

DNR Police are continuing the investigation.

Five persons were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital yesterday following a two-car crash on Route 219 near the Weber Road.

Maryland State Police at McHenry reported that Sheila Bittinger, 25, Oakland, was northbound on Route 219, while Retha Johnson, 43, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., was westbound on the Weber Road.

Police said Johnson failed to yield the right of way, causing a collision. She was charged in the incident.

Taken to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad besides the two drivers were two passengers in the Bittinger vehicle, Lowell Bittinger, 5, and Kayleigh Bittinger, 4; and one passenger in the Johnson vehicle, Leewna Johnson, 16.

Tpr. J.K. Moore investigated the report.

A Morgantown, W.Va., youth was injured in a motorcycle accident on Hoyes Run Road early Tuesday afternoon.

According to Maryland State Police at McHenry, Bryan L. Kelly, 17, was operating a 1987

Helmuth M. "Ace" Heise, founder and primary owner of Wisp Ski Resort, McHenry, last night was named Honorary Golden Ambassador of the 22nd Annual Autumn Glory Festival during the Festival Kick-Off Reception held at the McHenry House, Wisp Resort.

The award was presented to Heise by R.T. Thayer, 1986 recipient of the award and one of the founders of the Autumn Glory Festival, who gave a brief history of Heise's venture since the inception of the commercial ski resort in 1956.

Thayer jokingly commented, "Over the years, Ace has managed to build up a splendid indebtedness."

Upon receiving the 1989 award, Heise stated simply, "All I can say is it's been very interesting."

Heise, according to most Garrett Countians, is, in large part, responsible for the economic development that has taken place here since the mid-1950's when he leased Marsh Mountain in McHenry for the purpose of establishing a commercial ski slope. It is apparent that the Wisp Ski Resort has had a

Ray Mansfield Replaces Sanguillen As Marshal Of Festival Parade

A change in parade marshals for Saturday's Autumn Glory Grand Feature Parade had to be made at the last minute this week by the Festival Committee after the father of former Pittsburgh Pirate great, Manny Sanguillen, died suddenly Tuesday.

After dozens of telephone calls and considerable hustle by committee members, it was announced this morning that another well-known Pittsburgh athlete will step in and accept the honor.

Ray Mansfield, who was a 14-year veteran for the Pittsburgh Steelers and a holder of two Super Bowl Championship rings, will be the parade marshal, according to Diane Wolfe, executive director of the Festival Commitee and Promotion Council.

Mansfield holds the Pittsburgh Steeler team record of playing in 196 consecutive games, having never missed a game in his 14-year career. He was a member of the Super Bowl X and XI championship teams.

Mansfield, who was the 18th player taken in the 1963 draft, was named the Outstanding Blocker in the NFL in 1974. He was a two-time All American Center at the University of Washington, where he played on two victorious Rose Bowl teams.

He is also a successful business man in the insurance industry and was named by Esquire Magazine to its NFL All-Financial Team, which honors athletes who have built outstanding athletic and business careers. He and his business partner, Charles Puskar, have over 100 million dollars of insurance in force.

He is a member of numerous professional, civic, and charitable organizations, including national vice president of the NFL Alumni, president of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, and a member of the board of directors of the Sudden Infant Death Syndrome Foundation.

The Grand Feature Parade in Oakland will get underway at 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Orioles Pitcher, Dave Johnson, To Be Firemen's Parade Marshal

Dave Johnson, a pitcher for the Baltimore Orioles, will be a special guest of Garrett County when he serves as parade marshal of the Autumn Glory Festival Firemen's Parade this evening in downtown Oakland. The parade, which will also feature scores of fire-fighting appartus from several states, as well as various marching units, will get underway at 7 p.m. and be followed by the Oakland VFD's annual Oktoberfest.

Johnson, who just completed his first year in an Oriole uniform, was acquired by Baltimore in a trade with the Houston organization in March of this year.

The 5-11, 180-pound right hander was drafted by Kansas City out of Overlea High School, but chose to attend the Community College of Baltimore and led the team to the Junior College World Series in 1982. He was selected by Kansas City in the fifth round of the January 1981 draft, signed as a free agent by the Pittsburgh Pirates in June 1982, and then signed with Houston as a six-year free agent in December of 1988, before being traded to Baltimore in March.

During the 1988 season, Johnson led the American Association in wins (15), starts (29), complete games (9), and hits (213). His best month was in June when he was 4-1 with a 1.76 ERA in six starts.

During his first season with the Orioles this year, Johnson pitched 89 innings, recorded 26 strike-outs, and gave up 90 hits and 20 walks. His record was 4-7 and he finished with an ERA of 4.23.

Although Johnson's numbers alone for this season aren't particularly impressive, he played a key role in the Orioles come back this year, as they climbed from the bottom of the standings last year to just missing the division crown this season.

On national television on Sept. 20, Johnson tossed seven innings against the Toronto Bluejays, who went on to win the division, and he allowed only two hits in that contest.

"He's going to be a valuable

Lake Drawdown Restricts Access At State Park

The recent Deep Creek Lake drawdown has restricted boat launching conditions at the Deep Creek Lake State Park public ramp. According to the lake management office, the lake should reach its maximum projected drawdown of 2452' elevation by October 16. During this time the shallow water conditions at the ramp make launching hazardous for boaters.

The ramp area has been posted to alert boaters to the hazardous conditions. Further information on ramp conditions can be obtained from Deep Creek Lake State Park at (301) 387-5563.

GRANTSVILLE ROTARIANS DONATE TO GCC — At a recent meeting of the Grantsville Rotary Club the members voted to donate funds to two local institutions — the Grantsville Library and Garrett Community College. Support for the library has been an on-going project of the club for many years. The club was instrumental in the library's move into its new location, where Rotarian Charles "Bus" Bender cut the ribbon. To the Garrett Community College Foundation, the club presented a check for $1,000. On hand to accept the check from Terry Dornburg, president of the club, pictured left, was Dr. Steve Herman, president of GCC, pictured second from left. Also present were Chuck Overton and Don J. Newman, Foundation directors. The Grantsville Rotary was among the first local service clubs to contribute to the Foundation.

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment are currently investigating the damages which were made to numerous pieces of heavy mining equipment near Lonaconing between September 27 and 29.

According to reports, someone placed soil in the engine oil crank cases of ten pieces of equipment at the Koontz Mine job site off Route 36 north of Lonaconing. The equipment is owned by Tri-Star Mining, Barton.

The investigation is being conducted by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater, who reported that the extent of damages is currently unknown. No suspects have been named.

Grantsville Elementary School reported a breaking and entering theft which occurred between 9:15 p.m. on Sunday and 7 a.m. on Monday.

Police reported that entrance was gained through a rear window which was broken by a rock. The only stolen item reported was $11 in cash. Tpr. G.S. Becker is investigating.

According to police reports, the theft occurred sometime between September 7 and October 7 behind his lakeside cottage. Corporal L.E. Oakland Senior Center Moving To Mtn. Lake Park

Since 1976, the Center Street School, Center Street, Oakland has been the "home" for the Oakland Senior Citizens Center. This building will shortly undergo renovation making it necessary for the seniors to move to a temporary location.

Beginning November 1, the Oakland senior citizens will begin meeting in the newly-constructed dining hall on G Street, Mtn. Lake Park, which is owned by the Mountain Lake Holiness Camp Meeting Association. The facility boasts a park-like atmosphere, handicapped accessibility, ample parking, large dining hall with fireplace, and a spacious kitchen.

Senior information and Assistance Coordinator Marie Skipper will also be housed in this facility. Her new hours will be: Monday, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.; Wednesday, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.; and Friday, 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Because of limited funding for FY '90 and additional expenses, the relocated center will be operating only three days per week (Monday, Wednesday, and Friday) from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The seniors will receive their monthly blood pressure screening and share their final meal in the Center Street School on Friday, October 27. No meal will be served Monday, October 30.

According to a spokesman for the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging, the move to Mtn. Lake Park will be completed and the Center will be in full operation by Wednesday, November 1. The 334-3399 number will be the same, so seniors should make their lunch reservations on October 27 or by 9 a.m. on November 1.

Seniors who have previously walked to the "old" Center are asked to call Community Action Transportation by 9 a.m. to receive transportation to the new Center for a fee of $1/round trip.

Any persons wishing to volunteer time or trucks to help implement the move or to donate firewood are asked to contact the Area Agency on Aging, Community Action Committee, 334-9431.

TEMPORARY LOCATION ANNOUNCED — The Oakland Senior Citizens' Center will move to a temporary location on November 1, while the current location undergoes renovation. The new location will be on G Street, Mtn. Lake Park, in the newly constructed dining hall. New hours will be on Monday and Wednesday from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Friday from 8:30 a.m. to noon. Transportation to the new center will be available through Community Action for a $1 round-trip fee. Pictured above, left to right, are members of the Area Agency on Aging: Jane Sickeler, coordinator of Senior Centers; Mary Browning, site manager; Marie Skipper, Senior Information and Assistance; and Lorene Dodge, activities programmer.

Woman Charged With 1 Felony & 36 Misdemeanors

A Reisterstown woman was arrested Tuesday on 18 charges of theft and 19 charges of passing bad checks, after a total of nine warrants were issued for her arrest.

Annalesia Warnick, 25, was picked up Tuesday by the Maryland State Police and subsequently turned over to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department. She was turned over to State Police custody after she was released from authorities in Pennsylvania following her arrest on similar charges there, according to Tfc. R.L. Hershberger, Maryland State Police, McHenry detachment. According to Deputy J.B. Sowers, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, Warnick is charged with one felony theft; the rest of her charges are misdemeanors. According to Sowers, her arrest stemmed from numerous incidents that allegedly took place in Garrett County.

Warnick's arrest on August 24 in Pennsylvania took place after Maryland State Police ascertained her whereabouts and contacted the Pennsylvania State Police with information. She remained incarcerated in Pennsylvania in order to stand trial. Upon Warnick's release Tuesday, she was turned over to Maryland authorities. The Maryland State Police had five warrants for her arrest and she was served four by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department. The suspect's husband, Gary Warnick, was released on bond earlier, following his arrest on similar charges.

Annalesia Warnick was released early Wednesday morning after posting $5,000 bond.

Maryland Grace Loughry, 66, Deer Park, was arrested last week on the strength of a bench warrant. According to Det./Sgt. D.W. Tucker, she was charged with failure to appear in court for an October 4 traffic case. She was released after posting $500 bond.

Scott Bryan Swick, 18, Oakland, was arrested October 4 on the strength of two bench warrants issued by the District Court of Maryland. He is charged with failure to pay deferred payments. Det./Sgt. D.W. Tucker served the arrest warrants. Swick was released after posting $215 bail.

Richard Lee Parrish, 37, Loch Lynn, was arrested October 3 on the strength of a bench warrant. He was charged with failure to pay deferred payment. According to Detective P.J. Kelly, he posted $240 cash bond and was released.

Tilden Myrl Wilt, 29, Friendsville, was arrested October 4 on the strength of a bench warrant. He was charged with failure to pay deferred payment. According to the arresting officer, Deputy R.P. Shaffer, he was later released after posting $25 bail.

Dennis Allen Grove, 37, Westernport, was arrested October 3 for driving while intoxicated (DWI). Grove was apprehended by Deputy J.D. Murphy along Route 135 at Altamont. He was incarcerated and later released on his own recognizance.

Darrel A. Arnold, 25, Corinth, W.Va., was arrested Sunday morning and charged with DWI. He was apprehended by Deputy J.B. Sowers around 1 a.m. along Route 39.

Harry Mark McMurdo, 41, Hudson, Oh., was arrested Friday night and charged with DWI. He was picked up along Route 135 East by Deputy J.D. Murphy.

Floyd James Wilfong, Thomas, W.Va., was cited for failure to control speed to avoid a collision after his vehicle struck the rear of an Amish buggy Sunday night along Route 219 South. No injuries resulted from the 10:30 p.m. accident, but the buggy was disabled. The investigating officer was Deputy C.P. Nolan.

Reproductions & Adaptations Of Shaker Antiques

The quest for perfection. In their quest for perfection and simplicity, the Shakers created some of the most celebrated furniture designs in American history. Shaker Country is Lane's tribute to the creativity, originality and spirit that have made Shaker antiques among the most prized of today's collectibles. It is also a celebration of the unique ways in which the shaker style adds depth and dimension to contemporary interior design. On the whole, our Shaker collection reflects the surprisingly strong compatibility of 20th century and Shaker design. Both base their aesthetics on the simple idea that form follows function. As you page through our catalogue, you'll see what we mean. Shaker Country can create an environment of unique harmony and balance when mixed in contemporary settings in today's home.

Keep Opening Doors . . .

The Garrett County Memorial Hospital Foundation has been wrapping up an incredibly successful fund-raising campaign, having collected nearly $1.5 million in donations and pledges from local residents and businesses. Not even the campaign workers had imagined that such an enormous figure could be attained in rural Garrett County; however, the display of generosity and understanding of the importance of the hospital by local citizens was simply overwhelming. We should be extremely proud of our community for such tremendous support for our county's only hospital.

A similar effort is now underway for our county's only college, as the Garrett Community College Foundation has kicked off its campaign to establish a GCC Endowment Fund. Monies generated from the fund will be used for scholarships and for numerous other needed equipment and services at the college that the regular GCC annual budget will not be able to afford.

Good health care is, of course, a primary concern to all of us; however, education should be ranked right up there at the top as well. Garrett Community College provides a wealth of opportunity that was virtually out of reach for many of our local citizens before we had our own college. Attending college has become a reality instead of just a dream for so many local folks who previously did not have the means. There are now over 600 students at GCC, of all ages, and the enrollment figures are climbing impressively every year. Our college has an outstanding administrative staff under Dr. Steve Herman, highly skilled instructors, and a dedicated board of trustees, who want only the best for Garrett County.

We hope the community responds to the GCC fund-raising campaign with the same generosity and enthusiasm that they exhibited for the hospital. An added advantage of donating to the college that was not available in the hospital campaign is that for every dollar contributed, the state and several local businesses will match that dollar with three more, making a one-dollar donation good for four dollars (see front page story for details). That's a pretty good return on one's investment.

Good education, like good health care, is one of the vital keys to our future. Besides education, Garrett Community College also provides numerous other benefits to the community, such as cultural programs, resources, and employment. Let's support our own college and keep opening new doors to the present and future generations of Garrett County residents.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Last week it was announced that Ida Maust of the Accident area was named as Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person for 1989.

I compliment the judges on their choice. I have known Ida for over six years and she, indeed, is a beautiful person.

In the spring of 1983 I took the Hospice Volunteer Training Class. Ida, too, was taking the course. During the next several weeks of training I could see the care, love and devotion she had for people.

After our training I became the director of volunteers and worked even closer with Ida. I have yet to have my first experience of calling her for anything and hearing her say that she didn't have the time. When Ida becomes a volunteer for a patient and his family she gives 110% of herself. The time she spends with them is long and very meaningful to everyone involved.

At this time I'd like to personally say, "Thank you, Ida, for being the beautiful person you are. You have given so much to Garrett County and its citizens. We love you."

Editor's Note: The writer of the following letter to Oakland Mayor Asa McCain requested that it appear in this column.

Dear Mayor McCain:

The Greater Oakland Business Association discussed (at its August meeting) the issue of free parking for shoppers and visitors during certain high traffic promotional events throughout the year.

During these special events it is not uncommon for shoppers and visitors to spend two to four or more hours walking all over our shopping district. Some customers even ask businesses to hold their purchases until later when they've finished shopping and can come back with their car.

We realize that there are still a few employers/employees that abuse the "on the street" parking privileges and park for many hours at a time w/o regard to its effect on local businesses. We question whether we should penalize all our shoppers and visitors by not allowing free parking at certain promotional events.

We request that the council consider allowing free parking during the following special events:

1. Memorial Day Weekend — Friday and Saturday.
2. Sidewalk Sale — Friday and Saturday.
3. Autumn Glory Festival — Thursday through Saturday.
4. Christmas Season — Friday and Saturday after Thanksgiving, plus the days merchants are open extended hours (in recent years this has been the last two full shopping weeks before Christmas). We would like to advertise "free parking" in our ads for these events and put "free parking" bags over the meters.

Respectfully yours,
Jack Jones
President

P.S. We would like to thank all the employees, downtown residents and employers for leaving street parking to our customers and visitors by parking in the free town lot. We would also like to thank Appalachian Crossroads for volunteer placement of our complimentary bags on each meter.

Note: The Mayor & Town Council have graciously approved GOBA's request for free parking during the above mentioned events.

To the Editor:

Ray Vaughan, executive director of the Mineral County Development Authority, states that a feasibility study was done in Maryland for Deep Creek Lake, and they found that the lake was very crowded.

Based on what they found in the study, they decided to put a boat launch at Jennings Randolph Lake, Vaughan said.

Commissioner Robert Harman added that Maryland is putting the boat launch in to encourage whitewater events on the river. If they do that (build the launch) then whitewatering will be done from the Maryland side of the river instead of the West Virginia side of the river, Harman said. Unless we match that, unless we get our state government to help us, then we're going to be left holding the bag, he said.

Ray Vaughan, coordinator, is the key contact for setting up a a meeting between West Virginia and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources to get the put-in point at Barnum started. Outfitters may be able to go in the river in one state and get out in another.

My concern is that West Virginia already has it all. The name of the lake and it is a question how it was changed from Bloomington Lake to Jennings Randolph Lake often comes up. Then there is a hard surfaced road-boat launch-recreation areas along the lake, whereas Maryland got sidetracked with a railroad and dirt roads.

It is time that Maryland taxpayers request that any state or federal funds be used to improve the Maryland side of the lake and river until it can compare with the West Virginia side. Yes, we are the ones holding the bag and have been all the way.

Sincerely,
William L. Reed

tremendously positive impact on the county's growth, not only witnessed by the numbers of tourists patronizing the slopes each year but also by the spawning of new businesses and private residences.

Indeed, according to Thayer, Heise is "father of the four-seasons concept," adding "the spin-offs go on and on." In an article appearing in a recent issue of Glades' Star, Rev. John Grant stated, "Heise envisioned the Marsh Mountain area as being part of a four season year-round recreation section of Deep Creek Lake." Then owner of Will O' The Wisp cabins and several motels, Heise and several other local businessmen organized the Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council and set out to clear trails for the ski slope which opened for its first season in 1956.

A native of Pittsburgh and graduate of Temple University, Philadelphia, Helmuth Heise is described by his sister, Doris Smith, Deep Creek Lake, as "sincere, fair, patient and strong." According to Smith, Heise built the first motel in Garrett County and soon realized the need for a year-round attraction to the area.

Clearly not a behind-the-desk person, Heise's "hands on" approach to business has earned him the respect and popularity of many who know him.

Jerry Geisler, McHenry, Operations Manager at Wisp, offers that Heise is a "working man's man" who prefers a low profile, and adds with a slight bemusement, "Mr. Heise is going to be pretty embarrassed in the lime-light of this most recent award."

Geisler further added that Heise seems to be most proud of the snow-making capabilities at the Wisp Mountain. As a matter of record, manufacturing companies that deal with Wisp have recognized those capabilities as being among the best in the world. In a recent letter, Jim Vanderkelen, Snow Machines, Inc., Midland, Mich., referred to the Wisp as "leaders in the world in snow-making technology."

Vanderkelen continued, "Wisp, Md. has the largest and most energy efficient snow-making system in the world. Others may have more pipeline or more slopes, by Wisp converts the most water at higher temperatures than any other system in the world."

The out-reaching or "ripple effect" of the Wisp Ski Resort has been clearly witnessed over the years in the construction of year-round accommodations, eating establishments, and many other businesses created in the area in the past few decades to accommodate the growing needs of a growing tourist industry.

During the presentation last night, Thayer stated that the Honorary Golden Ambassador award to Heise was a "recognition long deserved," adding that during the first season of operation, Wisp sold 100 lift tickets for a rope tow that was powered by a truck engine. Last year, he said, 139,000 lift tickets were sold.

Heise is president of Will O' the Wisp, Inc., HMH Enterprises, Inc., and Recreational Industries, Inc. He and his wife Evelyn have two sons, Martin and Gary.

Hearing

ordinance," Burnett said. "There were provisions for special exceptions in the ordinance, but there was more than special exceptions granted; there were whole amendments added, so there are a great deal of problems that have come up."

Burnett then explained that the present ordinance will not be rescinded until the new plan is put into effect and that all the proposed changes will be available for public view before adoption of the new ordinance.

Joe Sessa, president of the Town Council, read a prepared speech concerning the history of the town and the influx of new businesses and increase in tourism throughout the state. He said that the town's fathers granted permits to new businesses in an attempt to promote the town.

Many questions were asked by the townspeople attending the meeting about why the ordinance was being rescinded and what effect this would have on current businesses and homes located in the town, with public comment being overwhelmingly against the proposed rescinding.

"I have lived here for many years, and I have seen a lot of changes made throughout the town. I don't think that it is necessary to rescind the ordinance. I think that the Town fathers should repair the mistakes that were made by previous councils rather than just go through and wipe the slate clean," said one town resident.

Burnett responded that the town just couldn't go back and order existing businesses to cease operations.

However, the Town Council did order one citizen to cease and desist from his business of building kayaks, and that citizen, Jesse Whittemore, has revealed that even members of the Council are in violation of the same ordinance. He believes that it was his action that ultimately led the Council to its present wish to rescind the zoning ordinance. Such an action would be the first time in the history of Maryland that a town completely withdrew all zoning regulations. The controversy was the subject of an article in the Monday "Baltimore Sun."

Whittemore was ordered to cease and desist from building kayaks in March of 1989 by the Town Council because his business, which he operated since 1984, was located in an area designated as residential. He maintains, however, that the Town Council was retaliating against him because his landlord, Dr. Donald Pepper, is fighting a proposed laundromat and car wash adjacent to his property.

Terry Spear, a county roads administrator, chief of the town's volunteer fire company, and a member of the Town Council, obtained approval for the proposed laundromat/car wash in March 1988, which would be built across the street from Dr. Pepper's second home in an area also designated residential.

Dr. Pepper took the case to Garrett County Circuit Court, where Judge Fred Thayer denied the town's rezoning of the property. Spear obtained approval from the Town Council again, a week after he, his mother and his uncle were sworn in as new council members in March, 1989, although they abstained from voting on the new request.

Dr. Pepper again appealed in Circuit Court and a hearing is currently scheduled for October 20. Whittemore received the order to cease and desist with his business the day before Dr. Pepper filed his appeal, which was when "laundry wars," as Whittemore termed the drama, began to unfold.

Whittemore, who would face $100 a day fines if he continued with his business after the 30-day grace period, and Dr. Pepper photocopied town records and wrote a list of town council members' alleged zoning violations: Joe Sessa was illegally building a motel in a conservation district; Sessa and Alice Spear, Terry's mother and council member, both owned rental apartment in areas not zoned for them, Whittemore alleged.

Whittmore received two letters permitting him to resume his business and indicating that the matter would be resolved once the zoning ordinance was corrected, but Whittemore, on the advice of his lawyer, has not gone back to work, stating that the letters do not give him a firm guarantee that he will not have his business interrupted again.

Then last month, the Town Council, with Sessa and the Spears abstaining, set Monday's hearing to take public comment on the proposal to rescind the zoning.

Mayor Spencer R. Schlosnagle said that the Town Council admits they are in violation, but so are numerous others. "We planned on doing this (repealing the ordinance) long before the allegations were brought up," he said. "We would have to go through the whole town, correcting violations, and that would be monotonous."

Toward the end of the meeting, Burnett stated that a vote to start the process to rescind the zoning will be taken near the end of the month.

Nelson pointed out to the Town Council that the resolution (to repeal zoning) is irrelevant until the planning commission presents the new ordinance.

A public comment period is now in effect for any citizen wishing to make comments or submit letters regarding the issue and will be until the Town Council moves to vote on the new resolution.

Dr. Gallwell's Strange Burden

by Craig Speicher

Readers Note: The following parody imitates a televangelist begging money by mail. Any resemblance to an actual evangelist earning $125,000 annually is purely intentional.

Dear Mr. Computer Listing,

Enclosed is a Personal Holy Debt Retirement Certificate. In brief, I want you to return it with all your assets. Then, next month I will burn it. As it disappears in smoke, so will the heavy BURDEN on my heart vanish . . . for another month.

Mr. Listing, I am 55, and if God suddenly called me home to glory — assuming he calls me to glory — I fear this ministry would collapse. Let me share a most unusual spiritual experience I had recently.

I was driving alone atop Libertarian Mountain — the home of Libertarian University. Looking down, I saw the students and bank. And in that EXACT moment — 13 seconds past 12:48 p.m., or perhaps 8:32 a.m. — the sun became dark and a BURDEN I have carried so long became unbearable. (A vision revealed I should diet).

If God suddenly called me — by AT&T — to come home, who would warn the students that the love of money is the root of all evil? Or remind them of the rich man in Hades? Or teach them that they cannot serve both God and mammon?

Twenty years ago, we founders of Libertarian dreamed about a distinctly religious school, emphasizing huckstering for the Lord.

Could it happen? Absolutely! Through many miracles whereby supporters donated houses, land and spouses, we acquired Libertarian Campus.

Because we did not reject anyone, so many students flocked to Libertarian that we now serve bird feed daily. We could have told the students, "No, we do not have room for you. Please go away. Shoo! Shoo!."

But instead, we felt led to siphon your retirement account because Almighty God himself was broke. But as things now stand, it could take 30 years to settle our debts — before Libertarian University is liberated. Verily, verily, I feel a holy God-given responsibility for this mess I've created.

I will not sit by growing richer and fatter everyday and allow Christian young people, who have a vision to turn this nation back to God but haven't had much luck yet, be forced to attend . . . A SECULAR UNIVERSITY! GOD FORBID! GOD HAVE MERCY! GOD BLESS MY POCKETS!

And I just know, because of this BURDEN in my soul, that God wants ME to take a giant step of faith with YOUR money. That way, my $25,000 raise — like my $125,000 annual salary and sheepskin coat collection — is safe.

That's why I'm praying for another miracle! There's one born every minute! And I'm sending you a Personal Holy Debt Retirement Certificate printed on recycled scrap paper bearing my rubber-stamped signature. Do I love you or what!

I'm asking that you sign the certificate (the miracle won't work otherwise). Then, return it to me with a check for ONLY $999.95 payable to Old Time Hustle Hour.

Then, next month, in a "note-burning celebration" our choir will sing "The Praises of Raises" as we burn millions of certificates generated by our Massive Monthly Mailings for Moolah.

The certificates will disappear in smoke — assuring your place in Heaven. YOU can eliminate MY debts. YOU can help free ME of this terrible BURDEN the Lord stuck on me. Yes, YOU, Mr. . . . uh . . . Say, have we met?

Please send the money now before the mailman gets away. You could be dead tomorrow and it would be hard to lick the stamp.

OH! OH! This BURDEN! My soul aches with the pleasures . . . uh . . . PRESSURES . . . of making over a tenth of a million dollars annually.

I may live to be 500 years old, but if I go to my gloriously rich eternal reward in a 24 carat box and leave Libertarian dancing in bankruptcy court, somehow I will feel my divine mission on earth has failed.

I must — eternity hangs in the balance! — have your support! After all, who else would buy such unique salvation?

Sincerely (kind of),
Dr. "Histrionics" Gallwell

P.S. I feel a strange and most unusual BURDEN this month. Heavier than last month's BURDEN. Even heavier than THE BURDEN OF '83. So please send me some money. Please, please, please . . .

The Mind Wanders

by Sherry Frantz

I don't talk sports, banking, cleaning tips, farming or real estate, and I offer wisdom on the subjects of education, politics, religion and economics only in the abstract.

So, what can I informatively entertain Garrett Countians with that will also provide this writer with some satisfaction?

I have very definite thoughts (not to mention semi-intelligent ramblings) concerning the mature woman, parenting, marriage, the single life, men, the challenge that Garrett County presents to all who permanently reside here . . . wait, that might work! O.K., we've got a topic for the first installment of The Mind Wanders.

Ah, Garrett County! Subject of wonderment as well as ridicule by outsiders (and insiders). No problem with the source of wonderment. It's fairly clear to anyone here with a door or a window that the county's natural beauty is a source of continual pleasure. Hopefully, we don't forget for a moment that we and our children enjoy clean, fresh air, plenty of space, and are fortunate to be part of a community with a very low crime rate.

But most of us also realize that we are ridiculed and denigrated — from time to time by some, and very frequently by others. I, for one, have defended (much too often) my choice to remain in Garrett County all these years.

I know. Sounds like a personal problem. Yeah, well, I guess I'll take the rap for that, but, I'm grown up now and I think I can change my reaction somewhat and, heretofore, straightforwardly offer reasons — not excuses — for living in Garrett County.

And here is what I'll say: I have roots here. (Not an insignificant factor.) I can breathe here, and I can walk — at my own pace — freely here. I love the city, and can get there without much trouble, but I don't want to live there. I've done that.

Every place on earth presents specific challenges indigenous to that area. It's simply a matter of trade-offs. I choose the challenge of a sparsely populated, unsophisticated, unassuming, sometimes too quiet, sometimes too slow, sometimes too isolated place.

I take the challenge. And I accept the accompanying pitfalls, which, believe me, are bountiful for a now-single woman with few financial resources.

I'll keep shoveling the snow and hauling in the wood and keeping myself at the mercy of auto mechanics who can clearly spot me a mile away.

I'll keep pretending that I don't notice that it's rained for 90 days straight, and that I can vaguely remember a spring-time that is supposed to start a warming trend and send forth buds and leaves.

I'll take the challenge because the simplest life is often the hardest life, because I can find both discomfort and comfort in solitude, and because the rewards here are sometimes as rich as the Garrett County earth.

I'll do it because I need the lush, green foliage of the summertime, the crisp air and sparkling snow of the wintertime, the yellow, gold, and red leaves of autumn, and . . . could someone help me with a springtime image?

State Scholarship Winners Named; Two Are Local

The winners and semifinalists in the 1990 Maryland Distinguished Scholarship Program were announced this week by the Maryland High Education Commission and the list includes two finalists, two semifinalists, and six honorable mention selections from Garrett County. The students will be honored by Governor William Donald Schaefer, the Commission, and college and university presidents during Distinguished Scholars Recognition Day at Loyola College this Saturday, Oct. 14.

The two finalists named from Garrett County in the high achievement category are Sanjeev Magoon, a student at Southern High School, and Tarin J. Towers, of Northern High School. Local semifinalists named were Angelique Resh, Northern, and Allen G. Reams, of Southern. Receiving honorable mention were Pamela J. and Tamara J. Brenneman, and Lori L. Minick, of Northern High School, and Deborah A. Blamble, Jenny L. Friend, and Kendra L. Wagner, of Southern.

Students so honored in the high achievement category were selected based upon their outstanding academic performance and Scholastic Aptitude Test scores.

The Distinguished Scholars Program is the state's largest scholarship program for students with exceptional academic or artistic ability. Stoney Lonesome Boys Will Play At Banjo And Fiddle Championships

The Stoney Lonesome Boys, who made their debut in the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival production of "Foxfire" last summer, will play "foot-stomping" Bluegrass music at the "Official" Maryland State 5-String Banjo Championship and the Maryland State Fiddle Championship on Saturday, October 14. These local musicians will start playing shortly after the doors open at Southern High School Gymnasium at 6 p.m. and will play for the two intermissions during which final judging takes place for the championships.

Keith Roberts, who plays guitar with the Stoney Lonesome Boys, will be the master of ceremonies for the evening. He'll be joined by accomplished musicians Rob Smith, also on Guitar, Mark Ashby on bass, Steve Byrd on fiddle, and Fred Crozier on mandolin. Their music will feature original songs, such as "Appalachian Love Song," "Papa's Bones," and "Garrett County Time," from Keith and Rob's album, "Buffalo Run."

Winners of the two championships held that night will re-appear for the customary jam session at the end of the evening. These top competitors come from a five-state area. The fiddle contestants will be judged in two categories.

Tickets for this popular event are available from the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council Office and at the door. Admission is $6.00 for adults and $3.00 for children under 12 years old. There is limited seating in the gymnasium, so people planning to attend are urged to plan accordingly. For more information, persons should contact the Promotion Council Office at 334-1948.

matching grant and the challenge from the Garrett County businesses, all monies raised must go into an Endowment Fund for the college. The principal in the Endowment Fund can never be spent. Only interest and investment income can be expended annually. As a result each gift to the Endownment Fund is a gift that will support GCC in perpetuity, Belmonte explained.

The GCC Foundation is planning a phonathon, scheduled to start October 23. Student and community volunteers will be telephoning community residents to ask for contributions. Donations to the GCC Foundation are tax deductible.

Belmonte said that college officials hope the community will respond to the challenge since the college wants to take maximum advantage of the matching monies available through the challenge donors and the State. Interest income from the Endowment Fund is to be used for scholarships, for enhancing the quality of education GCC is able to provide, and for improving GCC's services to its community.

The GCC Foundation also hopes that many community people will support GCC by volunteering to help on the Phonathon. Interested parties are asked to telephone Susan Stem at 387-6666.

Johnson, his wife, Tera, and their 2-year-old son, Steve, reside in Middle River. In the off-season, Johnson is a truck driver and also a volunteer firefighter.

Terry King, of the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department, who was instrumental in obtaining Johnson as the parade marshal for this evening, said, "To be a major league baseball player and yet still serve as a volunteer fireman says a lot about this guy. It's an honor to have him here for Autumn Glory."

Johnson is a member of the Middle River Ambulance and Rescue Squad.

Authentic, Turn-of-the Century Nostalgic Design Crafted in Solid Oak and Knotty Oak Veneers in a Rich, Clear Brown Oiled Oak Finish — Bright Brass Hardware with Genuine "Oatmeal" Porcelain Bail

A distinctive profile . . . authentic turn-of-the-century detailing . . . the warmth and durability of oak . . . all of these combine to make "Recollections" — a bedroom group that captures the sturdy charm of handcrafted American oak furniture. Beds, Mirrors, and gallery rails are accented with authentic "spool and bobbin" turnings. The rich brown oiled oak finish is complemented with genuine porcelain pulls in an "oven fired" oatmeal color. The details of the case pieces — the sturdy carved pilasters, and routed drawer fronts and base rails — were inspired by an authentic oak antique.

"Recollections" is more than a nostalgic trip to the past — it is a highly functional unisex coorelated bedroom group with the versatility to meet the demands of an active lifestyle. A variety of beds, mirrors, and storage pieces can combine to provide a play/study area for a young person or a charming master bedroom. "Recollections" brings the warmth and beauty of the past to the practical needs of today.

Goldstein Gives Advice To PTAs On Sales Tax

It's that time of year when school children are going door-to-door selling merchandise as part of their school's Parent-Teacher Association fund-raising efforts and moms and dads are planning PTA fund-raising dinners.

"We're getting calls from PTA's asking how the Maryland sales tax applies to their activities," said State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein. "There has been a change in state law that affects some purchases made by PTA's, but these organizations need to know how the sales tax applies to both items they buy and items they sell."

Goldstein noted that, under a new law that took effect July 1, 1989, merchandise purchased by PTA's and donated to the school is exempt from the Maryland sales tax. The PTA may use the school's tax exemption certificate to make these purchases.

The sales tax does apply, however, to merchandise sold by school children or others to benefit the school, just like sales by all other non-profit groups, other than religious organizations.

PTA's should also be aware that sales of food items or fund-raising dinners held on school property are exempt from the sales tax, as long as the funds are used for education-related purposes. Fundraising dinners held off school property are not exempt from the sales tax, however.

PTA's involved in fundraising that requires them to collect the Maryland sales tax need an appropriate sales tax license. PTA's that conduct only occasional sales can get a temporary sales tax license by calling 225-1540 in Baltimore, or 1-800-692-1751 from elsewhere in Maryland. The regular meeting was called to order by president Linda Lewis. A study of Women's Health was presented by Jean Winters who told of new treatments for old problems plus many new problems which have taken over. She stressed some of the diseases more prevalent among women than men.

Preston County Historical Group Holds Meeting

The Preston County Historical Society fall meeting was held Saturday, at the Brandonville United Methodist Church.

A scale model of the home of Mrs. Faye Wolfe was on display in the church sanctuary beginning at 10 a.m.

A turkey dinner was served by the women of the church at noon.

President "Bud" White presided over the program and business meeting after the dinner.

Mrs. Faye Wolfe talked about her "dream house" on display. She and her family have lived in the house for 27 years. Master craftsmen, Zar Kelly and Scott Prinkey, constructed the shell of ¼-inch plywood. Mrs. Wolfe assisted in the wiring of the model and the plumbing is also complete. She did the brick work, roofing, made the furniture, and upholstered some of it. The completed structure weighs over 100 pounds, and has one removable section — the only outside structural changes made by the Wolfes — that when removed is the original house.

Mrs. Wolfe stated that historians say the house was built by Dan Mosser in 1873. The farm was the largest farm in the Clifton area and once sold for $1,000. The Wolfes acquired it 29 years ago.

President White conducted the business session. Historian Janice Sisler reported many inquiries daily and great interest in Preston County, with many recent books and publications on the market. A surviving member of the Brain Family massacre was Rachel Brain Michael, whose grave marker was located in the Brandonville Cemetery.

Curator Charles Thomas' report was given by the president. Mary DeBerry, on behalf of WNPB TV, presented the costumes used in the filming of "The Forks of Cheat" to the society, and Mr. Thomas accepted them for the society. They will soon be on display in the society room. Numerous books were received from the Hattie Smith Estate. Summers McCrum, Jr., reported that an end section of the covered bridge that burned on Route 50 had been given by Robert Weltman of Rowlesburg. Zar Kelly presented a gavel he had made to the organization, and many county pictures and a Bible purchased at the old Hagan's Store were given by Clyde Cale.

McKenzie Scores Late As Huskies Top Eagles, 8-0

Despite a steady downpour of rain throughout the game, Darren McKenzie, the area's leading rusher, racked up an additional 154 yards last Friday evening in Terra Alta to lead the Northern Huskies to an 8-0 victory over the much improved East Preston Eagles. McKenzie recorded for nearly 90 percent of his team's offensive yardage and scored all of the points.

The win improved the Huskies' record to 3-2 and broke a two-game losing streak, while the Eagles dropped to 4-3 on the season.

The defensive units of both teams were aided by the muddy conditions, as Northern recorded only 186 yards in total offense and East Preston finished with 151 yards. There were also nine fumbles and three interceptions in the game.

The contest remained scoreless until the 2:45 mark of the fourth period when McKenzie scored a touchdown on a one-yard dive and then ran for the two-point conversion.

In just five games, McKenzie has amassed 984 yards for an average of just under 200 yards per contest.

Johnny Joe Friend spearheaded the Northern defense, as he was credited with 12 tackles. Lee Holloway also finished with an impressive defensive effort.

"East Preston played very well, which is a credit to their program," Northern Coach Tom Vent said this week. "Fortunately our defense played much better this week. We're just happy to be 3-2 right now."

Staying in the win column this week will require an outstanding effort by the Huskies as they travel to Frankfort High School Friday night to take on the 5-1 Falcons.

"They are the second best team on our schedule," Vent said, noting that the Southern Rams remain the biggest challenge for the Huskies. "They just have an excellent team. They are not a real big team, but they have outstanding speed."

The Falcons' wing-T offense is led by their quarterback, junior Chris Whiteman (6-3, 180), who was seven for 12 in passing last week against Beall; their halfback, sophomore Bobby Shanholtz (5-8, 156), who recorded just under 100 yards last week; receivers Chris Eckard, a 6-2, 165-pound wingback, and T.J. Lynch, a junior tight end (6-3, 186); and senior tackles Jimmy Minnigh (5-10, 217) and Lee Dent (5-11, 190).

Three juniors have been among the Falcons' defensive standouts, including corner back Shawn McGann (6-1, 155), who recorded 11 tackles and two sacks last week against Beall; linebacker Matt Wrenn (5-11, 170); and defensive end Aaron Moreland (5-10, 160).

"I know we can play with this team," Vent said, "and our kids have to believe that. If they play like they did against Beall then we will be right in there. Frankfort is an excellent team, but we have to go in with the idea that we can win the game."

Vent said he was a little concerned this week with what appeared to be an attitude of "complacency" among his players, which he said can be fatal to a team.

"I feel like the kids are letting their intensity slip a little and we certainly can't afford that this week," he said. "We were in this same spot last year and things really went down hill. Of course, it's our job (the coaching staff's) to see that that doesn't happen."

Vent said that it is sometimes suggested that the Huskies drop teams like Frankfort, who consistently are able to field good, large teams. But Vent said that he would never do that.

"Dropping the tough teams just isn't my philosophy," he said. "I have said before, you have to play the good teams in order to bring your program up to a similar level. And I know that our team hasn't played its best football yet this season, not even in the Beall game."

Vent also gave considerable praise to his staff for their work so far this season. "Roy DeVore, Jon Houser, Jason Rush, and Phil Carr are just doing a super job for us," he said. "They have really put in a lot of time and effort."

The Huskies are generally healthy for Friday's match-up, although senior tackle Brian Friend is nursing a knee injury and is listed as questionable.

"We are still looking for consistency in our play," Vent said. "If we can achieve that this week, we have a good shot at winning the game."

Northern Frosh Edge Fort Hill

The Northern High School freshman football team recorded a big win last night at Greenway Avenue Stadium in Cumberland by edging the Fort Hill freshmen, 14-12.

Alan Bittinger scored both of the Huskies' touchdowns and Chad Anderson ran for the conversion that gave Northern the win.

Bittinger scored on a 50-yard flea-flicker play in the second quarter and Anderson's conversion made it 8-0.

The Sentinels came back before halftime to narrow the gap to 8-6 when George Sweitzer scored on a 40-yard pass play. The Northern defense halted the two-point conversion attempt.

Bittinger broke loose for a 70-yard touchdown run in the third period to give Northern a 14-6 advantage.

A two-yard scoring pass to Danny May made it 14-12, but Fort Hill's attempt for two again failed.

Dever Paces Rams Past Trojans For 18-8 Victory

An outstanding individual effort by tailback Mike Dever, coupled with a strong team effort by the Southern High School defensive unit, highlighted an 18-8 Highland Football Conference victory by the Rams over visiting Hampshire last Friday night.

It was the 11th straight win over the Trojans by the Rams, a win that boosted their record to 4-1, while the Trojans fell to 4-2.

Dever, who was called upon by Coach Tom Woods to take up the slack for injured tailback Billy Welch and quarterback Marshall Pike, carried the ball 38 times and recorded 188 yards through the rain and thick mud on the Southern field. He also scored a touchdown, a two-point conversion, and sacked the Hampshire quarterback in the end zone for a safety.

DOING IT ALL for the Southern Rams last Friday night against the Hampshire Trojans was tailback Mike Dever, who ran for 188 yards through the mud, scored a touchdown, a two-point conversion, and, on defense, sacked the Hampshire quarterback for a safety. The Rams won the game, 18-8, to up their record to 4-1. They will travel to Lonaconing this Friday to take on Valley.

The Southern defense, which limited Hampshire to 103 yards in total offense, allowed the Trojans to march down the field in the first quarter, but Southern's Mike Fulmer put an abrupt stop to the drive by picking off Monty Edwards' pass at the Southern 15-yard line. It was from that point that Ram quarterback Tommy Ritchey engineered an 85-yard scoring drive which culminated with a one-yard touchdown run by Dever with just over nine minutes left in the first half. Dever carried the ball 13 times for 70 yards in the 18-play drive.

Ritchey's pass to Mike Freyman for the conversion gave the Rams an 8-0 halftime lead.

Dever opened the second half by returning the kickoff 26 yards to Southern's 41. Several plays later, on a fourth and three at the Hampshire 37, Ritchey faked to Dever and then carried the ball himself on the option all the way for a touchdown. Dever's two-point conversion run made it 16-0 with 7:19 remaining in the third period.

Hampshire came back with a 58-yard drive, featuring a 29-yard pass play from Craig Richmond to John Muth for a first down at the Southern five-yard line. The ball was tipped by a Southern defender, but fell right into Muth's hands. Two plays later Rick Keiter scored on a three-yard run with 2:10 remaining in the third quarter. Ronnie Cheves ran for the conversion to make it 16-8.

Most of the fourth quarter was exhausted by the Rams on a 17-play drive that ended on the Hampshire five-yard line, where they turned the ball over on downs.

The Southern defense held them right there for three downs and, on the fourth down play, Dever and John Stem sacked Edwards in the end zone for the safety. On the third down play of the series Stem also blocked an Edwards' pass.

Southern Coach Tom Woods noted the offensive performance of Dever, which resulted in Dever's being named the area's Player of the Week by the Cumberland Times-News.

"With Billy Welch out of the game, Mike knew we had to have a good effort from him, and he had a true 'Southern tailback night', " Woods said.

Defensively, Woods was particularly pleased with the efforts of Stem, Jamie Ashby, Shawn Ryan, and B.J. Shaffer. "B.J. really dictated the play of our line," he said.

Woods said he was most pleased by the play of his defensive line. "We executed much better this week, especially considering the conditions, and we played with a lot more hustle," he said. "We also noticed a step up in our level of intensity."

Woods also admitted that the wet conditions were in the Rams' favor. "Hampshire depends heavily on their speed while we tend to just drive the ball at you," he said. "Obviously, the muddy conditions took away some of their speed and didn't allow them to do some of the things they do best."

The Rams paid still another price in the form of an injury to a key player, however, as big senior tackle Kevin Green (6-0, 281) was forced out of the game in the first half with a separated shoulder. He is expected to be out of the line-up for two weeks.

Also continuing to be sidelined this week are Welch, who has a broken ankle, and Pike, who has a broken hand. Both are expected to be out at least two more weeks.

The Rams will seek win number five this Friday night in Lonaconing at the expense of a young Valley team that is currently 1-4, however is coming off an upset win over Moorefield last week.

The Black Knights are under new head coach Randy Stewart, a former Allegany Camper, who has totally reorganized the Valley program using Allegany offensive and defensive approach.

Their wing-T offense is led by senior fullback Jay Marley (5-11, 195); senior tailback Keith Phillips (6-0, 190); junior quarterback Todd Zais (5-11, 165); and junior guard Tommy Kerling (6-1, 165). Jarod Zais, brother of Todd, (6-2, 165) is also a key performer at the tight end spot.

The ground game centers around Marley, who is used extensively in off-tackle and trap formations.

"The key for us will be to try to stop their fullback," Woods said, "and hopefully force them into more of a perimeter game."

Defensively, the Knights are being led by junior tackle John Lough (6-2, 236), senior tackle Josh Browning (6-2, 215); and Marley and Kerling at linebacker. They utilize primarily 5-2 and 6-2 formations.

"Valley uses a high-pressure defense," Woods said. "They like to blitz a lot and they play a lot of man-to-man coverage. They also have better speed than they have had for six or seven years.

"One thing coaches always fear are teams that play with a lot of enthusiasm," he continued. "They are very young, but they have a new coach who is innovative and teaching them some new things. This is creating a lot of enthusiasm and they seem to be on the verge of turning their program around."

Kickoff at Valley is set for 7:30 p.m.

A&A Team Tops Choppers, 3-1, For Second Win

Steve Prosser and Mike Hoffiditz combined for all three goals as the A&A Realty/Deep Creek Soccer Club got back in the win column with a 3-1 win over The Choppers of Cumberland in The Western Maryland Adult Soccer League.

A&A lit up the scoreboard 12 minutes into the game as Steve Prosser set up Mike Hoffiditz with a cross just outside the penalty box and Hofiditz drilled in the shot from 22 yards. A&A made it 2-0 in the second quarter as Hoffiditz' pass to a streaking Prosser six yards in front of the goal was finished into the back of the net with five minutes left in the half.

The Deep Creek Club jumped to a three goal lead six minutes into the second half as Hoffiditz and Prosser again teamed up for the score. This time Hoffiditz raced down the right side of the field into the corner. His cross was perfectly placed to Prosser who had a step on his defender 10 yards from the goal. Prosser connected with the pass to put the ball in the upper corner.

The Choppers came back a minute later as they took the kickoff and moved down to score on a shot from 17 yards away.

A&A's defense was put to the test in the last 15 minutes of play as they were forced to play a man down after Hoffiditz was ejected from the game for arguing a non-call by the referees in the physical contest. The Deep Creek Club held off numerous scoring opportunities by The Choppers. Goalkeeper John Steele had 10 saves to keep them at bay.

A&A's next match will be this Sunday when they face Barrelville ODC, at 1 p.m. at Mt. Savage High School. The Deep Creek Club still has an outside chance of hosting a first-round playoff game in November, but needs to win their last two games of the season to stay in the running.

Raiders Blank Rams, 18-0, In Mt. Top Action

The Oakland Raiders rebounded for their fifth win of the season in Mt. Top Youth Football League action Sunday by blanking the Thomas-Davis Rams, 18-0, on the Southern High School field. The win gave the Raiders a 5-1 final record in regular season play and they will attempt to avenge their only defeat of the year this Sunday when they meet the undefeated Northern Steelers in a playoff game, tentatively set for 3 p.m. at Southern.

Josh Woods and Mark Elliott spearheaded the Raiders' offense, recording 91 and 89 yards, respectively. Elliott scored the first touchdown on a 64-yard run in the first quarter and Woods added the other two six-pointers of the game, both in the third quarter on runs of 20 and 15 yards.

Coach Dave Martin was pleased with his team's overall effort, adding that muddy conditions made it extremely difficult for both teams. The Raiders attempted to kick for the conversion points on all three touchdowns, but the kicks failed, partially because of the wet conditions.

Pete Strawser added 23 yards to the Raiders' total and Branden Ross finished with eight.

Martin said all of his players are healthy and "looking forward" to meeting the Steelers again this Sunday.

Golf Tournament Raises $2,340 For Rick Nice

The Rick Nice Benefit Golf Tournament, a four-man team scrambler event, was held Saturday afternoon at the Oakland Country Club and raised $2,340 for the Rick Nice Trust Fund. Twenty-one teams participated in the event, despite inclement weather.

Rick Nice, Mtn. Lake Park, is a student at Southern High School who is battling a serious illness.

The proceeds from the tournament, raised through entry fees, donations, and fund-raising projects conducted by the Oakland Country Club Ladies Golf Association, will be placed in a trust fund established at the Garrett National Bank.

Winning the tournament was a team representing Garrett National Bank, composed of members of the Southern High School golf team, including Andy Helbig, Scott Meyers, Scott Glotfelty, and Chase Burnett. Placing second was the team of Randy Davidson, Jeremy Lewis, Brian Boal, and Chris Lambert, also Southern High players, representing Davidson's Army-Navy.

Finishing third was Metro Tire, a team composed of Bill Kelley, Bob Paugh, Ted Raynovich, and Danny Helmick.

BENEFIT GOLF TOURNEY — The Rick Nice Benefit Golf Tournament, held last weekend at the Oakland Country Club, drew a field of over 80 golfers, despite inclement weather, and the event raised over $2,000 for the Rick Nice Trust Fund. Rick is a student at Southern High School who is currently battling a serious illness. Above are the first, second, and third place teams, which include, Randy Davidson, Scott Meyers, Chase Burnett, Andy Helbig, Scott Glotfelty, Jeremy Lewis, Chris Lambert, Brian Boal, Bill Kelley, Danny Helmick, Bob Paugh, and Ted Raynovich. Below, pictured with Lindsey Gonder, tournament chairman, is Rick Nice, his parents, Richard and Sandy, and his younger brother, Chad.

"It was a heartwarming experience to witness the degree of individual and community support for a young man and family who have maintained a totally positive attitude during a physically and emotionally trying experience," stated Lindsey Gonder, coordinator of the tournament. "I am sure that all involved in the event will keep Rick and his family in their thoughts and prayers."

Other team sponsors were: Elks Lodge 2481, Bausch & Lomb, WMSG-WXIE Radio, Browning's Foodland, Oakview Motors, Oakland Rotary Club, Proctor Kildow Post 71, American Legion, First United National Bank & Trust, Keyston Paving, Kitzmiller-Bray, and Tom Gowans. Individual donors included: Ernie Shotwell, Joe and Grace Lechman, Team One, Clarence Avery, and Jake Ellifritz.

Gonder expressed his gratitude to the sponsors and donors, as well as to Oakland Club pro Jim Kreyenbuhl, who donated the prizes; Dick Shaffer, who provided the meal and refreshments at cost; and to all who partipated in the tournament.

"A special thanks is due the Ladies Golf Association that assisted with the tournament and raised over $1,000 through various fund-raising activities," Gonder concluded.

Kawasaki 650 and was traveling north. He reportedly lost control of the motorcyle, ran off the right side of the road, and struck a utility pole.

Kelly was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad, where a spokesman reported that he was admitted, but has since been discharged.

The mishap was investigated by Tfc. D.G. Riggleman.

A single-vehicle accident occurred Sunday night on Route 42.

Police reported that Joy M. Nazelrod, 18, Accident, was driving a pizza delivery truck, and was following another vehicle. As the truck entered a curve, the first vehicle slowed down. Nazelrod applied the brakes, and her truck skidded on the wet roadway. The vehicle slid off the right side into a small ditch, then crossed the road and came to rest against a guardrail.

Police reported that Nazelrod finished her delivery, then returned to her place of business. A relative later took her to Garrett Memorial, where she was reportedly treated and released.

The incident was investigated by Tfc. G.R. Chaney.

Police investigated a single-vehicle accident Monday morning on Route 495.

According to reports, Bernadine F. Friend, 61, Friendsville, was operating a 1985 Chevrolet Impala. She was traveling north at the intersection of Route 48 and Route 495 when her car skidded on ice on the bridge and struck a guardrail with the front ent.

Friend was taken to Garrett Memorial in a private vehicle, where a spokesman reported that she was treated and released.

Tpr. G.S. Becker investigated the incident.

A two-vehicle accident occurred Sunday morning on U.S. Route 219.

Police said William S. Buron, 19, Friendsville, was traveling east on Route 40 Alternate in a 1989 Chevrolet Cavalier. Regina H. Knepper, 66, Richmond, Va., was traveling south on Route 219 in a 1983 Dodge Aries.

Buron reportedly failed to stop at a red traffic signal. Knepper's vehicle struck Buron's in the left side, then continued on and struck a telephone pole. Walter H. Knepper, 69, also of Richmond, was passenger in Knepper's car.

Police reported that injured persons were taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Rescue Squad. A spokesman reported that no one remains hospitalized.

Tpr. G.S. Becker investigated the incident, charging Buron with failing to stop at a red traffic signal.

Fall Harvest Of Pumpkins

MAPLE-PUMPKIN BREAD

1½ cups whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup wheat bran
2 eggs
1 cup plain lowfat yogurt (or skim milk)
½ cup maple syrup
2 tablespoons oil
1 cup mashed cooked pumpkin

Sift the flour, baking powder and cinnamon into a large bowl. Stir in the bran and any bran remaining in the sifter. Mix the remaining ingredients in a medium bowl, and then quickly add them to the dry ingredients, stirring until just blended. Spoon the mixture into a lightly oiled 5"x9" loaf pan, and bake at 350 degrees for about 50-60 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted in middle comes out clean. If you want a stronger maple flavor, add ½ teaspoon of maple extract to the batter.

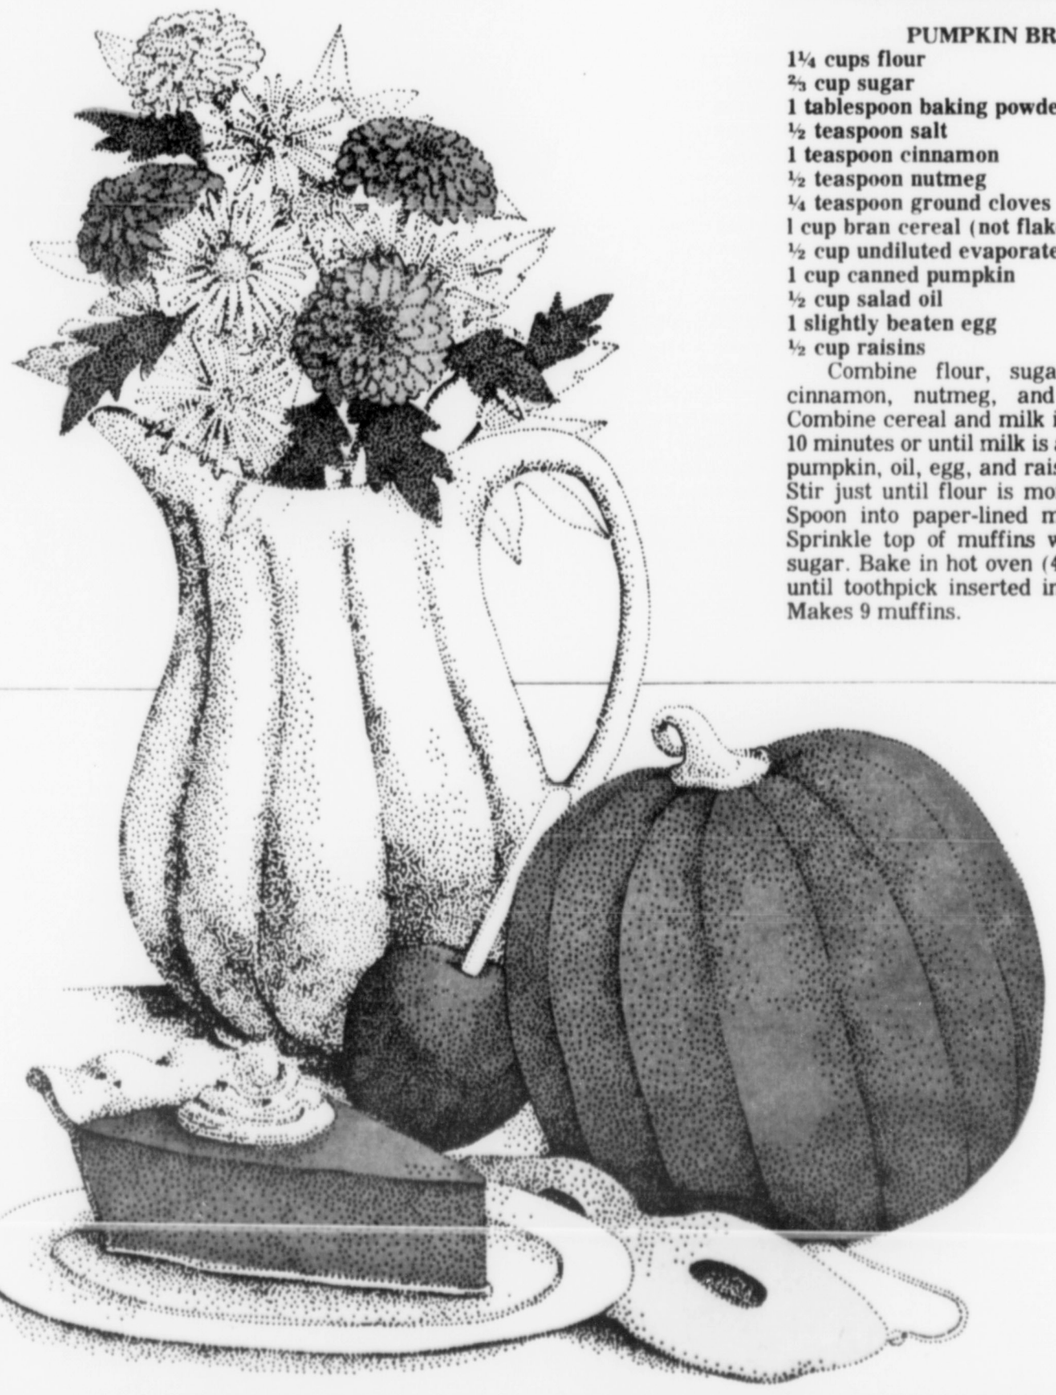

HARVEST HOME COFFEECAKE

1 cup butter
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
1 cup sour cream
1 cup pumpkin
2 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt

Cream butter and sugar in large mixer bowl until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Beat in sour cream, pumpkin, and vanilla. Beat in remaining ingredients, except Streusel. Spoon half of batter into greased 9-inch tube pan. Sprinkle with half the Streusel. Repeat layers. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 60 to 70 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes, remove from pan.

Streusel:

Cut 3 tablespoons butter into 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar and 2 teaspoons cinnamon. Stir in 1 cup chopped nuts.

PRALINE TOPPING

1 baked 9-inch pumpkin pie
1 cup pecan halves
½ cup packed light brown sugar
2 tablespoons half and half
2 teaspoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon orange zest, finely chopped
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Place pecans in medium bowl, butter cookie sheet, set aside. In small saucepan, combine sugar and half and half. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring frequently. Add butter, continue to boil, stirring constantly, until temperature reaches 250°F. on candy thermometer (hard ball stage). Remove from heat, stir in vanilla and orange zest. Immediately pour hot mixture over pecans, tossing with two forks, to coat nuts. Quickly spread on cookie sheet, pulling apart to separate. When completely cool, chop candied nuts into small pieces. Stir into beaten egg white. Spoon nut mixture over pumpkin pie. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven for 10 to 15 minutes or until golden. Cool. Topping for 1 9-inch pie.

ORANGE CLOUD TOPPING

1 baked 9-inch pumpkin pie, cooled
1⅓ cups (7-ounce jar) marshmallow creme
2 tablespoons thawed orange juice concentrate
2 teaspoons orange zest, finely chopped
3 egg whites, room temperature
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
3 tablespoons sugar
Orange zest (optional)

In medium bowl, combine marshmallow creme, orange juice concentrate and orange zest, set aside. In small mixer bowl, combine egg whites, cornstarch and cream of tartar, beat until thick and foamy. Beat in three tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon at a time, until meringue is stiff and shiny. Fold half of meringue into marshmallow mixture, blend well. Fold in remaining meringue, blend gently. Spread over cooled pie, sealing to edge of crust. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven for 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Garnish with additional orange zest, if desired. Allow to cool 15 minutes before serving. Pie cuts easily with moistened knife.

PUMPKIN BRAN MUFFINS

1¼ cups flour
⅔ cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup bran cereal (not flaked)
½ cup undiluted evaporated milk
1 cup canned pumpkin
½ cup salad oil
1 slightly beaten egg
½ cup raisins

Combine flour, sugar, baking powder, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves in large bowl. Combine cereal and milk in small bowl. Allow to set 10 minutes or until milk is absorbed. Combine cereal, pumpkin, oil, egg, and raisins. Add to flour mixture. Stir just until flour is moistened. Do not over mix. Spoon into paper-lined muffin tins, filling to top. Sprinkle top of muffins with 1 teaspoon cinnamon sugar. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Makes 9 muffins.

APPLE PUMPKIN TOPPING

2⅓ cups (21-ounce can) apple pie filling
1 cup pumpkin
1 cup water
¼ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
2 tablespoons butter

Combine all ingredients in medium saucepan. Heat until butter melts. Serve warm over ice cream. Makes 1 quart.

PUMPKIN BANANA NUT BREAD

1 cup pumpkin
½ cup (1 medium) ripe banana, mashed
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup oil
2 eggs
2¼ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ cups chopped nuts

Combine pumpkin, banana, sugar and oil in large mixer bowl, beat well. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Beat in remaining ingredients, except nuts. Stir in nuts. Pour into greased 9x5x3-inch baking dish. Bake in slow oven (325°F.) about 1 hour or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 5 minutes. Remove from dish. Decorate with glaze, if desired. Makes 1 loaf.

Glaze:

Blend together until smooth 2 cups powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon melted butter, and 3 tablespoons milk. Dispense with plastic squeeze-type condiment bottle or drizzle from a spoon or ladle.

YEAST PUMPKIN BREAD

2 envelopes active dry yeast
½ cup warm water
½ teaspoon sugar
3½ cups plus 1 tablespoon flour
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup cooked, mashed pumpkin (fresh or canned)
3 tablespoons butter, melted
½ cup dark brown sugar, firmly packed
¾ cup milk

Dissolve yeast in warm water and stir in ½ teaspoon sugar and 1 tablespoon flour. Let stand until bubbly. Combine 3½ cups flour, spices, and salt, and mix together pumpkin, butter, brown sugar and milk. Add pumpkin mixture and yeast mixture alternately to flour and spices, adding more flour to make a kneadable dough. Knead until smooth and elastic. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 1 hour. Punch down dough and knead again. On lightly floured surface shape dough into a loaf or flatten into a rectangle and roll up and place in a greased loaf pan. Allow to rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Bake in a preheated oven at 325°F for 35 to 40 minutes. Remove from pan and cool on a wire rack.

Halloween fun with spooky spider cookies

With their long licorice legs, gum drop spiders creep across webs of frosting spun atop pumpkin cookies for a Halloween treat that's home-baked and wholesome.

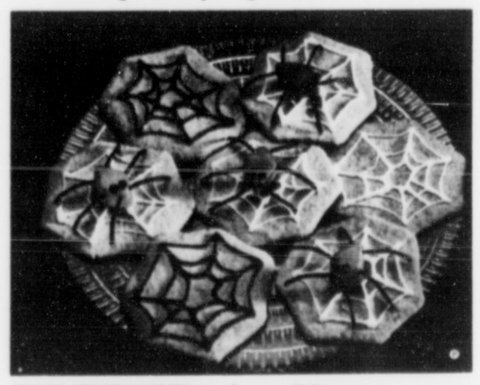

Scary Spider Cookies are anything but frightening. Before the kids turn themselves into ghoulish ghosts and goblins, they will have just as much fun in the kitchen making the candy spiders and spinning the frosting webs as they do trick or treating.

The cookie recipe won't spook the cook either. The spiced dough is made several hours ahead of rolling and baking. While the dough is firming up in the refrigerator and the kids are devising their candy long-legs, you can relax.

The frosting is so easy, the kids can make that, too. For less of a mess, let them weave their webs by piping the frosting out of a small-tipped plastic squeeze bottle or a heavy duty plastic bag with one bottom corner cut off.

It's a treat to know that pumpkin not only adds a golden glow to these whimsically eerie cookies, but it is a good source of vitamin A as well.

For a nutritious Halloween snack, offer trick or treaters glasses of milk to go along with the cookies and their not-so-spooky spiders.

SPOOKY SPIDER COOKIES are a fun, tasty Halloween treat.

SCARY SPIDER COOKIES

(Makes about 2 dozen cookies)

3¼ cups all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons pumpkin pie spice
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup butter, softened
1 cup packed dark brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 cup LIBBY'S Solid Pack Pumpkin

Frosting

24 large gum drops
24 pieces thin licorice whip candy, 12-inches long

In medium bowl, combine flour, pumpkin pie spice, and baking soda; set aside. In large mixer bowl, cream butter and sugars until fluffy. Add egg and pumpkin; beat until light and creamy. Gradually add dry ingredients; blend well.

Cover and chill dough for several hours. Divide into 6 portions.

On generously floured board, roll out one portion of dough ¼-inch thick (keep remaining dough chilled).

Cut out creative shapes free-hand, or use round cardboard form 4 to 5 inches in diameter, or cookie cutter. If desired, cut off edges of cookie dough rounds at angles to create web base.

Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated 350°F. oven for 8 to 10 minutes, or until lightly browned.

Cool. Repeat with remaining dough.

Frosting: Blend 2 cups sifted powdered sugar, 1 tablespoon light corn syrup, and 1 tablespoon water; mix until smooth. Add food coloring as desired.

To decorate: Create thin web lines by piping frosting onto cookie using fine pastry tip.* Make spider by using large gum drop for body; cut thin licorice whip candy into 2-inch lengths for legs. Pierce gum drop at points where spider legs attach; insert licorice legs. For eyes, use pastry tip to make two frosting dots on top of gum drop. Place one spider on top of each cookie.

*Frosting may also be applied using plastic squeeze bottle with small tip or sandwich-size plastic freezer bag with bottom corner of bag cut off.

IS IT REALLY A BARGAIN?

But, how can you really tell a prescription bargain? You can't have an overstock or a fire sale. Prescription drugs are used only on a physician's order. If old, they must be destroyed.

Kitten Up A Tree

Puffy has a problem. She's much better at climbing trees than she is at getting down again. Usually, someone has to get a ladder and bring poor Puffy back to earth.

People share Puffy's problem. Their fears are forever driving them to do what they can't undo. They run away from reality only to wish they hadn't. We have even coined the idiom "up a tree" to denote the dilemma of a situation from which we cannot free ourselves.

With people, it takes more than a ladder to solve the problem.

Through the centuries we have found Faith an answer to fear. Our churches cultivate courageous Christians. For with confidence in God comes confidence in ourselves.

The person who knows they are never alone doesn't run away.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IN TIME OF TROUBLE

October 15, 1989

Background Scripture: Daniel 12
Devotional Reading: Matthew 13:36-43

People have argued over the meaning of Daniel and his visions almost from the first day that they were recorded. Was Daniel speaking only of his own times, or was he foreseeing a distant future that still lies beyond us and our world today? I don't wish to become embroiled in that argument because I think it fruitless. Besides, the scriptures are not really for argument:, but for inspiration and performance.

Regardless of those arguments, there is something valuable in Daniel 12 that quite transcends the vagaries of interpretation. As in all of the Book of Daniel, the message is one of both warning and consolation and this twofold message is for us as well as for those who lived in Daniel's time.

UNPRECEDENTED TROUBLE

Daniel's visionary dreams told him that "there shall be a time of trouble, such as never has been since there was a nation til that time" (Daniel 12:1a). Quite unlike many of our contemporary visions of the future, things do not gradually evolve into some kind of paradise. In fact, according to Daniel, the culmination of God's plan is directly preceded by a time of trouble that has no precedent.

So this is the warning Daniel gives the people of Israel: before God's victory, a time of trouble. Daniel doesn't tell us anything about this time of trouble, but in the rest of the book he has consistently indicated a recurring struggle between God's children and their enemies. The reason for the struggle, it would seem, is the failure of God's children to do and be all that they could. The latter, of course, earn "shame and everlasting contempt" (12:2).

What this says to us some two thousand years later is that times of trouble don't "just come," they are caused. The causes are many: human greed, enmity, injustice, unrighteousness, and so on. So whenever we find ourselves in a time of great trouble, we need to ask ourselves what we need to learn from it. Illness, for example, is often an outer signal that something is wrong with us within. Perhaps it means we are consumed by bitterness or prejudice, or that we live a lifestyle that takes too great a toll of us. Whenever trouble comes and in whatever form it comes: it has a message for us.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL

Secondly, trouble is God's opportunity and ours to turn our troubles into something else. There is never a trouble so great that we can't learn something from it. There is never a concern that we can't turn into something positive. This is one of the great themes of the Bible: that God is able to bring good out of evil and life out of death. This is the message of many of the Old Testament prophets and all of the New Testament. In a sense, the whole Bible is based on this theme. Many of us would probably prefer that the Bible told us how to avoid trouble. It doesn't. But it does tell us how to meet trouble and with the help of God to turn it into something redemptive.

If we do the rewards are boundless: "those who are wise shall shine like the brightness of the firmament" and "those who turn many to righteousness, like the stars for ever and ever" (12:3). In times of trouble that we cannot escape, we need to remember that by God's grace we can be victors instead of victims.

Catastrophic Coverage Act Is Repealed

U.S. Representative Beverly Byron voted for the repeal of the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act approved last year and signed into law by President Ronald Reagan. In a bipartisan effort, the measure adopting the repeal was passed 360 to 66 Wednesday.

"After visiting over 72 towns and spending countless hours interacting with my district's constituents in August during District Tour, I became acutely aware the Catastrophic Coverage was too expensive and the people living in my district did not want it," Rep. Byron says.

"It is time to return to the drawing board and create a proper program that ensures the elderly in the United States are taken care of, but does not unfairly burden our country's seniors," Byron said. "Catastrophic healthcare is far too important to be thrown together without proper insight from those who will be using it. I feel confident we can do better next time," Rep. Byron says.

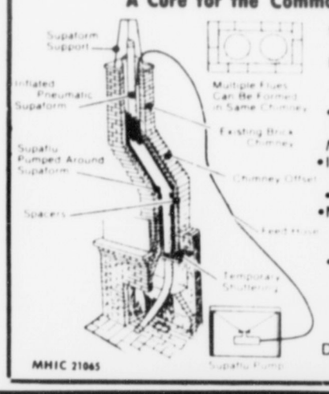

Since its enactment, a number of serious program shortfalls have been discovered, mostly in the way of escalating costs. Last year, Congress was notified the Catastrophic program would cost $32 billion while this year's estimates have grown to more than $48.2 billion. The Congressional Budget Office reports this year's revenues will total $42 billion — a $6.2 billion shortfall.

The amendment repeals the entire Medicare Catastrophic Act except for the Medicaid buy-in and spousal impoverishment provisions. The amendment also provides strong protection for beneficiaries receiving benefits and insures strong rules that senior citizens are not left without health insurance.

"I feel upbeat Congress will create legislation that will form a safety net under our nation's elderly, but at the same time, not unfairly burden them," Rep. Byron said.

Sam Butler New Food Service Manager At GCC

A culinary artist with broad experience has taken over the food service at Garrett Community College. Sam Butler, who has won awards in national culinary competition, has been named food service manager at the college. In addition to providing the meals in the college cafeteria, he will instruct courses in the new Resort Management program.

Butler, who grew up in a U.S. Army family and lived in Germany, Japan, Puerto Rico, and Texas, claims to have inherited his interest in cooking from his mother and grandmother who were good cooks. "Even now, when I get stuck on some basic recipe, I still call my grandmother," he says. "Many of my recipes derive from her."

After completing his A.A. degree in business administration at Brazosport Community College in Texas, where he worked nights as a caterer, Butler began serving apprenticeships and taking specialized courses in food preparation. He worked as regional manager for Pizza Hut, covering Hagerstown, Frederick, and Cumberland, and served as chef and general manager of the Holiday Inn restaurant in Grantsville for 4½ years. Twice he has won bronze medals in national culinary competition, in Chicago and in Washington.

He served an apprenticeship under executive chef Andy Iannochonie at Bedford Springs Hotel and received certification in soups and sauces. At the Au Petit Paris Restaurant in Frostburg he became soup chef and then tableside waiter. Last year he opened the catering division of McIntyre's 7 Day Market and Maria's in the Cumberland Mall, and he has been guest chef at L'Osteria. In addition, he has written training programs and conducted seminars for various restaurants.

Butler says he is excited about the educational opportunities for students in the Resort Management program at Garrett Community College. "Having come through the system. I have a better idea of what students need to know," he says. "I already have many ideas about practical things that can apply to particular restaurant situations. The restaurant-hotel industry is changing so rapidly it is necessary to stay on the 'cutting edge' to be in competition."

Annual Mellinger Reunion Held

The 26th Annual Mellinger Reunion was held recently at the farm of John F. Mellinger Jr. near Swanton. Approximately 200 friends and relatives gathered to celebrate. These were the descendants of the late Peter Franklin and Annie Amelia (Nolte) Mellinger.

John F. Mellinger Sr., now patriarch of the Mellinger family recently celebrated his 88th birthday.

John and Vauda (Glotfelty) Mellinger were married January 7, 1922, and have eight living children, 26 grandchildren, 43 great-grandchildren and 14 great-great-grandchildren, of which the greater majority attended. Family members gathered to set up the pavilion and games, and also had a corn roast and dance. Music was provided by D.J.'s Tom Tressler and John Wolfe.

The following day there was a skeet shoot, followed by lunch. The afternoon was spent playing horseshoes, volleyball, and other games.

Prizes were won by Grace Groves, oldest lady (94 years); John Mellinger Sr., oldest man (88 years); and Mary Beachy, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., greatest distance traveled.

FACTORS AFFECTING SCHOOL WORK

During the middle school and high school years, adolescents develop new pattern of social behavior and social relationships that absorb a great deal of their energy and attention. At this same time, they need to master knowledge that is often considered foreign and not of their interest.

This often makes academic achievement difficult for the serious student and often impossible for the less serious. Young people have a powerful need to develop and express competence. When they achieve understandings or master a skill successfully, they will continue to make personal investments to learn more.

Extrinsic rewards may be high grades, admission to higher education, social approval, increased income, etc. Only when students perceive that academic achievements will lead to rewards they value and believe and that their own work will result in academic achievement, will they be motivated.

Young people may withdraw from or invest in learning depending upon how interesting they find the materials, regardless of its connection to extrinsic rewards. What a student may find interesting often depends not simply upon the subject or topics themselves, but upon the way the topics are presented.

Learning involves risk-taking. Teachers and peers must be there to give support for working hard. Fear of failure or in a competitive situation can divert a student from academic competence to other activities that are psychologically more comfortable. Students' moral worth and dignity must not be tied to academic achievement only.

Students must have some influence on the conception, execution and evaluation of the work they are involved in. There must be opportunity to construct and produce knowledge in the students own words.

Learning is enhanced when there are opportunities for youth to be with adults. Youth will not invest in learning if they cannot see the value. All young people are entitled to the respect and care of peers, staff and faculty.

Competitive activities for some youth instill a fear of failure which may cause them to leave the educational program. Cooperative learning among peers can offer social support to counteract the alienating aspects of competitive learning.

World Series action hits the mound

ABC brings in top announcers

By Jeff Thompson

World Series action heats up on ABC as that network brings out its critically acclaimed announcing team of Al Michaels, Tim McCarver and Jim Palmer for games throughout the week.

Game 2 of the series is set for Sunday, Oct. 15, with games 3 and 4 slated for Tuesday and Wednesday. If necessary, game 5 will be Thursday, game 6 Saturday and game 7 Sunday, Oct. 22.

As they have done Thursday nights all season, Michaels, McCarver and Palmer will describe all the action for this, the 86th World Series. They bring with them a combined 34 years of experience announcing Major League Baseball.

An all-around sports enthusiast, Michaels was born in Brooklyn 41 years ago where he grew up as a Dodgers fan. When the Dodgers left New York, coincidentally, Al's family did too, and settled in Los Angeles.

A baseball and football player at L.A.'s Hamilton High School, Michaels decided before college that he would like to remain in sports as a broadcaster.

He began broadcasting games of the Hawaii Islanders in the Pacific Coast League in 1968, and also called the football and basketball play-by-play for the University of Hawaii Rainbows.

His career calling minor league baseball didn't last long. Michaels moved to Cincinnati in 1971, becoming the Reds' number one broadcaster at the age of 26. He has announced baseball for ABC since the network picked up coverage again in 1976.

Palmer's Major League Baseball commentating began with the 1980 American League Championship Series. Having begun his first full season as an ABC Sports commentator in 1984, he is acclaimed by viewers and critics for being bright, opinionated and articulate, and having a sense of humor and a tenacious memory for the details of the game.

"One time about 15 of us were discussing an old game," said Brooks Robinson. "Everyone said it was this way. Palmer said it was another. We checked the scorebook, and he was right. Jim never forgets."

Palmer celebrates a birthday this week. He was born in New York City on Oct. 15, 1945. When he was 9, his family moved to California and shortly thereafter to Arizona. At Scottsdale High School, he achieved All-State status in football, basketball and baseball.

McCarver began calling New York Mets baseball in 1982 for WWOR-TV and The Sports Channel, and joined ABC as a Major League Baseball announcer in 1984. He also celebrates a birthday during the World Series. Born Oct. 16, 1941, James Timothy McCarver signed with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1959 fresh out of high school. He became the only catcher in major league history whose career spanned four decades.

As the American League and National League champs battle it out for the World Series trophy, ABC brings out its critically acclaimed announcing team of Al Michaels, Tim McCarver and Jim Palmer.

Blue-collar family uses humor to deal with WWII hardships

By Shelia Odak

A working-class European family trying to cope with life during World War II is the story behind Masterpiece Theatre's presentation of "And a Nightingale Sang," which opens the show's new season on Sunday, Oct. 15.

Adapted from C.P. Taylor's play, this comedy-drama tells the story of the Stotts, a decidedly eccentric family trying to go about their own lives while at the same time dealing with Hitler's threat.

The household is headed by Mam (Joan Plowright), who tries to find comfort in her religion, as her daughters try to find the joys of love. Helen (Joyce Logan) is the spinster, older daughter, who is convinced she is unlovable, until she meets Norman (Tom Watt), a British soldier. They embark on a love affair that they both know is doomed.

Joyce (Pippa Hinchley) is the younger sister who is having a fine time flirting with every man in sight, while still trying to be faithful to her put-upon husband, Eric (Stephen Tompkinson).

Last, but not least, is Grand-Dad (Des Young), whose chief problem in life seems to be his new and unhousebroken kitten.

Through all the chaos of the war, this family manages to look beyond the hardships and find their own brand of good humor in everyday occurrences.

Distefano makes his mark in more ways than one

By Jeff Thompson

It's not often that an athlete both sets his place in history and suffers the most embarrasing moment all in one season. But just ask the Pittsburgh Pirates' Benny Distefano and he'll tell you it can happen.

Distefano had the distinction of becoming a baseball rarity and a nationally televised oddity all in one season.

He became a baseball rarity on May 14 when his team went up against Atlanta. His feat: Distefano became just the sixth lefthanded catcher in the majors since the turn of the century and the first since Mike Squires of the White Sox in 1980.

The left-handed catcher entered the game in the ninth inning and recorded a putout on a strikeout. "I'll do anything to get a chance to play," Distefano said.

Now, as for becoming a nationally televised oddity, Distefano was the victim of a clubhouse prank in yet another game against Atlanta, this time on Aug. 20.

Teammates placed a dollop of shaving cream on Distefano's cap, and twice TV cameras focused on him in the dugout. In the fifth inning, he warmed up the pitcher, still not realizing the shaving cream was on his head.

Eventually, however, he found out.

"From now on when they ask my most embarrassing moment," he said, "that will be it."

Stormy Pulitzer marriage focus of NBC movie

Chynna Phillips, Perry King star

By Shelia Odak

Roxanne and Herbert Pulitzer seemed to have the perfect marriage. They were in love, wealthy and the darlings of Palm Beach society. Everything came crashing down, however, when Roxanne became seduced by the excesses of the rich and Herbert became increasingly jealous and possessive of her. What resulted was one of the most scandalous divorce and custody battles of the century. Their story is told when NBC presents Roxanne: The Prize Pulitzer, Monday, Oct. 16. Chynna Phillips, Perry King and Courteney Cox star.

This film is based solely on Roxanne Pulitzer's best-selling novel of the same name, and therefore only tells the story from her point of view. "Well, the Herbert that I know is completely Roxanne's description of him," stated King, who portrays him. "I felt that I was making her story, so I didn't want to know anything about what the real man was. I wanted to try to bring to life the Herbert that she knows."

In addition to playing a demanding character, King faced the difficult task of trying to convey to the audience what had turned this marriage from a fairy tale into a nightmare. "Things changed. They started out one way and things began to change. What was happening was she was a young woman when they met, and she had to grow up. She had some type of independent spirit and she began to want personal freedom and not to be completely under his thumb."

Even though the media was saturated with the story at the time of the divorce, King feels that this film will let people see a different side of the story.

Perry King and Chynna Phillips star as doomed to divorce couple Roxanne and Herbert Pulitzer in Roxanne: The Prize Pulitzer, Monday, Oct. 16, on NBC.

Adam Rich, Dick Van Patten and Willie Aames reunite for brother David's (Grant Goodeve) second wedding on Eight Is Enough Wedding, Sunday on NBC.

Bradford's gather again for 'Eight Is Enough Wedding'

Reunion not all cut and dried

By Mary Ann Townsend

Dick Van Patten gets to blend the best of both his families when his real-life wife and middle son join him for an Eight Is Enough Wedding, Sunday, Oct. 15, on NBC.

Pat Van Patten, the actor's wife of 35 years, plays a future in-law, the mother of the girl who is about to marry David Bradford (Grant Goodeve), Tom Bradford's oldest son.

Also meshing his real-life family with his screen family will be Jimmy Van Patten, who will play daughter Susan's (Susan Richardson) husband, Merle "The Pearl."

His screen family—with two exceptions—is returning in tact. Betty Buckley, who played his wife, and Brian Patrick Clarke, who played the son-in-law his real-life son is playing, are not reprising their roles because of contract negotiations. Filling in as his wife is Sandy Faison (The Days and Nights of Molly Dodd).

"They all fit right in," Van Patten said. "In fact, after about two days of shooting with Sandy Faison, it's funny, but you feel like you've been shooting with her the whole time. She was very good."

Van Patten said he believes this show is a little more down to earth than the series and the 1987 reunion were.

"It's not too saccharin or too sweet, it's not that goody goody. There's a little more meat to it," he said, citing David's confusion over who he should marry, his ex-wife or his new girlfriend, as an example. "They sort of lead you down the primrose path. You think he's going to remarry the girl that he divorced, and it keeps you guessing."

Dear Candace: I agree with all the people who wrote in about As the World Turns. It needs new writers badly. I stopped watching it because it had the same thing over and over.

On The Young and The Restless it seems the whole show revolves around Cricket. They are giving her too much exposure. It makes me want to turn it off. So glad to get it off my mind. —R.F., Glendale, Ill.

One girl makes a difference in laws regarding education

By Anne Wheeler

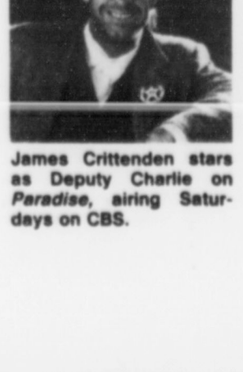

CBS looks at the case of a young girl whose refusal to dissect a frog in science class led to a change in the California state law in the CBS Schoolbreak Special Frog Girl: The Jenifer Graham Story, Tuesday, Oct. 17.

Ellen Dunning, Kerrie Keane, Mitchell Laurance and Michael Greene star in the story about the controversial Students' Rights Bill, and Lesley-Anne Down makes a special appearance as an animal rights advocate.

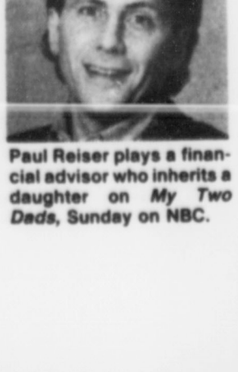

Dunning plays Jenifer (cq) Graham, the California teenager dubbed the "frog girl" in a highly publicized case in which she sued her high school district for penalizing her when she refused to dissect a frog. Graham, a vegetarian and an animal sympathizer, and her mother (Keane), together with the Humane Society of the United States, took their case to the local school board and eventually to the federal courts after Graham's teacher (Laurance) and principal (Greene) refused her request for an alternative method of learning.

Graham's testimony before a California State Assembly subcommittee was instrumental in the passage of the Students' Rights Bill, a major victory for animal rights organizations guaranteeing an alternative to students whose beliefs keep them from participating in such activities.

Teachers Advise Governor Schaefer On State Education System Reforms

In a report to Governor William Donald Schaefer, the Maryland State Teachers Association/NEA, has called for basic reforms in the state's public education system.

High on the list is a proposal to "put teachers in charge of the schools" so that faculties, not bureaucrats, are responsible for raising student performance.

The association had sent out surveys to 50,000 teachers and parents asking them to rate proposals for improving schools taken from the recent Sondheim commission and other sources. The association undertook the effort at the request of the governor to respond within 30 days to his commission's recommendations.

MSTA President Jane R. Stern said teachers want more individual attention paid to each student, and that means "more teachers dealing with fewer students." Teachers also want more time to "collaborate as a group in managing the school's academic program."

"Parents are essential in raising student achievement by providing a home life that reinforces the school's goals. Being a student in today's competitive world is a full-time job," the MSTA president declared.

The purpose of the report is to generate "dialogue between teachers and public officials towards improving school performance," said Stern. "Teachers are more frustrated than politicians and parents with the state of our schools. We are the ones who live with problems day in and day out. Teachers want results more than anyone."

Next on the agenda is the association's Instruction and Professional Development conference October 14 at the Towson Sheraton Conference Center, which explores restructuring of local school management.

"Collective bargaining between local teacher associations and school boards should set the framework for individual faculties that wish to develop new ways of managing their school," said Stern. "We don't want more top-down remedies for our schools and faculties."

The association will conduct its 122nd annual convention in Ocean City November 2-4 and will debate the issues of school reform.

On November 15, the association will offer further testimony to the State Board of Education in response to the Sondheim Commission's report.

The following were included among the proposals favored by teachers on the list of 68 suggestions:

—Tighten homework policies adopted by teachers at all grade levels.

—Extend compulsory school attendance to age 18.

—Forbid by law the changing of a teacher's grade.

—Fund state scholarships that promise college tuition, lodging and board to each impoverished middle and high school student who graduates with good grades in a rigorous academic program.

—Increase staffing of psychologists, counselors, social workers, librarians, nurses and therapists to meet the needs of students.

—Insist on firm and fair discipline codes at all schools, developed by faculty in consultation with parents, students and administration.

—Permit faculties to offer cross-disciplinary seminar courses to encourage independent and cooperative study.

—Provide summer school for all applicants both for remediation and enrichment.

—Raise college entrance standards based on the grade-12 outcomes of the College Board Basic Competencies and Subjects, and adopt a uniform lower-division core curriculum to promote transfer from 2-year to 4-year institutions.

—Raise high school graduation standards by requiring more math, science, English, social studies and the arts.

—Raise state funding of schools to 50 percent from the current average 22 percent.

—Reduce class size to 15 in primary grades.

—Upgrade textbooks for more rigorous and accurate treatment of subject matter.

—Relieve teachers of clerical and security chores by hiring more secretaries and support staff.

—Require daily follow-up of absent students and provide clear incentives for attendance and sanctions for absenteeism and tardiness.

—Establish a professional standards board with a majority of teachers and teacher educators to set standards for certification and professional practice.

—Expand community cultural opportunities such as libraries, museums, live theater to support the academic program.

—Expand family counseling and intervention services to help students in trouble.

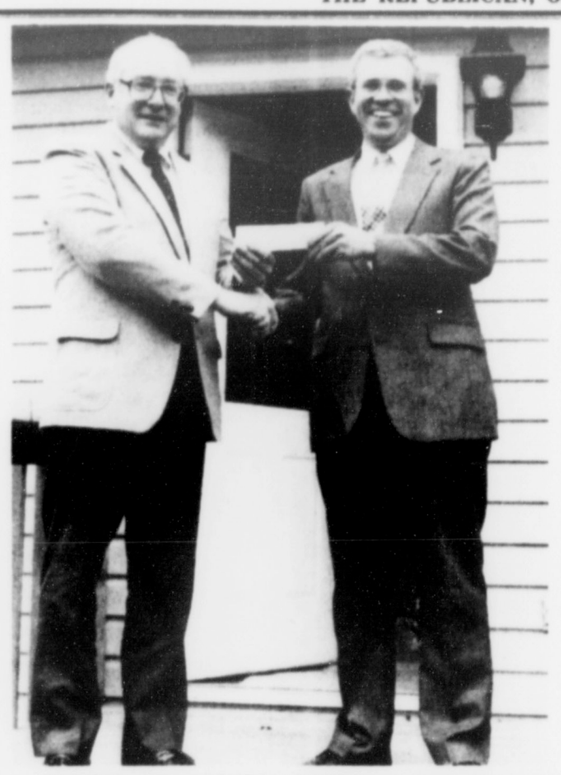

—Increase teacher pay to match occupations requiring similar preparation and grant sabbatical leaves for further study.

—Restore contract protections against arbitrary treatment of teachers, negotiated in the past 20 years but recently voided by the State Board of Education.

—Restructure vocational education to stress in-school academic preparation with concurrent enrollment in apprentice programs at local industries/businesses.

—Send teachers to their professional subject-area conferences.

—Upgrade standards for entering and graduating from teacher education programs.

In Memory Of

STEPHEN D. SCHROCK

On His 21st Birthday
October 14, 1989

I miss you in the morning, Steve, when all the world is new.
I know the day can bring no joy, because it brings not you!
I miss you in the evening, Steve, when the daylight fades away.
I miss the sheltering arms of you, to rest me from the day.
I try to think I see you yet, there where the firelight gleams.
Tired at last, I fall asleep, and still I miss you in my dreams!
The world is full of folks, tis true, but there was only one of you!

I miss you!

Forestry Board Has Program On Wooden Bridges

The Garrett County Forestry Board held a dinner meeting at Cornish Manor Restaurant on October 3. Jack Perdue, utilization forester with the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, presented a program to the Board members on the use of wooden bridges instead of concrete and steel structures.

Garrett County has been selected as one county in Maryland where timber bridges will be used. Two wooden bridges will be constructed in the Buffalo Run area, northwest of Friendsville, in cooperation with the U.S. Forest Service. Perdue said if these bridges and other bridges like them prove to be successful, there could be a new market for some of the low grade lumber currently being produced. It is estimated that forty-two percent of the bridges in the United States need to be replaced. Approximately 80-85 percent of these bridges are 20-40 feet long, and could be replaced using wooden bridges. The average concrete and steel bridge has a life expectancy of 20-30 years, while wooden bridges are expected to last 50 years or more.

The Forest, Park & Wildlife Service is working on several other utilization projects also. Efforts are being made to promote new markets for the hardwood lumber industry. A new brochure entitled "Maryland's Hardwoods — Opportunity For Profit," has been sent to a variety of businesses, encouraging them to consider locating in Maryland.

The Garrett County Forestry Board has agreed to host the 1990 Forestry Board Conservation Workshop next summer. The program is scheduled for August 12-19, 1990.

John Forman gave the Board members an update on the Maryland Forests Association's activities in the county. A Forestry/Logger's Field Day is going to be sponsored by the Maryland Forests Association June 15-16, 1990, at the Garrett County Fairgrounds in McHenry. This field day will be designed to provide information and education to the general public, landowners, and loggers on natural resources, Forman said.

The fall meeting of the Maryland Association of Forestry Boards is going to be held at the Inner Harbor in Baltimore, October 27-28. The Association will be touring the Harbor facilities utilized in the export of Maryland's forest products.

HONORED FOR SERVICE — In appreciation for nearly 15 years of service as a clerk for the town of Oakland, the Mayor and Town Council, along with town employees, presented a plaque to Nancy L. Wagner, who has resigned from that position, effective Sept. 29. Mrs. Wagner was hired by the town in May of 1975.

Aglow Fellowship To Meet Wednesday

The Cumberland Chapter of Women's Aglow Fellowship will meet Wednesday, October 18, at 9:30 a.m. at the Holiday Inn, Cumberland, for the monthly meeting.

Fellowship will begin at 9:30 a.m. with coffee and donuts and the meeting will begin at 10 a.m.

Pamela Smith, from Paramount, will be the speaker. She has served on the Hagerstown Aglow Board as well as the Western Maryland Area Board.

All ladies in the area are welcome to attend. Child care can be provided but interested persons must call 895-5041.

Local Developers Want To Promote Regional Events

The developers of the Laurel Brook condominium project near Deep Creek Lake have announced efforts to promote the region's tourist attractions, and have called upon similar developers and all private sector interests to join in.

"For years, the various areas contiguous to Deep Creek Lake have attempted to promote isolated events and individual counties," said Gary Smoot, president of Laurel Brook Developers, Inc. "All have a done a great job. But now, we think the private sector should join together to reinforce those efforts to strengthen tourist interest in the entire region."

Smoot indicated that his firm has begun efforts to collect materials for inclusion in a direct mail and point-of-interest package that will be made available to people curious about the area. Additional concepts, though as yet unconfirmed, are in the works, he said.

Smoot said he and Laurel Brook pincipals John Anderson and Larry Shaffer conceived of the idea as visitors to their development began asking about possible day trips in the area. "People want to relax in different ways," Smoot said, "and those who visit this region seem to perceive it as an alternative to the more hectic resort areas along the East Coast. But they also tend to see the area as two dimensional — water sports in the summer, snow sports in the winter. The fact is, this region is rich in activities that few others can rival. We just need to get the word out about them to more people in the cities."

He stressed the region's plethora fairs, festivals, craft shows, flea markets, auctions, cultural events, historical sites and other tourist-oriented activities that sets it apart from other areas. "And so many of these wonderful ventures are going on now in the autumn," he said, "that I wish we had our program in place right now. Just like other regions."

Businesses in Florida's Orlando area are a typical example, he said. Though Disney World is the major attraction, outlying areas as far away as Daytona Beach and the Kennedy Space Center join in to promote the region's interests.

Smoot, himself a Baltimore native who moved to Garrett County 12 years ago in search of a more relaxed lifestyle, said, "What brought me and others like me to this region was the promise of peace and quiet and the right to be close to my family without so many demands for my time. There's a rhythm here that allows you to get things done, but at a pace that helps you to live longer."

With this in mind, Smoot said he believes an advertising program designed around a theme of promoting the region as offering "a gentle adventure" may help interest potential visitors.

He issued a call for input from business interests in all counties in the region, including Preston and Tucker Counties, W.Va., Somerset County, Pa., and neighboring Allegany County.

Though Smoot said he intends to visit several tourist spots and businesses in the area in order to explain the idea and to enlist aid, he also invited interested persons to contact him at the Laurel Brook development, located one quarter mile south of Deep Creek Lake on Rt. 219, across the road from Wayne's Waters and Wells, or write to him in care of Laurel Brook Developers, Inc., P.O. Box 217, McHenry, MD, 21541. Phone (301) 387-5395.

"Other regions promote themselves on a regular basis," Smoot said. "So should we."

The geographic center of the North American continent is in Pierce County, North Dakota, six miles west of Balta.

WVU Symphony To Give Memorial Concert Oct. 19

Lawrence Christianson will conduct the West Virginia University Symphony Orchestra in a memorial concert for Richard E. Duncan October 19 at 8:15 p.m. in the Creative Arts Center Concert Theater.

Duncan, former Dean of the WVU School of Music founding Dean of the Creative Arts Center (now the College of Creative Arts), was an orchestral conductor and violinist.

"He played a decisive role in the development of WVU's orchestra and opera programs," said C.B. Wilson, current Chair of the Division of Music. "This concert will feature important music from both genres, including one of the Dean's favorites: 'Adagio for Strings' by Samuel Barber."

Wilson also announced that "outstanding tenor" Augusto Paglialunga will be featured vocalist. A WVU professor and artist-in-residence, Paglialunga is active in opera throughout the U.S., Europe and the Orient.

The concert program also will feature Weber's overture to the opera "Der Freischutz," Richard Strauss' virtuoso tone poem "Til Eulenspiegels courses in basic operations, piegels' Merry Pranks)," and orchestral and vocal selections from operas by Verdi and Wagner.

Though the concert is free and open to the public, contributions to the music scholarship fund may be made in Duncan's memory.

Checks should be made payable to "WVU Foundation, Inc." with the memo line "Duncan Memorial Concert." Send them to C.B. Wilson, Division of Music Chair, WVU Creative Arts Center, Morgantown, WV 26506-6111.

Grantsville Lions, Town Begin Drive For Decorations

The Grantsville Lions Club and the Town of Grantsville are starting a drive to purchase new Christmas decorations for the Town of Grantsville this year.

Last year the Grantsville Civic Association gave the Lions Club decorations which had been used in the past. The Lions refurbished the old decorations and installed them along Main Street.

Businesses or individuals who would like to donate to the fund should send their donations to: Grantsville Lions Club, P.O. Box 450, Grantsville, MD 21536. Further information can be obtained from any Lions Club member or by calling 895-5177. Businesses or individuals can purchase a decoration at a cost of $350.00 each or donate any amount toward a decoration. A total of 14 decorations has been chosen by the decorations committee for installation this year.

Individuals and businesses in the surrounding community are also encouraged to support the drive. The decorations will be installed before Thanksgiving and lighted soon after that holiday.

First United National Bank and Trust kicked off the campaign by donating funds for the first decoration.

LIONS CALENDARS

The Grantsville Lions Club is presently raising funds for sight, diabetes, and other beneficial projects through sales of a calendar. The calendars are available from any Lions member or at H&H Hardware, Beachy's Pharmacy, Grantsville Liquors, G&P Chevron, or Billy Bender Chevrolet.

The calendars began July 1 and will end June 30, 1990.

FIRST UNITED BUYS DECORATION — First United National Bank & Trust recently presented a check for $350 to the Grantsville Lions Club to help the club purchase new Christmas decorations for the town. Presenting the donation was James Michael, left, vice president for First United, and accepting was Gerry Beachy, representing the Lions Club. The First United donation will cover the cost of one of the 14 decorations the club hopes to purchase in time for the coming holiday season. See story for details.

State Community College Enrollment At All-Time High

Enrollment at Maryland's community colleges increased to 107,427 this fall, up four percent from the same time last year, according to the State Board for Community Colleges. This is the highest enrollment ever achieved by the State's 17 community colleges. The previous high was 104,561 in fall 1983.

The number of full-time credit students enrolled this fall is 28,692, up seven percent from last year. Part-time credit enrollment increased three percent to 78,735. This is the second year in a row that enrollment growth by full-time students has outpaced growth by part-time students.

Fifteen of the 17 colleges reported enrollment increases for full-time students. Eleven of the colleges had increases of nine percent or better. Catonsville Community College, including its Carroll County branch campus (17 percent), Howard Community College (15 percent), Charles County Community College (15 percent), Hagerstown Junior College (15 percent), and Garrett Community College (14 percent) reported the largest increases in full-time students.

Several of the smaller colleges had increases of over 20 percent in their part-time students. Allegany Community College in Cumberland (23 percent), Hagerstown Junior College (22 percent), and Wor-Wic Tech in Salisbury (23 percent) had the largest increases in part-time students.

Community colleges now enroll three out of every four freshmen and sophomores studying at a Maryland public college or university, the Board reported. The types of students involved in this year's enrollment increases and their reasons for attending will be examined closely as more detailed enrollment data becomes available. At this point, it appears that convenient locations, quality instruction and programs, and increased scheduling of classes in the evenings and weekends are attracting more of both the recent high school graduates and the older student populations, according to the Board.

The 17 Maryland community colleges range from large, multicampus colleges in Washington suburbs and the Baltimore metropolitan area to smaller colleges in Western Maryland and the Eastern Shore. All the community colleges are comprehensive institutions offering transfer and occupational credit programs as well as noncredit training courses. Transfer programs provide the first two years of a bachelor's degree program and prepare the student for transfer to a four-year college. Occupational programs are designed to prepare for immediate entry into careers such as nursing and data processing.

DeWitt Published In American Poetry Anthology

Linda DeWitt, Mt. Lake Park, has recently published in the American Poetry Anthology, a collection of poems compiled by the American Poetry Association.

The poems are entitled "On My Behalf," "Perfection of Rejection," "My Son," and "Anger." The main subject matter of the poems is emotions and the loss of her son.

The American Poetry Association sponsors contests that are open to the public and publishes poems in hardback volumes.

DeWitt has been writing for 12 years on a variety of subjects.

Poets interested in publication may send up to six poems, on any subject or theme, with no more than 20 lines in each poem, with the poet's name and address on each page, to the American Poetry Association, Dept. CT-69, P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA. 95061.

All poems selected for publication are also entered in the American Poetry Association's Poetry Contest, which awards over $11,000 in prizes to 152 winners.

The following is one of Mrs. DeWitt's four poems published in the anthology:

ON MY BEHALF

The world seems to lash out at me,
When only kindness I am showing.
A helping hand I give,
How could it be misunderstood?
It doesn't make sense,
And only hurts me inside.
What's the use to do right,
But — Stop! Think!

How can I treat others this way?
I know how it harms;
I refuse to dish it out!
Won't someone come to my defense?

I have shared so many cares,
Listened to others' problems,
Won't someone please —
Be as concerned with me?

Mature Driving Course Slated November 1, 2

A classroom driver retraining program designed to help older persons improve their driving skills entitled 55 Alive/Mature Driving will be held at the Oakland Fire Hall on November 1 and 2 from 10 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. each day.

Sponsored and developed by the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), the program is the first comprehensive driver retraining course geared to the specific needs of older motorists.

The course covers the effects of aging and medications on driving, basic driving rules, license renewal, local traffic hazards, adverse road conditions, energy saving and accident prevention measures.

An AARP spokesman said, "Research shows that older drivers are involved in more accidents than their middle-aged counterparts when the record is based on actual miles driven. The physical changes of aging create difficulties for many older drivers when yielding the right-of-way, backing, turning, changing lanes and entering and leaving expressways.

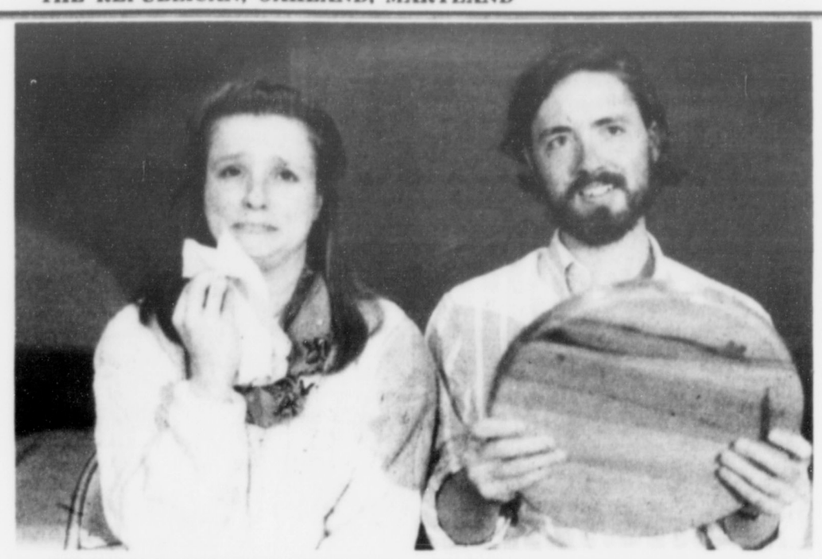

"However, research also indicates that older persons can improve their driving abilities through additional training, attention, and practice, enabling them to maintain their driving licenses longer while driving safer. This is the ultimate goal of 55 Alive/Mature Driving."

Anyone 55 years of age or older is eligible to particpate in the program, and may even qualify to become an instructor. The course fee is $7. To register, a check or money order made payable to AARP should be sent to Betty Moranville, 606 Greene Street, Cumberland 21502.

Local Attorney Passes Florida Bar Examination

Local attorney, Paul C. Sullivan, has recently received notification that he has passed the Florida bar examination and will be admitted to the practice of law in Florida. During the summer of this year, he successfully completed two days of examinations related to the law followed generally by all states and Florida law specifically.

Sullivan has practiced many years in local areas of Maryland and West Virginia. He has handled cases in Florida and other states along the east coast. He plans to more actively engage in the practice of law in Florida, primarily in the area of Miami, where he has fellow attorney contacts. In addition to being admitted in Maryland and West Virginia, he is also a member of the District of Columbia bar.

He resides near Frostburg with his wife, Dr. Patricia Ann Santoro, who is employed at Frostburg State University as an associate professor in the Psychology Department. They have one child, Colleen Janette, who attends St. Michael's Elementary School.

Sullivan has noted that he does not plan at this time to move or relocate his business to Florida. He has taken the Florida bar examination solely to permit him to handle cases in Florida. He is already scheduled to take the Pennsylvania bar examination in February 1990 for similar reasons.

He is now the managing partner of Sullivan & Sullivan, P.A., which has offices in Cumberland and Swanton with a new office opening in Westernport the end of this year. His practice is limited solely to personal injury litigation and workers' compensation claims. He started the practice of law in 1977 in partnership with his father, John C. Sullivan, who is now retired.

Sullivan graduated from Washington College, Chestertown, in 1974, with honors, and received his law degree from the University of Baltimore School of Law in 1977.

In addition to being a member of the Allegany, Garrett and Mineral County Bar Associations, the Maryland and West Virginia State Bar Associations, Sullivan was admitted to the United States District Courts for the District of Maryland and the Southern District of West Virginia, the United States Court of Appeals, Fourth Circuit, and the United States Tax Court. He is a member of numerous civic and professional associations, including the American Trial Lawyers Association and Maryland Trial Lawyers Association.

Open House At Salem Home Is Attended By 200

Approximately 200 people attended the 11th annual Open House at the Maryland Salem Children's Trust on Lower New Germany Road Sunday, October 8.

Those in attendance were treated to musical presentations by the 20 resident children on recorder, on xylophone, or vocally. Selected children demonstrated such horsemanship skills as western and English riding in the new 80-by-200-fot riding ring completed in August. The Open House culminated in visitation and tours of each resident house, with the children serving as tour guides.

Executive director Louise Sutermeister and Board chairman Ralph Burnett welcomed those in attendance and expressed pleasure at the turnout and support of the work at Salem. Visitors were able to interact with members of the professional staff as refreshments were served in the administration building.

The Maryland Salem Children's Trust was founded in 1978 to create a therapeutic environment for homeless and needy children. Initially founded in Germany following World War II, the program is dedicated to preserving Christian and family values in assisting children in need. Horseback riding, music, and psychotherapy are major elements of the program designed to equip children unable to be with their parents to have a supportive home environment and to function effectively.

AVAILABILITY OF ASBESTOS MANAGEMENT PLANS AND NOTIFICATION OF ASBESTOS RESPONSE ACTIONS

In October 1986, the U.S. Congress enacted the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA). Under this law, comprehensive regulations were developed to address asbestos problems in public and private elementary and secondary schools. These regulations require most schools to inspect for friable and nonfriable asbestos, develop asbestos management plans that address asbestos hazards in school buildings and implement response actions in a timely manner.

These regulations assign schools many new responsibilities. Our program for fulfilling these responsibilities is outlined in our asbestos management plans. These plans contain information on our inspections, reinspections, response actions and post-response activities, including periodic reinspections and surveillance activities that are planned or are in progress.

You can review these plans at our administrative office, Garrett County Board of Education, 40 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, during normal business hours. Each school will have their individual plans available for review within five (5) working days of receiving a request for inspection.

The following response actions were conducted during the past year:

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Bloomington Elemenary School from August 1, 1989, to August 8, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels, above ceiling tiles and in the boiler room. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Dennett Road Elementary School from August 21, 1989, to August 23, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from two closets in between bathrooms on the main hallway. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Kitzmiller Elementary School from July 24, 1989, to August 1, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels and the multipurpose room. In addition, the boiler gasket in the boiler room was removed. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Red House Elementary School from August 24, 1989, to August 25, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the boiler room. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Southern High School from August 3, 1989, to August 25, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels, the boys' locker room and the bathrooms in the gymnasium lobby. In addition, asbestos containing plaster was removed from the special education classroom. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, and Brico Environmental, Inc., Baltimore, Maryland, were contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Route 40 Elementary School from August 25, 1989, to August 26, 1989. An asbestos containing hot water jacket was removed from the boiler room and pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels. Brico Environmental, Inc., Baltimore, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

Throughout the course of these removal projects, industrial hygienists from Briggs Associates, Inc., Columbia, Maryland, monitored the projects to ensure compliance with all Federal and State regulations.

Local DAR Group Dines, Tours With Addison Chapter

The Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, traveled to Addison, Pa., Thursday, September 21, for a joint meeting with the Great Crossings Chapter of that area.

Soon after the group arrived in Addison, the Great Crossings regent, Lois Lemley, and other members conducted a tour of the old Petersburg Toll House, which played a significant part in the history of the development of the Old National Road. The toll house is now furnished with antiques. The hand knitted lace bedspread covering the rope-strung bed, a handmade Christening dress, a colorful patchwork quilt embroidered with a variety of stitches, stone jars decorated in blue and a cupboard filled with plates and glassware, were among the items that graced the interior of the house.

The 18 ladies from Oakland and the 21 from Addison shared a luncheon at one of the local churches. Lois Lemley greeted the visitors and Lillian Reckner, acting regent for Youghiogheny Chapter, responded briefly. Martha Bartlett presented an overview of the history of the Old National Road as she led a trek beginning at Clarysville, through the Shades of Death, Piney Grove, Tomlinson's Tavern, to Negro Mountain, to the Petersburg Toll House, to Jockey Hollow, the Rush House, where Jenny Lind once spent the night, past Fort Necessity, the watering trough on Summit Mountain, and into Hopwood, where the trek ended.

Grace Corristan, a 95-year-old member of the Addison Chapter, said she remembered well that she paid toll at Petersburg House when she was 12 years old.

Those members attending the affair from Youghiogheny Glades Chapter were: Lillian Reckner, Mary Jones, Clara Belle Briner, Kathryn Helbig, Beryldine Stanton, Delores Hayden, Nancy Kight, Mary Jane DeWitt, Ruth Porter, Molly Zeller, June Thomas, Grayce Quinet, Norma Hesen, Janice Hutchinson, Mary Kovach, Sarah Gonder, Juanita Browning, Martha Kahl and Charleen E. Thomas.

The next meeting will be October 16, 7:30 p.m., at St. Paul's Methodist Church, Oakland. Speaker will be Mrs. Mary Strauss concerning the Accident home of Lt. James Drane, Revolutionary War Soldier.

Beef Management Information

Chute Cows This Fall: Cows are too valuable to "shoot," but they are not too valuable to "chute." Each fall, producers are tempted to keep unproductive cows because their calves are valuable. There is even a temptation to keep a young open cow because she has produced well for us in the past or because she has a promising future. Remember, if we keep an open cow, it will be 24 months before we wean the next calf from her. It would take voodoo economics to make this one profitable — cull her! Every cow in Maryland should go down the chute this fall and be pregnancy checked by a competent veterinarian or technician. Any open cow should be culled. Each cow should be checked for soundness and any cow with long grown out or unsound feet or legs, unsound udders, or unsound mouths should be culled. While cows are going through the chute is the time to treat them with a systemic for grubs and lice. Remember, animals should be treated by November 1. Several good pour-on's are available, or Ivermectin can be used for internal and external parasites which includes grubs and lice. It is a very good time to identify cows that do not have an ear tag or brand. It is a good opportunity to check the age on cows you are unsure about. The incisors tell the story on young cows. If we remember that as a two year old they have two permanent incisors. As a three year old, four; as a four year old, six; and as a five year old, eight. Past that point, experience will tell us how old cows are by dental inspection. Generally, teeth do not show excessive wear until cows are 10 or 11 years old. When cows begin to lose their teeth, they are generally 12 years old or more.

New Dewormer Introduced — Norden Labolratories has recently introduced a new deworming product for cattle called Valbazen in the U.S. The dewormer contains as its active ingredient the drug albendazole. This drug has been widely used throughout the world; estimates are that over one billion doses have been administered to livestock.

The drug will be available in the U.S. as a drench which can be given with any of the drench devices already available. This includes the drench hook which many producers have found useful. The 11.4% suspension will be administered at the rate of q ml per 25 pounds of body weight.

Albendazole is classified as a broad spectrum dewormer. It is effective against all of the major internal parasites of economic significance in cattle. This includes the stomach worms, the intestinal worms and the lung worms. It is also effective against liver flukes and tapeworms but liver flukes do not commonly occur and tape worms are not thought to exert much economic influence.

An important additional aspect of albendazole is that it kills the inhibited fourth stage larvae of Ostertagia. The inhibition phenomenon has come to be recognized as an important part of the worm picture. Inhibition is a mechanism used by worms to help them survive environmental conditions. Before winter in northern climates and dry, hot summers in southern climates worm larvae that are consumed by cattle undergo a change. This change allows them to go into a hibernation-like state in the stomach glands instead of developing into adults. When the severe weather conditions are about to end the development of the worm resumes. The resumption of development may occur in large numbers of worms at once resulting in damage to the stomach and economic losses.

Albendazole joins ivermectin and fenbendazole (administered at twice the normal dosage) as approved products to destroy inhibited larvae. In many cases albendazole may be the most economical product to accomplish this. As with other types of internal parasitism young cattle are much more likely to be affected at an economically significant level then mature animals.

If abendazole is being utilized to control inhibited larvae timing of administration and grazing management following administration should be carefully considered to get the maximum benefit from the deworming. Inhibition is known to occur in the late fall. Treatment should thereafter occur after all grazing has stopped in early winter or calves should be treated and moved to pastures where recontamination will not occur. Aftermath hay fields and new crop fields (rye fields for example) would be examples of safe pastures.

USDA Reports No Problems with Hormone Use — Since 1978, the USDA has regularly sampled meat for residues of anabolic agents such as hormones found in growth promoting implants. The Food Safety and Inspection Service operates the National Residue Program which continually monitors samples of meat and poultry for unacceptable residues of pesticides, animal drugs or other contaminants. A recent report states, "The testing program has not revealed any problem with hormone use in U.S. cattle." The scientists conclude that meat from animals correctly treated with anabolic agents (implants) is safe for human consumption.

Ralgro Now Has Zero-day Withdrawal — Like other growth promoting implants, Ralgro has now been approved for zero-day withdrawal by FDA. Ralgro promotes increased weight gain and feed efficiency in growing cattle by stimulating the pituitary gland to produce increased amounts of somatotropin, the animal's own natural growth hormone. Ralgro is cleared for use in both steers and heifers and is much less estrogenic than estradiol thereby reducing the potential for side effects such as bulling. Ralgro is not approved for use in cattle kept or breeding.

No longer will producers need to be concerned with observing a 65 day withdrawal period before slaughter of animals implanted with Ralgro.

This clearance plus the report in the preceding article documents the safety of growth-promoting implants in beef production and should give producers the confidence needed to continue to take advantage of one of the most cost effective management practices available to all phases of growing and finishing beef cattle production.

Sally Schwing Speaks To Alpha Alpha Members

Sally Schwing, author of Do You Think It Snows In Heaven, was guest speaker at a dinner meeting of Alpha Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma. The meeting was held at Will 'O The Wisp with President Barbara Flinn presiding.

Lucile Sines and Lillian Reckner began the evening with group singing.

It was announced that Erin Sines, Friendsville, and Christine Lumpkin, Oakland, received the Gifted and Talented Summer Workshop scholarships. Norma Broadwater, Southern High School graduate, received the chapter's Recruitment Grant. Norma will be attending Frostburg State University and plans to major in elementary education.

Rosanne Sherwood presented a brief presentation on "What is a Leader".

Joan Crawford, Personal Growth and Services committee member, introduced Sally Schwing. Mrs. Schwing shared with members how her book about her son, Christopher, was written. She recounted how she took a creative writing class at Garrett Community College and the process she used to write the book. She explained the procedures and problems of getting the book published and about copyright laws. Mrs. Schwing indicated she already has some ideas for another book.

Rosanne Sherwood presented Barbara Flinn with the rose of retirement. Mrs. Flinn, resource teacher for the Board of Education, retired in June.

The location for the meeting scheduled for November 18 was changed from Silver Tree to Will 'O The Wisp. A brunch will be served at 10:30 a.m., and will be followed by the annual Christmas auction. The auction is held to raise money for scholarships for local students.

FSU To Present Children's Play

Roundabout Theatre of Frostburg State University will present "Little Red And The Hood," a unique children's play written and directed by Jenna Gallion, on Saturday and Sunday, October 21-22. Curtain time is 2 p.m. in the Studio Theatre in Compton Hall. The play is under the supervision of Linda G. McCullough, assistant professor in FSU Department of Communication and Theatre Arts.

"Little Red And The Hood" is a contemporary version of "Little Red Riding Hood," set to blues and jazz music with colorful costuming and set. Red, ignoring her mother's warning to stay on "the path to Grandmother's house," wanders off with B.B. Wolf who leaves her stranded in the woods and then stalks her as she tries to find her way to Grandma's. Red's adventure leads her to meet many new friends: Bamba Possum, Funky Birds, the Frogs, the insect patallion, and the Woodcutter.

Cast members in the play include Doug Cathro, Dave Farrbank, Greg Gerhard, Cindy Gerhard, Greg Holtschneider, Paul Straka, and Katy Rabel. The play will tour for six days to area elementary schools.

The two performances at FSU are $1 admission for children of all ages. For more information, persons may contact the Department of Communication and Theatre Arts at 689-4145.

Local Republican Women Hear President Bush

Leona Beckman, Patricia White, and Brenda Butscher, members of the Southern Republican Women's Club, joined over 2,000 Republican women to hear President George Bush address the National Federation of Republican Women during the Federation's 25th Biennial Convention in Baltimore this past weekend.

President Bush congratulated the women on their convention and their "vision" for the Republican Party's future.

"Meeting the Challenges of the 90's" was the convention theme. During the three-day meeting, the women attended a variety of workshops designed to provide the necessary training for candidates, GOP leaders, and political volunteers.

During the convention the NFRW introduced a new program entitled, Project '90, a grassroots candidate recruitment program to identify qualified women candidates for elective offices throughout the country.

Some of the speakers for the convention other than President Bush were: Secretary of Labor Elizabeth Dole, Secretary of Commerce Robert Mosbacher, U.S. Rep. Helen Bentley, U.S. Rep. Connie Morella, Republican National Committee Chairman Lee Atwater, Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick, and Jeanie Austin, National Committee Co-Chairman.

Beckman, White and Butscher served as sergeants at arms and hostesses in the Maryland Hospitality Room. Mrs. Beckman, president of the Southern Republican Women's Club, served as a delegate and Mrs. White, secretary of the club, served as an alternate delegate. Garrett County's maple sugar candy was in the Maryland hospitality bag that was given to each woman attending the convention.

The beaver is one of the larger members of the rodent species.

Doug Ellis Is SHA Employee Of The Week

Douglas C. Ellis is being recognized as Garrett County's Maryland State Highway Administration's Employee of the Week through the SHA Employee Recognition Program.

Ellis, of Oakland, was hired by the SHA as a laborer in May 1969. He currently works out of the Keysers Ridge maintenance shop as a supply officer III. He is responsible for ordering all material, supplies, and parts for the Garrett County shops. In the winter months, he works extra hours with two other SHA employees manning the radio and dispatching trucks. He is a member of the Garrett County Quality Circle for which he has served as recorder.

"Doug had the honor of being chosen Employee of the Year in 1985 for the state of Maryland," an SHA employee said. "He is probably one of the few employees who knows the complete working system within the SHA. His dedication to his job and his desire to excel has made him one of our most valuable employees."

Ellis is the father of three children, Tracie, Leslie, and Melanie. Leslie is enrolled at UMBC as a senior and Tracie and Melanie attend Southern High School.

Ellis enjoys working outside in the summer and being involved with athletics. He is an umpire for Little League Baseball and is an active member of the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, for which he has served as vice president and is currently chairman of membership.

REAL ESTATE

DEEP CREEK REALTY

BY ROBERT HUEBNER
DEEP CREEK REALTY

GO AHEAD! TAKE THE FIRST STEP!

When you're ready to buy a home, what's the first step you'll need to take? Start looking at homes? No. Here's a better suggestion.

You probably have a pretty good idea what type home you'll be wanting to buy, don't you? Do you know how many bedrooms and baths will be needed? What style home do you prefer and in what location?

Do you know how much home you can afford to purchase, how much cash you have available for a down payment, and what monthly payments will be satisfactory?

Once you know the answers to all those questions, your first step should be in the direction of the office of the best real estate agent you can locate. You see, there are numerous details involved in locating the right property for you. Those details center around the agent's knowledge of your family's wants and needs. That's why it's so important to meet first at the agent's office, then make plans to inspect homes.

During the first meeting with your agent you'll have the opportunity to explain the importance of school locations, shopping, and other amenities. Close proximity to your employment may also be a factor in making your housing decision.

By understanding your living style, a wide selection of homes can be located. Your purchase can then be made with confidence.

If you'd like to purchase a home, but feel out-of-touch with what's happening in real estate, give us a call today at 387-5303, or drop by our office in the McHenry Plaza.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 112 — OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1989 — PER COPY 30¢ — NO. 34

SOMEWHERE, behind and under all of these people, is downtown Oakland. Although there have been many guesses as to just how many people were in Oakland for the Autumn Glory Grand Festival Parade on Saturday, all agree that it was the largest crowd ever to attend any event in Oakland. The sunny, warm conditions for all three days of the festival also no doubt set a record for best weather conditions in the 22-year history of the festival. Members of the Festival Committee have been giving thanks the past few days that current weather conditions were not present last weekend, as snow is forecast for the Mountaintop for tomorrow. Board Of Education Meets Thursday, Faces Numerous Agenda Items

Garrett County Board of Education members faced a lengthy agenda during their regular monthly meeting last Thursday, including numerous reports and informational items.

School-Business Partnerships

Board members further discussed the concept of school-business partnerships, which was initially brought up during an earlier meeting. The purpose of the program is to link the business community to the schools in a positive way, with each benefiting from the other.

Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Ryscavage noted that he spoke informally with the members of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and the Greater Oakland Business Association, and has also planned a luncheon meeting with them. Ryscavage noted that he would prefer that these groups serve as initiators in this concept.

Ryscavage noted that he attended a conference on the topic last year, where he received information from programs used in other counties. He noted that the approach in Garrett County would be scaled down, but he would like to see if the business community would be receptive.

The concept could involve the businesses sharing their facilities with the students, or adding additional support through other resources such as scholarships and cultural activities. Ryscavage said, "But we are much more interested in developing a relationship with the business community so we can share with each other."

Food Service Committee

The board discussed the food service advisory committee and submitted a list of names for Dr. Ryscavage to contact about serving on the committee. The committee will then meet to go over the policy and elect a chairman before conducting business.

Garrett County Fifth Graders To Attend College For A Week

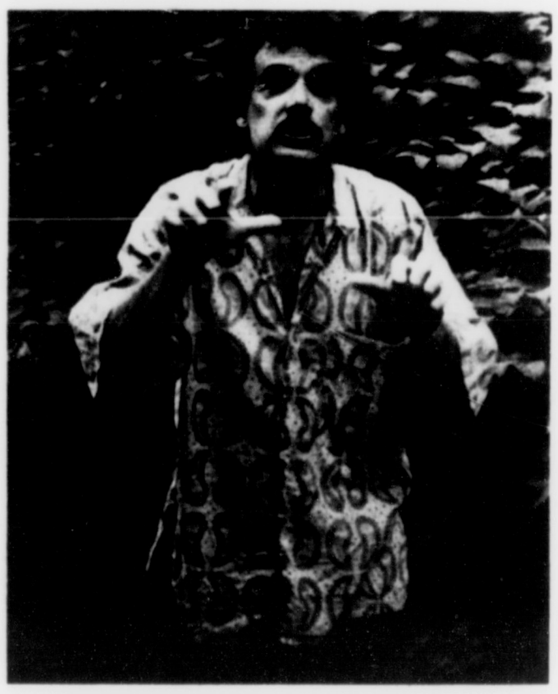

A college experience will become a reality for fifth grade students in Garrett County on October 30 when the Early Intervention Program begins. This program, made possible through a grant from RESA, will involve busing all local fifth graders, one class each week, to the Garrett Community College campus where they will be taught by their regular teachers and by college faculty members.

Dean Lillian Mitchell worked with Al Coviello of the Garrett County Board of Education to write the proposal for the Early Intervention Program which was subsequently approved by RESA and designated as a model for other such programs in the state.

In addition to the regular fifth grade work, students will have many new and creative educational experiences while they are "in college." A total of 10 different activities are being developed and will be taught by members of the college faculty and staff. Each fifth grader will have the opportunity to participate in all 10 activities.

Activities and instructors already planned include: a simulated archeological dig, Beth Hurley; an introduction to engineering and technology by building a support system for a weight, Jim Allen; physical fitness with body movement and control, Tony Artice; river safety and science with a model river, Mike Logsdon; "hands-on" biology and nature study, Kevin Dodge; library treasure hunt, Dana Shimrock; and Orff participation musical activity, George McDowell. Other activities will involve art, creative dramatics, and rock-and-roll music.

Jon Spelman To Spin Halloween Tales For All Ages At GCC

A storyteller with a rare capacity to enchant audiences of all ages, Jon Spelman, will appear in the Garrett Community College auditorium on Wednesday, October 25, at 7:30 p.m. with a special Halloween program of ghost stories and tales of mystery and suspense. The program is being sponsored by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival as part of its Humanities and Arts series.

Spelman, who now lives in Washington, D.C., has had a varied career as entertainer, having been an actor, director, and teacher of acting with the Asolo State Theatre in Florida before he turned to a full-time career as storyteller and solo performer in 1980.

Since that time, he has traveled throughout the United States, giving performances at the Kennedy Center Wolf Trap Farm Park, Palm Beach Festival, New York's Art Park, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Storytelling Festival in Jonesborough, Tennessee, and at major theatre and storytelling festivals across the country.

He appears weekly on NBC-TV as host of his own show, Three Stories Tall, which has won three Emmy Awards and an Achievement in Children's Television Award.

This past August, Spelman was named recipient of a fellowship from the Theatre Program of the National Endowment for the Arts. He plans to use the fellowship to develop a variety of new materials for his performances.

In addition to his program of Halloween ghost stories, Spelman's repertoire now includes six diverse storytelling and theatrical performances: Yancey Register's Talkin'Tales or Why the Snail Crossed the Road, Frankenstein, Grease Heat, Tales from the American Landscape, Jon Spelman, Storyteller; War Stories: Nam, Once There Was A War, Beowulf to World War II.

The Halloween storytelling program is partially funded by a grant from the Garrett County Arts Council. Admission to the program will be $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students and children.

Halloween Parade, Treat, Games, Dance Scheduled

The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club and the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland will host the annual Halloween Celebration in downtown Oakland next Thursday evening with a parade, treat, games, and a dance.

The parade will organize at the old Center Street School at 6:30 p.m. and begin at 7 p.m. It will move south on Second Street to Alder Street, east on Alder Street to Third Street, north on Third Street to Green Street, west on Green Street back to Second Street and around the same block a second time, ending at the Oakland fire hall. Motorists are advised to use alternate routes through Oakland from 7 p.m. until about 7:45 p.m.

Besides scores of costumed youngsters, the parade will include the Oakland City Police car, units from the Oakland VFD and Southern Rescue Squad, and the Southern High School Marching Band. Those in costume will be judged during the parade by Lions Club members and gift certificate prizes will be awarded.

At the fire hall following the parade, the town will distribute a treat to all children ages 12 and under. There will also be numerous games such as a cake walk, ball toss, ring toss, sponge toss, and a quarter pitch for glassware. A new attraction will be a "car bash" for which hammers will be available.

Another new feature of the event this year will be a teen dance, sponsored by the Lions Club, from 9 to 11 p.m. at the fire hall. Teens dressed in costume will be admitted to the dance for $1, while teens not in costume will be charged $2.

Lion Projects Vice President Frank Custer says he is expecting another successful evening. "The proceeds we gather from this project are donated to the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department," he said, "so we hope to have a good turnout."

In commenting on the dance, Custer said, "In the past, most of the activities have centered around those 12 years of age and under. Since there is no school the following day (Friday), we thought some of the teens in the area would like to have some fun."

The Mayor and Town Council has issued an appeal for funds to help finance the Halloween

Lewisburg, Pa., Men Charged On Drugs, Weapons

Two Lewisburg, Pa., men and a youth were arrested Tuesday night on drug and weapons charges following a routine traffic stop near Friendsville, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Lance Allen Muffley, 24, and John David Arlington, 20, were both charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), after suspected marijuana, opium and LSD were confiscated during a search at a U.S. Route 40 rest area.

In addition to drug charges, Muffley faces charges of concealing a deadly weapon and various traffic violations. According to reports from the Sheriff's Department, a search of the vehicle revealed a homemade ax-handle billy club and a machete.

The 16-year-old juvenile was taken into police custody and transported to a youth holdover facility in Cumberland. He was released Wednesday into his parents' custody after they posted 10 percent of $1,000 bond.

The arrests took place after Deputy C.P. Nolan stopped the vehicle for allegedly speeding and driving with an inoperable tail light.

Muffley and Arlington are currently being housed in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $10,000, ten percent cash, bond.

City Officials In Frostburg; To Hear Braskey

Approximately 200 city and town officials from all over Maryland are gathering in Frostburg today to develop the Maryland Municipal League's 1990 legislative program.

The meeting, which will continue through Saturday, will include an address by Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey on Friday.

The mayors, council members, town managers, police chiefs and other municipal officials will select a maximum of four legislative priorities for introduction during the 1990 Session of the Maryland General Assembly on behalf of Maryland's 155 city and town governments. The legislative issues being recommended by the League's 25-member Legislative Committee to the general membership include:

•Increased levels of state police aid funding to help cities and towns cope with the drug problem. Municipalities are on the front lines in the war against drugs and drug-related crime, but unfortunately do not have the resources to adequately deal with the problem. State aid for municipal police services has been virtually flat over the last decade.

•Legislation that would re-establish procedures for communities to incorporate as municipal corporations. A federal court threw out Maryland's incorporation law this past summer because a portion of it was deemed to be unconstitutional, so revised procedures will probably be

SHA Outlines Plans For Expansion Of Route 219 At Deep Creek Lake

Representatives from the State Highway Administration (SHA) presented the findings of their Project Planning Team's study of U.S. Route 219 at the October 11 meeting of the Garrett County Planning Commission.

The team was initiated in response to concerns raised by Garrett County officials regarding existing traffic problems on U.S. Route 219 South, particularly at Deep Creek Lake. The SHA reviewed the corridor that lies between Sand Flat Rd. and the Deep Creek Lake bridge and made the following recommendations.

The recommended short-term solution to the perceived traffic hazards is the expansion of the corridor that runs from the Deep Creek Lake bridge to Glendale Road, which is currently composed of two 12-foot lanes and two 10-foot shoulders. The expansion would provide for three 12-foot lanes and two 6- or 10-foot shoulders.

According to James Wynn, State Highway Administration, this plan would utilize the existing roadway, with minor vertical and horizontal adjustments. The new third lane, a center left-turn lane, would allow for smoother flow of the through traffic while creating fewer hazards for those drivers turning off of the road.

The cost of this recommended short-term solution would be roughly $7.4 million. Since U.S. Route 219 is a State highway, the project would be funded by the State.

Improvements are slated for the next one to two years, with construction starting as early as next spring.

The Project Planning Team found the current average daily traffic (ADT) on the corridor that extends from the Deep Creek Lake bridge to Sand Flat Road to range from 5,300 to 7,300. The study projects that in the year 2015 the ADT will range from 7,500 to 10,000. The Team considered three long-term alternative roadway improvements.

They studied the costs and environmental impacts of construction of a three-, four- and five-lane highway.

The Team recommended the eventual construction of a five-lane highway where this current two-lane corridor exists. According to Wynn, a five lane highway would yield the added safety of a center turn lane and allow for greater capacity with two through lanes for each direction. The recommendation included modification to four lanes in tight areas.

The State Highway Administration will take this recommendation into consideration, initiating a project planning study to look at possibilities of obtaining rights-of-way for up to a five-lane highway.

The project planning study

Federal Grant For Computer Ed. Awarded

Governor William Donald Schaefer announced yesterday the award of a federal grant of $287,929 to the State Department of Education to train teachers to integrate computers into school classrooms in Western Maryland. The competitive grant was awarded under the U.S. Secretary of Education's Fund for Innovation in Education Program.

The project will support training for teachers participating in the Maryland Education Project (MEP) over the next three years. MEP, begun in 1987 as part of a Potomac Edison economic development project in Western Maryland, is a collaborative partnership involving the utility company, the State Department of Education, eight colleges and universities, and six local school systems. The school systems are those in Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Montgomery, and Washington counties.

Potomac Edison had provided computers to equip 89 computer network labs in the public schools and institutions of higher education to support instruction in mathematics, science, and writing. The state education department, the utility company, and the par-

A Grantsville man died Sunday in a multi-car accident on Interstate 81 in Ryan Township near Schuylkill, Pa.

Raymond Jonas Tice, 66, died as a result of the crash. It was reported that thick fog was present at the time of the accident.

Tice was returning from a meeting of the Mennonite Disaster Service of Western Maryland, Pennsylvania, and West Virginia in Crogan, N.Y. He was en route to a celebration for his 45th wedding anniversary, which was on that date.

Born December 7, 1922, in Meyersdale, Pa., he was the son of the late Jonas and Savilla (Yoder) Tice.

Mr. Tice was a veal farmer, and operated his own trucking business. He was a member of the Maple Glen Conservative Mennonite Church, Grantsville, and served as regional director for the Mennonite Disaster Service. He was also active in local and national agricultural organizations.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth A. (Yoder) Tice; one son, Daniel A. Tice, Grantsville; three daughters, Elaine Yoder, Accident; Doris Lichty, Grantsville; and Carol Heagy, Annville, Pa.; three brothers, Monroe J. Tice, Boynton, Pa.; and Simon J. Tice and Lewis J. Tice, both of Grantsville; two sisters, Elizabeth Tice and Melda Miller, both of Grantsville; and 15 grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Grantsville.

A service was conducted Wednesday at the Maple Glen Conservative Mennonite Church by the Rev. Ivan J. Maust and the Rev. Elmer S. Yoder. Interment was in the Maple Glen Cemetery.

The family requests that memorials take the form of contributions to the Mennonite Disaster Service.

Numerous Mishaps Investigated By Md. State Police

Numerous motor vehicle accidents were investigated this week by Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment.

A two-vehicle accident occurred early Sunday morning on Route 135.

According to police reports, James L. McDonald, 89, Deer Park, was driving a 1982 Chrysler LeBaron, and was making a left turn from the IGA parking lot onto eastbound 135. Kimberly A. Welch, 18, Elk Garden, W.Va., was westbound on Route 135 in a 1989 Ford Mustang.

Police said McDonald failed to yield the right of way to Welch, pulling into her path. Welch reportedly swerved to the left in an attempt to avoid the collision.

Tpr. P.R. Brown investigated, charging McDonald with failing to yield the right of way at the entrance to a highway.

Several persons were taken to the hospital by a state police vehicle. McDonald was admitted to the hospital, but a spokesman reported that he has been released. Treated and released following the accident were one passenger in the McDonald car, Bessie Friend, 67, Deer Park; and three passengers in the Welch vehicle, Florence Welch, 39, Elk Garden, and Renee Junkins, 17, and Bonnie Junkins, 14, both of Mount Storm, W.Va.

A two-vehicle accident occurred Tuesday afternoon on the Chestnut Ridge Road.

Police reported that Lisa S. Beiler, 21, Grantsville, was traveling north in a 1981 Mercury Lynx, while Martha J. Ackerman, 35, Meyersdale, Pa., was leaving Route 48 to enter Chestnut Ridge Road. She was driving a 1986 Plymouth Reliant.

Police said Akerman failed to yield the right of way to Beiler, and the front of the Plymouth struck the left side of the Mercury.

Sgt. C.R. Smith investigated, charging Ackerman with failing to yield at the entrance to a highway.

Beiler was taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Rescue Squad, where a spokesman reported that she is not listed as a patient.

A Westernport man was injured in a single-vehicle accident Tuesday afternoon on Route 135.

Police reported that Jack R. Fazenbaker, 56, was operating a 1987 Ford truck when the left front wheel disengaged from the vehicle, causing a loss of braking ability. The vehicle ran off the road and struck a guardrail.

Tpr. J.K. Moore investigated, and reported that no charges were filed. Fazenbaker was taken to Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, by Tri-Towns Rescue, where he is not currently listed as a patient.

A two-vehicle crash Sunday night on Route 495 resulted in the DWI charge for a Grantsville man.

According to police reports, Michael E. Gusky, 40, Elyria, Ohio, was driving a 1984 Ford Ranger. He was stopped in the southbound lane to make a left turn. David D. Stanton, 21, Grantsville, was southbound on Route 495 in a 1989 Ford Ranger.

Stanton failed to reduce the speed of his truck, striking Gusky's vehicle in the rear.

Tfc. L. Rosage investigated, charging Stanton with driving while intoxicated, failing to control his speed to avoid a collision, and driving with a license restriction. No injuries were reported.

A two-vehicle accident occurred Sunday on Route 135.

Police said Nina J. Terrill, 63, Bethesda, was traveling south on the Oakland Deer Park Road in a 1989 Chrysler LeBaron. She failed to grant the right of way to a 1978 Pontiac Bonneville driven by Eugene R. Friend, 59, Mtn. Lake Park, on Route 135.

Mtn. Lake Man Charged With Sexual Abuse

A Mtn. Lake Park man has been arrested by Maryland State Police on several sexual child abuse charges.

Van Franklin Reneker faces charges of child abuse, second degree rape, second degree sex offense, and fourth degree sex offense. The incidents allegedly occurred between December 1988 and October 1989, and involved a juvenile.

The case was originally reported to Social Services in Oakland, and a joint investigation was conducted.

DRUNK DRIVING was apparently the cause of this two-vehicle accident which occurred Sunday just before 9 p.m. on Route 495. According to Maryland State Police, the accident occurred when David D. Stanton, 21, Grantsville, failed to control the speed of his pickup truck, which crashed into the rear of a second truck driven by Michael E. Gusky, 40, Elyria, Ohio. Stanton was charged with driving while intoxicated, failing to control his speed, and a violation of a license restriction. Police reported that no one was transported to the hospital following the accident.

Health Dept. Advises On Leaf Disposal

While the changing color of leaves yields a magnificent spectacle, once the leaves begin to fall, their accumulation can present a problem.

Leaf burning may seem to be an easy solution to leaf accumulation. Dr. Jane Fiscus, Garrett County Health Officer, however, warns that Maryland air pollution regulations prohibit this practice where collection service is available.

The smoke from burning leaves contains a high concentration of such pollutants as hydrocarbons, particulate matter and carbon monoxide. Every five pounds of leaves burned will yield about one pound of air pollutants.

Pollutants resulting from leaf burning can greatly aggravate the condition of persons suffering from respiratory disorders, and can cause eye and nose irritations, fever, coughing and cramps in a healthy person. Additionally, the pollutants in the air can cause house paint to deteriorate, retard plant growth, injure shrubbery and increase laundry and cleaning costs.

Towns that provide leaf collection for residents include Oakland, Mountain Lake Park, Accident and Grantsville.

Oakland and Mountain Lake Park residents have two options for weekly leaf removal. Leaves will picked up in bags, or swept from the side of the street by a vacuum truck, beginning October 23.

The Towns of Accident and Grantsville will collect bagged leaves on a weekly basis.

Residents in other municipalities or those individuals served by private collection services in unincorporated areas of the county should check with their contractors to determine if and when they will accept leaves for collection.

Fiscus urges residents living in areas where there are too many leaves to be collected or where no collection is available to investigate the use of leaves in mulching, erosion control and compost piles. These processes return needed nutrients to the soil, while efficiently eliminating the leaves.

Should collection be unavailable and other means of leaf disposal be ineffective, leaves originating on the premises can be burned by householders between the hours of 4 p.m. and midnight. The fire should not be closer than 200 feet to the nearest residence and should not create a nuisance.

Man Arrested For CDS Possession

An Irwin, Pa., man was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance last Friday following his arrest for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Maryland State Police at the McHenry detachment reported that Ronald P. Wiley was pulled over for the driving violation. The arresting officer, Tpr. S.W. Vincent, observed a pipe on the seat of the vehicle, and a further search revealed suspected marijuana.

Sheriff's Dept. Investigates Local Thefts

A local enterprise reported a loss of over $1,500 in an apparent theft, according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

A spokesperson for Cecil Jackson Equipment Co., Oakland, reported the theft of three 46-inch mid-mount mowers designed to fit a 300 series tractor. The loss was discovered after an inventory was taken by the company. According to Detective P.J. Kelly, the theft occurred sometime between September 11 and October 10. The investigation is continuing.

Daniel Warren DiPietro, Fallston, reported a breaking and entering and theft that occurred between September 17 and October 12 at a residence on Beckman's Peninsula. A Norelco rotary razor and a Panasonic VCR model PV1220 valued at $434 were removed when perpetrator(s) broke a pane in a rear bedroom window and entered the residence. According to the investigating officer, Corporal L.E. Gnegy, the investigation is continuing.

A spokesperson for the Town of Crellin Water Association reported the theft of approximately $84 of cable. An electric cable that extended from the well house to test holes near the baseball field in Crellin was cut and removed from the premises. Detective P.J. Kelly is conducting the investigation. Anyone with any information concerning the theft is requested to contact the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

MAN INJURED IN ASSAULT — Police are currently investigating an apparent assault which injured Kenneth Yommer, Meyersdale, Pa., on Sunday around 5:30 p.m. The incident allegedly occurred at the Wildwater Inn, Route 40 Alternate, and reportedly began with an argument. Yommer was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by Medevac helicopter, where a spokesman reported that he is not listed as a patient. Cpl. Mike Mattingly is continuing the investigation, and reported that charges are pending in the incident.

GCC Board Meets For Discussion On New Program

The Garrett Community College Board of Trustees met Tuesday evening for a discussion about a new program, Resort Management, that the college will be offering.

Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Dean of Student Services, explained the Resort Management Program.

GCC has applied to the State Board of Community Colleges for approval of the program which is slated to begin the fall of 1990. The program will require 600 hours of practical experience. There will be 6 100 hour practicums, with two each in hotel and resort management, food preparation and events management and promotion.

An academic standard of at least a B average must be maintained for the student to graduate and Dr. Steven Herman, president of GCC, hopes that all internships will be paid. Frostburg State University is interested in articulating the program with the college and in developing the third and fourth years of the program.

"We will have very highly trained employees when the students leave the college. We are hopeful to obtain approval from the State Board of Community Colleges," said Dr. Herman after the meeting.

The Board of Trustees gave tentative approval to the project.

Dennis Gibson, coach of the men's and women's basketball, described a new program which the college has implemented.

Dr. Herman explained after the meeting that the new programs have been introduced to help athletes succeed at the college.

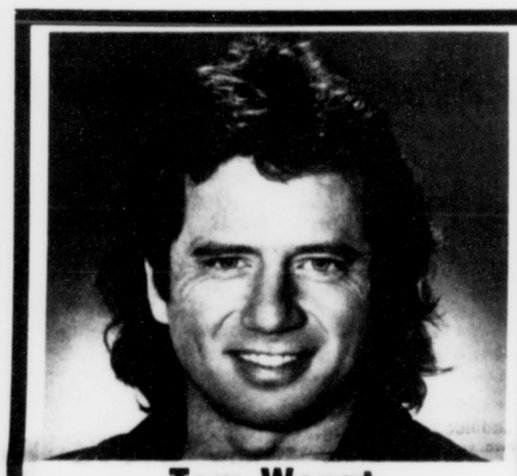

Athletes are given a set of instructions which clarify the terms of athletic scholarships and the student/athlete monitoring system.

Dr. Herman explained that the atletic coordinator is notified whenever a student/athlete misses a class, and then the coach is notified that the student may be having a problem. Dr. Herman said that this new system is working well and is helping coaches communicate with the athletes and with the teachers.

The Middle States Association will be conducting the Small Team Visit on October 24 and 25 to follow up the accreditation policy which was granted to the college.

Bloodmobile To Visit Friendsville

The next visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile to Garrett County will be Friday, Oct. 27, when blood will be collected at the Friendsville fire hall from 1 to 7 p.m. All persons who are at least 17 years old, weigh at least 110 pounds, and are in generally good health are encouraged to respond to this visit.

An Exciting Program . . .

The topic for this column last week centered on the newly organized Garrett Community College Foundation and urged citizens to support the Foundation with financial contributions. We mentioned how we believe the college to be of great value to our community and we commented on the top quality of the persons who are employed there.

In a related vein this week, we want to note how pleased we are to have learned about a new program that will be started this school year with all fifth grade students in the county. GCC Dean Lillian Mitchell joined forces with Al Coviello, director of pupil services for the Board of Education, to write a proposal and gain approval for the Early Intervention Program. The program will involve transporting all local fifth grade students to Garrett Community College for one full week of classes. They will be taught on the GCC Campus by the regular teachers and by members of the college faculty. A variety of interesting, exciting supplemental activities will be a part of the schedule.

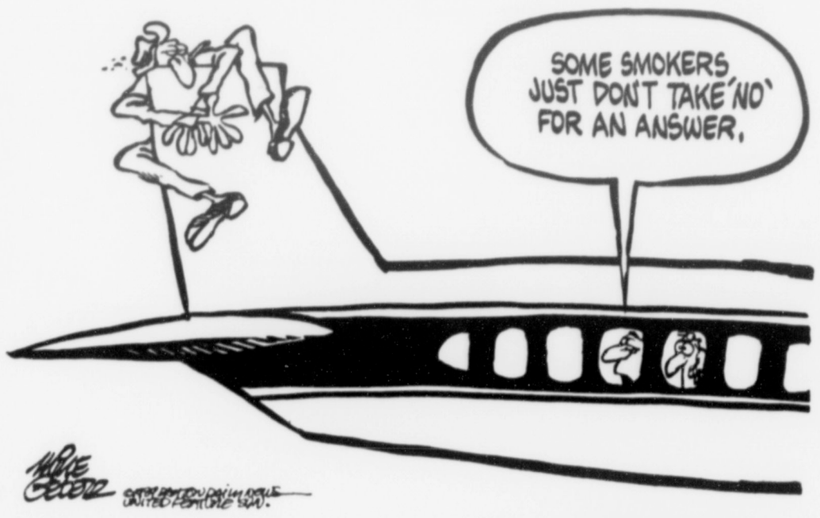

The reason we like this idea so much is that it will give every student in the county an initial sense of what it is like to go to college. They will indeed be "in college" for a full week and perhaps the greatest benefit of the entire program will be simply giving many of them the confidence to make attending college following high school one of their goals.

For too many of our young people, attending college has never been an option, either because of the expense, the lack of self-confidence, or the fact that no one else in the family has ever attended college and it is just too scary even to consider. Yet many who fall into these categories definitely have the ability to go to college and obtain a degree. Too many good minds are being wasted. We have not yet begun to tap the intellectual resources in the youth of our community.

The encouragement to attend college should not begin in senior high school, or even middle school, but in elementary school. And the idea should be nurtured each and every year so that it becomes just taken for granted by those with the ability that college follows high school.

The schools, of course, cannot do it all. Parents need to do most of the encouraging and they need to be aware of the post-high school opportunities that may not have been available to them, but are now available to their children. The large attendance at GCC's recent Career Exposition seems to indicate that more and more parents are getting involved and wanting to learn about these opportunities.

We reiterate — education is a major key to the future and to the quality of life.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Autumn Glory Festival Committee of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council would like to thank all of the people who helped to make the 22nd Autumn Glory Festival a fun experience for so many residents and visitors. We appreciate the positive spirit that our community dedicates to this annual celebration of pride in Garrett County's natural beauty.

We are grateful to the Oakland Street Department for returning the streets of Oakland to their usual appearance by Sunday morning. We also want to acknowledge the tremendous help donated by the volunteers, offices, and merchants who have directed the traffic, produced the parade, provided the equipment, and allocated the space for the Autumn Glory Festival year after year.

We welcome the opportunity to share the fun and work with individuals and organizations who have not yet become involved with the festival. We are looking forward to the 23rd Autumn Glory Festival, October 11-14, 1990!

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Rees Gilbert,

To the Editor:

Last week you printed a parody by Craig Speicher, entitled "Dr. Gallwells Strange Burden," my question to you is, "why?"

Did you feel our weekly newspaper needed a little more humor mixed in with all the serious news? Well, maybe someone found humor in it.

Did you feel since we had a lot of the big city tourists visiting and reading our local news that we should make them feel more at home by printing an article like those printed in the Big City News? (I've read their liberally slanted opinion pages and if I wanted to read such opinions as these, I'd pay a $1.10 and get $10.00 worth of coupons and a lot of firestarter).

Did you run out of news and feel a "burden" to fill an 11½x3½ inch space? Well, maybe you could do a little local journalism and find a good local charity that could use some community support — like the excellent "Keep Opening Doors," also printed on the same page.

Do you think maybe next year "Dr. Gallwell" would leave Libertarian University and visit our friendly town? Well for the last two years of Autumn Glory, representatives from a certain university that "purely and intentionally resembles" the "Libertarian University" have come to our Autumn Glory. I bought them a copy of The Republican in which they were featured in an article. I don't believe I'd take that chance again. Or maybe this parody was printed for their behalf. Thank goodness they didn't come this year.

Where's my sense of humor? Well, I'm a christian and happen to take offense at cheap shots at people who may have faults (don't we all) but are trying to "turn this nation back to God," as Craig Speicher put it. I do have a sense of humor.

I thought "The Mind Wanders" also printed that page, was insightful and enjoyable, because the best laughs come when we are laughing at ourself. We could spend a lot of time and newspaper space doing just that.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Kimberlie Rush

To the Editor:

We are concerned parents, and we would like it to be known that our daughter, Kimberly M. (Rishell) Keller, was cleared of the charges, on October 5, that she received as a result of the fatal accident which occurred on August 22.

At approximately 11:15 a.m., our daughter was in a car accident on Route 42. She was on her way to the High Risk Clinic, Morgantown, travelling north with her grandmother. As a result of the accident, her grandmother, Bertha E. Harvey, was fatally injured.

In The Republican of August 24, my husband noticed the report of the accident stated that our daughter was travelling south, which we knew was incorrect. Therefore, on August 25, he contacted the State Police Barracks with his questions concerning the direction in which our daughter was travelling.

As a result of our concern, a further investigation was conducted, and the charges were dropped.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs.
William J. Rishell

To the Editor:

Re: Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital and Humble Pie.

Very recently I was exposed to the confining walls of that location and I must here and now make some amends.

First, I must admit that over the years we generally healthy folks would hear stories of horror, relative to that institution; however, in retrospect, I believe those were likely more fairly applicable to a doctor who may have goofed, with a result that the entire institution got the blame; with a further result that MANY local people would leave town if other than a hangnail problem were to be faced.

Now, let me set the record straight. When I arrived to gain admission I received assistance, cooperation, and kindness throughout the entire period. I will not name the good people because I believe some 25 to 30 people were in contact with me at some point and to miss even one name would take away a compliment I would like to share with all. My doctor's hand was guided by his experience; however, I am satisfied that his talents are God-given and guided.

1990 Census Of Population

by Dr. Stephen Herman
President, Garrett Community College

As autumn glory delights our eyes, what could be further from our minds than Spring, specifically April Fool's Day, 1990? This coming April Fool's Day will not be any ordinary day of pranks and foolishness; it will be Census Day. Once every decade Americans are asked to be counted. Each of us will be sent a form to complete.

Don't get irritated! The tranquility of your country mailbox is not being disturbed by some nosey Washington bureaucrat with nothing better to do than annoy innocent citizens. In this instance Washington is obeying the best of taskmasters — the U.S. Constitution, which requires that the federal government conduct the census. Marylanders have always done their part; they have participated in twenty censuses, dating back to 1790.

You may wonder what makes the census so important. Much more is at stake than curiosity about how many of us there are. Voting districts and political representation are aligned on the basis of the census. In addition our tax money gets redistributed back for special purposes and programs. Money from governmental resources enters our local economy and ripples from there, touching many lives as it exchanges hands through savings and purchases.

The amount of money Garrett County receives depends to a considerable extent on the number of people counted in the census. Every person we neglect to count can mean $1,500 in federal monies lost to Maryland. The quality of our roads, housing, schools, medical care, job training, day care, and much more is affected.

So when the first buds appear on the trees and that letter from Uncle Sam greets you as you open your mailbox, please be a good citizen and complete the form.

I'll tell you more about the census as the warmer weather grows near. In the meantime, I have to close, I have wood to chop.

The Mind Wanders

by Sherry Frantz

As I look around, I see a number of people committed to their careers and a number of people committed to a marriage or a relationship. There also appear to be a few among us committed to a life-long worthy cause.

But it seems alarmingly clear that many of us experience a great tendency to hold back from commitments, plagued by an inability to determine what or who is the appropriate choice.

It is, however, an understandable phenomenon. After all, we are living in a "throw-away" society where we have learned to toss out imperfections. And we are assured that technology is waiting with something that is perfect — and perfectly within reach.

Why make a commitment to something or someone when, just around the corner, something (or someone) better awaits us? Why take time to see something through the rough spots? Why use the energy to make something work?

We see mistakes being made. People unhappy in relationships or miserable at work. We are warned, and rightly so, that "fools rush in." So we become cautious, even frightened, that we could make the same mistakes.

Indeed, there are many more reasons to be cautious nowadays than there once were. It's more difficult to trust others, more difficult to trust our own decisions, more difficult to determine where we will find happiness.

There have been numerous articles published in women's magazines in recent years expressing the phenomenon in terms of dating. We read about men with "intimacy issues," men who say they'll call and don't, men who won't commit to a relationship.

An unmarried female friend of mine, living in the city, recently experienced an attack of cockroaches in her apartment. After trying every product on the market to get rid of the pesky buggers, she was finally successful by asking them for a commitment.

After the barrage of magazine articles about men not being able to commit, I finally found one written by a man who had the same complaint about the women he'd been dating. So I guess we can assume that it does transcend the sexes.

I, myself, have to admit guilt in this area. Of course I give myself a little slack and imagine that it has more to do with not being sure of what or to whom I'm making a commitment than it does my innate ability to make a commitment.

So as not to create a misunderstanding, let me assure you that I do not believe in hanging in there with something that does't work or is destructive. If it isn't right, it isn't right. Additionally, I am not indicting a whole generation. Clearly, with each new generation, more acceptable choices are made available, and it requires more time and energy (not to mention brains) to be able to sift through all that confronts us.

So exactly what is it that I am saying?

I guess it's this: With caution and discretion in whatever "to commit or not to commit" situation that confronts us, weigh, balance, and determine the risk factors as well as the valuable rewards. Test the waters, but don't rule out jumping in. It's much more refreshing.

There is risk in commitment, certainly, but there is also risk in noncommitment, and I'm fairly certain that the rewards produced by "a life committed" are more satisfying than forever standing at the crossroads.

Small Business Scanner

The following column was prepared by members of the Garrett Community College Small Business Development Center, who invite persons to call to set an appointment to discuss ideas and receive free help initiating, planning or running a business. Call 387-6666 and ask for the SBDC.

Starting a business implies risking your nest-egg, so preparation is vital to success. Among the first things to consider should be: Am I really cut out to be in business for myself, am I the "entrepreneurial type?" Here are 20 questions to start with:

1. In meetings do you find yourself clarifying what others have said?
2. Did you do well in your written work in school?
3. Do you like active participation rather than spectator sports?
4. Are you able to handle a lot of things at the same time?
5. When you start a task, do you usually see it through to the end?
6. Are you active in outside organizations?
7. Do you consider yourself a good listener, especially to people who are older and more experienced than you?
8. Do you generally try to match your vocabulary to your listeners?
9. When faced with a sudden change in plans, are you able to re-think your situation and quickly move ahead on a specific course of action?
10. Do you believe that your accomplishments and failures were due to your actions rather than external influences?
11. Have you taken any courses that would help you in your job in the past three years?
12. When you start a task, do you often get so involved that you forget about everything else?
13. Do you have any close relatives who are in business for themselves?
14. Do you seek out situations in which you will have more responsibilities?
15. Do you work well under pressure?
16. As a child, did you have a paper route, a lemonade stand, etc.?
17. Before you fall asleep, do you plan out what you are going to do the next day?
18. Have you ever been fired?
19. Would you ever consider working strickly on commission?
20. Do you have an extremely high energy level?

If you can answer yes to most of the above, then you have a fighting chance to become a successful entrepreneur!

LWV THE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

ADVOCATING FOR THE VOTER:
CAMPAIGN FINANCE REFORM IS KEY

In our democracy, the voter should be the most important participant in the election process. But two trends in Congress threaten this basic tenet. First, campaigns are becoming more and more reliant on contributions from special interests. And second, it is becoming more difficult for challengers to compete with incumbents. Both these trends mean that elections often can be over before they really begin and that voters' concerns are not the central concern for elected officals.

What can be done? The most important thing is for Congress to reform the campaign finance system. It is essential that there be tough, realistic negotiations to reach real compromises on campaign finance reform that will protect the interests of voters. It is far too easy for Democrats and Republicans, congressional leaders and the President, incumbents and challengers, to make proposals that will never be enacted. Instead, they must come together to make genuine reform a reality.

And what reforms should be adopted? The League of Women Voters believes that three goals must be kept in mind: preventing undue influence, providing for political competitiveness, and enhancing citizen participation in the electoral process. To accomplish these goals, Congress should enact compenhensive legislation to:

curb the undue influence of special interest group contributors and wealthy individuals;

provide public benefits, such as reduced-cost postage and media access, for congressional candidates who accept voluntary spending limits;

restore federal tax credits for small political contributions from individuals;

provide limits and full disclosures of questionable campaign practices, such as "soft money" donations and "bundling" of contributions, which are designed to circumvent existing campaign laws;

curtail the "grandfather clause" which permits certain members of Congress to make personal use of campaign funds once they leave office; and enable the Federal Election Commission to more vigorously monitor and enforce campaign laws.

Please write to your representative and your senators and urge them to act to reform campaign finance laws. Stress that action is needed to restore public confidence in our electoral system and to get people back into the politcal process. Urge them to develop bipartisan approaches that will prevent undue influence, provide for political competitiveness, and enhance citizen participation in the electoral process. The next League's public meeting will be Monday, October 23, at 7:30 p.m., at the home of Clint Englander, 247 North 2nd St. The topic will be centered upon the above information.

This information was supplied by Dr. Alan Arnson, medical director of the Garrett County Mental Health Department. Dr. Arnson received his education at Yale University and through the National Institute of Mental Health. For more information on mental illness, persons are encouraged by Dr. Arnson to contact their family physicians, the Garrett County Mental Health Department (334-8111), various counseling centers and clinics in the tri-state area, or the American Psychiatric Association, Division of Public Affairs, 1400 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20005.

Do people ever recover from mental illness?

In reality, as many as eight in 10 people suffering from mental illnesses can effectively return to normal, productive lives if they receive appropriate treatment. While learning about various mental illnesses, scientists have discovered effective, specific medication and psychotherapies that restore patients to normal, happy lives.

Scientists think some people may inherit a predisposition to certain mental disorders which could be triggered by a stressful life event. A traumatic experience, a childhood of abuse or neglect, loss of a parent or other event may make a person more sensitive to psychiatric problems. Some people suffer only one episode of depression, while others may have repeated episodes. Both the single and chronic forms of the disorder can be successfully treated.

In addition, researchers have discovered an association between some mental illnesses and an overabundance or lack of chemical messages in the brain. For example, some people suffering from depression have a malfunction in their adrenal system, which produces the hormone cortisol. Their adrenal systems don't respond normally to the body's regulatory mechanisms. Other people suffering from depression have abnormalities in their thyroid or growth hormone systems.

However, antidepressant medications help bring these abnormalities into line and reverse the symptoms of depression in 80 to 90 percent of those receiving treatment. When psychotherapy is added to the treatment, these people can better cope with the social, emotional and vocational complications brought on by their illness.

Likewise, psychiatric care can bring much needed relief to people suffering from anxiety disorders. Medications reduce the acute symptoms of anxiety disorders. In treating phobic disorders, medications often are combined with behavior therapy, which exposes a patient to the source of his fear under controlled circumstances. In fact, scientists have found that appropriate treatment often alleviates phobic disorders without relapse for at least seven years.

Schizophrenia, the most mysterious of the mental illnesses, also responds well to treatment. Scientists have found that the brains of some people suffering from schizophrenia have abnormalities in the biochemistry or physical structure. Research continues into whether these abnormalities actually cause the symptoms of schizophrenia.

Psychiatrists know that medications alleviate the severe symptoms of schizophrenia such as hallucinations and delusions, which are the hallmarks of this disorder. Only 20 percent of those who take medications for schizophrenia will suffer a relapse within two years of being discharged from a psychiatric hospital. Once the psychoses are under control, psychotherapy helps these patients understand their illness and learn to distinguish reality from distorted perceptions.

Though no single cure for schizophrenia has been found, the disorder can be effectively treated. Given treatment tailored to their needs, many people suffering from schizophrenia can return to the community. In fact, one long-term study found that of almost 2,000 patients, 25 percent fully recovered and half partially recovered.

Despite impressive gains in treating mental illnesses, only one in five people suffering a diagnosable psychiatric disorder seeks treatment. Instead, they suffer in silence, reproaching themselves for not "pulling themselves up by their bootstraps." They don't understand that the illness itself destroys those "bootstraps." Most people who take this approach will, in fact, never get well. Only by receiving appropriate psychiatric assessment and referral to treatment can those suffering from mental illness recover.

Ellen L. Maffett Becomes Bride Of Ervin J. Allen In July Ceremony

Ellen Lynne Maffett and Ervin James Allen were united in marriage July 7, 1989. The double-ring ceremony took place at 7 p.m. at the Salem Presbyterian Church, Limestone, Tenn., with Pastor Michael Fleenor officiating. Mrs. Caroline May was the organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh F. Maffett, Route 5, Oakland. The groom is the son of Marian Allen, DeLand, Fla., and Ervin Allen, Dothan, Ala.

Given in marriage by her parents and escorted by her father, the bride wore a tea-length gown of ivory crepe back satin. The back of the skirt featured wide flounces from waist to hemline and a large satin bow at the waistline. The bodice was made with a lace over satin yoke edged with wide scalloped lace. A shoulder-length veil of tulle was held in place by a crown of ivory silk flowers. The bride carried a bouquet of peach colored gerbra daisies, miniature carnations and baby's breath. She wore a coral pendant necklace belonging to her mother and carried an old hankie which had belonged to her late maternal grandmother.

Janet Gregory, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Her gown of peach colored brocade was tea-length made in similar style to the bride's gown. She carried peach colored gerbra daisies tied with a matching ribbon. The bride's gown and that of the matron of honor were made by the bride's mother.

Dennis Mull, Limestone, was the best man. Ushers escorting the mothers of the couple were Wayne Maffett, Germantown, brother of the bride, and Michael Sinsel, Falls Church, VA., step-brother of the groom. The couple presented guests with scrolls tied with peach ribbons on which was inscribed an Indian wedding blessing. Amanda Gregory, niece of the bride, and Matthew Wecker, nephew of the groom, gave out the scrolls. Justin and Jeffrey Scott Gregory, nephews of the bride and Jaimee Wecker, niece of the groom distributed bird seed. Carol Marple, sister of the bride, registered guests. The couple presented their mothers with long-stem peach roses during the ceremony.

A reception was held in the church social hall following the service. Elaine Davis, Sykesville, sister of the groom, served the punch and Kristine Meyer, Gaithersburg, sister of the bride, cut the cake.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Southern High School and a 1982 graduate of Garrett Community College. She attended Washington School for Secretaries where she earned a certificate in word processing. Mrs. Allen is currently employed as a computer analyst by Doehler-Jarvis Industries, Greenville, Tenn. The groom graduated from Athalton High School, Columbia, and is employed as a mason by Adkins Masonry Company, Johnson City, Tenn.

The couple was honored with a shower by members of the Allen family during a reunion prior to the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Allen are residing near Telford, Tenn.

Before concluding with my finality, I do have a small curiosity that is likely a trade secret kept by a blood promise — how do they know between 10 and 12 seconds after you fall asleep? They can be three miles away (always there at the beep of the buzzer), but you fall asleep and in one comes. I am convinced there is a committee to figure out a new reason to come into the room perfectly every time!

It's great to be home and I am so very thankful for each and every one of you who kept me plugged in, drained, cleaned, drugged, awake, fed (I'd gain 50 pounds a month if I stayed that long (good food)). It was due to your efforts that I got out so quickly. I apologize to the public for any prior negative comments I may have made in years past. Your dedication is obvious. Thank you and may God richly bless you, giving you not only happiness, but His peace.

Respectfully,
Thomas E. Doyle,
Oakland

To the Editor:

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County calls on our representatives in Washington to commit themselves to meaningful debate on a vitally critical issue facing the American electorate: campaign finance reform. Partisan politics has so far placed the issue in "committee limbo." With the House and Senate soon to reconvene and 1990 races looming, Congress must act now.

The average price for a successful congressional race in 1988 was approximately $3 million for a Senate seat and $350,000 for a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives. Total spending for those congressional campaigns exceeded $450 million, representing nearly a four-fold increase in spending since 1976. Based on current projections, the 1990 federal races will continue this pattern of escalating campaign costs. These staggering figures have set up prohibitive financial hurdles for qualified candidates and are largely responsible for the increasingly influential political role special interest groups have with elected officials. Special interest groups contributed almost 34 percent of all receipts for House and Senate races in 1988, with an even better percentage earmarked for ranking congressional members. More and more, calls for the reform of present campaign finance rules are being heard from all sectors, including incumbent politicians.

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County urges Congress to enact comprehensive legislation that will:

1)curb the undue influence of large special interest group contributors and wealthy individuals;

2)provide public benefits for congressional candidates who accept voluntary spending limits;

3)restore federal tax credits for political contributions by individuals;

4)provide for limits and full disclosures on such questionable campaign practices designed to circumvent existing campaign laws such as "soft money" and "bundling" of contributions;

5)repeal the "grandfather clause," which permits certain members of Congress to retain unspent political contributions for personal use once they leave office; and

6)support reforms that will enable the Federal Election Commission to more vigorously monitor and enforce campaign finance laws.

By acting now Congress can enable future candidates to compete more equitably and effectively prevent the undue influence on elected officials. Without action, suspect campaign spending practices will undoubtedly further erode both the confidence and trust of the American people in our representative government.

Sincerely,
Constance C. Margison
Jack W. Fridinger

To the Editor:

For 20 years, members of the Faculty and Student Body of Zion School of Christian Education — and more recently, Zion Christian Academy — with its band and chorus have gone on periodic Recruitment Tours. In an attempt to meet new pastors and prospective students, it is necessary, on many occasions, to contact pastors who we may not know or who do not know us. Sometimes the contacts are made through mutual friends. Many times contact and reception is made on trust.

Generally, if the date we propose is open, the pastor will schedule a ministry. However, if there is a conflict on the proposed date, the pastor so informs us, and that is the end of the communication. On our tour in late September, we ran into two situations which we think deserve mention. We wanted Berkeley Springs, W.Va. to be our beginning point for a Fall Tour. Several conflicts in dates or housing accommodations had wasted much of our planning time. With just a little over two weeks remaining before our starting date, we called Rev. Sheldon Reese, pastor of First United Methodist Church, Berkeley Springs. He advised that his planning session had been held the week before so he could not arrange to have us. However, he exhibited a generous spirit of helpfulness, as he voluntarily gave us several telephone numbers where he thought there might be interest. One of these numbers was that of Rev. Jerry Grace, pastor of Francis Asbury United Methodist Church. It was also too late a date for Rev. Grace, but he also wanted to help. He said that if we could schedule a service at a local church (which we did) he would let us stay in the educational building of the church.

In twenty years of tour we have never met ministers who wanted to be as helpful as these two Methodist pastors. We would like to take advantage of this medium to recognize their open, generous spirit. It is very commendable that these two Methodist ministers should exhibit such open, receptive spirits to visiting Christian brethren. We thank them and hope that we could be as willing and helpful if we were to find ourselves in a similar situation.

LEAP Program Initiated At GCC

An innovation in the academic area of Garrett Community College this year has been implementation of the Learning Enhancement Assistance Program (LEAP), an instructional support system designed to address student learning needs. Students are placed in one of four levels for each of the academic areas of reading, writing, and mathematics, where instructional support is tailored to meet each student's individual needs.

Level I courses are designed to develop the basic skills of reading, writing, and mathematics before a student begins his academic program. Level II courses re-enforce and refine these skills to prepare a student for college level work. At this level students take an introductory 3-credit course in social science, humanities, or natural science, as well as the 1-credit college seminar and college study skills courses.

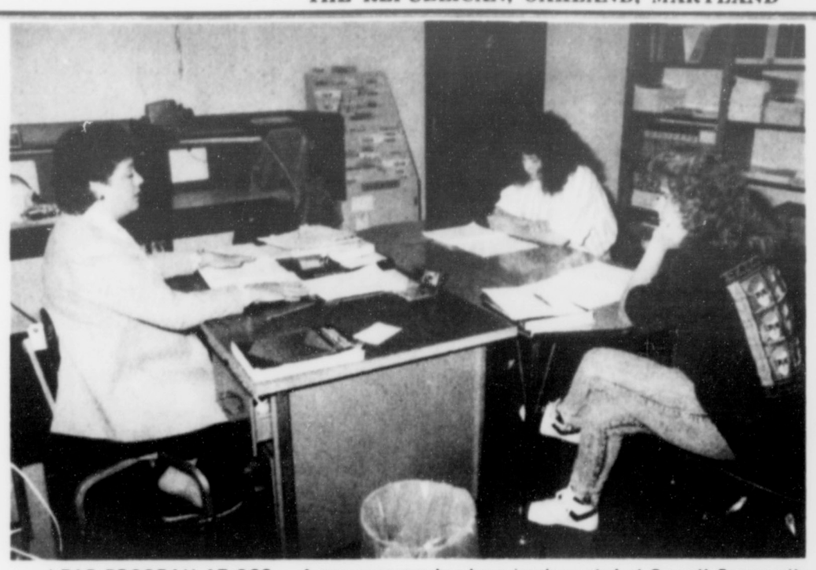

In addition to time spent in classrooms, students in these first two levels work in the instructional labs where they receive tutoring, computer assisted instruction and other academic help.

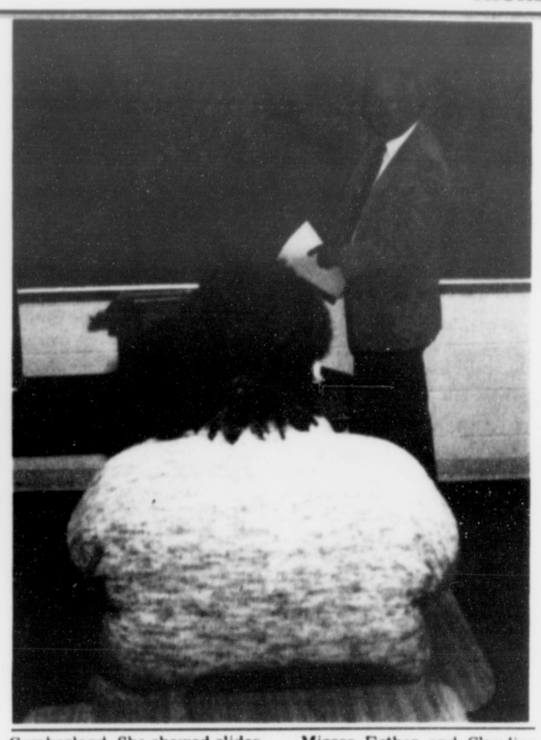

According to George McDowell, director of Developmental studies, 160 students are presently enrolled in developmental courses which include four levels of mathematics and two levels of algebra, three levels of reading, and three levels of writing. Instructors for these courses are: Jane Nolan and Jane Wildesen, writing and reading; Linda Buckel, reading; Fran Storck, reading and math; Dwight Jeffrey, Nancy Priselac, and Judith Ramer, math; and Jack DuBose and George McDowell writing.

Instructors in the developmental courses schedule class time in the computer labs, which are open for an additional 10 hours each week for any students needing help. The math lab is open for 17 hours each week, when professional staff are available to help students.

Students placed in Level III take courses that are equivalent to freshman and sophomore courses at any four-year college or university and that strengthen conceptual development, critical thinking skills, reading, writing, and mathematics competencies across the curriculum. Through tutoring, computer-assisted instruction, and individualized instruction, the LEAP supports all content areas of the curriculum.

Although Level IV courses and an honors program are still in the planning stage, students capable of doing advanced work are presently being challenged by instructors of individual courses who plan assignments for them.

LEAP PROGRAM AT GCC — A new program has been implemented at Garrett Community College to provide instructional support to students in the areas of reading, writing, and mathematics. The Learning Enhancement Assistance Program (LEAP), is divided into level I and level II courses. Level I courses are designed to develop basic skills, while level II courses reinforce and refine the basic skills. Above, instructor Jane Nolan provides individual assistance to students. Below, George McDowell instructs a student in the computer lab. At right, Dwight Jeffrey provides instruction in a math lab.

Management Course Slated

The Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College, the Small Business Administration, and the Western Maryland Small Business Development Center are sponsoring a new class at GCC entitled "Making the Time to Manage." According to a GCC spokesman, the class is designed to help supervisors and managers make the time to meet their many responsibilities.

"Practical individualized learning experiences will help each participant evaluate his or her use of time in the work place and in private life," the spokesman said, adding that the class can also be helpful for office personnel and others in the workplace who need to learn to use their time more effectively.

The class will be held Tuesday, Oct. 31, and Tuesday, Nov. 7, from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the McHenry Campus. The class is part of a series of GCC fall classes slated to offer practical learning experiences that can immediately benefit business persons.

Those wanting to register for the class or obtain more information may contact the GCC Continuing Education Division at 387-6666, ext. 169.

Home Maintenance And Repair Funds Now Available

The Maryland Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD) has announced that $341,900 is now available for matching grants under the state's Home Maintenance and Repair (HOMAR) program for FY 1990.

The HOMAR program awards funds to nonprofit and local government agencies to help them provide minor safety and security repairs for the homes of elderly or disabled homeowners with very limited incomes.

The program is funded and administered through DHCD's Community Assistance Administration, but each HOMAR program is organized and managed locally. Presently there are more than 28 programs operating across the state.

Political subdivisions, local community development agencies and nonprofit corporations may apply for up to $25,000 to establish or continue a home maintenance and repair service for the elderly and handicapped homeowners in their communities. Grants are awarded on a competitive basis, and support 12-month programs. The HOMAR funds must be matched by the grantee agency.

For a copy of the HOMAR Program Manual and an application, organizations should contact: Glenda Keel, HOMAR Program Coordinator, Division of Community Assistance, DHCD, 45 Calvert Street, Annapolis, MD 21401 or call (301) 974-2719.

Mini-Conference On Literacy In Workplace Slated

A mini-conference entitled "Literacy in the Workplace" will be hosted Tuesday, October 24, by the Continuing Education Division of Garrett Community College. The conference is free of charge to all local business persons or their representatives and will be held in the auditorium between 2 and 4 p.m.

"According to census data, 400,000 Marylanders are illiterate and nearly 50 percent of the residents of Garrett County, who are over 18 years of age are without a high school diploma," said Tom Kierstead, program coordinator for the college.

The Appalachian Regional Commission has made funds available to support the conference. Funds and program design are monitored by The Regional Education Service Agency of Appalachian Maryland (RESA). Frank Peto, executive director of RESA, notes that the regional conference's intent is to "draw together education, business, industry and other public and private-sector institutions in a united thrust to align existing educational services with adult literacy needs."

Garrett Community College has a long history of involvement in literacy programs and is currently operating Adult Basic Education and General Education Development courses throughout the county. In addition, the Learning Enhancement and Assistance Program (LEAP) at the college offers credit and non-credit students with the opportunity to develop their reading, writing and mathematics skills. Peer tutoring is also available through the LEAP Center.

Other agencies which offer literacy education include the Literacy Council and Ruth Enlow Libraries, the Garrett County Board of Education, the Western Maryland Consortium (JTPA) and the Department of Human Resources. The Private Industry Council is also involved in the literacy effort throughout the county.

Kierstead said, "One of the major purposes of this conference is to identify resources and services available to local businesses. They have daily contact with many individuals we might never get to know. We want to match the individual with the service they desire and work together to eliminate illiteracy."

Business leaders who wish to learn more about the literacy effort are asked to call the Office of Continuing Education, (301) 387-6666, and confirm their reservation.

BAND BOOSTERS AWARD CAR — A Hagerstown couple were the lucky winners of the 1990 Chevrolet Lumina, purchased by the Southern Garrett Band Boosters from Team One in Oakland and given away by random drawing Saturday night during the annual Western Maryland Tournament of Bands. The winners were Kevin and Shirley Anders, who said they were in the market for a new automobile anyway, but didn't plan on obtaining a brand new one for just $10, the cost of their raffle ticket. The Boosters sold 1,500 tickets and raised $2,500 for the Southern Band, the Maryland State Class III Champions. Pictured with the Anders are Greg Shockey, left, of Team One, and Al Devine, committee chairman and president of the Band Boosters.

Real Estate To Be Next DACUM Project At GCC

Local real estate professionals have been invited to participate in Garrett Community College's fourth DACUM process. The college uses DACUM, which stands for Developing a Curriculum, to provide a detailed and graphic portrayal of the duties and tasks involved in the occupation being studied.

The first phase of the DACUM process is scheduled for November 1 and 2, and phase two, which reorganizes the occupational duties and tasks into specific areas of study, is scheduled for November 9.

Tom Kierstead, program coordinator for the college, said, "The DACUM process operates on the premise that expert workers are better able to describe or define their job than anyone else, that the job can be described in terms of the tasks that successful workers perform and that all job tasks include knowledge and attitudes that workers must have in order to succeed. Therefore, it is the educator's responsibility when developing a curriculum to make full use of the expertise in the field.

"Earl George, acting as the educational chairperson of the local Board of Realtors, has been very instrumental and helpful to the college," said Kierstead, "He has made our job easier by identifying local real estate experts to be members of the DACUM Phase I panel."

"The college has invited real estate professionals from the following companies: A&A Realty-Better Homes & Gardens, Bernard Realty, Century 21-Country Time Realty, Deep Creek Realty, Doyle Realty, Garrettland Realty, and Railey Realty," said Jim Allen, director of technology at the college, "We have had an excellent and positive response from the people we have contacted."

Kierstead and Allen are DACUM Phase I facilitators for the college. They were trained for the DACUM process at the Maryland DACUM Resource Center at Dundalk Community College. Although Kierstead has been involved in all three previous DACUM's, this will be Allen's first involvement at Garrett.

Previous DACUMs at the college have included Resort Management, Secretarial Science, and Construction Technology. "The Resort Management Program has been submitted for approval and is expected to begin in the fall of 1990," said Kierstead. "The Secretarial Science and Construction Technology programs are still in the review process."

Rams Breeze Past Valley To Record Fifth Victory

The Southern Rams had little difficulty in recording their fifth victory of the season last Friday night, as they dominated the Valley Black Knights, 35-16, in Lonaconing.

Led by tailback Mike Dever and fullback Doug Lewis, the first string Southern offense dominated play throughout the first half and took a commanding 28-0 halftime lead, which allowed Coach Tom Woods to play second and third string personnel throughout the second half.

In just one half of action, Dever recorded 188 yards of total offense, 119 of which came on 14 rushes and the rest on a 76-yard scoring pass. He scored three touchdowns while Lewis added 71 yards on just four carries and scored two touchdowns. Dever also scored a two-point conversion.

Dever reached paydirt from five yards out at the 6:16 mark of the first quarter and then capped a nine-play drive with a seven-yard scoring run in the same period. He also ran for the two-point conversion on the second touchdown to make it 14-0.

The next Ram scoring drive began at their own 30 and included a 39-yard pass play from Tommy Ritchey to Mike Freyman to convert a third and 13. Dever then carried the ball for gains of 26 yards and seven yards before Lewis scored on a one-yard run. John Milligan's kick made it 21-0.

Dever followed with his third touchdown, hauling in the screen pass from Ritchey, breaking two tackles, and rambling down the sidelines for his 76-yard scoring run. Milligan's conversion gave the Rams their 28-0 halftime advantage.

Lewis broke loose for a 64-yard touchdown run in the third stanza and Milligan tacked on the extra point to conclude the Rams' scoring.

Against the younger Ram defense, the Black Knights were able to score twice in the fourth quarter, as Keith Phillips plunged into the end zone from one yard out and Todd Zais scored on a 66-yard run. Zais ran for the first two-point conversion and passed to P.J. Kelly for the second.

Zais led Valley's rushing effort with 90 yards on eight carries.

Spearheading the Southern defense were sophomore B.J. Shaffer who finished with eight tackles, Jon Nesselrodt with seven, Shawn Ryan with six, and Ritchey with five. Buck Lough and Tom Kerling paced the Valley defensive unit.

"Our offensive execution was the best it has been all season," stated Coach Woods. "Once again our line played a very good game. Mike Dever and Doug Lewis both ran well, Doug had his best blocking effort to date, and Tommy Ritchey ran our offense very well."

Woods was also pleased with the effort of Milligan in the kicking game, describing his kickoffs as "excellent" and well-covered. "Place kicking is a big phase of the game because field position is so important," he said.

Woods said he was "very impressed" with the effort of the junior varsity players, especially on offense. "Jeremy Bosley and Jason Rinker ran very well against their first team defense," he said, "and Dave Kurtz and Mike Stewart did a fine job on the line."

It is unlikely that Woods' younger personnel will see nearly as much action this week when the Rams travel to Parsons to take on the always tough Tucker County Mountain Lions. Although the Lions are currently 4-4 on the season, the teams that have defeated them (Musselman, Grafton, South Harrison, and Petersburg) have a combined win-loss record of 24-4. The Lions also handed Frankfort its only defeat of the season.

Even though Petersburg is 6-1, the Lions' loss to the Vikings last week was still considered a big upset. "It was an outstanding effort by Petersburg and a game full of mistakes by Tucker County," is how Woods described the contest after watching the game film.

Tucker's veer offense is led by two strong running backs in senior fullback Todd Bowley (6-0, 200) and junior tailback Buck Clark (6-0, 165). Also excelling for them is their senior quarterback, Greg Evans (6-0, 190) and two outstanding receivers in senior split end Todd Snyder (6-0, 150) and senior tight end Duane Lilly (6-4, 210).

"Todd Snyder is the best receiver we've seen so far this year," Woods said. "He absolutely catches everything that's even close to him."

They also have a huge offensive line, averaging 227 pounds, and they pass the ball 40 to 50 percent of the time. Evans threw 28 times last week against Petersburg. They also use the option extensively.

Their 4-3, 6-1 defensive unit is led by Bowley at linebacker, where he has started for four seasons; big senior lineman Eric Evick (5-8, 280); senior defensive back John Moss (6-0, 160); and senior guard Leroy Baza (6-2, 206).

"Their defense reads very well along the line and, as always, is very solid against the run," Woods said, "which obviously concerns us since we are a run-oriented offense. They are big and very physical."

Another concern of Woods is the weather and condition of the playing field, which will most likely be extremely muddy. "The mud will negate our quickness and hurt us more than it will hurt them because they have a much stronger passing game," he said. "The weather will be a big factor."

Junior tight end and linebacker Rob Colaw was added to the Rams' injured list this week with a bruised shoulder; however the defense will be bolstered with the return of senior linebacker Marshall Pike, who has been out for several weeks with a broken hand. Pike was also the starting quarterback when he was injured, but Woods will stick with Ritchey in that position. Also still out of the line-up are lineman Kevin Green, who is expected back next week, and tailback Billy Welch, who is still out with a broken foot.

Southern Jayvees Crush Valley For Fourth Win

The Southern High School junior varsity rolled to its fourth win in five starts Monday evening by whipping Valley, 42-14, in Lonaconing.

Shane Skipper scored nearly half of the Rams' points, all in the first half, as he ran for touchdowns of six, 11, and nine yards, and also kicked a pair of extra points.

After holding a 28-6 halftime lead, Garth Glotfelty added a pair of rushing touchdowns in the second half, one for six yards and the other for two, and Jason Rinker recorded a six-pointer on a five-yard run.

The Southern jayvees will go after their fifth win Monday evening at Tucker County.

Huskies Fail To Penetrate Falcon Defense, Lose 27-0

The defense of the Frankfort Falcons proved to be too much for the area's leading rusher and the Northern Huskies last Friday night, as the Huskies were defeated by the Falcons, 27-0, in a Highland Football Conference match-up at Short Gap, W.Va.

The loss dropped the Huskies to 3-3 on the season, while the Falcons improved to 6-1.

Darren McKenzie broke the 1,000-yard mark for the season and came into the game averaging nearly 200 yards per carry, but was held to 82 on 27 carries by the Frankfort defensive unit.

Frankfort put its first points on the board at the 5:12 mark of the first quarter on a four-yard run by Matt Wrenn. The play capped a drive that included passes of 22 yards and 20 yards by quarterback Chris Whiteman. The kick for the conversion was no good.

The Northern defensive unit also played well throughout the first half against the area's second-ranked team, but with just nine seconds remaining until halftime, Whiteman fired a 23-yard touchdown strike to Shawn Stein and added the two-pointer with a pass to Cory Giffin to make it 14-0.

Frankfort added six more points in the third period when Whiteman scored on a one-yard keeper following a 28-yard carry on an option play.

Then with 11:42 remaining in the game, Whiteman completed a 42-yard pass play to Stein for a touchdown to cap a 60-yard drive. Whiteman also booted the extra point to complete the scoring.

The Huskies engineered a 22-play drive late in the fourth period but the clock ran out when they had the ball on the Falcons' one-yard line.

Shawn McGann led the Falcon defense with 10 tackles, while Glenn Hawkins, Kevin Hanstote, and Danny Cottrill each were credited with nine.

Bobby Shanholtz rushed for 110 yards on 19 carries for the winners and Whiteman's five completed passes were good for 134 yards.

The Huskies gained only 131 yards in total offense, compared to 340 by the Falcons.

Although disappointed by the loss, Northern Coach Tom Vent was generally pleased with the effort of his players.

"We really played very well," he said. "The touchdown with just nine seconds left in the first half really hurt us. Up until that time we were really playing about evenly with them. But they are a very good football team and we still need to play with more intensity. We need more of a total team effort."

The Huskies will need that total team effort this week if they hope to record their fourth win of the season when they play host to the 6-1 Petersburg Vikings at the Southern High field. The Vikings typically are not among the area's powerhouse teams, but this year is certainly an exception, as they are coming off a major upset win over Tucker County last week.

Coach Bobby Harman's potent offense is being led by senior quarterback Ken Alt (6-1, 160), who threw for four touchdowns, completed 14 of 18 passes for 285 yards, and surpassed the 1,200-yard mark last week against Tucker County.

Also playing a key role in the Viking backfield is junior halfback Bryant Rexrode (5-9, 170), while three senior receivers — tight end Chad Raines (6-1, 175), wide receiver Marc Harman (6-1, 170), and wide receiver Todd Fouch (6-1, 175) — provide good targets for Alt.

Also scoring last week against Tucker was still another receiver, junior split end P.J. Landis (5-10, 155).

Leading the Viking defense are Rexrode and senior Nick Ault (6-0, 200) at linebacker positions, senior tackle Butch Royers (6-5, 225), and junior Mike Moyers (6-1, 180) at defensive end.

"Petersburg is a very good team with some outstanding skill people," Vent said, "and we are going to have to play an exceptional game to beat them.

"We are really beginning to feel all the road trips," he continued. "We really have no home field this year and, as cordial as Southern has been to us at their field, we still don't really feel like we have any home games. Even the pros can't play on the road all the time and continue to win.

"But it will still be our homecoming game and we are still in the playoff picture, so we have plenty to shoot for," he added.

Because of the pressure of being "on the road" all season, Vent called off practice Monday to give his players a break. "We all (the coaching staff) felt they really needed a night off," he said.

Still nursing injuries this week, but expected to see action Friday night, are senior lineman Brian Friend, who has a knee injury, and sophomore tight end and safety Jon Houser, who sustained a bruised chest last week.

Kickoff Friday night at the Southern field is set for 7:30 p.m.

A&A Soccer Team Edged In Overtime, 2-1

A&A Realty/Deep Creek Soccer Club recorded its fifth loss of the season this past Sunday as they dropped a 2-1, double-overtime sudden-death loss to Barrelville ODC. Rick Winebrenner's deflection at the 96-minute mark of the game trickled over the goal line just past goalie John Steele for the game winner.

The clean, hard-fought match saw only a handful of penalties and it was unfortunate that there had to be a loser. Barrelville marked the scoreboard first in the second quarter as Pat Nolan finished off a Winebrenner pass to make the score 1-0.

A&A, after missing on two close opportunities finally knotted the score with just nine minutes left in regulation. Mike Hoffeditz raced down a loose ball in the corner to the left of the Barrelville goal. Hoffeditz then drew the defense to his side and crossed his pass through the goalmouth and to Eric Biser 10 yards to right of the goal. Biser took the pass, set up his shot, and rifled it past the diving Barrelville keeper.

Barrelville kept the offensive pressure on for most of the two overtime periods, but could not break the defense anchored by goalkeeper John Steele. But with four minutes left in the game, Barrelville worked the ball to the right corner as Ken Shaffer sent a pass in front of the goalmouth into a crowd. Four A&A defenders and Steele, along with four Barrelville players, converged on the spot and somehow Winebrenner put a foot on the ball and directed it into the goal for the game winner.

The Deep Creek Soccer Club finishes up its regular season this Sunday at Southern Middle School when they face The Blast of Mt. Savage at 1 p.m. This past Sunday's loss ruined any hope of a home game in the first found of the playoffs that start the first weekend in November. However, A&A needs a win to clinch seventh place and avoid playing two games on the first weekend of the playoffs, in which the eighth and ninth place teams play Saturday before playing again the following Sunday.

Southern Golf Team Concludes With 13-13 Mark

The Southern High School Golf Team recently completed its season with a record of 13 wins and 13 losses. The Rams placed third in the Potomac Valley Conference Tournament and earned sixth place in the Regional Tournament last week in Hagerstown. One member of the team, Randy Davidson, made the All-Region Team and will participate as an individual qualifier at the State Tournament in College Park October 26-27.

According to Lindsay Gonder, coach, this year's team continued to make progress and gain experience. Five members of the team will return next season. Individuals desiring to try out for next year's team are encouraged by Gonder to enroll in Junior Clinics to be conducted in the spring of 1990 at the Oakland Country Club. Practice for next season will begin in August 1990. Both boys and girls grades eight through 12 are welcome to participate.

"The team and I express appreciation to the Oakland Country Club Board of Directors, Golf Pro Jim Kreyenbuhl, Davidson's Army Navy and the Garrett National Bank for their support and assistance during the past season," Gonder said. "I hope that our three seniors have enjoyed the experience and will continue to benefit from the 'lifetime' physical and social aspects of golf."

Garrett Co. Man, Woman Win In Senior Olympics

The Tenth Annual Maryland Senior Olympics were held last Thursday through Saturday with two Garrett Countians participating and taking home several medals.

Earl Wentz, Accident, ran the 100 meter dash with a time of 15:53 seconds to take first place and win a gold medal. His time was less than half a second from the record time of 15:11 for the age group of 70 to 74.

He set record times for the 400 meter run in 1987 with a time of 1:13.96 and for the 800 meter run in 1988 with a time of 3:16.04.

Wentz had registered to run in the 200 meter dash as well, but due to a minor hip injury sustained during the 100 meter dash, was unable to participate.

Mary Sutcliffe, Deep Creek Lake, won two gold medals, two silver medals and one bronze medal over the weekend for the 60 to 64 age group.

She won a gold medal for first place in the 10,000 meter cycling event and also in the 100 yard backstroke event. She placed second to win two silver medals in the 50 yard back stroke and the swimming medley.

Sutcliffe also particpated in the shotput event to win a bronze medal for third place.

Husky Harriers In Action Three Times Last Week

The Northern High School cross country team was in action three times during the past week, participating in the area meet at Rocky Gap State Park, Cumberland, the Frostburg State University Invitational, and a meet with Frankfort Monday at Short Gap.

In the area meet, Jason Schroyer placed 10th out of 58 competitors in the boys' meet and Jenny Bowser was 18th out of 45 in the girls' meet.

At the FSU meet, Schroyer placed 18th out of 148 and Bowser was 31st out of 90.

The Northern boys were defeated by Frankfort on Monday, 23-36, and the girls lost 18-45. However, Schroyer led the field in the boys' event with a time of 18:58. Ron Sines placed fourth with a time of 20:15, Jerry Buckel was eighth with a time of 21:29, and Barry Savage and Don Sisler finished 11th and 12th, respectively.

Bowser was the top female finisher for Northern, placing third with a time of 26:53. Teammates Lisa Neilson and Valerie Hamilton were ninth and tenth with repective times of 29:27 and 29:46, while Larua Stanton and Erin Sines finished 11th and 12th.

Coach Charlie Himmler's Huskies will compete again today, hosting Central Preston and West Preston at New Germany State Park, and then conclude the regular season Monday in a quadrangular meet at Braddock Middle School in Cumberland against Fort Hill, Allegany, and Beall.

Regional and state championships will follow.

Northern Girls Win A Pair, Lose A Pair

After upping its undefeated streak to five matches with a victory over Beall, Northern's varsity volleyball team finally tasted defeat in the hands of the Bishop Walsh Spartans. The Huskies then dropped a match to undefeated Valley, but rebounded with a win over Oldtown. The Huskies' record is now 6-2.

The Huskies bested the Mounties from Beall in three straight by the scores of 15-4, 15-12, and 16-14. Scoring honors were shared by sophomores Cara Wachter and Tracie Yommer, who each had nine service points. Sophomore Stephanie Thomas and senior Pam Brennaman added seven points each. Game points were recorded by Wachter, Kristin Edwards and Audra Speicher.

For the first time this season, Northern fell below the 90 percent team serving average with an 89 percent from the service line. Kathy Klink led the Mounties with seven points.

The net attack was led by Kristin Edwards who recorded 10 kills and Tammy Brenneman who had nine.

"I was pleased with the balanced offense we displayed," said Coach Vonda Yunker. "We hit hard when we had to and we dropped the ball into the open area when Beall gave us the opportunities."

The defense also rose to the occasion, as Edwards had two blocks and saves were recorded by Kim Beal, Cara Wachter, and Pam Brenneman.

It was a different story when Northern took the court against Bishop Walsh. The Spartans came out on fire and took three straight from the Lady Huskies, 13-15, 12-15, and 9-15.

"This was the worst match we've played all year," Yunker said. "We didn't set well and we didn't hit well. Our backline defensive play was also substandard. We turned the ball back over to Walsh too many times without making something happen."

The leading scorer for the Huskies was Pam Brenneman with eight service points, including five aces.

The lack of execution was evident when Northern's usually high-powered offense could only generate 12 kills all evening. Leading hitter for the Huskies was Tammy Brenneman with five kills.

The Spartans' leading scorer was Tricia Kho with 10 service points.

All was not lost however, because Northern's junior varsity came away with a victory over the Little Spartans in two games, 15-2 and 15-12. Pam Miller recorded a game high 11 service points, including a game point. Wanda Swartzwelder added seven points and the other game point. Defensive star of the match was April Slagle, who had three saves plus a block for the Huskies, whose record now stands at 4 and 1.

Northern suffered its second loss of the season at the hands of the Valley Black Knights, who took the match in four games, 15-11, 11-15, 15-6, and 15-0. This was Valley's seventh victory of the season without a defeat.

Pam Brenneman led the Huskies with 11 service points and had Northern's only game point. Edwards and Yommer added six service points apiece. Brenneman led the Husky net attack with nine kills.

Even in a losing effort, Northern served with 100 percent accuracy, making good on all 66 serves.

Oldtown was no match for the Huskies as the Northern squad defeated the Indians in three straight, 15-3, 15-2, and 15-0. Wachter led the Huskies with 18 service points and Pam Brenneman added 13. Each had seven ace serves and a game point apiece. Yommer recorded the other game point.

Edwards pounded the Indians at the net with nine kills. Saves on defense were recorded by Kim Beal, Speicher and Stephanie Thomas.

The Little Huskies pushed their record to 5-1 with an easy victory over the Oldtown jayvees in two games, 15-0 and 15-4. Pam Miller led all scores with 16 service points, including nine aces. Cindy Graham added seven points for the Huskies and April Slagle provided the net power with three kills.

Steelers Edge Raiders, 12-6, In Overtime Thriller

In one of the most exciting games every played in the 18-year history of the Mt. Top Youth Football League, the Northern Steelers edged the Oakland Raiders, 12-6, in a triple-overtime game Sunday afternoon at the Southern High School field for the Maryland league title.

The Steelers are tentatively slated to defend their league title against the West Virginia division champs, the Terra Alta Dolphins, in a contest, the time and location of which is still undetermined. Local fans are advised to listen to local radio stations for that information.

The Raiders, who were soundly defeated by the Steelers in regular season play, went into Sunday's game with a plan to keep the ball away from the explosive Steeler offense — and that is precisely what they did. The Steelers had possession of the ball only twice in each half of the game, and ran only 25 offensive plays, compared to 62 by the Raiders.

Derick Mason put the Steelers on the board first when he capped a 36-yard drive with a one-yard touchdown run at the 6:43 mark of the second quarter. Mason's kick for the two-point conversion, which ultimately could have won the game for the Steelers, was just wide.

The Raiders knotted the score at 6-6 at the 6:50 mark of the fourth quarter when Josh Woods scored on a seven-yard run. The Steeler defense held on the extra-point attempt.

After intercepting a Raider pass, the Steelers drove to the Raider five-yard line with just seconds left in regulation time, but an attempted field goal attempt by Mason was no good because of a bad snap from center.

After both defensive units held in the first overtime attempt, on their second possession, the Raiders had a second and goal from the three-yard line, but the Steeler defense held.

On the third Steeler possession, Tim Forney scored the winning points on a three-yard run. The Raiders' final opportunity to score was stopped just inches short of the goal line.

Woods led the Raider offense and defense, picking up 127 yards on 40 carries and recording eight tackles. Mark Elliott finished with 45 yards on 13 carries and Jason Burgess added 29 yards on four attempts. Richie Orr finished with five tackles.

"Our whole coaching staff had a bad feeling going into this game," said Steeler Coach Larry Brenneman. "Our kids went in thinking this was going to be an easy game for them since we had beaten the Raiders by a pretty wide margin earlier. But they dominated us throughout most of the game. They did a great job keeping the ball away from us. We're just pleased to come away with a win. But win or lose, I believe that was the finest, most exciting youth league game I've ever seen."

The Steelers remain undefeated on the year and the Raiders finish with a 6-2 mark.

Raider Coach Dave Martin and his staff commented on the team and extended appreciation to all who assisted with the program. "While the Raiders finish their 1989 season with a sense of pride in themselves, the coaches and players want to send a special thank you to all parents, friends, and relatives who supported our team," Martin said. "As coaches, we feel our boys have learned a great deal about football and the teamwork philosophy behind our coaching efforts."

Mountain Bike Race Slated For Sunday At Wisp

Plans have been finalized for the first Fall Spectacular Mountain Bike Race, slated for this Sunday, Oct. 22, at the Wisp Ski Resort, McHenry. Federal Grant ticipating local school systems have developed an operating structure to ensure that the technology is used wisely and well. Governor Schaefer said the federal award will "give additional support to a project that is an outstanding example of the kind of good things that can happen when government and business join together in partnership."

The federal grant will fund training to help teachers make the best use of the computers provided by the Potomac Edison Company by fully integrating computers into their instruction. The training will support the goals of MEP, which include students' development of functional and higher order cognitive skills, problem solving, and improved fluency in written and oral communication.

Maryland Education Project techniques that prove effective in bringing about changes in the way teachers use computers will serve as models for schools in Potomac Edison's service areas in Virginia and West Virginia as well as other schools in Maryland.

Three Terra Alta Men Arrested On Drug Charges

Three Terra Alta men and one juvenile were arrested on drug charges Friday night according to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Robert D. Tasker, 19, Jerry B. DeWitt, 18, and Donald E. Funk, 18, were arrested outside Allegheny Welding Company, Oakland, by Deputies R.L. Sines and J.D. Murphy. The three men were each charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS), and the possession of CDS paraphernalia.

According to a spokesperson from the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, each man was later released from police custody on $300 unsecured bond.

In other news from the Sheriff's Department, Charles Wayne Moats, 32, Deer Park, was arrested Friday on three warrants and eight additional traffic charges. The warrants were issued by Judge Turney charging Moats with failure to appear in court and failure to pay deferred payments to the court. The traffic charges include driving while intoxicated, driving with a suspended and revoked license, driving in violation of a court-ordered alcohol restriction, driving an uninsured motor vehicle, and driving an unregistered motor vehicle. Deputy R.L. Sines made the arrest.

Moats is currently incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $3,530 bond.

Larry Lynn Paugh, 36, Elk Garden, W.Va., was arrested last Thursday and charged with driving while intoxicated, issuing a false name to a police officer, and driving with a suspended and revoked license. Deputy J.D. Murphy made the arrest along Route 135 east of Oakland. He was later released on $1,000 bond.

Christopher Stanley Tasker, 32, Deer Park, was arrested early Saturday morning and charged with driving while intoxicated. Deputy J.D. Murphy made the arrest along Oakland-Deer Park Road. Tasker was incarcerated and later released on his own recognizance.

Paula Hutson, 32, Oakland, was arrested October 11 on the strength of a bench warrant. According to the arresting officer, Deputy J.D. Murphy, she was charged with failure to appear in the District Court of Maryland. She was later released on $500 bond.

Kenneth Wayne Tasker, 26, Oakland, was arrested October 11 on the strength of a bench warrant and charged with failure to pay a deferred payment to the District Court of Maryland. Deputy R.L. Sines made the arrest. Tasker was later released after posting $170 bond.

Michael C. Eggleston, 24, Friendsville, was arrested October 7 on the strength of a bench warrant charging him with failure to appear in Allegany County District Court. Deputy J.B. Sowers made the arrest. Eggleston was later released on his own recognizance.

Board Meets

Park, were present to voice their concerns about the need to change the bus stop in that area. The concern does not involve the distance involved, but the area where the children have to walk. The parents noted that the children will be forced to walk in the road during the winter months when the snow is plowed to the sides of the road.

Michael Sines, supervisor of transportation for the Garrett County Board of Education, noted that arrangements have been made for a safety engineer to look at the site.

Walking Requirements

Board President Mikal Moomau noted that she would like to have more information on the requirements concerning students walking to school when they live within a certain distance of the school.

Moomau requested that a feasibility study be completed about the ramifications of changing the policy. She said, "I would like to have the information to consider, because this is an issue that will come up again and again. We need to have that information so we can consider changing the policy if we need to."

Sines reported that the study will be presented to board members at the next board meeting.

SHS Renovation

A report was presented to board members concerning what must be done if the Southern High School renovation project is to begin in July 1990. Dr. Ryscavage stressed the fact that this date is not a certainty at this time, but he feels that it is wise to begin looking at the issue now.

Ryscavage said, "First, if we are to adequately plan for this project, the Board of Education will have to make some basic decisions about how Southern High School will operate during the renovation.

"Second, in order to develop recommendations in this regard, perhaps you may want to establish a committee which could include students, teachers, and parents.

"Third, I would strongly suggest that, as a result of our experience with the Northern High School renovation, we allow for a public hearing on any proposed recommendations prior to board action.

"Lastly, I would like you to consider a timetable for making such decisions as we do not have that much time should the renovations begin in July 1990."

Red House PTA

Several representatives from the Red House PTA were present to voice their concerns about overcrowding at that school. The PTA had formed a committee to look into alternatives, which were presented to the board members.

Suggestions included postponing the installation of a computer lab, utilizing the stage area for classes, and using a relocatable classroom or a trailer.

Guidance Program

A status report was given on the guidance program on the elementary school level. The program consists of four main facets, including developmental, preventive, interventive, and crisis.

Classroom guidance takes place at each grade level, with each class being visited by a counselor about five times each year. Teacher requests are also accepted, and teachers receive training for activities on such subjects as self-esteem.

Group counseling takes place for students who are referred by either a teacher, themselves, or through the ARD process.

Enhancement Grants

A report was also given on the Superintendent's Enhancement Grants for 1988-89. The grants are available to any classroom or resource teacher who applies, and are rewarded on a competitive basis.

Their purpose is to enable the teacher to pursue alternate curricular offerings and/or enchance the present curricular offerings. The grants may be used for contracted services, supplies and materials, other instructional costs, and equipment as they relate to instruction.

Last year, the grants were utilized to employ Dr. Gail Herman for story telling at Accident and Dennett Road Elementary School, an art book and video tape for the Northern High School library and materials for art classes there, an illuminated microscope for Bloomington Combination School, and paperback books for Southern Middle School.

Applications are currently being accepted for the grants for the 1989-90 school year, and may be submitted until October 31. A $250 grant award is available for one elementary, middle and secondary school in each end of the county.

School District Study

A discussion was held concerning the Southern Elementary School District Study. A feasibility study was recommended by the ad hoc committee studying the school districts.

Dr. Ryscavage pointed out that the board must determine what specific schools should be included for study, and determine the degree to which each school should be studied. He recommended that an outside consultant be appointed to develop a recommended course of action.

Another recommendation was that the board appoint an ad hoc advisory committee to work with the consultant, which would possibly include one school board member, one assistant superintendent, the supervisor of transportation, the director of elementary education, the director of pupil services, and a representative of the Garrett County Commissioners.

Ryscavage also noted that, once the study is completed, it will be presented at public hearings to gain citizen input prior to the board's action. He suggested that action be taken on the matter in concert with the Capital Improvement Plan (CIP), which will have to be submitted to the Maryland Public School Construction Program by the end of October 1990.

Governor's Commission Report

The final item on the board's agenda was the discussion of the Report of the Governor's Commission on School Performance, which was developed to "examine ways to measure performance of the public schools in the state and to develop strategies for improvement." Dr. Ryscavage presented his thoughts on the report within those two contexts.

Numerous Mishaps

Terrill's car spun 180 degrees before stopping on the opposite side of the intersection. Friend's car stopped on the eastbound shoulder.

Tpr. P.R. Brown charged Terrill with failing to yield the right of way at the entrance to a highway.

Both drivers and one passenger in the Friend car, Iris V. Friend, 55, Mtn. Lake Park, were treated and released from Garrett Memorial following the crash. They were transported by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Four persons were injured in a two-vehicle accident Saturday on the Glendale Road.

Police reported that Vesta B. Gank, 40, Aurora, W.Va., was traveling east in a 1986 Subaru GL, while Robert W. Wilt, 21, Swanton, was westbound in a 1988 Chevrolet Cavalier. Wilt crested a hill as Gank turned into a private driveway, and the two cars collided.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated, charging Gank with turning when unsafe and two seat belt violations. Wilt was also charged with two seat belt violations.

Both drivers and two passengers, Tadjana J. Gank, 23, Aurora, and Michael J. Wotring, 16, Terra Alta, W.Va., were treated and released from Garrett Memorial according to a hospital spokesman.

A two-vehicle accident occurred last Thursday on Route 42.

According to police, Charles H. Bailey, 66, Keyser, W.Va., was traveling north on Old Route 42 in a 1987 Ford Truck. He reportedly failed to yield the right of way at the intersection with Route 42, causing a collision with a 1984 Mercury Cougar driven by Teresa M. Friend, 24, Friendsville.

Tpr. S.W. Vincent charged Bailey with failing to stop at stop sign line. Both drivers and two passengers, Patsy A. Bailey, 59, Keyser, and Louis Bittinger, 61, Grantsville, were taken to Garrett Memorial by Northern Rescue. A hospital spokesman reported that they were all treated and released.

Two persons were injured in a two-vehicle accident last Wednesday on Route 219.

Police said Sheila K. Bittinger, 24, Oakland, was northbound on Route 219 in a 1989 Chevrolet Beretta, while Retha D. Johnson, 43, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., was westbound on Weber Road in a 1986 Chevrolet Spectrum. Johnson reportedly failed to yield the right of way to Bittinger, causing a collision.

Tpr. J.K. Moore investigated, charging Johnson with failing to yield the right of way at the entrance to a highway. Treated and released following the accident were Bittinger and Leeanna Johnson, 16, Horse Shoe Run.

treats. The treat is distributed to Oakland area children in lieu of holding "Trick or Treat." The purchase of the treats in previous years has been made possible via donations. The Mayor and Town Council noted its appreciation to those who have donated in the past and encourages those who would ordinarily be buying candy for "Trick or Treat" to bring a contribution to City Hall. Donations may be left at City Hall weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

SHA Outlines

will be initiated after the SHA determines whether the planning will take place at a district or state level.

The Team conceded that many issues would need to be addressed before this long-term recommendation could be implemented. Some property currently held by homeowners, businesses and possibly even a cemetery would be needed by the State for construction of a five-lane highway.

The estimated cost to the state for construction of a five-lane highway through this corridor is $44.5 million.

The State Highway Administration will request that the county reserve land along the right-of-way that is adjacent to U.S. Route 219, allowing no special exceptions to be granted on current setback requirements in regard to future construction.

The State Highway Administration may initiate the project planning study as early as next spring. According to Wynn, the actual project would not be undertaken until after next fiscal year, at the earliest date.

In a separate report, SHA officials stated there will be road construction at the intersection of Route 42 and U.S. Route 219 South. The intersection is slated to be squared off, and will be located nearer the crest of the hill, allowing for greater visibility at that point.

The State Highway Administration is currently planning the construction of a truck pull-off on Route 42 for vehicles heading northbound, downhill to Friendsville. No further improvements are currently slated for Route 42.

*Legislation to make the enforcement of municipal infractions (city ordinance civil violations) easier and more streamlined in the District Courts. The current process is somewhat cumbersome and expensive.

*Authorization for local governments to collect an Admissions and Amusement Tax on video tape rentals. Similar to the local taxes on movie theater tickets, local governments would be eligible to collect up to five percent of the rental fee of a video tape.

In addition to the discussions and debate on the legislative issues, conferences attendees will participate in several events that focus on regional attractions. On Thursday, the conference participants will take the Western Maryland Scenic Railway trip between Cumberland and Frostburg. After a brief tour of Frostburg, the participants will return to Cumberland for a welcoming reception at the Western Maryland Station Train Depot.

Early Friday, conference delegates will attend Information Tables on a variety of topics, including one on Allegany County Tourism and another on Frostburg State University and Allegany Community College.

At the opening general session on Friday, Frostburg Mayor John Roland, Cumberland Mayor George Wycoff, and Allegany County Commission President Arthur Bond will welcome the assembled city and town officials to Western Maryland.

The featured luncheon speaker on Friday is Garrett County Commissioner Braskey, president of the Maryland Association of Counties, who will discuss the importance of good relationships between counties and municipalities.

Spouses of conference attendees will spend most of Friday touring Frostburg State University.

Banquet entertainment will be provided by the Arundo Trio.

The Maryland Municipal League is a non-profit, non-partisan association representing 148 city and town governments throughout Maryland. COMMUNITY SERVICE WEEK — The Garrett County Commissioners signed into effect a Community Service Proclamation for the week of October 16 to 21. This is a cooperative project between county governments and the Governor's office to encourage Marylanders to participate in volunteer activities. The proclamation states in part that "People providing service to their communities through ongoing volunteer activities and involvement make Garrett County a great place to live, work or play and thousands of Garrett County residents participate in service activies . . and by lending a day to Maryland, every man, woman, child can demonstrate the great strength of people to make a difference while encouraging others to contribute time to help beautify, improve, or to any other volunteer project or community activity that interests them." Activities which took place this week included the new design and re-planting of shrubbery, plants and flowers at both Northern and Southern High Schools. On Saturday, the Garden Club will plant a new dogwood tree in front of the Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland. Pictured above, front row, left to right, are the Garrett County Commissioners Ernest J. Tom Wopat To Give Concert At Craig Center

Tom Wopat, better known to many as Luke Duke of the television series "The Dukes of Hazzard," is not only an accomplished actor, but also becoming a top recording star, and will present a concert Saturday, Nov. 11, at the Craig Civic Center in Kingwood, W.Va.

Tickets are now on sale for the event and may be obtained locally at Eileen's Country Market, located along Old Rt. 135 (Oakland Drive) in Mtn. Lake Park, about one-quarter mile east of Southern High School. The tickets are $10 for reserved seats and $8 general admission, with $1 off per ticket for orders of 10 tickets or more.

Wopat, who was one of eight children reared on a dairy farm in Lodi, Wisconsin, had small roles in a number of television programs before landing one of the leads in the "Dukes of Hazzard." Since that series ended, he has starred in another TV series, "Blue Skies," and now shares a leading role with Lindsay Wagner in a brand new CBS series, "Peaceable Kingdom."

He also has an extensive background in live theatre, having played in a number of major musicals, such as "Oklahoma," "Annie, Get Your Gun," "Carousel," and "I Love My Wife."

He and his band, "The Full Moon Band," have produced a pair of albums, "A Little Bit Closer" and "Don't Look Back."

Wopat has been performing on stage — musically as well as dramatically — since high school. He attended college at the University of Wisconsin and, after a break to sing and play trombone in a rock band, completed school and performed in summer stock theatre for two seasons in Michigan. He arrived in New York in 1977 and earned roles in off-Broadway and Broadway shows, plus had the title role in "The Robber Bridegroom" at Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C.

After winning the role as Luke Duke and moving to Los Angeles, Wopat continued with his music between shooting sessions for "The Dukes." His first album yielded three popular singles — "The Rock 'n' Roll of Love," "Susannah" and "Put Me Out of My Misery." The title cut, "A Little Bit Closer," became a top 20 single and Wopat used it to produce a successful music video.

Persons who wish to order tickets by mail should send their checks to the Craig Civic Center, 311 Tunnelton Street, Kingwood, WV 26537. The $1 break on group sales will be good through October 31.

Salome Smith Says Popular Image Of Her Country Is Misguided One

by Sandra Cusack

SALOME AND HER "SISTER" — Salome Smith, an exchange student from Jamaica participating in the International 4-H Youth Exchange Representative Program, holds a map of Jamaica with her "sister" Joyce Noel. Salome is staying with the Noel family while in Garrett County. Joyce explained that it is very exciting to get to meet someone from another country and learn the ways of their country. Joyce hopes to participate in the exchange program next summer, when she hopes to go somewhere in Europe. Salome and Joyce are getting along well, except when it comes to speaking English, since, as they explained, Joyce says things one way, and Salome speaks another way.

Ahhh, Jamaica. The land of palm trees and pina colados, white sandy beaches and clear blue water, where no one ever works and everyone wears long white cotton pants and shirts.

This is the image that many people have when they think of Jamaica, but according to Salome Smith, an exchange student from Jamaica, it is a misguided one.

"Everyone thinks all we do is run around in white and have fun. This isn't true. We do have high-rise buildings like you do," she said. "Many people just go to Montego Bay, which is very touristy. I wish people would travel throughout our country and get to know our culture. We do have hotels in other parts of the country beside Montego Bay."

Salome is in the United States as part of the International 4-H Youth Exchange Representative Program, which is open to youth leaders between the ages of 19 and 25. Participants with the program stay with host families and participate in school programs and rural training centers. Programs range from three to six months and approximately 75 two-way exchanges between the U.S. and other paricipating countries occur each year.

Upon her arrival in July, she spent a week in Washington, D.C., for orientation. She then went to Vermont, from where she was able to visit Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts. In Garrett County, she is staying with the T.J. Noel family of Red House.

"The U.S. is extremely large," said Salome. "I spent half an hour waiting in the airport when I arrived for the people to come pick me up; it was very worrisome. But most people are basically friendly. It's quite fast moving, materialistic and I consider it to be extremely beautiful.

"But Americans are quite wasteful. Most stuff is disposable, but it can be used again. Like plastic cups; people just throw them away and they could be used again. And food for example. So much is just thrown away. In Jamaica, you don't take more than you can eat so that you don't waste it. If you have too much, you save it for the dog and if you don't have a dog, you give it to the neighbor's dog. But I think the recycling programs they have here are good, like the ones for cans and paper.

"If the country didn't use so many disposable goods, there wouldn't be as much pollution," she said.

Jamaica is a small island located in the West Indies in the Caribbean Sea. Approximately 4,000 miles square, it is populated by almost 2,500,000 people and is very rich in culture.

A Commonwealth of England, the country is 77 percent Negro, of African descent, with the other 23 percent a combination of races.

"Some of the population is Afro-European and Afro-Chinese along with some straight whites, or straight Europeans and straight East Indian," Salome explained. "Some of the people are of mixed descent. I have one girlfriend who is a mixture of Chinese, Indian and Negro and another girlfriend, a mixture of white, Chinese and Negro.

The first language on the island is English, and the second is Spanish. Jamaicans also speak a dialect known as Patois, which is a combination of French, Spanish and African.

"The people also use lots of idioms and hand gestures when they are speaking," Salome explained.

"Jamaicans are not prejudiced although there are a few people who are anti-white. They remember things like slavery. We do have a lot of television programs from the U.S. and seeing a program where a black man is mistreated would get them angry. But we think nothing of watching an all-white tv program.

"I believe in judging people by who you are and not by your color. Like in Jamaica, people are accepted by their qualifications when applying for a job and aren't rejected for their color. If a white person applies for a job and he is better qualified than a Negro, then the white would get the job. It isn't abnormal to see a Negro and a white marry or an Indian and white marry.

"But also it is not uncommon to see people living together without marrying and then having children. There isn't so much of a need for divorces because of this.

"But in the U.S., I was moving among some blacks in New York, and they really seem to suffer terrible prejudice here. This isn't so in Jamaica. Jamaicans also have a very high self-esteem, so don't you dare try to put them down," she said.

"There are a lot of different festivals in Jamaica. Each culture mixes in with the other's festival, so we all get to know about each other's culture and about other types of food, like Chinese, Indian and European. It seems that the strict part of the culture is maintained by the older people and the younger people consider all the cultures. There is a mixture there, and it's nice to have more than one culture," she continued.

"Jamaicans love music. Reggae is our official music, although groups like Bob Marley and the Wailers are hardly played now. What is very popular now is something called DJ, which is a very heavy reggae beat in the background with someone speaking, like a DJ (disc jockey on the radio). Rap, what is popular here, is derived from reggae," said Salome.

"There are a lot of talented Jamaicans in music, but a lot of them go to London rather than Jamaica to release their music because it pays more. Like athletes run for other countries because the finances to support them just aren't available in our country. And the doctors who study in Jamaica then migrate somewhere else. That's really scary, because the people you really need leave because they think they can make more money elsewhere. We are a small country, but we can make our mark on the world," she said.

"The wealth is not evenly distributed in our country. There is some middle class, then the really rich and the really poor. Jamaica is poor compared to the U.S., but we try to be thankful for what we have. Some families can afford two or three cars while some may not be able to afford even one car. But most Jamaicans are able to make ends meet. I think we are an average country.

"We do have some private schools, but they are just for the wealthy. Mostly it is public schools, although there are fees to attend them. When I started seven years ago, the fee was only $15. My final year of school, the fee had gone up to $180. Before I left, the school board was holding a meeting to discuss raising the fee to $200.

"The government has a budget, and the schools don't get as much money as they should. So the school fee covers what the government can't. The fee covers physical education, home economics, sciences, the school nurse and stationery, plus part of it goes into the school building fund. They are always adding on to the school, because they have need of more space for the students.

"The school I attended, near May Pen, had about 2,000 students. Our schools are based on the English system, which is much different from the system here," Salome said.

Salome explained that Basic School is started by all students at age 3. (She started, at the wish of her mother, at age 2.) Primary school is begun at age 6 and continues for six years, from grades one through six. A Common Entrance Exam is taken at age 12 and the successful completion of this exam determines which second school the student will attend. The exam may be taken at age 10, 11 and 12, for practice.

If a student should pass the exam at age 10, he will go onto high school then. Salome explained that, while this is a rare occurrence, it does happen.

After five years in the second school, a student may then go to work or on to college. Students do have the opportunity to take two additional years in second school, to prepare for college and to give them a better chance at being accepted by the University of the West Indies, one campus of which is located in Kingston, the capital of Jamaica.

"I think it is a fairly good system because it makes a student work harder. Here it is just a natural step to go on to high school, although this is good because you don't have to make a decision at such an early age," Salome explained.

"For the younger students in the school, it is very formal. For example, they stand when the teacher enters the room. As the students become older, the teachers feel they are on the same level with the students. The students can help with the administration of the school and can teach some classes to the younger students," said Salome.

Salome had been notified that she would receive a scholarship to attend the University and was planning on studying law. She found out that she was accepted to participate in the exchange program at the beginning of the summer, and figured, "Why not? A year's break would be nice."

She isn't sure whether she will go to University in Jamaica or the United States, but said she would rather go in Jamaica.

"I'd rather go to school in Jamaica because I have my friends, I'm very attached to my country and I'd also rather study in my own country because coming here would be too much like starting over," Salome said.

Salome was involved in many different programs while in school. She was the Student Council president, the student representative on the School Board, a member of the Cultural and Ethics Society, the Speech Club, the Debating Club and also in the Youth Group and Sunday School.

She was also president of her local 4-H club, and explained how 4-H began in her country: "We will celebrate 50 years of 4-H in Jamaica next year. Jamaica was having a problem with soil erosion and began looking for a program to teach young boys soil conservation methods. Then they decided a program to facilitate the needs of girls and boys was needed so they ended up copying the United States' 4-H program."

"There are 14 parishes in my country, which are the same as counties in the U.S. and each parish chooses someone to send to Kingston to be interviewed to participate in the Exchange Program. My 4-H leader chose me. I was very surprised about it," she said. "Eight people were sent out of the 14 parishes and I was the youngest. You have an interview with the Minister of Agriculture and are tested on your knowledge of geography, history, current affairs and world affairs.

"I only found out about the trip one month before I was coming. They sent me and one other guy on the trip. After I leave here, I will go to Baltimore, then I will go to Washington, D.C., for four days for an evaluation. It should be fun because we will all get together. There will be groups that came in May for a longer visit, and the students from here who went to other countries. I'll also finally get to meet the other person from my country who came here," she said.

Salome's "sister" during her visit to Garrett County, Joyce Noel, is a member of the Red House 4-H Club. She is a senior in high school and hopes to participate in the exchange program next year, although she hopes to be able to go to Europe.

"It's exciting to get to know about another country and have fun with another person," said Joyce. "I'm planning on participating this summer, but you have to take the initiative to apply. You can either be placed in a group or you can choose a certain group to study a certain subject in another country. I hope to go someplace in Europe."

The two girls are getting along well, "except when it comes to English," the two agreed in unison. "She says things one way, and I say them another," Joyce explained.

"It's great being here. They (the Noels) ought to be commended for having me here, especially since they only found out that I was coming two weeks before I arrived," said Salome.

Salome will be leaving Garrett County on Friday, October 27. Anyone interested in having Salome speak to their club or group, should call Joyce Noel at 334-3887.

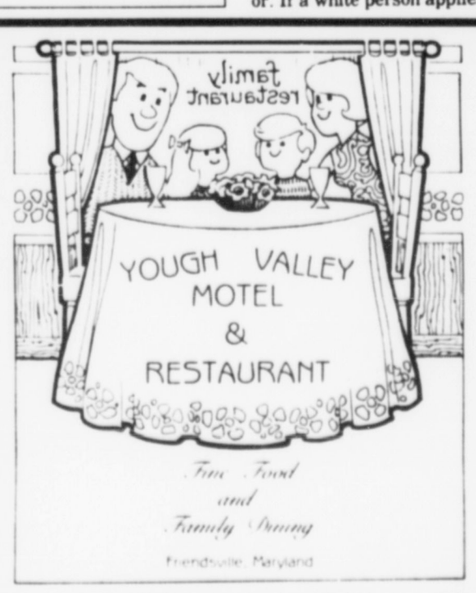

"EVERYONE THINKS WE RUN AROUND IN WHITE and have fun all the time," said Salome Smith about Jamaica. "This is not true, we have high rise buildings and we do work." As can be seen from the photo above, Salome, second from the left, and her classmates do study hard, but Salome explained that her country does know how to have a good time as well. She explained that most people visit the Montego Bay area of Jamaica, which is very touristy, rather than the rest of the country, which means they miss out on the rich culture of her country. Salome will be in Garrett County until Friday, October 27, and any group or club which would like her to speak should contact Joyce Noel at 334-3887.

Garrett Memorial Observing Quality Assurance Week

Garrett County Memorial Hospital invites the public to celebrate National Quality Assurance Week, October 23-27. The theme, "Celebration of Quality," enhances awareness of quality assurance and utilization management programs throughout healthcare communities.

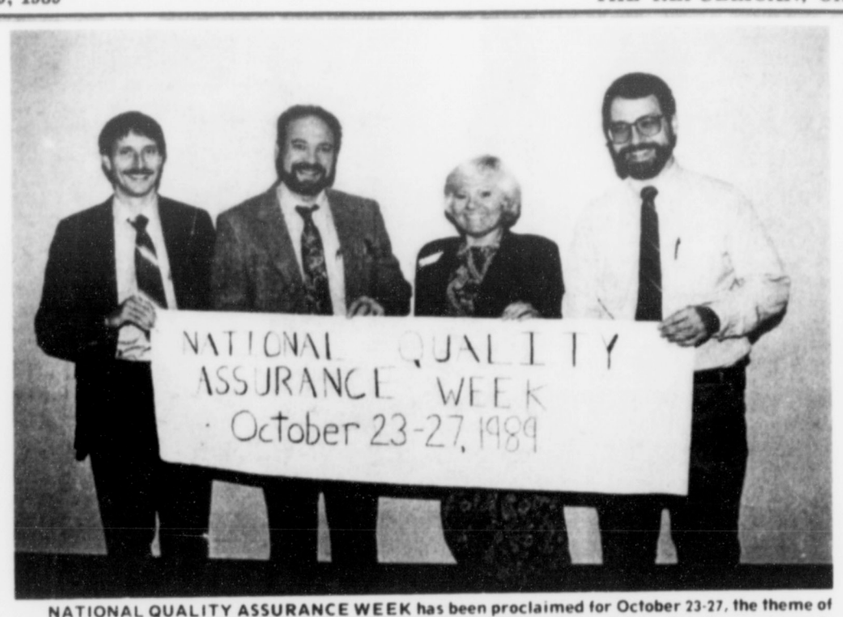

Quality Assurance is objectively and systematically monitoring and evaluating the quality and appropriateness of patient care on an on-going basis, according to a hospital spokesman.

"Total organizational commitment to continuously improve the quality of patient care is the central concern at Garrett Memorial," the spokesman said. "The staffs have a clear focus on the fact that a commitment to quality is required in all aspects of their work. The willingness and enthusiastic participation from our medical staff leadership and support staffs are the ingredients for a successful quality assurance program. Quality assurance, risk management, utilization review, infection control, and discharge planning are but a few of the essential hospital areas that must be properly coordinated and managed to ensure the quality of patient care."

National Quality Assurance Week gives hospitals the opportunity to show appreciation for the employees and professional staffs who work to provide high quality, one-on-one patient care. "Garrett Memorial is fortunate to have such a good group of dedicated and caring people," the spokesman said.

Highlighting the week's activities are the presentations of QA Service Awards. Receiving special recognition during National Quality Assurance Week are Dr. Donald Richter, chairman, QA Committee; Dr. Walter Naumann, chairman, Utilization Committee; Don Sincell; chairman, Joint Conference Committee; Dr. John Porcaro; Dr. Mark Domenick; Dr. Karl Schwalm; Dr. Barry Conger; Dr. Thomas Johnson; Charlotte Bock, director of nursing; Bernadette Simmons, associate director of nursing; and Joyce Andrews, associate director of nursing.

The Quality Assurance Department at Garrett Memorial is sponsoring "Celebration Week" activities. On Tuesday, October 24, Mary Barron, director of quality assurance/risk management for the Maryland Hospital Association, will present the topic of "The Quality Agenda" to the administrative staffs of the hospital. Alva Weaver III, attorney at law, will address the Medical Staff on "Defense Counsel's Perspective" on Wednesday, October 25.

NATIONAL QUALITY ASSURANCE WEEK has been proclaimed for October 23-27, the theme of which is "Celebration of Quality" throughout the nation's health care facilities. Quality assurance is objectively and systematically monitoring and evaluating the quality and appropriateness of hospital patient care on an on-going basis. Garrett County Memorial Hospital has planned various activities for the week. (See story for details.) Pictured above, left to right, are Garrett Memorial personnel Larry Beck, administrator; Ben Rosenthal, associate administrator; Bette Aronhalt, director of quality assurance and risk management; and Dr. Donald Richter, chairman of the quality assurance committee. Not present for the photo was Dr. Walter Naumann, chairman of the utilization review committee.

RESCUE BOAT TRAINING — Several members of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources received emergency rescue boat training last Thursday at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Lake Manager Paul Durham reported that the training was necessary because the regular DNR patrol boats were pulled because of the current low water level at the lake. The lake level has been dropped to allow shoreline erosion work on Rock Lodge Road. The special rescue boat is maintained in Garrett County by the Forest Park and Wildlife Service, and is currently being stored at Deep Creek Lake State Park. Durham explained that it is ideal for shallow waters, and allows for much quicker response time if victims are in the water. Pictured above in the boat is John H. Frank, park ranger at New Germany State Park. Standing, left to right, are Ranger Richard E. Sines, Durham, and Ranger Ken Meyers.

The Choice

Autumn leaves, after they've fallen — ants at a picnic — rain when you've wished for sun. Life is full of such tangles.

But it's how you approach them that counts. Upbeat, or downbeat?

You can rake leaves, enjoying the golden quiet of an October afternoon. You can brush aside the ants and enjoy the picnic. You can settle in with a book on a rainy afternoon.

The choice is yours — for the best things, or for the worst of things. Like worshipping in God's House — it's up to you!

Why not try the upbeat way there, too?

Devotional Reading: Matthew 24:29-35
Background Scripture: 1 Thessalonians 4-5

In recent years our world has become technologically advanced in the field of medicine and continues to become more so each day. Humans are constantly searching for the cure of disease and preventive measures for accidental deaths. We spend many hours in our lifetime worrying about the day when it is "time for us to go."

It's difficult to understand the reality of death, but avoidance and fear are not how this concept should be handled. Christians need to live a life full of purpose and meaning, and prepare for their future life in heaven; for death does come unexpectedly, just as the second coming of Christ will come unexpectedly.

Thessalonians 5:4 states that that day shall overtake you as a thief. Thessalonians 5:6-7 says, "Therefore, let us not sleep, as do others, but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep, sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night."

Christians should be fully aware as they await Christ's second coming. Months and years may go by as we live our lives without any thoughts or worries about death. Then, the day comes when we lose someone close to us and we must face the reality of death. During our time of grief, we search and look to the Lord for signs of hope.

The basis for that hope is in the words of the Bible. Matthew 24:35 says, "Heaven and earth shall pass away but my words shall not pass away."

Why should our search to strengthen our faith be put off until we are dealing with the death of a loved one, or facing death ourselves? The building of our faith in the Lord should be a lifetime endeavor. We may not find all the answers to our fears and doubts, but relief and hope can be found and restored. It can be found through readings in the Bible, church sermons, and religious instruction. And it can be found in helping others in their search for faith.

Don't wait until it is too late. Prepare for the coming of the Lord right now. As you prepare, offer support to others and encourage them to lead productive lives, for when Christ comes again, believers who have died will be the first to rise.

If we truly believe in God, then we have that faith. And if we truly have faith, then there can be no fear of death.

Cher made her movie debut with Sonny in late '60s

By Polly Vonetes

Q: I think Cher is a great actress. Could you tell me what movie she first starred in, and where I can write her? —Marnie Stitzer, Atascadero, Calif.

A: Back in 1967, when Sonny and Cher were a singing duo they made a happy little film called Good Times. Her next film was in 1982, Come Back to the Five and Dime, Jimmy Dean, Jimmy Dean. Write to her c/o International Creative Management, 40 N. 57th St., New York, N.Y. 10019.

Cher

Q: Please settle a dispute. I say that Gone With the Wind, the original in 1939, was in black and white he says it was in color. Please tell us who's right, me or him? —Jason Trivilino, Ortonville, Mich.

A: Looks like "him" is right. At the time of its release in 1939 Gone With the Wind was hailed as a great advancement in the development of Technicolor. The widescreen version produced in the late '60s ruined its composition and color, but fortunately in preparation for the film's 50th anniversary, the Turner Entertainment Company outdid itself in restoring the film to its original color.

Q: My question is about a WWF wrestler, his name is Paul O'Rendarf. What has happened to him? I have heard he was dead. —Helen Winecoff, Riverside, Calif.

A: Sorry Helen, I really haven't too much information about the wrestlers. It takes all my time to keep up with the actors and actresses, series and movies and obituaries. I can give you an address that may help. World Wrestling Federation, 1055 Summer St., P.O. Box 3857, Stamford, Conn. 06905. They also have a fan club you could join.

Q: Did they take Highway to Heaven off the air? I watched it every Friday at 7 p.m. I read somewhere that Michael was in a movie I Was a Teenage Werewolf. Is that true? What is he doing now, does he have any children, when was he born? —M.L.M., Anchorage, Alaska.

A: Highway to Heaven is no longer in production, however, it is in syndication. You may not be aware that Michael Landon's co-star, Victor French, died of cancer on June 15, 1989. At the age of 21 Michael starred in the film, I Was a Teenage Werewolf, released in 1957. He is the father of nine children. His first two marriages produced four children (he adopted another three). He and his 32-year-old wife have added two more. He was born on Oct. 31, 1936, and is currently writing, producing and directing for television.

Jack Nicholson takes to cable in three quite different films

By Shelia Odak

This summer, moviegoers were able to see one of America's greatest actors take on the role of a cartoon character. I'm of course talking about Jack Nicholson and his unforgettable portrayal of the Joker in Batman. For fans of Nicholson who did not get their fill of him in that flick, Cinemax offers three of his more interesting films on Sunday, Oct. 22 and Monday, Oct. 23.

Jack Nicholson

Starting on Sunday, Nicholson will thrill and chill you in The Shining. This Stanley Kubrick adaptation of Stephen King's novel features Nicholson as a caretaker who is hired to look after an isolated old hotel during its off-season. He moves there with his family, and almost immediately starts to go crazy, and no one does crazy better than Nicholson.

Though this film wanders away from King's story a little, especially at the end, and tends to run a little long, Nicholson's overzealous performance makes it all worthwhile. His crazed caretaker provides laughs as well as screams as he terrorizes his family. He also brings new meaning to the Tonight Show phrase, "Here's Johnny."

Next on the agenda is Chinatown, which also airs Sunday. This 1974 Roman Polanski classic takes the tried-and-true genre of the 1930s detective film, and masterfully makes it seem fresh again.

As always in this type of movie, there's the private eye, played by Nicholson, and the dame in distress, played to pale and neurotic perfection by Faye Dunaway. The film itself depends on the unraveling of the plot, so that won't be revealed here. Half the fun of the film is taking the subtly dropped clues and piecing them together to figure out whodunnit.

For those who want more after seeing Chinatown, Nicholson is hard at work on that film's long-awaited sequel. This time he not only stars in, but also directs the movie.

Last, but certainly not least, Monday on Cinemax is The Witches of Eastwick. This is the role that Nicholson was born to play—the devil.

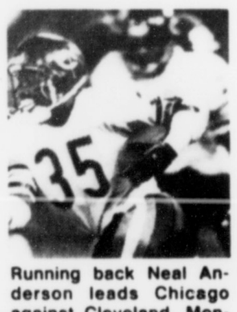

Three bored housewives, played by Cher, Susan Sarandon and Michelle Pfeiffer, in the small town of Eastwick wish for a man to fulfill their most wonderful fantasies and desires. Nicholson, in the form of the devil, is what they get. His devil is able to become exactly what each of the women want, but things don't turn out quite as well as they had hoped. As has often been said, watch what you wish for because it might come true.

So, Nicholson fans, be sure and turn on Cinemax or set your VCR this week so you can get your fill of him, until Jack comes back as another unforgettable character in his next big screen outing.

Michele Lee sees film through to its finish

Lee Horsley plays deceitful boyfriend

By Mary Ann Townsend

Lee Horsley steps out of the saddle to join modern times in the luminary-loaded movie Single Women, Married Men, Friday, Oct. 27, on CBS.

Horsley stars as Ross, a married man who conceals that fact from his girlfriend, a therapist played by Michele Lee. When she discovers his secret, her shock leads her to form a support group for other women who suddenly find out they are "the other woman."

Michele Lee is executive producer of the fact-based movie. She spent two and a half years interviewing the real-life therapist and the women who made up the group, as well as producing the film.

"She didn't really know who to talk to or who to go to because it's the kind of subject matter that people don't just go, 'Hi, Mom. Listen, I've got to tell you what's going on.'" Lee said of the real-life therapist. "So she decided that there were many women who needed help and needed to feel a safe place that they could really talk about their feelings and come to some kind of decision."

One of Lee's favorite jobs in completing the film was casting. Mary Frann, Julie Harris, Carrie Hamilton and Margaret Avery are among the clients. Alan Rachins plays her best friend, and Horsley is her deceitful boyfriend.

"Lee Horsley is my leading man and he was just incredible," Lee said of the star of Paradise. "He can shift from comedy to drama to a western. One of the reasons he was so thrilled to do the movie was that he could get out of his western duds and wear something from contemporary times," she quipped.

Michele Lee spellbound by magic of filmmaking

By Mary Ann Townsend

Michele Lee is caught up in the magic of television, whether she is in front of or behind the camera.

With her Knots Landing contract up for renewal, Lee has been spending an increasing amount of time behind the camera.

Lee, who stars on the Thursday night CBS prime-time soap as the strong, yet down-to-earth Karen MacKenzie, has been dabbling in developing, directing and producing television projects for the past several years.

She made her directorial debut with an episode of Knots Landing last season and plans to direct three more segments this the show's 11th season. Her producing talents can be seen in this week's made-for-TV movie Single Women, Married Men. In addition to pursuing the story about the support group for women who discover that their mates are married, the actress/singer had a hand in everything from casting to the music selection.

"The post-production is something that I thrive on," Lee said. "The post on anything is fabulous to me. I just love the magic of our business. What you can do at an editing machine. The first cut is the editor's cut, then the director gives you his cut, and then the producers have their cut from that," she explained. "I loved that process."

1950s produced classic films

By Steven Alan McGaw

When you mention the 1950s now, people probably think most readily of Elvis, poodle skirts and McCarthyism. The '50s also, however, produced some terrific films. Here are two of my favorites.

A Place in the Sun (1951)

Some critics say that George Stevens' classic filming of Theodore Dreiser's An American Tragedy seems dated now, but so what? There's nothing dated about Elizabeth Taylor's matchless beauty as a young woman and, sadly, we still have scoundrels of the type that Montgomery Clift's character ultimately turns out to be. Clift is a young man who finally breaks free of his impoverished background and domineering, religious fanatic mother. But more tragedy follows him when he is accused of murdering the naive, sweet natured girl he has been dating (Shelley Winters) to pursue the boss's carefree daughter (Taylor). This paves the way for a splendid performance by Raymond Burr as a fiery, righteous D.A. Be sure to catch this classic, a winner of six Oscars.

East Of Eden (1955)

Watch this film and realize again what a shame it was that James Dean only made three films. He was perfect as John Steinbeck's tortured young man who could never please his father, played by Raymond Massey. Julie Harris is luminous as the sweet girl who tries to calm and befriend Dean, and Jo Van Fleet won an Oscar as his booze-ridden mother who lives on the wrong side of town.

Music specials take viewers through four decades of tunes

By Justin Marshall

Paul Revere, Best of Classic Rock II

As the decade of the '80s nears an end, The Nashville Network looks back over the past four decades, from the '50s through stars of today, in a variety of specials in November.

Ronnie Milsap takes viewers on a sentimental journey through the '50s on Nov. 11 with Lost in the Fifties with Ronnie Milsap. The 60-minute special brings back all the memorable elements of a 1950s high school dance, complete with a typical setting for a dance in the '50s—a Nashville National Guard Armory.

Milsap performs a medley of classics from that decade such as "Blue Suede Shoes," "Johnny B. Goode," and "Whole Lot of Shakin' Going On." Also featured is an authentic teen idol of the period, Fabian, singing his signature song, "Turn Me Loose."

Moving on into the '60s and '70s, Wolfman Jack hosts Best of Classic Rock II, a concert special airing Nov. 6.

Paul Revere and the Raiders will entertain audiences with hits such as "Kicks" and "Good Thing." Little Anthony will perform "Cold As Ice," and Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons will sing "Big Girls Don't Cry" and "Sherry."

The '70s are represented when The Fifth Dimension does their hits "Aquarius" and "Up Up And Away;" Rare Earth sings "Hey Big Brother" and Shadows of Night performs "G-L-O-R-I-A."

Ricky Van Shelton is living proof of the American Dream, and represents artists of today. Two years ago he was laying pipe and singing in clubs in and around his hometown of Grit, Va. Today he is one of the hottest names in country music, nominated in four categories for the Country Music Association Awards.

TNN will document his success in a 60-minute special, Ricky Van Shelton: From Grit to Gold on Nov. 25.

The documentary follows Van Shelton on tour across the country with performance footage, fan interviews and a backstage look at his concerts. CBS recording artist Shelby Lynne joins Shelton's concert tour performing her new single, "The Hurtin' Side." The special also features visits with many of the people who encouraged Shelton to follow his dream of being a country music star.

Shelton's career has in two years produced a platinum album (Wild Eyed Dream), a gold album (Loving Proof) and five No. 1 hits. He has picked up awards as fast as he has No. 1 records. In 1988, he was presented newcomer awards from the TNN Viewer's Choice Awards, the Academy of Country Music, Music City News, and the Country Music Association. A year later, TNN viewers voted him "Favorite Male Vocalist," as well as awarded him for "Favorite Song" and "Favorite Video" at the 1989 TNN Viewers' Choice Awards.

THE ANNUAL SPRINGS FOLK FESTIVAL was held recently in Springs, Pa., and, despite wet and cool weather conditions, large crowds turned out to experience and observe arts, crafts, skills, food, and activities of days gone by. Pictured above and moving clockwise, two teams of huge Belgian horses were used to provide hay rides for youngsters and not so youngsters. A colonial lady carefully plucks fur from an English angora rabbit to be spun into yarn. A wooden rectangular box filled with cabbage heads is slid back and forth across a set of razor-like blades and the slicings fall into a wooden bucket, the first step in preparing sauerkraut the old-fashioned way. The same activity is captured in the old photo at the far right by renowned photographer, Leo Beachy (photo courtesy of Maxine Beachy Broadwater). Below, apple juice trickles into a collecting basin after being squeezed from crushed apples. The cider maker uses a wooden handle for increased leverage while manually pressing the apples contained in the slat bucket. Two young people converse with a pair of furry (or is that wooly?) friends. Hand-painted Pennsylvania Dutch hex signs were in abundance for viewing and for buying. Photos by Craig Speicher.

Former Congressman, Presidential Advisor To Address Church

Dr. Joseph L. Fisher will conduct a joint service with his wife, Margaret, at the Unitarian Universalist Fellowship of Greater Cumberland, 211 South Lee Street, this Sunday, October 22, at 10:45 a.m. Dr. Fisher's sermon echoes a common Unitarian Universalist theme in its title, "We Are What We Choose," and Mrs. Fisher, a poet and artist, will read from her poetry and address the youth of the church on "Making Choices."

Dr. Fisher was on the Council of Economic Advisors of both Presidents Truman and Eisenhower, and later elected to three terms in Congress (1974-80) from Virginia's Tenth District (Arlington, Fairfax, and Loudoun counties). He is presently Distinguished Visiting Professor of Political Economy at George Mason University in Fairfax, Va., and chairman of the Board at Meadville Lombard Theological School, an independent seminary on the campus of the University of Chicago. He has served in a number of metropolitan Washington leadership positions including chairmanship of both the METRO Transit Authority and the Washington Area Council of Governments.

Fisher's Ph.D. is in economics from Harvard University..

Mrs. Fisher has taught painting at the University of Virginia and the Northern Virginia Community College, and has received awards for her poetry from the New York Poetry Forum and the National League of American Penwomen. She has a master's degree in education from the George Washington University.

The Sunday service at the Fellowship Hall will feature a separate program for youth. Infant and toddler care will be available and parking is provided at the rear of the Hall. There will be refreshments and opportunities for conversation with the Fishers after the service. The public is invited. For further information about the service or the Fellowship, persons may call (301) 777-5087 or (304) 298-3917.

FSU Jazz Group To Present Concert Friday Evening

The Frostburg State University Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of Thomas Harrison, will perform in concert this Friday, October 20, at 8 p.m. in the University's Compton Auditorium.

The Ensemble's Repertoire for this season includes some big band favorites with County Basie's medley of "April In Paris," Molten Swing," "Li'L Darlin," "Shiny Stockings," and "One O'clock Jump." From the same genre is Duke Ellington's and Johnny Hodge's "The Jeep is Jumpin'."

Mark Taylor's arrangement of "Gold Mine," originally sung by the a capella group "Take Six," and of Bobby Timmons' "Dat Dere" are modern swing tunes. Mike Baron's "Peachy" is a ballad in a laid-back swing style.

In the Latin vein the Bossa Nova "Midnight Sun" and the up-tempo samba "Juan of These Days" are from the pens of two top arrangers, Frank Mantooth and Les Hooper.

"Computer," from the "Incredible Journey" album by band leader/sax man Bob Mintzer is in a rock and funk style, but with jazz elements, written especially for the modern big band.

The members of the FSU jazz ensemble are Kelly Cassell, Janet Holt, Kelly King, Betty Slick, David Clemons, Chris Jones, Harold McClay III, Tim Stakem, Rich McFetridge, Niko Iampieri, Chris Zembower, Brian Bowers, Stephen Sell, Tracey Grapes, Michael DeGarmo, Kim Cassell, Edward Hoffman, Edgar Kegg, Tom Collier, Dave Fairbank, and Jamie Understein.

The concert is open to the public and admission is free. For more information, persons may call the Frostburg State Universtiy department of music at 689-4109.

Unclaimed Funds Owners Sought By Comptroller

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says you may be one of 6,740 people who are due uncollected insurance benefits or unclaimed funds worth more than $1.7 million. "We're trying to reach these individuals through newspaper ads which will be appearing throughout Maryland over the next two weeks," Goldstein said.

Ads carrying 10 of those names will run in The Republican this week and next week.

The comprtoller noted that approximately $1.7 million in insurance benefits is waiting to be claimed by the individuals being sought or their legitimate heirs. "The unclaimed insurance benefits often result from matured endowment policies taken out on children while they were young," he said. "Sometimes, the payments are not kept up, but the policy still has a cash value that may be claimed."

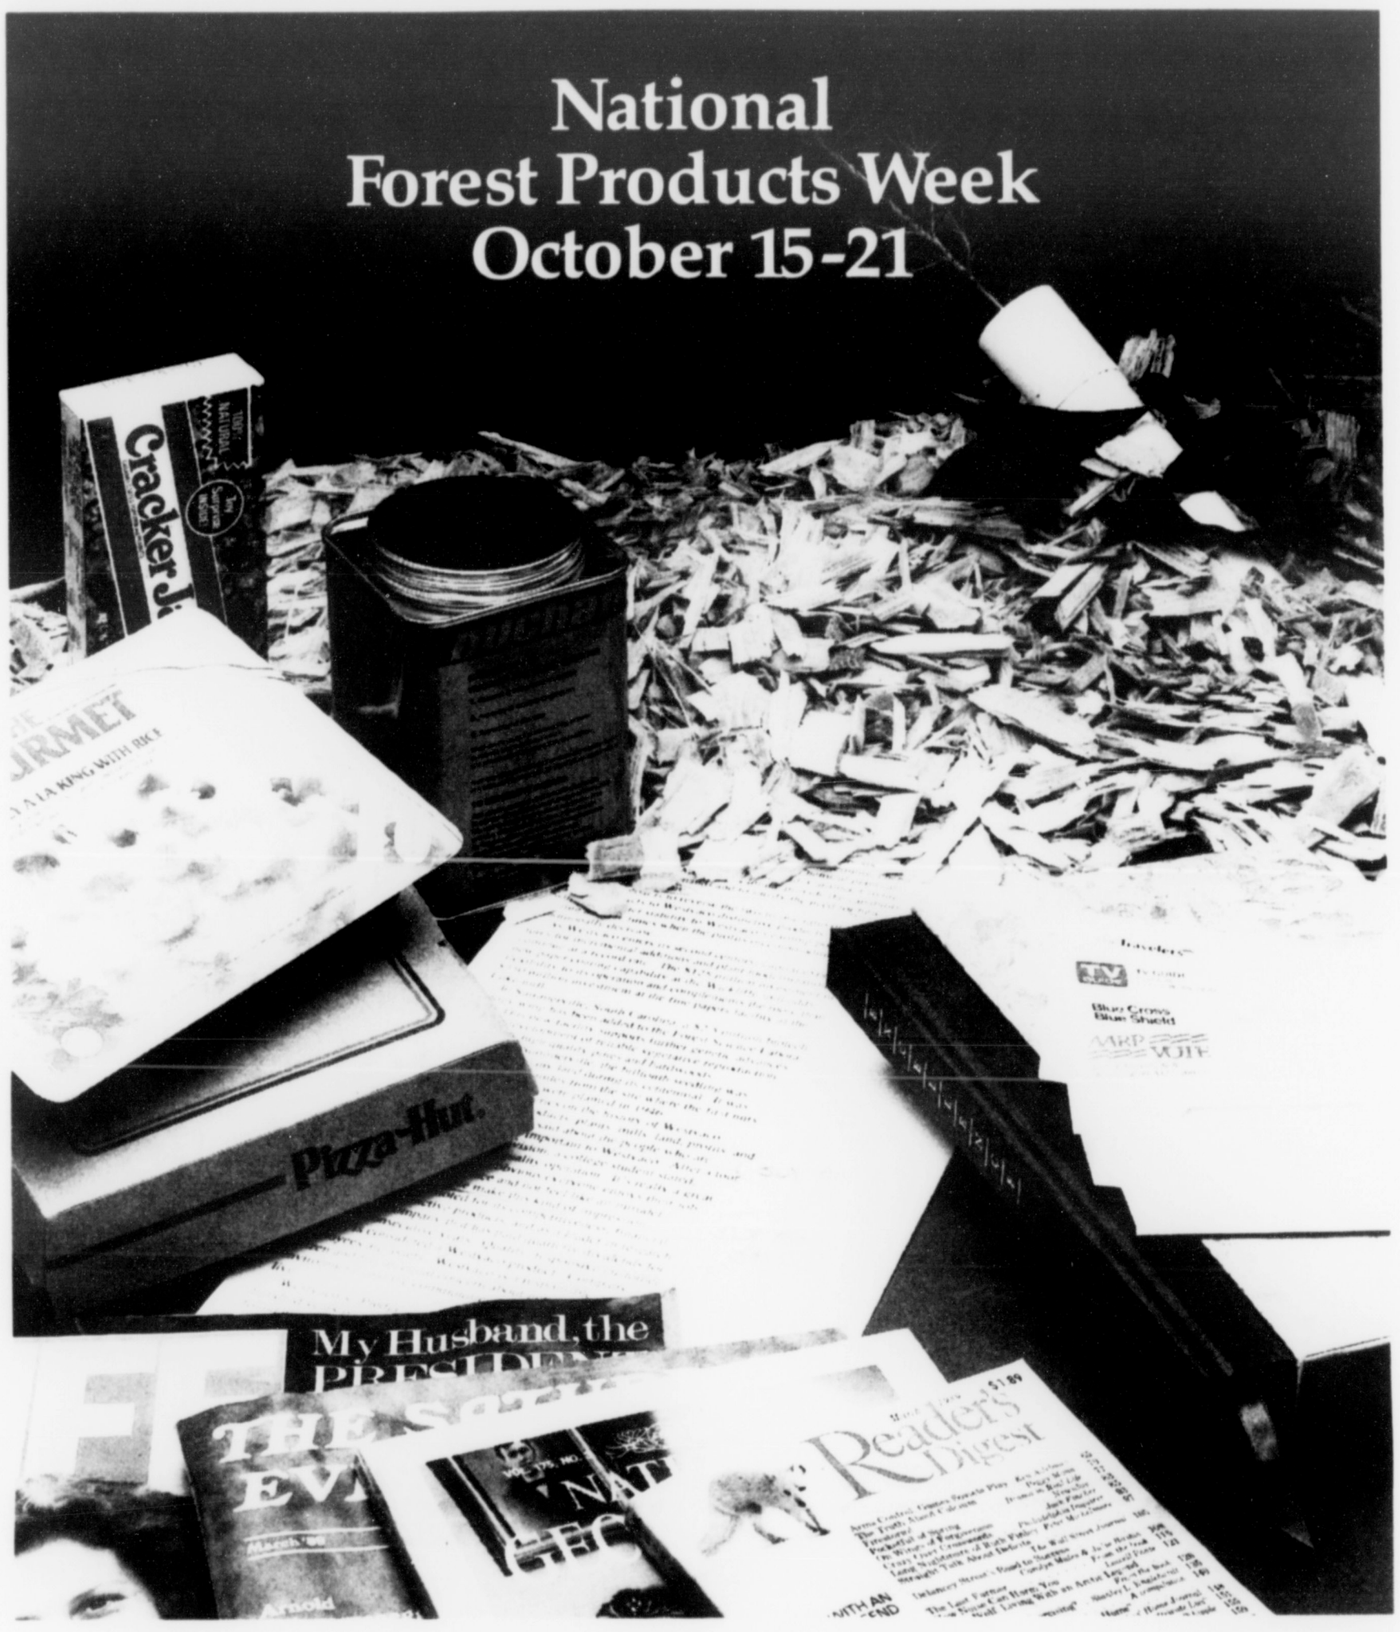

Financial institutions and insurance companies and other companies are required to report unclaimed funds to the State Comptroller's Office if they remain unclaimed for five years. "We advertise the names of the apparent rightful owners in the county of last known address," Goldstein said. "However, Maryland's law is custodial, meaning that there is no time limit under which the property or its monetary equivalent may be claimed."

The comptroller also noted that his office is also sending notices by mail to those individuals for whom a complete address is available. "The next two weeks are a good time to keep an eye on your mailbox and on the ad pages of the newspaper," he said.

If you don't think you have a personal stake in the future of America's forests. . . . look at the picture again!

All of the paper, packaging and chemicals shown in the picture are made from trees.

FACT:
The average American uses more than 600 pounds of paper products annually. Those products range from greeting cards and envelopes to food packaging and newspapers.

FACT:
It takes more than 12,000 board feet of lumber and up to 9,500 square feet of panel products to build a 2,000 square foot single-family home.

FACT:
Products as diverse as television cabinets, photographic film and rayon garments contain wood products.

FACT:
U.S. consumption of paper products has risen 800 percent since the start of this century and may double between now and the year 2030. Yet because of sound forest management the growth of our forests still exceeds the demand.

Managing the Future of America's Forests

GCC Names Director Of Technology

An engineer experienced in hydrologic and environmental resource technology has been named Director of Technology at Garrett Community College. Jim Allen, a native of West Virginia who grew up in the Philadelphia area, comes to the college with varied work experience.

Allen, pictured above, has worked with the Nuclear Power Division of Bechtel Corporation in New Jersey, with a consulting engineering firm in water resources at Riverdale, Md., with the Soil Conservation Service in Ripley, W.Va., and on various environmental assessment projects. He holds a B.S. degree in agricultural engineering from the University of Delaware, and an M.S. in environmental and resource engineering from the State University of New York at Syracuse.

During his graduate study at Syracuse, Allen taught engineering hydrology and water resources technology as assistant professor of forestry engineering. He also had a research appointment to develop a hydrologic model for the systems of dams and reservoirs that control the flow of the Hudson River.

Following a year of study at the Reformed Episcopal Seminary in Philadelphia where he prepared for missionary work, he and his family moved to Nepal. There he worked on small hydro-electric projects in the capital city of Cathmandu, and on village drinking water and irrigation systems in rural areas. He became assistant director of a rural development center, a job for which he had to do a great deal of walking because there was no transportation available.

One of his memorable experiences was an eight-day trek up to the base camp of Annapurna, an elevation of about 14,000 feet. From his home he could see the 26,000-foot-high summit of Annapurna. After three years as an administrator with the United Mission in Nepal, he and his wife and four-year old daughter returned to the United States where he says it was interesting to see his daughter's reactions to American stores.

Allen views his position at Garrett as one with great potential because the level of technology today demands that a student have post-secondary training. "I want to develop technology programs appropriate for Garrett County," he says. "There is a great deal of research to be done to determine the particular needs of the county. This will require careful assessment and planning."

Allen, his wife, daughter, and six-month old son now live in Grantsville, where he finds some similarities between Garrett County and Nepal, in that both are rural areas where tourism is a major industry. Lovers of winter sports, they are looking forward to the four distinct seasons in Garrett County.

Video Conference On Drug-Free Workplace Slated

The Allegany Community College Center for Continuing Education, in cooperation with the Regional Education Services Agency (RESA), will serve as a receive site for a national closed-circuit video conference "Complying With The Drug Free Workplace Act," Tuesday, October 24, from 12:45 to 4 p.m.

According to a RESA spokesman, the Drug Free Workplace Act will affect thousands of universities, businesses, organizations, individuals and other entities that receive contracts of $25,000 or more from the federal government. "For federal grantees, the Drug Free Workplace Act compliance begins with the first grant dollar," the spokesman said. "Even though final regulations are only now being published, compliance has been required since the law was passed!"

If a contractor or grantee fails to comply with the law's informational, certification and reporting requirements, the ramifications are serious, such as the loss or suspension of grants or contracts, and an end to future eligibility.

This teleconference and the accompanying on-site discussion following it will explain what the new law means. Who must comply? What steps must be taken to comply? What about drug testing? Who pays for compliance with this Act? How do the Act and employee assistance plans impact one another? Are there differences in compliance procedures for contractors, subcontractors, and grantees? Sensitive and non-sensitive positions? These questions and others will be addressed by federal officials and industry experts.

Each participant will receive "Drug Free Workplace Act Resource Material" compiled especially for this video conference which includes critical legislative texts, articles, sample policy documents, a bibliography, and references.

Those interested in taking part in this video conference should contact the Center for Codntinuing Education at (301) 724-7700, extensions 278 or 121, to assure adequate course materials.

It is said that the musical juke box gets its name from a west African word drug meaning "to behave improperly."

Study Shows Most Fire Deaths Could Have Been Avoided

House fires are the leading cause of injury, death among Maryland children under the age of 14, according to a study by the Johns Hopkins Injury Prevention Center. The study, conducted between 1980 and 1985, identified 163 deaths in house fires which in most cases could have been easily prevented.

"Most of the fires where we have fatalities are caused by careless smoking, children playing with matches or cooking and heating," said Captain Patrick Flynn of the Baltimore Fire Department.

Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service radio broadcast, Captain Flynn said most fire deaths can be avoided. "What we are talking about is carelessness," Captain Flynn added.

The International Association of Fire Chiefs and the American Burn Association are sponsoring a home fire safety program entitled, "Change Your Clock, Change Your Battery." The campaign encourages Marylanders to check and change the batteries in their smoke detectors and flashlights during the weekend of October 27-29, 1989, when the time change from daylight saving to standard time occurs.

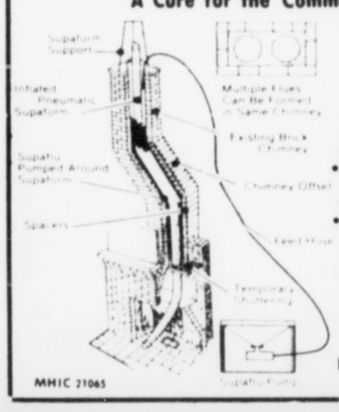

"Most fire fatalities are caused by smoke inhalation," stated Captain Flynn. The Baltimore Fire Department is joining Maryland fire officials in the promotion of the use of smoke detectors. The promotion is timed to coincide with National Fire Prevention Week during the second week of October.

"We want people to practice it throughout the year," said Captain Flynn.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia. The program is supported by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the Maryland Department of Transportation.

New Program For Handicapped Students Noted

State School Superintendent Joseph L. Shilling announced last week a Special Education Mediation Service to help schools and parents resolve disputes about educational services for handicapped students.

The program will give school systems and parents a new voluntary method for coming to agreement about the most appropriate placement of handicapped students. Mediation is designed as an alternative to due process hearings, which are expensive and often result in an adversarial relationship between parents and school personnel.

Dr. Shilling said "the mediation process will enable parents and school systems to settle disputes in a reasonable way and in an atmosphere of cooperation that serves the best interests of the child and the school."

VISITING STUDENTS talk with Lawrence Nesselrodt of Garrett Community College at the recent Mt. Top Career Exposition held in the college gym. Forty-three colleges and service academies were represented at this event and there was a large attendance of local students and their parents. In addition to the displays in the gym, two seminars were given for high school students and their parents — one on planning for college and one on financial aid.

Under the new program, when parents and the school system agree to mediation, a trained, impartial mediator brings the parents and school system representatives together in a mediation session to help them arrive at a mutually agreeable solution. The mediator has no authority to force a decision but serves only to facilitate understanding and agreement.

If the mediation session is successful, it ends with an agreement signed by the school system representative and the parents. If it is not successful, the parties may choose to request a formal due process hearing to resolve the dispute.

Information about special education mediation is available from the Division of Special Education in the State Department of Education (301) 333-2451 or from Jean Hebeler, mediation administrator (301) 454-6977.

FAMILY TRAFFIC JAM?

What if you chose to purchase a home because you fell in love with it? What if, the day after you moved in, you noticed that the nearest grocery store was twelve miles away, the nearest school was halfway up a mountain, and 325 small children tramped through your yard each day on the way up the mountain to school?

Would it occur to you that you should have taken time to notice the traffic patterns around the outside of the home before buying it? Would it surprise you to know there are also traffic patterns inside your home?

Of course there are. Take your present home, for example. Imagine that each member of your family has bright yellow wet paint on the bottom of their shoes for just twenty-four hours. Imagine the trail they would leave on your floors as they pursue their regular activities for just one day. That trail would be like a "family traffic pattern." And, it would be a good indication of the room arrangement a new home should have to best suit your family's needs.

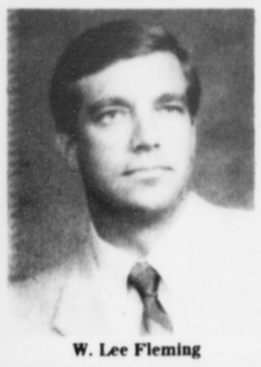

Determine the most suitable door, hallway, and bedroom locations in order to provide an easy flow of traffic through your home. If you like to entertain, check out the potential traffic from kitchen and dining to living, family and recreation rooms. Thinking ahead can be the key to "easy living."

If you need information to help you solve a real estate puzzle, call us at 387-5303. We'll be happy to share our knowledge with you at no cost or obligation.

Q&a

A Few Common Questions . . . A Few Honest Answers!!!

Any person considering hearing aid purchase must learn the meaning of some phrases found in advertisements. Here are some questions asked by people who come to our office.

"Automatic Volume Control" — Usually means a screw set volume control that is changeable only with a small screwdriver. It can be set by the wearer but is usually done by the dis penser. The hearing aid is not quickly adjustable for different listening environments but may be helpful for persons with dexterity problems. If you are a candidate for a hearing aid with screw set volume control, our Audiologist will help you make the right selection.

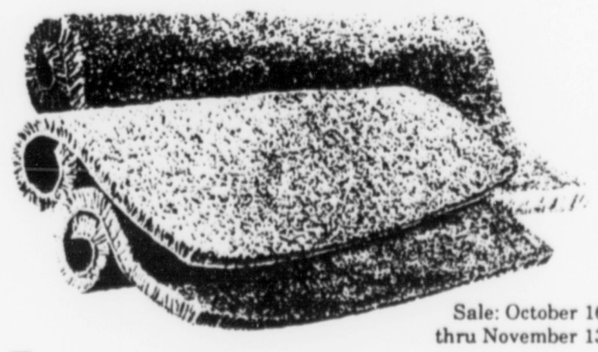

The Audiologists at Allegany Hearing & Speech Associates will give you honest answers to your questions about hearing and hearing aids.

Garrett/Allegany FB Directors Hold Annual Legislative Meeting

Farm Bureau directors from Garrett and Allegany counties, along with their spouses and special guests, met last month at the Bittinger Community Center for their annual legislative dinner and meeting. The goal of the meeting is to update directors on past legislative issues, look ahead to the next legislative session, and encourage feedback from the directors to legislative representatives and Farm Bureau lobbyists on issues that need attention.

Garrett County Farm Bureau President William DeWitt introduced the guests attending, who were: District I State Senator John N. Bambacus, Allegany County Commissioner Arthur Bond, Maryland Farm Bureau State Affairs Director Jack Miller, Maryland Farm Bureau National Affairs Director Norman Astle, Charter Farm Bureau Member and Garrett Community College Board Member Wayne B. Hamilton, Garrett County Farm Queen Rebecca DeBerry, Garrett County Extension Agent Jim Simms, and Allegany County Extension Agent Karen Holloway.

Sen. Bambacus led the discussion by saying that the past year was a "tough year." He mentioned the wetlands bill and stated that a partial exemption had been granted for agriculture and woodlands. He reviewed the veal bill, indicating that through the efforts of veal growers from Garrett County, the bill was stopped. Of the 28 veal growers in Maryland, 20 of them are located in Garrett County. Many of them traveled by bus to Annapolis last spring to testify against the bill supported by animal rights activists. The senator said that testimony indicated that most of those in favor of the bill were vegetarians who had never been on a farm.

Speaking of the legislative committee he serves on, the Senate Economic and Environmental Affairs Committee, Sen. Bambacus said he will continue to try to bring committee members to farms and rural areas. Earlier this fall, they visited the county and toured a veal operation, a dairy farm and a timber operation. The senator said he felt they came away with a better understanding of what is involved, and that these operations are, indeed, family farms not factory farms.

Bambacus told the group that farmers are the new target for environmental groups. "Maryland," he said, "is one of the most environmentally sensitive states, and rightfully so. We must keep our guard up." He advised the farmers to "do the best you can. Don't give them a reason to attack."

He added that the non-tidal wetlands issue is not over. He related that between the non-tidal wetlands and the critical areas bills, areas of Maryland's Eastern Shore are virtually out of the farming business. He warned that Garrett County probably has one of the highest, if not the highest, percentage of non-tidal wetlands in the state.

The next speaker was Farm Bureau's National Affairs Director Norman Astle. Astle said that there is a lot of dedicated staff in Washington, but they are not rural and when explaining is sure, "we must start from the very beginning."

Astle touched on a number of legislative issues, such as the repeal of the diesel fuel tax.

He discussed the capital gains proposal, which enables taxpayers to exclude from income 30 percent of capital gains from asset sales held longer than one year covering the period from September 14, 1989, to December 31, 1991. This will help family farmers all over the country who have owned farms for many years and wish to sell the farm and retire. But because of inflation, their land has increased in value and many cannot afford to retire after paying the high capital gains taxes from the sale. This is out of the House Budget and Rules Committee and a two-year version passed the House by a 239-190 vote. Support for a capital gains plan does not look promising in the Senate.

Good news to farmers and other self-employed people is the House Ways and Means Committee's approval of the 25 percent tax deduction for health insurance premiums of self-employed taxpayers.

Astle explained the Farm Animal and Research Protection Act. This act would make it a criminal offense for anyone to go on a farm or into a research lab and release animals. It puts more teeth into the trespass law, Astle said.

Next year, he said, the biggest issue will be the 1990 farm bill, which will contain modification of CRP, sodbuster and swampbuster acts.

In speaking of crop insurance, he said that as long as there are disaster aid programs each year, farmers will be hesitant to buy crop insurance.

Astle said the question of food safety is going to be continuous and is not going to leave us, "although food is safer here than in any other country in the world."

State Affairs Director Jack Miller reversed a minute to bring up the veal bill again. He said that Senator John Bambacus was the "leading force in killing the bill for us, and we appreciate his help."

He also spoke about non-tidal wetlands. He said the state bill refers to the federal manual to define wetlands. This is "a pig in a poke," he said. This, he added, could cause potential problems because farm wetlands converted 50 to 100 years ago are still considered wetlands under the law. He said he has read the federal manual and thinks there is an "out" which must be worked toward at both the state and federal levels.

Miller stated that a bill to ban Furadan had been defeated.

A bill which passed last session was District I-A Delegate George Edwards' "blazing bill." This would allow paint marks on trees to replace no trespassing signs. Miller said no regulations have been developed as yet.

Miller also related that ag preservation easement offers will now be done twice a year instead of once.

In referring to the bill which passed Class II, or Grade B, milk producer inspections, Miller said the Department of Agriculture has been to some farms. "There are 117 or so Grade B producers in Maryland," Miller said. "On five or so farms they've found no refrigeration, only spring houses in use. This has been the only problem so far. They will be back in the area to talk with people. They will not be unjust," he added.

Commercial drivers' licenses was another topic Miller touched on. He says there is a strong program in Maryland which will become stronger yet. Miller says that the preventitive maintenance program for trucks will include such things as brakes and steering, but he hopes it will be tolerant of rust and cosmetic things.

A bill last session which would offer compensation for black bear damage did not pass. Miller said the Department of Natural Resources indicated they are working with individuals having problems, and are thinking of scheduling a hunting season.

An annual occurence is when Miller looks into his "crystal ball" to see what the state legislature will be involved in next session. This year he sees the environment the number one issue. "This is ironic," he said. "Farmers were the first environmentalists, they must be to be cost effective." He expects to see more efforts to restrict the use of pesticides.

The second most likely issue he sees will be a nutrient management plan for manure used on land.

The third will be the development of regulations for non-tidal wetlands. "We must work to keep agriculture exempt," he said.

Fourth is animal care and welfare. "I don't think it's

New Regional Company Formed By Farm Bureau

Maryland Farm Bureau Service Company has joined forces with 11 other states to form a regional group purchasing program. The Multi-State Farmers' Service Company, Inc., was officially formed October 4.

The move was made after the American Farm Bureau Federation announced that its affiliate, the American Farm Bureau Service Company, would cease operation January 1, 1990.

According to AFBF President Dean Kleckner, the company is closing due to dwindling sales over the past seven years — particularly passenger and truck tires.

Bill Clem, MFB Services Company manager, believes the new regional group will be even better for Farm Bureau members.

"The company is owned and operated only by those state Farm Bureaus that have the program," he said. The board of directors for the new company is made up of the 12 presidents from participating states, including MFB President Robert E. Wilson. Headquarters will be at the North Carolina Farm Bureau Office in Raleigh, N.C.

Members will see no noticeable change in the Safemark program, according to Clem. "All product lines will remain the same and contacts with all our suppliers have been positive and supportive," he said.

The Maryland Farm Bureau Service Company began in the mid-sixties to provide a group purchase program of farm tires and batteries. The highly successful program has grown and expanded to include other items such as roller chain, steel products and twine.

I Guess We All Change!

by Bernice Kepple

The smell was nauseating. As I entered the celler of our old farm house it turned my stomach and I held my nose. The smell that made me so sick was coming from a big electric roaster that Grandma was stirring with a large wooden spoon. Cooking in the roaster was the product of our work that morning and the day before — green tomato relish.

I've never known why the smell of the relish cooking nauseated me so when I was in my early teens. I enjoyed helping to clean and grind the vegetables, but when the spices were added and it all started to cook, my stomach started to jump.

Grandma's recipe was not a fancy one, but like everything else Grandma did, it was practical. It used vegetables left in the garden at the end of the summer — green tomatoes that would never ripen before the first frost, green peppers and, for color, the more mature red peppers, cabbage, and onions — and none of them had to be perfect specimens because they would all be ground up.

The grinding was done then the same as I do it now, with a heavy, retinned metal food chopper, or "a foud mill" as Grandma pronounced it. The food was put in the top, and the handle was turned forcing the food through the forged steel knives or cutters. In my replica of the "1908 Sears and Roebuck Catalogue," a similar model sold for 89 cents.

My food mill was a gift from my husband's grandmother. It wasn't exactly given as a gift. She just thoughtfully gave me something she could see I needed that she didn't use any more. And I sure have used it through the years. Made of heavy cast metal, my food mill is a "Universal" brand. Forged on the handle are several patent dates, the last being May 15, 1900. The food mill was probably purchased by the family around that time, and passed down and used ever since.

No, I've never figured out why making relish sickened me so when I was young. I've made it ever since I've been married and I love it. The green tomatoes crack and crunch as they go through the food mill making a ground pulp that's the most beautiful color. The red peppers are lovely added to the mixture, and the onions and spices smell wonderful to me today. I guess we all change!

This relish is wonderful on hamburgers, better yet on hot dogs, and nothing I've ever bought tastes better in deviled eggs. I'd like to share Grandma's recipe with you. If you like it, please let me know.

Grandma Walters' Green Tomato Relish

1/2 cup salt
Mix and let stand over night.

In the morning add:

2 Tb. whole cloves

Cook until onions are soft and can. Makes 26 pints.

Richardson received his undergraduate degree in political science from Lynchburg College in Virginia and a master's degree in agricultural economics from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg, Virginia.

He has been an instructor of political economics and an international economist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service.

In 1980, Richardson and his brother purchased the family farm from his father. They ran a 100-herd dairy operation until the dairy termination program when they ceased dairy production. The farm is now a cash-grain and beef operation.

Richardson was a member of the 1983 Rotary International Group Study Exchange Team to Japan.

In 1987, Richardson was appointed by Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng as the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service State Executive Director for Maryland. He is currently serving in the position.

Richardson served as a member of the Harford County Board of Library Trustees from 1983 to 1988. He has been active in other civic activities.

He continues to live on his farm in Harford County and plans to be married in December 1989.

August Milk Production Down

Milk production in the 21 major states during August totaled 10.1 billion pounds, two percent below production in these same states in August 1988. July revised production, at 10.3 billion pounds, was two percent below July 1988.

Production per cow in the 21 major states averaged 1,190 pounds for August, six pounds below August 1988. The number of cows on farms in the 21 major states was 8.49 milion head, 103,000 head below August 1988 and 4,000 head below July 1989.

During the April-June period the 21 major states produced 32.3 billion pounds of milk, 85.1 percent of the U.S. production. If producers in the remaining 29 states not surveyed monthly followed the same pattern as the 21 states, the U.S. production would be 11.9 billion pounds for August 1989.

USDA Announces Target Prices And Loan Rates

William F. DeWitt, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee, said the 1990 Feed Grain Program contains lower target prices and loan rates than the 1989 program. Target prices for corn, sorghum, barley and oats will be about three percent lower and price support loan rates for these crops will be down five percent.

"A 10 percent acreage reduction requirement is in effect for 1990 corn, grain sorghum and barley," said DeWitt, "and a five percent reduction for oats, the same as in 1989."

Feed grain producers who comply with program provisions will be eligible for target prices per bushel at $2.75 for corn, $2.61 for sorghum, $2.36 for barley and $1.45 for oats. Program participants will be eligible for national average price support loans at $1.57 for corn, $1.49 for sorghum, $1.28 for barley, $.81 for oats and $1.33 for rye.

DeWitt said barley and oats bases will be split for the 1990 crop to increase the harvested acreage of oats.

"Except for oats, feed grains will be subject to limited cross compliance provisions," he said. Under cross compliance, the acres planted for harvest on a farm may not exceed the crop acreage bases to be eligible for program benefits. The program does not contain land diversion or marketing loan provisions.

As in 1989, the 1990 Feed Grain Program prohibits the production of none program crops on land idled to meet acreage reduction requirements.

The ASCS official said program participants will not be allowed to upwardly adjust any crop acreage base with a corresponding downward adjustment in other crop acreage bases on the farm. However, adjustments in crop acreage bases on a farm will be

Major Processing Vegetable Production Jumps 32 Percent

Processors report expected U.S. production of the four major processed vegetable crops at 13.9 million tons, a gain of nearly one-third from last year and 22 percent above 1987. Increased acreage contracts and favorable weather factors are in contrast with last year's drought demand crops. Harvest is expected from 1.36 million acres under contract covering snap beans, sweet corn, green peas, and tomatoes.

Production of sweet corn for processing is forecast at 3.00 million tons, up 24 percent from last year and five percent above two years ago. Area for harvest, at 479 thousand acres, is up eight percent from last year and 14 percent above 1987. Production forecasts are above a year ago in nearly all major producing states. East coast had enough rain this year to delay planting and slow development, but quality is excellent.

Production of tomatoes for processing is forecast at 9.63 million tons, up 32 percent from last year and 28 percent above 1987. Contract acreage, at 316 thousand acres, is up 18 percent and the average yield of 30.4 tons per acre is up 13 percent from last year. California processors expect to harvest 8.70 million tons, up 35 percent from last year. Other major states with increases are Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Pennsylvania, Colorado, Delaware, Maryland and New York totals are down.

AVAILABILITY OF ASBESTOS MANAGEMENT PLANS AND NOTIFICATION OF ASBESTOS RESPONSE ACTIONS

In October 1986, the U.S. Congress enacted the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA). Under this law, comprehensive regulations were developed to address asbestos problems in public and private elementary and secondary schools. These regulations require most schools to inspect for friable and nonfriable asbestos, develop asbestos management plans that address asbestos hazards in school buildings and implement response actions in a timely manner.

These regulations assign schools many new responsibilities. Our program for fulfilling these responsibilities is outlined in our asbestos management plans. These plans contain information on our inspections, reinspections, response actions and post-response activities, including periodic reinspections and surveillance activities that are planned or are in progress.

You can review these plans at our administrative office, Garrett County Board of Education, 40 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, during normal business hours. Each school will have their individual plans available for review within five (5) working days of receiving a request for inspection.

The following response actions were conducted during the past year:

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Bloomington Elemenary School from August 1, 1989, to August 8, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels, above ceiling tiles and in the boiler room. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Dennett Road Elementary School from August 21, 1989, to August 23, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from two closets in between bathrooms on the main hallway. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Kitzmiller Elementary School from July 24, 1989, to August 1, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels and the multipurpose room. In addition, the boiler gasket in the boiler room was removed. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Red House Elementary School from August 24, 1989, to August 25, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the boiler room. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Southern High School from August 3, 1989, to August 25, 1989. Asbestos containing pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels, the boys' locker room and the bathrooms in the gymnasium lobby. In addition, asbestos containing plaster was removed from the special education classroom. Riteway Services, Inc., Cumberland, Maryland, and Brico Environmental, Inc., Baltimore, Maryland, were contracted to conduct the removal.

An asbestos removal project was conducted at Route 40 Elementary School from August 25, 1989, to August 26, 1989. An asbestos containing hot water jacket was removed from the boiler room and pipe insulation was removed from the crawl space pipe tunnels. Brico Environmental, Inc., Baltimore, Maryland, was contracted to conduct the removal.

Throughout the course of these removal projects, industrial hygienists from Briggs Associates, Inc., Columbia, Maryland, monitored the projects to ensure compliance with all Federal and State regulations.

New Posting Law Eases Landowners' Burden

Posting of private lands against trespassing has been a sore point for many landowners. Up until now, in order to arrest someone for trespassing, the land must be posted with signs at intervals that can be seen by approaching persons. This becomes an expensive and time consuming process for landowners to maintain these signs since many are destroyed or damaged by trespassers. A new law passed by the legislature will make posting much easier and cheaper for landowners by allowing them to use vertical strips of dark blue paint in place of signs. Article 27, Section 576-576A says the paint marks must be at least 2-inches in width and 8-inches in length, and centered at least 3-feet, but no more than 6-feet from the ground or water surface. The marks should be visible to any person with normal eyesight who approaches the property. Although the distance between signs is not stated, the Department of Natural Resource Police recommend that if you stand in front of one mark, the observer should be able to see the paint marks off to each side. This means the distance between signs will vary depending on terrain, vegetation, and a number of factors. The paint used must be an oil-based blue paint. Although the shade is not stated, dark blue paint used for property line blazes would be a good choice.

This law is now in effect. As with any new law, it may be difficult to get the courts to assess maximum penalties for a few months. However, this law is a breakthrough for landowners who do wish to post their lands. Maintenance will only consist of walking your boundaries and redoing the dark blue marks with a brush or roller. For more information, please call the Department of Natural Resources Police. The number for them is found inside the front cover of your phone book.

Pricing Corn Silage

I have had a lot calls concerning the pricing of corn silage. There is a good and simple way to determine the price of corn silage in the field. Multiply the current price per bushel of 15.5% moisture No. 2 shelled corn by 6 which equals value of corn silage per ton. Example: $2.70/bu of shelled corn X 6 = $16.20 per ton. The costs of chopping, hauling and filling the silo ranges from $1.50 to $4.50 per ton. I also have a chart in my office for conversion of dry shelled corn price to high moisture shelled corn and high moisture ear corn. You may call my office for the price or a copy of the chart.

over," he said. "Three fairs had problems with picketers this year, Montgomery, Frederick and the State Fair. We are in the process of developing guidelines for animal care to show and educate the public and legislators."

Another major issue Miller sees will be ag land preservation/open space. "The problem is in the urban areas. It's not working."

Points Miller sees that need investigation are: a need to get a better handle on the value appraisal process. "It has not been a good one." The Board of Public Works and urban counties must realize the value of these easements. Growth management must be studied, he said. "Where will the state be in 2020? I think we'll be looking at some sort of state land plan. Farm Bureau believes in personal property rights."

In a question and answer period, Director Delmar Yoder asked about animal care and food safety. "What can farmers do to educate consumers?" Miller answered, "Show them. There are so many misconceptions. We might have to change some terminology. I personally think some guidelines are needed, we can't put our heads in the sand and think it will go away."

Senator Bambacus advised Yoder and the others to "get to the policy makers. They're the ones you have to get to."

In answer to another discussion about gypsy moths, the senator said that Garrett County is a "hotbed" of gypsy moth infestation. "You must keep pressure on the secretary" (DNR Secretary Torrey Brown), he said.

Garrett County Extension Agent Jim Simms said that his office would like to introduce integrated pest management (IPM) to farmers in the area this year.

Commissioner Bond gave a short summary and concluded that "it's obvious to me that no matter what kind of life farming offers, it's stressful."

The evening ended by Delmar Yoder reporting on his attendance at the National Cattleman's Association's three days of intensive training on animal rights. "We must get on the offense instead of the defense," he said.

Church To Note 200th Anniversary

St. John's Lutheran Church, Salisbury, Pa., will celebrate the Bicentennial of the organization of the congregation with special events October 21-22.

A catered congregational dinner will be served in the Parish Hall on Saturday, October 21, at 6:30 p.m. A program featuring the Sand Spring Blue Grass will follow the meal. Invitations have been sent.

On Sunday, October 22, at 10 a.m., the Anniversary Service will be celebrated at St. John's. The Reverend Dr. Gerald E. Miller, bishop of The Allegheny Snyod, Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, will preach. The Reverend David E. Fetter, pastor, will be the celebrant of The Holy Eucharist.

A newly constructed bell tower/bulletin board erected as a part of the Bicentennial observance will be blessed following the Eucharist.

A catered buffet dinner for members and especially invited guests will be held at the Salisbury Fire Hall after the service.

The Mountain Top Brass Quartet and St. John's Quartet will be featured during the after-dinner program. Robert C. Durst, general chairman of the Bicentennial Committee, will serve as master of ceremonies for both the Saturday and Sunday programs.

A history of St. John's has been written for this occasion by members of the church and will be made available on a limited basis.

The Reverend J.W. Litzel ministered to the German Lutheran pioneers in the 1770's in Salisbury.

Records of the Lutheran Church indicate that St. John's Church was organized by its first pastor, the Reverend John Michael Steck, in 1789.

Local Student At Baltimore's Culinary College

Baltimore's International Culinary Coll.ege is a private hospitality college that offers accelerated programs, enabling students to earn an associate of arts degree and enter the job market in as few as 12 months. The College is accredited by the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools (NATTS). The College's culinary programs are also accredited by the American Culinary Federation Educational Institute (ACFEI). In September 1989, the College was granted the Status of Candidate of Accreditation by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education.

Remember Safety On Halloween Night

Pumpkins. Ghosts. Goblins and scary costumes.

All used in the true spirit of Halloween—A favorite time for kids.

Before you send them out for a night of Trick-Or-Treating, remember a few safety tips.

Make sure facial masks allow clear vision, and plenty of breathing room. Also, a flashlight and plenty of reflective tape on their clothing ensures they'll be easily seen.

Only allow treats that are manufacturer-sealed to be eaten. Should you notice a piece of candy that's been tampered with, dispose of it immediately.

Finally, be alert as to how much candy your kids eat. Don't let them eat all their goodies in the first few days.

Following these ideas will make a fun Halloween a safe Halloween.

Lonaconing Youth Arrested After Sunday Shooting

A 16-year-old Lonaconing male fired a shot into an apartment that was occupied by seven people at the time of the incident on Sunday, according to Chief Deputy H.S. Tichnell, Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

The shooting occurred in McHenry following an alleged dispute between the suspect and a young woman. The suspect allegedly assaulted and battered the woman, left the scene, and allegedly returned and fired a single shot through the door of the residence.

The projectile, fired from a shotgun, went through the front door, travelled through the kitchen, and lodged in the living room ceiling of the apartment.

The suspect then allegedly fled the scene in a car with another juvenile.

The suspect was picked up later that evening following an accident on Glendale Road, in which the Maryland State Police charged him with driving while intoxicated and other traffic violations.

The youth was then transported to Cumberland to a juvenile holding facility. Charges are pending through Juvenile Services.

In other news from the Sheriff's Department, Gerald William Chapman, 39, Mount Storm, W.Va., was arrested on two warrants this week and charged with uttering bad checks. The warrants were issued in 1977 and 1978. Chapman was located in New York state and was transported back to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department by Detective P.J. Kelly and Deputy C.P. Nolan after extradition was waived. He was later released on his own recognizance.

Charles Wayne Moats, 31, Oakland, was arrested on three bench warrants on October 13. He is twice charged with failure to pay deferred payments to the District Court of Maryland. Moats is also charged with failure to appear in District Court on October 4, according to Deputy R.L. Sines. He is currently being housed in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $1,030 bond.

Robert Lee Sturgeon, 21, Oakland, was arrested Tuesday on a bench warrant. He was charged with failure to appear in court to face traffic charges, according to Chief Deputy H.S. Tichnell. Sturgeon was later released on $500 bond.

Gary Lee Baker, 23, Salisbury, Pa., was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant for failure to pay deferred payments to the District Court of Maryland. Deputy R.L. Sines served the warrant for his

ALTHOUGH HARVEST TIME IS NEARLY OVER for Garrett Countians, a harvest moon is always welcome on Halloween for all the little spooks and goblins who venture out into the darkness. The extra moonlight is helpful for those who are unsure of the things that go bump in the night. A number of Halloween activities have been scheduled throughout the county for all ages both this week and next. In reality, a full moon is not on the agenda for this Halloween. The above photo was "doctored" by Republican photographer Craig Phillips.

Sheriff's Dept. Investigates Thefts, D.O.P.

Several incidents involving destruction of property and theft are currently under investigation at the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Anthony Dale Hinebaugh, Deer Park, reported damage to his tractor-trailer, that occurred while the vehicle was parked near the intersection of Route 38 and Boiling Springs Road. According to Deputy D.M. Stoner, the vehicle's windshield had been broken in two places and the truck's air lines had also been cut. The loss due to damages is estimated at $225.

Daniel M. Benson, Oakland, reported a breaking and entering and theft that occurred at the Oak Grove Tavern, Crellin, sometime October 15 or 16. A person or persons broke into the establishment, removed liquor and cigarettes, and damaged a cash register and a soccer game in an apparent attempt to steal cash. According to Deputy D.C. Welch, the total loss from theft and damages is estimated at $148.44. The investigation is continuing.

Florence Welch, Elk Garden, W.Va., reported her car stereo was removed from the vehicle's dashboard while the car was parked in the storage lot of Route 135 Amoco, Oakland. According to Deputy R.P. Shaffer, the Ford AM/FM cassette in-dash stereo was taken October 14 or 15. There are no suspects at this time and the investigation is continuing.

Ralph Playford Keefer, Oakland, reported a destruction of property that occurred over the weekend. The perpetrator(s) shot at and destroyed four windows in his chicken coop. According to the investigating officer, Deputy D.C. Welch, the shots were apparently fired from a BB gun. There are no suspects at this time and the investigation is continuing.

Mtn. Lake Man Sentenced For Sex Offense

A young Mtn. Lake Park man was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail after he pled guilty to a charge of third degree sex offense last Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court.

Rodney L. Welch, 19, was sentenced by Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer. He was given credit for time already served.

Not prosecuted were charges of second degree rape, fourth degree sex offense, and assault and battery.

The charges were filed as a result of an April, 1989, incident involving a 13-year-old female.

Welch was represented by John R. Toston.

Southern Band Places Second In State Tourney

The Southern Garrett Marching Band returned to Oakland at 5:30 Sunday morning after competing in the Maryland State Band Championships in Baltimore on Saturday evening.

The band placed second in a field of seven bands in Division III, finishing only 1.49 points behind the first place finisher, LaPlata High School.

Southern Garrett also captured Best Color Guard for Division III.

The band will be travelling to East Allegheny High School in Pennsylvania this Saturday where they will be competing in the Pennsylvania Federation of Contest Judges (PFCJ) Championships.

FIGHTING DRUGS — The Quest: Lifeskills for Adolescence Program, taught by Michelle Zollner Gnegy at Southern Middle School, this week participated in National Red Ribbon Week in an effort to lower the demand for drugs in the United States. Judge Jack Turney spoke to eighth graders concerning drugs and the court system, and red ribbons donated by the Oakland Elks Lodge were given to all students and staff to serve as a reminder of the campaign. The campaign is a collective effort between the Oakland Elks, Oakland Lions Club, school system and Garrett County Sheriff's department. Pictured above, front row, left to right, are class members Jeff Batista, John Snelson, Morgan Davis, Adam Getty, Jason Barr, Staci Kisner, and Kathy Friend. In the back row are Chuck Nolan, Elks Lodge and sheriff's department; Sheriff M. Van Evans; John Smith, Elks; Judge Jack Turney; Chief Deputy Harland Tichnel; and Michelle Zollner Gnegy.

State, County Jobless Rates Remain Steady

Maryland's unemployment rate stabilized in August, remaining at the July level of 3.9 percent. The rate is well below the 4.4 percent recorded for August, 1988 and is the lowest rate recorded for August since 1973's 3.8 percent, according to statistics released by the Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED).

Garrett County's August jobless rate was 6.9 percent, the same as July's rate. The August 1988 rate was 8.3 percent.

Nearly every Maryland county had unemployment levels well below those of August 1988. The national unemployment rate, although declining from 5.3 percent to 5.1 percent in August, remained well above Maryland's average.

Normal seasonal declines in Maryland's workforce, due to the withdrawal of students and other summer workers from the labor market, accounted for a reduction in the number of workers employed during August. During the month, the number of workers in the state fell by nearly 47,000 people while employment dropped by almost 44,000, causing a net result of 3,000 fewer people unemployed.

Jobs in Maryland grew by 19,300 from August, 1988, with more employment opportunities evident in manufacturing and in construction. The increase in manufacturing was attributed to workers returning from vacation shutdowns in apparel/textiles. However, Maryland's industrial payrolls lessened in August. Most of these losses resulted from seasonal cutbacks in local government and in trade. A telephone strike also caused a temporary decrease in employment of 9,000 people.

J. Randall Evans, secretary of DEED, said, "We are particularly pleased to see overall stability in unemployment rates, especially in those areas traditionally hard hit with low employment. The partnership between government and private industry is proving to be a vital force in reducing unemployment in certain areas of our state."

The Western Maryland region's economic activity continued to improve as the overall jobless rate fell from 6.2 percent to 5.8 percent with all counties sharing in the decline. A major stimulus was a seasonal increase in tourism. Noteworthy was Western Maryland's improvement since August 1988, when the unemployment rate dipped 1.1 percent from 6.9 percent to 5.8 percent.

Unemployment rates were relatively stable from July to August in both the Baltimore metropolitan area and in Maryland's D.C. suburbs at 4.3 percent and 3.0 percent respectively. The rise and fall in the jobless rates within specific counties in the two regions were due to temporary layoffs and subsequent callbacks in manufacturing.

As a local comparison, unemployment rates ranged from a low of 2.4 percent in Montgomery and Worcester counties to a high of 7.7 percent in Allegany County.

Family Crisis Center Services Curtailed; Local Agencies Step In

The Family Crisis Resources Center, Inc., has sharply curtailed operations, so local agencies have united to provide temporary services until a local family crisis agency can be formed, according to information released at Tuesday's press conference with the Garrett County Commissioners.

The Family Crisis Resources Center, a satellite operation of a parent organization located in Allegany County, curtailed operations after October 10, following the release of Oakland Center's full-time employee from employment. Carolyn Grahame, executive director of the Center, would not comment on why the full-time employee at the Garrett County Center was let go. Grahame emphasized, however, that the center will fully support efforts to form a local center and that the Family Crisis Resource Center's services will still be available to local residents.

The Center in Garrett County has served approximately 20-25 victims of family violence and rape each month, according to reports from the Garrett County Health Department.

According to a report from the Health Department, the Family Crisis Resources Center had previously been staffed by one full-time worker, one part-time worker, and eight volunteers.

One function of the Center has been advocacy, or contacting various other agencies and sources of help for clients. According to Jay Cross, Deputy Health Officer, Garrett County Health Department, another vital function of the agency has been accompaniment, or attending court or social and health service agencies with clients. Cross emphasised that an ongoing support system is also crucial to this type of service.

In response to the sharp curtailment of services, a group of local representatives of various agencies involved in responding to problems of family violence and child abuse and neglect met Friday to discuss immediate interim alternatives for those whom the Center will no longer be helping. An ad hoc advisory committee was formed and charged by the County Commissioners to develop a plan for the implementation of family crisis services in Garrett County.

The planning committee is composed of Robert Shaffer, director of the Department of Social Services (DSS); Pat Carney, supervisor of Family Services, DSS; Jane Fiscus, MD, Health Officer for the GCHD; Jay Cross, Deputy Health Officer, GCHD; James Harvey, Director of Program Development, Garrett County Memorial Hospital; Carolyn Grahame, executive director, Family Crisis Resource Center, Inc.; Linda Spassil, program coordinator of the Center; and Susan Fernandez, director of Women's Programs, Department of Human Resources in Baltimore.

Carolyn Grahame, director of the present service, has written to all volunteers that were listed for the Garrett County office of the Family Resource Center. She invited all persons interested in continuing the volunteer work to contact Jay Cross at the Health Department (334-8111).

Until a separate local family crisis agency is formed, clients will be serviced through the Garrett County Health Department during the day, and by volunteers contacted by dialing 911 after 4:30 p.m.

The Garrett County satellite operation of Allegany County will continue to remain open on

Garrett County BPW Announces Award Winners

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women (BPW) have announced the selection of Woman of the Year and Employer of the Year at a recent dinner held at the Will O'the Wisp.

Two women were chosen as Woman of the Year, Leona Beckman and Maxine Combs. Dr. Paul Deal, owner of the Countryside Animal Hospital, was chosen as Employer of the Year.

Beckman is a native of Swanton. Retired after 33 years with the Department of Social Services, she currently works as a receptionist for Alpine Lake Resort.

Currently serving as president for the Southern Garrett County Republican Women's Club, she is a past president of BPW and past president of the American Legion Auxiliary Post No. 71. She is a volunteer for the Lohr Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the Garrett County Heart Fund, the Cancer Drive, and has adopted nursing home patients by having picnics and birthday parties for them. She has assisted in Capital Campaign and the Drive for Garrett County Memorial Hospital.

She has worked with Special Olympics, assisted in starting the local Rainbow Girls Chapter and has assisted with workshops for displaced workers.

Maxine Combs is currently retired. She has held positions as a consultant for private enterprise and national organizations and was the Administrative Director of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Club.

THE EMPLOYER OF THE YEAR was announced at a recent dinner held at the Will O'the Wisp by the Garrett County Business and Professional Women. Nominees for the award included Tom Cuppett, Cuppett & Weeks/Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home; Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, Board of Education; and Dr. Paul Deal, Countryside Animal Hospital. Dr. Deal was chosen as the Employer of the Year. Pictured above, left to right, are: Sandra Kisner, co-chairperson of the award; Ellen Bernard, employee of Countryside Animal Hospital; and Dr. Deal.

Grantsville BPW Selects 1989 Woman And Employer Of The Year

The Grantsville Area Business and Professional Women's Club met October 16 at the Holiday Inn to honor its Woman of the Year and Employer of the Year.

Selected as Woman of the Year was Dr. Amy Harman, associate professor of biology at Frostburg State University. Dr. Harman received a B.S. degree in biology at Elon College, N.C., in 1963, and a Ph.D in nematology at the University of Maryland in 1985.

She resides in Garrett County with her husband, Dan, and two sons, Eric and Benjamin.

Dr. Harman hopes to serve as mentor for female students since successfully publishing scientific research and to encourage women to enter science, where she says there is a dirth of females. She also advocates rights of women. In 1988 she served as recipient of FSU Presidental Internship for Women, wrote FSU guidelines on sexual harassment, and is involved in developing FSU Women's Studies Minor. Her one BPW goal and occupational goal is educating women "to combat subordinate perceptions and defeatist's attitudes, recognizing their full potential, and promoting full participation in all segments of society."

Dr. Harman said, "Let us promote the welfare and the best interests of women."

She is a member of the Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society, president of Grantsville BPW, chair of Administrative Council of Emmanuel United Methodist Church, member of the Frostburg United Methodist Chancel Choir, Council of the Alleghenies, past president of Rt. 40 Elementary School PTA and Garrett County PTA, and a lifetime member of Maryland PTA.

Contributions to the community include: Adopt-A-Highway one-mile clean-up on 219/BPW Grantsville area, Tri-State Community Concert Supporter, teaches adult Sunday School class on a part-time basis, is an instructor of Breast Self-Exam for ACS, and a member of the Healthy Majority.

She also belongs to the American Society of Nematologists, Entomological Society of America, American Association of University Professors and was 1987-88 president of FSU Local Chapter of AAUP Sierra Club.

Named Employer of the Year was Dr. Stephen J. Herman, president of Garrett Community College, who is a lifelong educator and administrator.

His career began as a high school teacher. He was awarded a master's degree in 1971 and a Ph.D. in philosophy from the University of Massachusetts in 1975. He taught at a variety of colleges and universities before serving as Dean of Quinebaug Community College in Connecticut.

Dr. Herman came to Garrett Community College as president in 1986. He characterizes himself as "sex-blind" in his relationship with people. In his years as a college administrator, he has contributed to the career development and advancement of numerous women.

"Dr. Herman has contributed tremendously to the community in his three years in Garrett County," stated a BPW spokesman. He was a key planner in the organization of the 1989 Whitewater World Championships and plays a leadership role in the year-long Garrett Lake Arts Festival. He is a director of Garrett County's Chamber of Commerce, Promotion Council, Economic Development Corp., and Western Maryland Private Industry Council.

He is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, National Education Association, American Association of University Administrators, the League of Women Voters and American Association of University Women.

At Garrett Community College, Dr. Herman designed and implemented a generalist model of student counseling. It centers on a strong advisor/student relationship through a comprehensive advising process that includes close attention to the student in the area of career planning, goal setting, financial aid, and other areas traditionally performed outside the setting of academic advising. For adult women returning to school, such concerns as child care and family schedules can determine student adjustment and success.

"Dr. Herman promotes a caring college and community for students and employees alike," the spokesman said. "His emphasis on communication and employee morale has resulted in a highly positive work environment."

Guests attending the dinner from the Garrett County BPW Club were Bea Crosco, Charee Reckner, and Wilma Calhoun.

Members were reminded of the highway clean-up on November 4. Those participating are to meet at the Foodland parking lot at 10 a.m., and the Christmas Auction will be held at the November 20 meeting. For more information on the Grantsville Area BPW, persons may contact Ruth DiPaolo at 245-4198.

Let's Work It Out . . .

There is an unfortunate situation right now that is no doubt having an adverse effect on a significant number of our young people and upon the relationship between the "North" and the "South" in Garrett County.

The present feud involves the Mt. Top Youth Football League that has been in existence for 18 years and, for the most part, has been a well-organized, positive program that has provided an opportunity for many young boys to learn and play competitive football at an early age. Besides the obvious positive effect it has had on the quality of the local high school football teams, it has hopefully, and more importantly, taught things such as team work, sportsmanship, how to lose, how hard work pays off, and the dozens of other good things that can be acquired by participating in team sports.

Unfortunately, the league is in the midst of a crisis that threatens its very future. We could write a long, detailed story noting the many incidents and injustices that have allegedly occurred on both sides; however, we don't believe that such a story would help solve the problems. After listening to all of the allegations, we believe the crux of the problem lies with the officers of the league, where there appears to be extreme inconsistency, disorganization, and a general lack of good leadership.

We like to believe that the "great divide" between the north and south in Garrett County is not nearly the chasm it once was. We have seen attitudes change for the better and have sensed that more and more local people think of themselves as Garrett Countians, and not northerners or southerners. For the past decade we have seen nothing but outstanding sportsmanship and friendships among the athletes and coaching staffs of our two high schools.

Yet, when something like this occurs, even if it has nothing to do with the north-south issue, it refuels that same fire and causes people to become so bitter. Worse yet, in this situation, our young people are the ones who are really being hurt by all of this, just as several letters to the editor on this page emphasize.

We sincerely hope that the adults responsible for this mess can swallow their pride, sit down together, work this thing out, exchange apologies, and then shake hands with each other. We would be thrilled to come take a picture of such an event and publish it in The Republican.

The youngsters involved have already seen how childish adults can be. Now let's show them how mature adults can be so they will have a good example to follow.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Sunday, October 22: the Northern Steelers and Terra Alta Dolphins Youth League Football Championship game was to be played.

The Dolphins did a "no show" and at 2 p.m. the officials and league president called it a forfeit and named the Steelers champions for a second year in a row.

Seems the Dolphins and Oakland Raiders had their own little scheme going. At this same time they were playing each other in a game at Terra Alta that had no meaning, except perhaps they thought it might upset the Steelers to do so — kind of like, "Let's stick it to the Steelers." Sorry guys. You only hurt yourselves. This is only typical of how the South treats the North — the poor attitudes and sportsmanship that you all have displayed down through the years in any sport. Why should we really be surprised? We've come to expect this of you. It's a shame that through the years the adults haven't been able to see how they ruin it for the kids. After all, it's a child's game and that's who you should consider when coaching and decision making. But you adults go off half-cocked and seek revenge because you have not yet learned how to take defeat.

Come on coaches, what are you teaching your kids? When you made the decisions for this weekend, did you ask the boys what they wanted to do? I mean, after all, these boys are taking the physical part of the game. Shouldn't they also be included in the decision making of it? Think about it.

And coaches, where does sportsmanship rate in your teachings? Or can you only be good sports when you win?

Dolphins and Raiders, you should have been at Southern's field Sunday and looked in these boys eyes as the Steeler coaches tried to explain to them the wrong that had been done to them. You couldn't help but be moved by the pride felt in the air as everyone listened on — a pride shared between coaches for their team and parents for their children. Thumbs up to the Steeler coaches for the professional way they handled the whole situation. They are true sportsmen.

One official stated that, in his 18 years of officiating, he has never come across a situation such as this. This is one day of your child's life that you, as revengeful adults, have robbed from them and this day will never be again.

For the coaches and adults who were involved in trying to belittle the Steeler Organization of all their accomplishments, we want you to know that our children learned a lesson from you this weekend. You showed them the kind of people they "least" want to grow up to be like. You really have lost a lot more than just a game this weekend. Can you look in your child's eyes after your actions and see the kind of pride that we see in our boys eyes?

If you had any spine at all you would apologize to the Steeler Organization. But, hey; we couldn't really expect that now, could we?

The Steelers are number one. We're proud of our coaches and our boys. We will hold our heads up high because we are champions, one and all.

Steelers, you did GREAT!

To the Editor:

We are writing in regard to the recent end of the Mt. Top Youth Football League season. The league was comprised of boys ages 10-14 with a Maryland and West Virginia division. As parents, we hoped that playing youth football would not only teach the fundamentals of football, but also teamwork and sportsmanship. The end of the season, however, only taught our sons how unfair and petty adults can be.

As the parents of a Northern Steeler we are admittedly biased, but these are the facts as we know them. The Steelers were undefeated during the regular season and they won the Maryland divisional playoff. The team with the best record picks the field the playoffs are to be held on — this is in accordance with league rules. Southern's field was chosen, but the West Virginia division decided they would play at Terra Alta, thereby forfeiting the game; this is also according to league rules. The Steelers beat the Oakland Raiders in the Maryland playoffs at Southern. After that game, the Raiders and several other teams elected to leave the league, which has been in existence for 18 years, and form their own league. They invited every team in the Mt. Top League except the Steelers and the Oakland Jets to join. It's only too bad that the Baltimore Orioles didn't use these tactics; they could have formed a new division and invited everyone but the Blue Jays.

Sunday, October 22, was the scheduled date for the league championship game. The only team that showed up was the Steelers, The Dolphins, who had forfeited, and the Raiders, who had been beaten, reportedly played one another in Terra Alta. Yes, the Steelers are the champions, but they were cheated out of a final championship game. They won by forfeit.

We know how much time is involved with youth league ball. The hard work of all the players and coaches can be seen every game. Our team was never defeated on the field. We played by the rules and, when we couldn't be beaten in a game, a new league was formed, during the season, without us.

We are very proud of the Steelers and what they have accomplished the last two years. We are the Champions — unbeaten in two seasons. This was the last year in the league for our son and for many of his teammates. They have their second championship, but they never were allowed to play in their final championship game.

With the Oakland area down to one, instead of two teams they will indeed be difficult to beat. However, this probably won't mean much to all the boys who are denied a chance to play because of roster limits. It is really a shame that the most important part of youth football has been cheated — the players. Yes, our kids were denied the chance to play in a championship game; but the players on the teams who quit the league were taught that, when things don't go your way, you ignore established rules and make your own. We only wish that all involved would remember who youth league football is supposed to be for — the youth.

Sincerely,
Keith and Debbie Bittner

To the Editor:

With the countless temptations that our children face daily, we are fortunate to have many extra-curricular programs that give them additional guidance along the way. I am not involved in these programs in order to stay out of trouble, but there is certainly less opportunity for adversity if they are taking part in a constructive activity rather than just "hanging out."

One such program is the Mountain Top Youth Football League. This year over 200 boys ages 10 to 14 comprised the seven teams involved. These young athletes practiced hard night after night preparing for their Sunday afternoon games, and they entered these contests ready to play real football. Serious and determined, they began the season knowing that they would be expected to give 100%, and that is exactly what they did.

At the end of the 1989 regular session, the Northern Steelers and Oakland Raiders had earned the right to compete for the Maryland division title. This game was played on October 15th, with the Steelers emerging victorious after a triple overtime. In doing so, they then advanced to the championship game.

From that point on, certain events took place that I believe the community should be made aware of. Unbeknownst to the coaching staff of the Steelers, it was decided by a handful of adults (and I use that term loosely), that should the Steelers win in that game, certain measures would be taken. Namely, that all of the teams in the league, with the exception of the Steelers and Oakland Jets, would withdraw and form a new organization.

This decision had both short and long term effects on the remaining athletes. First of all, the Steelers arrived at the Southern football field on October 22nd to participate in the championship game. However, their opponent failed to appear, which resulted in a forfeit. The Steelers received the trophy, but lost the opportunity to enjoy the competition of the game they deserved to play. Secondly, unless the Steelers and Jets are able to encourage other teams to join the Mtn. Top League, or are themselves invited to participate in another league, they are left with no one to compete against except each other.

This league has been in existence for 18 years, and now due to the fact that we are dealing with certain individuals who cannot accept defeat, our young boys are left to pay the price.

We wish to congratulate those of you who have penalized our kids. It must have taken tremendous courage for you "men" to get together secretly and make a decision that will have an effect on so many. Let's see some of that bravado! We invite you to stand in front of our boys, look them straight in the eye, and explain to them what you have done and why. Try to make them understand that they shouldn't have played their hearts out because doing so may have cost them the opportunity to be a team that will see competition in the future.

Not only are you punishing them, but are setting a horrible example for the boys who look up to you as coaches. Should we not encourage our children to always do their best? Should we not teach them that they ought to face a challenge head-on, not run from it? How about honesty and fairness? Those of you responsible for this mess have made a mockery of those values. I simply cannot believe that the parents of the boys on your teams are aware of why you have taken these actions. I honestly feel that they would not condone your methods.

Let's get our priorities straight! This league was designed for our children — to allow them to develop skills, to learn the importance of teamwork, to grow and mature as individuals. It was certainly not set up to inflate the egos of grown men who obviously believe that if you cannot win then you get out!

These young athletes, all 200+ of them, deserve the opportunity to be coached by men who will teach them that there is more to football than simply winning. I urge the parents of every boy involved to step forward and help salvage the Mtn. Top League.

Let's not allow these few adults to spoil a wonderful program that means so much to our boys. They deserve better than what they've all been subjected to these last two weeks. What these kids learn now will carry over into their adult lives, and we parents owe it to them to give them the best we can.

I cannot close this letter without giving the Steelers' coaching staff my thanks. We consider ourselves fortunate to have men with such high values involved in shaping our boys' lives. I also have no doubt that there are many quality coaches involved in the other teams. Let's not allow a few bad apples to spoil everything.

Sincerely,
Mary Wachter

To the Editor:

I would like to express thanks to the Northern Steeler coaches. I am a parent of a Northern Steeler and very proud of the team. Pride is something that the coaches teach our boys. Also, they are unsurpassed by none for their teaching techniques.

But above all this, they teach our boys sportsmanship which is so important in growing up. I just wish the Raider's and Dolphin's coaches would learn some sportsmanship before they try to teach their team.

Thanks again Steeler coaches.

To the Editor:

If it is true that many of life's lessons are learned in our youth, then it can be said that the youth playing football for the Oakland Raiders have indeed learned some very interesting lessons in the past week, courtesy of their coaches.

Lesson No. 1: When one loses, whether or not we think it is justified, one throws a temper tantrum and one yells loudly and persistently causing as much turmoil and embarrassment as possible.

Lesson No. 2: Good sportsmanship is a term foreign to our vocabulary; after all, "winning isn't everything, it's the only thing."

Lesson No. 3: When all else fails, break away from the league entirely, form your own league, and set up rules of your own; that way you'll always be on top.

It is a shame that young, impressionable boys are offered these "valuable" lessons so early. Just think, in a few years they will be in high school. What happens then when they suffer disappointment from losing? Will their school simply refuse to allow these boys to participate with anyone who beats them? Or perhaps the school will simply discontinue the sport.

And finally, later in life when losses and disappointments are inevitable, will they withdraw from society itself?

Sincerely,
Carol Sisler

As one of the organizers of the Southern Alumni Band, I would like to thank all those who marched with our unit in the Autumn Glory Parade. A special thank you goes out to those who traveled many miles just to be with us that Saturday. Seeing old friends and making new ones was the highlight of the day. In close second was hearing the cheers from the crowd as we made our way down the parade route.

The excitement and enthusiasm from all those who marched along with all the wonderful comments we have received leads me to believe that the Southern Alumni Band will be back next Autumn Glory. See you then.

Thanks!

Also participating were the following markets: Browning's of Oakland, Mt. Lake Park IGA, S&S Market, Frantz's Red and White Market of Oakland and Accident, and Grantsville Foodland.

On behalf of the consumers of Garrett County, we would like to thank all those participating, and especially the above-named individuals and organizations for their continued support of our educational programs. Without their assistance, we would not be visible in our community.

We also thank The Republican for helping us spread the word about cardiovascular diseases and stroke. Unfortunately, it is still the #1 killer of Americans. To the Editor:

I am a 32-year-old inmate at the Indiana Dept. of Corrections. I don't have anyone writing or visiting me. I don't have any family and it seems as though the friends I once had only lasted as long as I could pay the tab.

I have been incarcerated since 1983. In the last six years, I've written to different people, anyone who I felt might remember some bondof friendship. But night after night passes without any response, I've been forgotten and it really hurts!

Quite frankly, this is a horrible and lonely environment. Seeing other men around me getting letters and visits from family and loved ones puts me in some sad and depressed moods. The worst feeling in the world is being alone and lonely. It would mean a gread deal to me if i had someone simply to correspond with.

I am a white male, single, 5'11" and 180 lbs. I'm dark complected with light brown hair and blue eyes. I have a muscular build and I wear a moustache. I am very easy going with a pleasant personality.

I love music and playing rhythm guitar, hunting, fishing, and all sports. I lift weights and play handball to help fight stress and tension.

I've attended heating and air conditioning School here at the Vocational College and presently I am attending a welding course working towards my degree. I am putting my life back in proper perspective.

I am not in here for any hideous crime. I had a problem with drugs but with the aid of counseling, I realized my mistakes and have overcome my problem.

I hope you can find it in your heart to publish this in your paper, perhaps sparking an interest in someone or anyone who feels or has felt the loneliness I live with daily.

Thank you for any consideration you may be able to give me. I sadly regret I am unable to pay for this letter. I only earn 13 dollars a month for going to school.

I promise to answer anyone and everyone who responds to my plea promptly.

Thank you for listening and for your time.

Respectfully,

To the Editor:

Abortion is ruining America!

The most important reason for opposing abortion is the sanctity of life, that every child is made in the image and likeness of God and is sacred. However, these are serious implications flowing from this moral position.

Consider our economy, education, taxes, social security, and military, as affected by abortion.

Our economy would be much bigger and better if the 25 million aborted children were alive and part of the economy.

Our educational system would also be bigger and better if the 25 million aborted children were part of or would soon be part of the American educational system. Abortion is causing the most unfortunate closing and consolidation of schools. How can we retain our place in the world without a continuously growing and well-educated population?

Some of the 25 million aborted children would soon be paying taxes. The fact that the aborted children will not be taxpayers means that other citizens will have to pay more in taxes. Since there will be fewer to pay taxes, the relative share will be greater among those who will actually pay taxes. Should you be silent about abortion when it is going to increase your taxes and is ruining the country?

Social Security will suffer from the loss of income the aborted children would have supplied. This means that the average benefit for Mr. and Mrs. Retired will be smaller.

Remember social security does not operate like a checking account where you pay in a certain amount and then draw on that amount. Rather social security works on a system whereby you pay in for those ahead of you and then receive benefits yourself from those paying in behind you. Abortion is presently destroying one-third to one-half of all potential payers into the social security system. How much money will there be to pay your social security, Mr. and Mrs. Someday-to-be retired?

Those near a million babies aborted in 1973 would now be 16 years old. In two years, they would be old enough to enter the military and a significant number would have done so. However, they will not be able to add strength to our military two years from now or in any later years. To maintain our place in the world, our military needs a steady stream of young men and women. Abortion will greatly decrease that stream of young men and women. This decrease in the strength of our armed forces is not to the country's benefit.

What are you doing about abortion?

God saved us from abortion.

The Mind Wanders

by Sherry Frantz

It's been over 20 years since I left the safety of my nuclear family to seek fame and fortune out there on my own. (I'm still seeking both, so all offers to help in that endeavor will be seriously considered.) Be that as it may, I still return to my parents' home as often as I like, and am ceremoniously stuffed with mom's apple pie and other soul-warming foods.

Now I do realize that "going home" is not always a pleasant experience. Indeed, it can sometimes be quite harrowing but, all things considered — and of course I've considered all things — those of us who have it, most likely value it. As a matter of fact, we usually strive to re-create that ideal as we establish our own homes and families.

But what has the media been telling us for at least the last decade? Well, basically, that we have been experiencing a breakdown, if not demise, of the traditional American family. But the key here is that they're referring to the "traditional" family. And, of course, we all have, here in middle America, a similar perception of the traditional family. Mom, Dad, Junior, Sis and Fido. But that so called "breakdown" (caused by divorce, changing life styles, and economics, to name a few) has led to the creation of a multitude of non-traditional families. Ergo, the family must now be re-defined.

Why am I so concerned about this?

Because if we, as a society, can successfully re-define the family to include such units as two single parents, two, three, or more childless adults, a single parent and child, or even (can I go this far out on a limb?) one single adult and a cat, then we have, folks, a healthier, happier society.

There are countless groups out there who fit into those categories. In fact, the first definition of family used in Webster's New World Dictionary is "all the people living in the same house." The problem, of course, is how we define it and the effect that definition has on those groups of people who exist in the non-traditional family.

There may soon — very soon — come a day when the traditional nuclear family is in the minority and asking for the same consideration and validation that the non-traditional family is now striving to obtain. Even members of that non-traditional family have problems defining their place in society.

Let me illustrate with an example.

A friend of mine was recently fretting over the fact that she, a single parent, could no longer provide "a place to come home to" for her daughter, now a young adult living in another state. (My friend is now sharing quarters with another single parent and her children.) All I could offer in way of consolation was "Why don't you bake her an apple pie?" (Oh yeah, Sherry, give the kid refined sugar and fat as an offering of love! - But you get the sentiment, right?)

My friend chose this living arrangement out of economic necessity, but her traditional values and her feeling that family and home are necessary to one's stability and well-being are still there within her. In essence, she has to find an alternative method of saying to her daughter, "This is home."

Most of us do seem to strive for that center, that image of home, of family, whatever form it may take. And that's the point. Like it or not, we can only define that structure as each individual chooses to describe it for him or herself.

If we accept the notion that "home is where the heart is," then maybe a clearer picture of the family presents itself to us. It lies where there is love, comfort, and respite from worldly pressures.

And apple pie.

Students, County Landscape For Community Day

Saturday, October 21, was designated Community Service Day by the State of Maryland and as part of that observance, the Garrett County Commissioners provided plans and materials for students at Northern and Southern high schools to landscape the school grounds around the respective school signs. The Student Service Alliance class at each school, with the assistance of vocational agriculture students and county government, are doing the work to mark Community Service Day.

Maple Lane Farm and Nursery, at the request of the commissioners, designed the landscape plan for each school and coordinated each project with the school's colors.

Southern's students service class also cleaned the school grounds after the Autumn Glory Festival weekend and have begun a canned food drive for victims of Hurricane Hugo. They arranged for a local furniture retailer, Casual Crates, to transport the food to the Carolinas on Sunday.

Southern and Northern service classes also continue to develop volunteer opportunities in peer tutoring, assistance to the handicapped, and programs in nursing homes.

Judge Hears Drug, Alcohol Cases Thursday

Several cases involving drug and alcohol charges were heard last Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court by Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer.

In one case, Robert L. Cuomo, 48, Altoona, Pa., pled guilty to charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and driving with a suspended license.

He was sentenced to 60 days in the Garrett County Jail for the DUI charge and one year for the suspended license charge. The judge then suspended the sentences, fining Cuomo $250 for the first count and $1000 for the second. He was also placed on two years supervised probation with the conditions that he does not drive and abstains from the use of alcohol.

Cuomo was arrested by Maryland State Police Tpr. J.K. Moore on June 16, 1989 on Route 219.

Cuomo's attorney was Robert C. Hesson.

In another case, Anthony J. Beyer, 21, Harrisonburg, Va., pled guilty to charges of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance and possession with intent to use drug paraphernalia.

He was sentenced to five days in the Garrett County Jail. The judge continued his bail and waived the fine for the possession charge. Not prosecuted was one count of unlawful possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Beyer was arrested by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater on March 9, 1989, following an accident on the Stockslager Road, McHenry. According to court records, suspected marijuana was found in Beyer's pocket.

Beyer was represented by Hesson.

Gerald W. Snyder, 46, Hollidaysburg, Pa., pled guilty to one count each of driving while under the influence of alcohol and driving without current tags. He was fined $400 for the first charge and $100 for the second. An alcohol restriction was also placed on his license.

A charge of driving while intoxicated was not prosecuted.

Tpr. J.K. Moore arrested Snyder on April 12, 1989, on Route 39.

Snyder's attorney was Hesson.

In another case, Tracey J. Shaffer, 22, Mtn. Lake Park, pled guilty to driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was fined $250, and also received an alcohol restriction on his license.

Not prosecuted were charges of driving while intoxicated and failing to drive on the right half of the roadway.

Braille Work Center To Hold Turkey Dinner

The Lutheran Braille Work Center No. 173, Accident, will hold its Seventh Annual Benefit Turkey Dinner on Saturday, November 4, to help raise funds for the center.

The Work Center has been in operation for over five years. It is engaged in the production of the Gospel of St. John in the Swahili language in braille for the blind. Since Swahili is the predominant language in East Africa, most of the books are sent there free of charge to anyone requesting them.

The Work Center sends at least 80 books per month to fulfill requests. When production exceeds this amount additional books are sent. Over 5,000 books have been sent since the work center has been in operation.

The work at the center is performed entirely by volunteers from the five Lutheran Churches in the Accident, Cove and Friendsville areas.

A steering committee, composed of a representative from each church and the leader couples who oversee the work, make all the decisions pertaining to the Work Center.

The Lutheran Braille Work Center No. 173 is affiliated with Lutheran Braille Workers, Inc., of Yucaipa, Cal., which supplies all necessary materials.

This organization is not supported by government grants, nor by any church body. It is supported entirely by free will offerings.

It has been the policy of the steering committee to hold a benefit dinner each year to help provide funds for needed supplies and the overall support of the organization.

The Aid Association for Lutheran Branches 585 and 588 will sponsor this year's event and will provide matching funds for each dollar raised for the Work Center.

The benefit dinner will be held at Northern Middle School cafeteria on Saturday, November 4, from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

A turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be served cafeteria style. Tickets for the meal will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12.

Curran Orders Auto Dealers To Make Restitution

Ten All Star auto dealerships, including one in Keyser, have agreed to make restitution to Marylanders who bought cars for more than the advertised price.

Under a consent order announced Thursday by Maryland Attorney General J. Joseph Curran Jr., an estimated 600 car buyers will receive an average refund of $275.

Affected are eight All Star dealerships in Maryland and one each in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

They denied violating any law or regulation, but agreed to alter their advertising content and sales procedures to meet guidelines outlined by the attorney general.

Under an agreement reached with the attorney general office's Consumer Protection Division, the dealerships will make total restitution of about $150,000.

In addition to All Star Chevrolet of Keyser, the agreement includes All Star Dodge of Baltimore, Central Motors Dodge in Hagerstown, All Star Chevrolet in Crisfield, All Star Chevrolet in Denton, All Star Chevrolet-Buick in Chestertown, All Star Jeep-Eagle in Easton, All Star Chrysler-Plymouth in Prince Frederick, and All Star Chevrolet in Spring Grove, Pa.

One dealership, All Star Dodge of Baltimore, has agreed to replace parts on the vehicles of customers who were told that new parts would be used, but had old parts repaired instead.

The dealerships agreed to submit to the attorney general's office any documents relating to sales of vehicles promoted in questionable advertisements published between October 1987 and July 1989.

The attorney general's office then will compile a list of consumers who may be entitled to refunds.

Dealerships then must contact those consumers by mail to inform them that they may qualify for a refund and explain to them how they may submit a claim form to the Consumer Protection Division.

The attorney general's office will review each claim form, calculate what refund is due, if any, and pay that amount from the restitution fund.

If any consumer complaints that fall outside the provisions of the settlement are received within the next six months, they will be subject to mediation by the Consumer Protection Division.

The consent order lists guidelines which cover: advertising and selling of "standard factory equipped" or "stripped" vehicles; installation and cost of dealer-installed equipment; granting of advertised discounts, savings or rebates to all consumers; trade-in guarantees; and disclosure of "material facts" such as year, make and model of vehicle, options and equipment, and whether the vehicle is in stock or must be ordered.

Garrett Board Of Realtors Meet, Install Officers

The Garrett County Board of Realtors held its annual dinner meeting at the Silver Tree Inn, Deep Creek Lake, last Thursday evening. New members received their pins and were installed by Richard Orr, membership chairman. The Garrett County Board has a membership of 158 Realtors.

Also installed by Mary Vaarwerk, Western District vice president, Maryland Association of Realtors, were officers and a new director for the 1989-1990 year. Goldie M. Shugars, Deep Creek Realty, will serve as president. Ms. Shugars was particularly active during the past year in soliciting funds for the whitewater championships as well as attending realtor conventions and supporting the local board in numerous activities, while maintaining her active listing and sales activities on behalf of Deep Creek Realty.

Other officers for the new year are: Karen F. Spiker, A&A Realty, vice president; Janet L. Bernard, Garrettland Realty, secretary; and Patty J. Sines, treasurer. Thomas B. Thayer, Garrettland Realty, outgoing president, will serve on the Board of Directors.

Bill Weissgerber accepted an award in the absence of Karen Spiker, who was recently selected Realtor of the Year by her peers in Garrett County. "Karen's boundless energy and tireless efforts to promote her company, her profession, her county, and numerous worthy causes, make her a worthy recipient of this award being presented for the first time by Garrett County Board of Realtors," stated Thayer.

YOU'RE WELL EQUIPPED TO DETECT A GAS LEAK.

Fortunately, natural gas leaks are rare. But if one should occur, you have everything it takes to spot the telltale signs...the ability to see, hear and smell.

INSIDE

The most obvious sign is the smell. Natural gas by itself usually is odorless, so gas companies add a distinctive odor to gas.

If you smell this telltale odor in your home, don't use matches, electrical switches or appliances. Leave the house immediately, then call the gas company from a neighbor's home or pay telephone. Remain near your home until a gas company representative arrives and checks the cause of the odor.

OUTSIDE

You may detect a natural gas leak anywhere gas lines or facilities are located. Sometimes, the sign may be the odor. But in rural areas, natural gas pipelines may contain non-odorized gas. A leak of non-scented gas means little or no odor will be present. So count on your other senses as well.

Look or listen for these signs. Anywhere a gas line is located, a leak may cause:

- a blowing or hissing sound
- dirt being blown into the air
- water bubbling or being blown into the air at a pond, creek or river
- brown patches in vegetation on or near a gas line right-of-way
- fire coming from the ground or burning above it

If you detect any sign of a leak, follow these steps quickly: 1) shut down any motorized equipment or other sources of ignition in use; 2) leave the area at once, and warn others to stay away; and 3) find a telephone away from the area to call the gas company, and the fire and police departments. DO NOT try to extinguish a gas fire or operate any pipeline valves.

Chances are you'll never need to recognize a natural gas leak. But just in case, we think it's important for you to be able to detect signs of trouble. Together, we'll keep natural gas service safe and efficient.

Huskies Edged In Final Minute By Vikings, 21-16

Take away any one of about four plays in Friday night's contest between Northern Huskies and Petersburg, and the Huskies would now be enjoying a big victory over the now 7-1 Vikings, who scored 14 points in the fourth quarter at the Southern High field to pull out a 21-16 victory over the Huskies.

The 3-4 Huskies won the battle of the statistics, finishing with 251 total yards to Petersburg's 224, but another excellent, clutch passing effort in the fourth quarter by Petersburg quarterback Kent Alt dashed the Huskies' opportunities for a big win.

After recording 285 yards through the air on a 14-of-18 performance last week against Tucker County, Alt completed 17 of 21 against the Huskies for 133 yards. For the season, Alt has completed 96 of 153 attempts (62 percent) for 1,359 yards.

The Vikings scored first as Bryant Rexrode capped a first-quarter drive at the 7:44 mark with a one-yard touchdown dive. Chris Frye booted the conversion.

The Huskies took an 8-7 lead in the second quarter when Darren McKenzie through an 11-yard scoring pass to Jon Houser and Chad Sines ran for the conversion.

Then, with about eight minutes remaining in the half, the Huskies were awarded two more points when they held Petersburg deep in their own territory and the snap for the punt sailed through the end zone.

The third quarter was scoreless and then Petersburg took the lead again when Todd Fouch scored on a six-yard touchdown run and Frye booted the conversion at the 9:07 mark of the final period to make it 14-10.

The Huskies came back to take a 16-14 advantage when McKenzie broke loose for a 32-yard scoring run at the 3:31 mark. The run for the two-point conversion was just short.

The Vikings began their winning touchdown drive at their own 43 after a 27-yard kickoff return by Rexrode. The Huskies had the Vikings in two fourth down situations, but each time Alt passed his way out of them. Alt connected with Fouch on a 20-yarder to put the ball on Northern's eight. Two plays later, with just 53 seconds left in the game, Alt connected with Marc Harman for the game winner. Frye added the extra point.

McKenzie once again paced the Northern offense be recording 188 yards on 37 carries and also had one long run-back for a touchdown nullified because of a penalty. McKenzie has amassed 1,252 yards in seven games for the Huskies.

Johnny Joe Friend, Pete Bittinger, and Brian Friend had outstanding defensive games for Northern.

"This was a very disheartening loss for us," Coach Tom Vent stated. "We played hard and we played well, but we had a few key mistakes that cost us the game. For the most part, out defense did an excellent job. But we have to give Alt credit, too. He moved their offense very well when it counted.

"I guess the part of our game that really upset me was our coverage on kicks and punts. The kicking was good, but then we would let them run back 35 or 40 yards," he said. "You can't give a good team such good field position all the time."

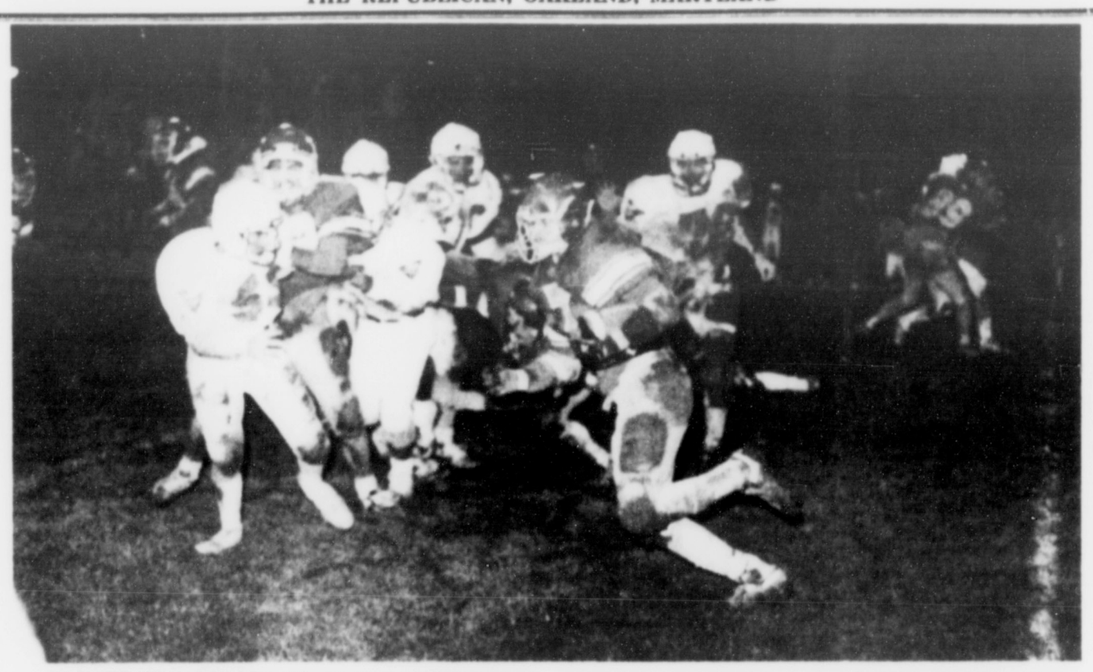

Northern's secondary suffered a key blow on the third play of the game when Kirby King sustained a shoulder injury. "That really hurt us because Kirby is an excellent player and we knew, because of Alt's ability and the fact that they have three of the top 10 receivers in the area, that our secondary was going to have to play an outstanding game if we were to win."

King will definitely be out of Northern's line-up this week and probably next week as well.

"Kirby is an excellent basketball player, too, and there is no way I would risk his well being if he isn't totally healed," Vent said. "On the other hand, if he feels he is ready and wants to play against Southern, then I won't deny him that opportunity."

Vent also commented on the efforts of his senior players, particularly by McKenzie out of the backfield, Johnny Joe Friend and Brian Friend on the line, and Pete Bittinger on defense and offense. "I don't usually single out players because I am a strong advocate of the team concept," Vent said. "Plus, with my seniors, I just know that I can count on them to do the job. I probably don't give them enough acolades, though. In my opinion, Darren is the best running back around and people like Johnny Joe just do it all."

The Huskies will attempt to return to the win column once again this Saturday evening when they host the struggling Valley Black Knights. The Knights are 1-6 on the season, coming off a 35-7 loss to St. James last Thursday.

RACKING UP YARDAGE for the Northern Huskies against Petersburg last Friday night was Darren McKenzie, the area's leading rusher, who has rushed for over 1,200 yards so far this year. McKenzie picked up 188 yards against the Vikings, however the Huskies were edged, 21-16, when Petersburg scored with less than a minute remaining in the game. The 3-4 Huskies will host Valley at the Southern High field this Saturday night.

However, as always, Coach Vent is not taking the Knights lightly and believes they are a team that is "a lot better than their record."

"We are going to have to play good, hard football against this team," he said. "They are young and inexperienced, but they play with a lot of energy. I think Coach (Randy) Stewart is doing an excellent job with them."

The Knights' wing-T offense is led by senior fullback Jay Marley (5-11, 195), senior tailback Keith Phillips (6-0, 190), junior quarterback Todd Zais (5-11, 165); Jarod Zais (6-2, 165) at tight end; and junior guard Tommy Kerling (6-1, 165).

Phillips led Valley's rushing attack last week with 69 yards on 10 carries, while Jarod Zais caught five passes for 86 yards. Todd Zais was seven for 12 last week for 117 yards.

Defensively, Valley is led by junior tackle John Lough (6-2, 236), senior tackle Josh Browning (6-2, 215), Marley and Kerling at linebacker positions, and P.J. Kelly in the secondary. They usually run 5-2 and 6-2 formations.

"We really need a win, but we will have to play good football this week to get it," Vent said. "We are 3-4 now and I would much rather be 5-4 than 3-6 going into the Southern game in a few weeks."

The kickoff Saturday night at the Southern High School field is slated for 7:30.

Weather Conditions Decrease Field For Wisp Mountain Bike Race

The weather for the first Garrett County Mountain Bike Race last year was snowy and cold, and it appeared that similar conditions would exist for this year's event, which was held Sunday afternoon at the Wisp Resort, McHenry. However, after a cold, wintry day on Saturday, when practice runs were held, the weather turned sunny and warmer for the race on Sunday and featured 26 amateur bikers from several states.

Brad Howarth, coordinator of the event, said that Saturday's cold weather undoubtedly turned away many racers, as the field was about one-third the size expected.

Local riders dominated the sport division, while athletes from Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Eastern Maryland competed closely in the beginner class.

The closest finishes of the day were by Mike Homer and Curt Springman, who finished only one second apart to determine first and second places in the novice category.

Donating prizes for the event were Blackwater Bikes, Princeton Sports, Rudy's Ski Shop, Elliott's Juices, Pepsi, Wisp Resort Hotel, and Recreational Industries. Howarth said over two dozen volunteers assisted as course marshals and registration personnel.

The next mountain bike race at Wisp is scheduled for Winterfest XVII on March 3, 1990.

Complete results of Sunday's race are as follows:

Wisp Golfer Wins District Tourney

A member of the Wisp Golf Club recently won a Pennsylvania district golf tournament and thus qualified for the Pennsylvania state tournament, slated for Oct. 30-31 at State College, Pa.

Jeff Shoemaker, 17, of Salisbury, Pa., shot an 83 at the Piney Run Country Club to win the district event by four strokes. He was also the top junior golfer at the Wisp this past summer and placed second in the area junior tournament at the Cumberland Country Club in July.

Northern Cross Country Teams Second And Third In Bi-State

The Northern High School cross country teams competed in two meets the past week, hosting Central Preston and West Preston last Thursday afternoon, and then competing in the Bi-County Cross Country Meet Monday at Braddock Middle School in Cumberland.

Coach Charlie Himmler's girls team finished first and the boys finished second in the meet with Central and West Preston. In the Bi-County event, which also included Allegany, Fort Hill, Bishop Walsh, and Beall, the Northern boys placed second and the Northern girls finished third.

In last Thursday's meet, the Northern girls captured fourth through seventh places, plus ninth and tenth, to win with 31 points. Both West Preston and Central Preston had incomplete scores.

Cookie Wolfe of Central Preston placed first among the girls with a time of 25:45, while Michelle Shaffer and Fay Crissman, both of West Preston, won second and third with respective times of 26:00 and 26:01.

Northern athletes taking the next four positions were: Jenni Bowser (27:05), Lisa Neilson (27:26), Valerie Hamilton (27:37), and Melanie Deniker (27:54) Erin Sines and Laurie Stanton won ninth and tenth with times of 28:12 and 29:30.

Central Preston won the boys' competition with 20 points, followed by Northern with 36 and West Preston, incomplete. Central won four of the top five positions, as Paul Martin (18:54), Randy Phillips (19:03), and Chris Felton (19:04) were the top three finishers.

Northern's Jason Schroyer was fourth with a time of 19:14, Doug Woods of Central finished fifth (19:54), and Northern's Jerry Buckel (19:54) and Ron Sines (20:02) were sixth and seventh.

In the boys' Bi-County competition, Schroyer placed third overall with a time of 16:49, behind Allegany's Brian Shrout (16:04) and Mark Amann (16:13). Shrout's time was a course record.

Northern's Jerry Buckel was 11th (18:21) and Ron Sines placed 13th (18:45).

The Allegany boys won the event with 20 points, followed by the Huskies with 63, Fort Hill and Bishop Walsh with 82 each, and Beall with 86.

The Allegany girls also won, with 23 points, followed by Bishop Walsh with 46, Beall with 68, Northern with 97, and Fort Hill, incomplete.

There were no Northern girls among the top 15 finishers.

Vanessa Mehanna, of Bishop Walsh, shattered the girls' course record with a first place time of 19:04, while Allegany girls won the next four positions.

The Northern teams will participate in the 1A regional event at Smithsburg High School on November 2.

"We feel we have a real good shot at qualifying our entire girls team for the state meet and probably three of our boys," Coach Charlie Himmler said. "Our girls need to win third place at regionals and believe that third place will be a close battle between us and Beall."

Himmler believes Schroyer, who is ranked sixth in the region, and Sines and Buckel, who are ranked ninth and 11th, all have a shot at the state tourney.

PROTECTING THE HEARING AID FROM HARD KNOCKS

A hearing aid is a delicate mechanism. Avoid bumping it against hard objects. Never try to remove it while standing in an area where the aid may fall into water or onto a hard surface.

If your hearing aid accidentally becomes wet, do not attempt to dry it in an oven or with a hot air dryer.

Do not use hair spray while wearing the aid. The spray may cause damage to the microphone.

Rams Lose To Lions, 3-0, On Last-Minute Field Goal

State playoff hopes for the Southern High Rams were dashed Friday night by a single kick of the football, as Tucker County's Ben Kissamore booted a 24-yard field goal with 1:09 remaining in the game to record the contest's only points and a 3-0 win for the Mountain Lions.

The Rams had several scoring opportunities and held the Lions to just 80 yards in total offense, but simply could not put any points on the board for the second time this season. The Rams' only other loss in seven games was a 16-0 defeat by Musselman.

The Rams controlled the first three quarters of the contest, but Tucker County took charge in the fourth, and most important, period to record their fifth win in nine games.

Tailback Mike Dever led the Southern offense with 90 yards on 23 carries, while Doug Lewis added 36 yards on just three carries before having to leave the game with what was thought to be a broken hand. It was discovered later that his hand was not broken and he is expected to return to the starting lineup this week.

The Rams moved the ball to the Tucker County six-yard line in just six plays in the second quarter, and had a first and goal situation, but were pushed back to the 13 and held. John Milligan's 31-yard field goal attempt on a fourth-and-seven play was wide to the left.

In that drive Dever carried the ball to the two-yard line for an apparent first down, but the play was called back on what games films later showed to be an inaccurate call by the referees.

Tucker County took possession at the 20-yard line following Milligan's missed field goal attempt, but three plays later Greg Evans pass was intercepted at mid-field by Southern's Mike Fulmer.

Southern failed to move the ball and had to punt, but kept Tucker County in its own half of the field most of the half.

The Lions' defense apparently made some halftime adjustments and came back out after intermission to totally halt Dever's running attack. Dever had a minus two yards in five carries in the second half.

On the second play of the second half, the Rams fumbled the ball away on their own 36, but Evans was again intercepted two plays later.

After a Tucker County drive stalled on the Southern 41 with about four minutes left in the game, Kissamore punted the ball away to the Southern three-yard line. On the Rams' first play after the punt, Dever was pushed back to the one. On the next play, Dever quick-kicked the ball, which the Lions received on the Southern 25.

4-25	Penalties-Yards	4 35

Tucker County moved to the Southern four in seven plays, as Evans connected with Todd Cynder with two passes, one of which was on a fourth-and-three play. Then on fourth-and-goal from the four, Kissamore successfully booted the ball through the uprights to win the game.

Rob Moyer led Tucker County's rushing effort with 35 yards on 12 carries.

NORTHERN HIGH ROYALTY — Kim Green, a senior at Northern High School, was declared the Northern Homecoming Queen during halftime ceremonies at the Northern-Petersburg football game Friday night. Kim's escort was Johnny Joe Friend and conducting the coronation was Northern principal, Mildred Wucik, and last year's queen, Lisa Swauger.

Pacing the Ram defense was Marshall Pike, who returned to his linebacker position after being out for several weeks with a broken hand. Pike recorded 14 tackles and B.J. Shaffer finished with eight.

"This was one of the most frustrating losses I've ever had," Southern Coach Tom Woods stated. "We owned the first three quarters of the game and they owned the fourth quarter. But we did not execute well and our game preparation left something to be desired.

"When we lost Doug Lewis in the first half we had to move Dever to fullback and Jeremy Bosley took the tailback spot, which caused some adjustment problems for us," he continued. "We dominated the line play in the first half and most of the third quarter and they dominated it the rest of the way."

Although Lewis is expected to be back in the line-up this week, more injuries and other situations since the Tucker County game have Woods greatly concerned about the Rams' chances against a veteran Bishop Walsh team. Senior guard Chuck Graham sustained a neck injury Tuesday at practice and will be sidelined this week and B.J. Shaffer was at the hospital Wednesday afternoon to have a rib injury checked.

However, the biggest blow to the Ram offense is the loss of Mike Dever from the team for reasons other than injury that Woods did not wish to discuss.

Senior tailback Billy Welch, who has been out of action for several weeks with a broken foot, is listed as "85 percent" and will play this week, Woods said.

"We will also be playing some of our younger players, such as Mike Stewart at defensive end, Bosley in the backfield, and Joby Tasker and Dave Kurtz on the line," Woods said, noting that the remainder of the Southern jayvee schedule has been cancelled because the varsity needs the players.

Woods also said that Marshall Pike would probably see some action at the tailback position.

The Rams will need an outstanding effort from everyone in the program this week when they host the Bishop Walsh Spartans, a team that is loaded with three-year starters, including the area's most outstanding running back in senior Joe Ross (5-10, 183).

"This is the team that Bishop Walsh has been working toward for the past three years," Woods said. "They are very sound and have few weaknesses. Their only losses have been to Fort Hill and Allegany, and they played evenly with them until midway through the third quarter."

Woods describes Ross as "the most complete football player I've seen since I've been in Oakland." No one has held Ross to fewer than 150 yards this season, including the past three games which he has played with a hairline fracture in his foot. Two weeks ago, fracture and all, he gained 289 yards against Beall.

"He is just a super player, both offensively and defensively," Woods said.

BW is also led offensively by three-year starting quarterback Scott Mahle (6-0, 157), son of Coach Walley Mahle. "He is an extremely good leader on the field," Woods said, "and one of the top place kickers in the area."

Another top player is senior wing back Donald Princess (6-0, 180) and the line is anchored by three third-year senior starters in Ray Spriggs (5-10, 241) at guard, Tony Lohmier (6-2, 208) at tackle, and Jim Cefaly (6-1, 166) at tight end.

The Spartans use the flanker-I, power-I, and pro-I formations primarily, all centered around Ross, who carries the ball 30 to 40 times per game.

Their 6-2 defense is led by sophomore linebacker Rob Hovatter (5-8, 160), Cefaly also at linebacker, junior guard George Kelly (6-1, 210), and senior defensive end Mike Krampf (5-10, 155).

"But the real strength of their defense is their secondary," Woods said, which is composed of Princess, Mahle, and Ross.

"They are a very experienced team and, while we know we can't stop Ross, our defense has played very well against the run this year," Woods said. "So we hope we can at least keep him in check.

"It has really been an unusual and frustrating season for us," Woods added. "Just when we feel like we are solidifying into a good team, two more people get hurt. It is demoralizing, and the wear and tear on the kids is really beginning to show. But things like that (injuries) you just really can't control."

Friday will be Senior Parent Night for the Rams and the kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Southern field.

Steelers Win League Title In Controversy

After several weeks of controversy over game sites, officiating and gate receipts, The Northern Steelers were declared champions of the Mt. Top Youth Football League for the 1989 season. According to Maryland High School Rules, the referees present established the score at 2-0, after the Terra Alta Dolphins refused to show up for the game.

This is the second year in a row the Steelers have won the championship, upping their record to 18 consecutive wins.

Steeler Coach Larry Brenneman expressed deep concern for the disappointment he said he, his players, and families have endured these past weeks.

"We told our team and parents exactly what has taken place since October 8," Brenneman said. "They were, needless to say, upset over the entire situation. We still don't know exactly what we did, other than soundly beat every team in the League, not one, but two years in a row. Apparently, some coaches cannot take losing two years in a row to a Northern team.

The Steelers defeated the Oakland Raiders 12-6 in triple overtime on October 15 to win the League's Maryland title and the berth in the championship game against the West Virginia champs.

Brenneman said that on October 15 the Oakland Raiders, Terra Alta Dolphins, Parsons Vikings, Thomas Davis Rams, and Kingwood Bears coaching staffs met and decided to form their own league the week before the Mt. Top Youth League championship game. The Steelers were informed by Raider Coach Dave Martin on Monday, October 16, that they (the Steelers), along with the Oakland Jets were not part of the new League.

Since there was no official word that the Mt. Top Youth Football League was being dissolved, the Steelers were at the Southern field ready to play on Sunday.

"The Steeler coaching staff is very proud of the sportsmanship their players, cheerleaders, parents and staff have displayed during this controversy," Brenneman added. "We also thank the Northern High Athletic Department for their support during this matter."

Raider Coach Dave Martin said the problems with the league "go way back," not only over the past season but even years.

"The main problem, as I see it, is that there has not been any record keeping or minutes taken at our meetings to verify what we agree to," he said. "Then individuals take it upon themselves to just change the rules whenever they want to."

Examples he gave were that the rules state that rosters are to be limited to 33 players, but the Jets had 38 players this year.

Another league rule says that, if a team gets ahead by three touchdowns, they are to pull their first string and play the second and third string. If the opposing team scores, then the first team can be put back in the game. But Martin said that on several occasions this year the Steelers ran their lead well beyond three touchdowns before pulling their first string.

He said the rules say teams are to get their players from local schools, but the Steelers recruited players from the Salem School and even a few from out of state.

He noted that Coach Brenneman and Denver Welch, president of the league, took it upon themselves to raise the gate fees at the Raider-Steeler playoff game.

"They were charging $3 for adults and $2 for all children," he said. "They even charged $2 for a baby that was being carried by its mother."

The rules state that the gate fees were to be $2 for children, $1 for youth 9 and older, and free for all other children.

Martin also said that the Steelers failed to have the scales at the field for the playoff game, which is also in accordance with league rules.

"When it's our home game, those scales have to be picked up by us and returned after the game," he said. "They (Brenneman and his staff) knew that, but they didn't get the scales."

Martin noted various other events and situations off record that he says contributed to the problems with the league.

"All I can say is that I feel that I have done nothing wrong and we need to sit down and work this thing out," he said.

A meeting of the league is scheduled for Tuesday night.

Northern Girls Fall To Hyndman And Mt. Savage

The Northern High girls' varsity basketball team dropped a pair of tough matches this past week to drop to 6-4 on the season. Coach Vonda Yunker's squad was defeated by Mt. Savage in five games, 15-6, 6-15, 15-11, 12-15, and 15-11, and then fell to Hyndman in two games, 15-8 and 15-5.

Pam Brenneman led the Huskies against Mt. Savage by scoring 18 service points, including five aces and a game point. Kristin Edwards and Tammy Brenneman chipped in with 14 and nine points, respectively.

Although Northern generated 32 spikes on the evening, the Indians' defense rose to the occasion and hung on for the victory. Edwards led the net attack with 16 spikes, while Pam and Tammy Brenneman added nine and seven, respectively.

Cara Wachter paced Northern against Hyndman, as she recorded seven service points.

The Huskies managed only eight kills, with Edwards accounting for half of them.

"It seems like we're playing two seasons," Coach Yunker said. "We were 5-0 the first half and then we dropped four of five in the second half. We've got to turn things around in our last two matches to conclude the season on a positive note."

Northern's jayvees also tasted defeat at the hands of Hyndman, losing in two games, 15-9 and 15-9. Melissa Thomas led Northern with five points and April Slagle recorded five kills.

The Little Huskies are 5-2 on the season.

Steve Prosser's goal with 7 minutes into the first sudden-death period gave A&A Realty/Deep Creek Soccer Club a 5-4 victory this past Sunday over The Blast of Mt. Savage. Mike Hoffeditz's hat trick and Steve Prosser's two goals paced the victorious Garrett County ball club.

The Deep Creek Club finished the regular season with three wins to record their best season in the eight years since the club was formed.

A&A started the storing two minutes into the first quarter as Prosser fed Hoffeditz, who tallied from 10 yards for the goal. The Blast came right back two minutes later when Rodney Lehman scored the first of his three goals.

A&A made it 2-1 three minutes into a wild second quarter that saw four shots hit the back of the nets. Manford Bustamante sent a pass to Hoffeditz to the right of the goal, who took the shot from a hard angle and just beat The Blast goalkeeper.

The Blast responded as Lehman punched in another shot to knot the score at 2-2.

Hoffeditz answered the Blast's goal with five minutes left in the half as he took a break away pass just past midfield and raced downfield to beat the keeper to score his hat trick and put A&A up, 3-2.

Lehman was not to be outdone as he tied the score for The Blast to record his hat trick with just over one minute to play in the half.

The Blast took a 4-3 lead with just two minutes gone in the third quarter when Kenny Bennett took a pass from George Nolan and beat goalkeeper John Steele. The Blast settled back into a nine-man defense that clogged the middle and did not allow A&A any shots on goal without having at least two defenders marking the shooter.

This defnese just about won the game; but, with just two and half minutes left in the match, Hoffeditz intercepted a clearing pass from The Blast. From 50 yards away, Hoffeditz controlled the ball, raced down the right wing and crossed the ball into the goalmouth. Prosser took the pass and, with two defenders covering him, got a shot off that went into the upper right hand corner to tie the score and send it into overtime.

Neither team could get much offense going in the overtime until Dave Insley came up for his fullback position to steal the ball at midfield. Insley quickly sent a pass down the left side of the field. Ned Holloway raced down the ball and beat the defense to the mark. Holloway took the ball to the corner and sent a pass to Prosser, who was standing five-yards to the left of the goal. Prosser faked his defender to the ground, took two steps to his right, and rifled his shot past the goal keeper to give The Deep Creek Soccer Club their third win of the season.

A&A has never won more than one game in a season and went their first five seasons without a win or a tie. They will now try to win their first playoff game on Sunday, November 5. Their opponent has not been determined since there is a four-team log jam at the top of the standings. A&A has a bye this last weekend of the season and finishes the regular season with a 3-5 record.

Local Ski Shop Participating In Benefit Program

Tips Up Ski Shop, Inc., McHenry, is accepting donations of used ski gear and clothing from consumers for nonprofit groups in the community. The ski shop is taking part in Subaru Deduct-A-Ski 1989, a nationwide program that distributes ski equipment and clothing to local charities for use in skiing programs. Tips Up will provide tax deduction receipts for all equipment, and donate usable gear to Appalachian Crossroads.

"Subaru Deduct-A-Ski is a great way for consumers to clean their closets of unused ski equipment," says Mark Ruhe of Tips Up. "They get a tax deduction, and a great feeling of helping others. Disadvantaged and handicapped athletes get a chance to learn to ski and ski race. Everybody truly benefits from a program like this."

Subaru Deduct-A-Ski began in 1982, and now benefits over 320 nonprofit groups across the country. Since its inception, over $7.6 million of equipment and clothing has been donated to groups such as Special Olympics, National Handicapped Sport, and the Boys and Girls Clubs of America "Thanks to donations of equipment through Subaru Deduct-A-Ski, our athletes learn new skills and increase their confidence level," says Jeff Byrne, director of alpine skiing for the Special Olympics.

Over 325 ski shops nationwide are participating in the program, which began August 1 and runs through December 31, 1989. The program is sponsored by United Ski Industries Association (USIA), and Subaru of America.

PANCAKES

—Classic Breakfast Fare—

CHOCOLATE CHOCOLATE HOT CAKES

2 cups cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons cocoa
3 large eggs
1¼ cups milk
¼ cup butter, melted
Confectioners' sugar
Cinnamon
Filling:
6 (1-ounce) squares semisweet chocolate or 6 ounces semisweet chocolate chips
¾ cup butter
1½ cups confectioners' sugar
6 egg yolks
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Sift the dry ingredients together into a large bowl. In another bowl, beat the eggs and milk together. Whisk them into the dry mixture. When smooth, cover and let rest 1 hour. Heat a griddle over moderate heat until a drop of water skates over the surface. Fold the melted butter into the batter and drop by tablespoonfuls, stirring before each use. Cook the cakes until they are golden and glazed. Place them on a cookie sheet, stacking or overlapping, until all are made. Cover the cakes with a tea cloth and set them aside. To make the filling, melt the chocolate and butter together in the top of a double boiler over hot but not boiling water. Remove from the hot water when melted. In a large bowl, beat the sugar and egg yolks until light and fluffy. Stir in the chocolate mixture and the vanilla. Mix gently and cover the bowl with a cloth and refrigerate 4 hours or more. (This step can be done well in advance of serving). To serve, spread half the cakes with the chocolate filling and cover each with a second cake. Serve 3 small sandwiched pancake pairs to each guest. Sift confectioners' sugar over the cakes and sprinkle them lightly with cinnamon.

BUTTERMILK PANCAKES

2 cups unbleached, all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
1 large egg
2 cups buttermilk, plus 2 additional tablespoons if necessary
2 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted, or vegetable oil or bacon fat

Combine the flour, baking soda, baking powder, and sugar in a large bowl. Break the egg into a 4-cup measure, add the buttermilk, and mix thoroughly. Add to the flour mixture and beat with a whisk or mixer until smooth. Pour into a covered container, refrigerate overnight. Next morning, beat the batter thoroughly, adding up 2 tablespoons of buttermilk as needed until the batter is of pouring consistency. Stir in the melted butter, oil, or bacon fat. Grease the griddle or skillet and heat over medium heat until a drop of water skates over the surface. Using a ¼-cup measure, pour the batter onto the hot griddle, leaving an inch between cakes for spreading. (If you like larger pancakes, use a larger measure or ladle for pouring). Cook until bubbles appear, then turn with a spatula or pancake turner to brown the other side. Serve immediately, or keep warm in an ovenproof dish in a preheated 200°F. oven. Serve with honey or syrup.

PUMPKIN-SPICE PANCAKES

2⅓ cups biscuit baking mix
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
1 cup milk
2 eggs
⅓ cup canned pumpkin
¼ cup vegetable oil
Maple-Nut Syrup (below)

Beat all ingredients with wire whisk on hand beater until smooth. Pour batter by ¼ cupfuls onto hot griddle (grease if necessary). Cook until edges are dry. Turn, cook until golden brown. Serve with Maple-Nut Syrup. Yield: About 18 pancakes.

Maple-Nut Syrup: Heat 1 cup syrup and 1 tablespoon margarine or butter in 1-quart saucepan until margarine is melted and syrup is warm. Remove from heat, stir in ¼ cup chopped pecans.

SNAPPY POTATO PANCAKES

½ cup peeled, shredded potato (about 1 medium potato)
1 cup complete or buttermilk complete pancake and waffle mix
¾ cup water
½ teaspoon instant minced onion
Dairy sour cream
Frozen chopped chives

Heat griddle over medium-high heat (375 degrees electric griddle), grease lightly. Place potato between paper towels, press lightly to absorb moisture. Combine pancake mix, water and potato, mix just until large lumps disappear. (Batter will have small lumps which will disappear during baking). For each pancake, pour scant ¼ cup batter onto prepared griddle. Turn when pancakes begin to rise and edges look cooked. Turn only once. For each serving, place 2 pancakes on a serving plate. Dollop with sour cream, sprinkle with chives. Makes 6 servings.

STRAWBERRY PANCAKE DELIGHT

2 eggs
2⅓ cups biscuit mix
¾ cup milk
¼ cup vegetable oil
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
Margarine or butter, softened
Brown sugar
1½ qt. strawberries, sliced and sweetened
Dairy sour cream

Beat eggs in small bowl on high speed until thick and lemon colored, about 5 minutes. Mix in baking mix, milk, oil and granulated sugar with wire whisk, beat 30 strokes. Pour batter by ¼ cupfuls onto medium-hot ungreased griddle. Cook until edges are dry. Turn, cook until golden brown. Stack 2 pancakes, spreading each with margarine and sprinkling with brown sugar. Top each stack with strawberries and a dollop of sour cream, sprinkle with brown sugar. 6 servings.

MAPLE-BACON OVEN PANCAKE

1½ cups biscuit baking mix
1½ cups shredded Cheddar or process American cheese
¾ cup milk
¼ cup syrup
1 tablespoon sugar
2 eggs
12 slices bacon (about ½ pound) crisply cooked and crumbled

Grease and flour rectangular baking dish, 13x9x2." Beat baking mix, ½ cup of the cheese, the milk, syrup, sugar and eggs with wire whisk or hand beater until only small lumps remain, pour into dish. Bake uncovered until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, 10 to 15 minutes. Sprinkle pancake with remaining cheese and the bacon. Bake uncovered until cheese is melted, 3 to 5 minutes longer. Serve with maple-flavored syrup if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

PERFECT PINEAPPLE PANCAKES

1 20-ounce can sliced pineapple in unsweetened pineapple juice, undrained
Water
2 cups complete or buttermilk complete pancake and waffle mix
Regular, lite or butter lite syrup, warmed
Chopped pecans

Heat griddle over medium-high heat (375 degrees electric griddle), grease lightly. Drain pineapple, reserving 1 cup juice. Add enough water to reserved pineapple juice to equal 1½ cups. Combine pancake mix and liquid; mix just until large lumps disappear. (Batter will have small lumps which will disappear during baking). For each pancake, pour ¼ cup batter onto prepared griddle. Turn when pancakes begin to rise and edges looked cooked. Turn only once. To assemble, place pancakes on serving plate, place pineapple slices between pancakes. Serve with warm syrup and chopped pecans. Makes 4 servings.

PEACHES 'N CREAM PANCAKES

1 cup original pancake and waffle mix
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Non-dairy whipped topping or plain or vanilla yogurt
1 8½ ounce can lite sliced peaches, drained
Red raspberry preserves

Heat griddle over high heat (400 degrees electric griddle), grease lightly. Combine pancake mix, milk, egg, oil and cinnamon, mix just until large lumps disappear. (Batter will have small lumps which will disappear during baking). Let stand 1 to 2 minutes to thicken. For each pancake, pour scant ¼ cup batter onto prepared griddle. Turn only once. For each serving, arrange 3 pancakes on a serving plate. Dollop with shipped topping, arrange 3 to 4 sliced peaches around topping. Drizzle with about 1 tablespoon preserves. Makes 4 servings.

LIZ'S CHOCOLATE WAFFLES

⅔ cup flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons unsweetened cocoa
⅓ cup sugar
¼ cup sour cream
3 tablespoons butter, melted
2 eggs, separated
Pinch of cream of tartar

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, cocoa, and sugar into a bowl. Combine sour cream, melted butter, and egg yolks in another bowl. In a third bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff and shiny. Stir ingredients of second bowl into first bowl. Fold in beaten egg whites. Using a medium-size spoon, place about 2 tablespoons of batter in center of heated electric waffle iron. Close top quickly so batter will not start cooking before it has spread to edges of waffle iron. Each waffle iron is different and comes with its own set of instructions for length of cooking time. These can be served with Liz's butter: 1 stick softened butter or margarine creamed with ½-teaspoon cinnamon and 1 tablespoon honey. Serves 2-4.

A Time For Learning

These are wonderful years, when there is so much to learn—and hours enough in which to learn it.

Youth has an unquenchable thirst for knowledge; also the desire, the capacity and the energy to absorb—if given even a little encouragement. But today, perhaps more than ever before in history, youth does need guidance.

Be sure the young people in your life have the opportunity to examine the whole picture. But in their search for the stars, don't let them forget the miracle of this planet upon which they live and its Creator.

Guide them toward their church or synagogue.

HOW MUCH WATER SHOULD YOU DRINK?

All living cells of the body function in a fluid environment. This fluid is steadily lost through the gastrointestinal and urinal tracts. More is lost by perspiration and through the lungs. It must be replaced because the skin cannot absorb moisture from the air no matter how humid the day.

The body usually functions best if two quarts of liquids are taken in each day. One quart is considered the minimum. So estimate how much you get each day in coffee, etc., and drink additional water to help keep you healthier.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

SPIRITUAL FREELOADERS
October 29, 1989

Background Scripture: 2 Thessalonians 2 through 3
Devotional Reading: Matthew 24:15-28

I've known a fair number of people in the churches I've served who always could be counted upon to do much more than their share. As a pastor I was always glad to have these people. But I would have been just as satisfied to have everyone do just his own share. The fact is, in the church, like just about everywhere else, there are lots of freeloaders, people who don't pull their own weight.

I'm reminded of the young man who was inducted into the U.S. Navy. In his first letter home he wrote, "Dear Mom, I joined the Navy because I noticed that they always kept their ships so nice and clean. Now I know who it is that keeps them nice and clean!" Lots of people take for granted the tremendous amount of effort that goes into sustaining congregational life. When they arrive at church there's never any question but that it will be open, lighted, heated or cooled, cleaned and ready for worship or Sunday school. There will be worship bulletins handed out at the door, fresh flowers on the altar, an anthem for the choir and a sermon from the minister. It would never occur to anyone that any of these elements might not be ready on any particular Sunday morning.

DOING YOUR SHARE

I now am on the staff of a very large United Methodist Church with a considerable staff of paid employees. But even with all our paid employees, the church still couldn't begin to fulfill its basic functions without the efforts of lots and lots of volunteers. ("Volunteers" includes people who didn't actually volunteer, but didn't say "no" when you asked them.) No church can be very effective in serving either its members or the community unless it can find enough people who are willing to do their share and perhaps more.

I have found over the years that most of the freeloading in the church is unintentional and unconscious. These people don't go out of their way to shirk their share of the work; for the most part they are simply oblivious. They never stop to think how all these necessary tasks are accomplished in the church. And the reason they are usually unaware is that someone else has picked up their share of the load.

GOOD EXAMPLES

Paul's concern for the people of the church at Thessalonica was along these same lines, although the cause was somewhat different. Lots of these people were so certain that Christ's return was just around the corner that they just sat and waited. Paul pointedly reminds the Thessalonians of the example he and his associates set when they were with him: "We were not idle when we were with you, we did not eat anyone's bread without paying, but with toil and labor we worked night and day, that we might not burden any of you" (3:8). It was because of this example that they set before the church at Thessalonica that Paul and his associates felt confident in commanding them: "If any one will not work, let him not eat" (3:10).

Spiritual freeloading is even more of a concern beyond the walls of the church. If the church is to preach the gospel, heal the sick and minister to those who are captives, it means that all of us must do our share. The mission that confronts our churches will not prove to be impossible if each of us carries our own weight. As Paul reminds us, "Brethren, do not be weary in welldoing" (3:13).

'Final Days' depicts end of Nixon's term

Film shows man in emotional struggle

By Justin Marshall

The Final Days, the best-selling book written by Pulitzer Prize-winning investigative reporters Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward about the fall of President Richard Milhous Nixon, is dramatized in a three-hour AT&T Presentation to air Sunday on ABC.

The book is based on 395 interviews with those closest to the president, including advisors, lawyers, family and friends. It emphasizes the loneliness Nixon endured as an individual because of the laws he broke as a public figure.

"I am fascinated with the internal man who is at odds, to some extent perhaps, with that public man," said Bernstein, who with Woodward broke the story of the bugging of the Democratic headquarters at the Watergate Hotel, and Nixon's subsequent disregard for the Constitution in the follow-up investigation.

The book The Final Days reflects on specific incredible incidents that occurred as the Watergate investigation continued and as Nixon finally realized he would become the first president in the history of the United States to resign from office.

Among incidents recalled are the time he knelt with Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and prayed, and the moving speeches he made as he finally admitted to his wrongdoing.

"I don't think Richard Nixon is a Greek tragedy. I think he's a great drama," said actor Lane Smith of the historical figure he portrays in The Final Days. "I think, in a curious way, there is an element of redemption in what happened .... I think that night that he got down on his knees with Kissinger, and whatever his prayer was, and whatever surrender that he went through, I think the man was restored to his roots."

Smith said that, although he had only a week to prepare for the role before filming began, he became thoroughly engulfed in working on his portrayal. He approached the part both on a physical and an emotional level.

He studied video tapes from the first Nixon Administration to get the president's mannerisms down pat. "I had to get that physicality almost in my soul," Smith said.

The tragic emotional state was a bit more difficult and compelling for the actor.

"I had to parallel those things in my own life. I had to recreate those emotions in my own life," he said. "I called on my own experience. Things that I have experienced that parallel what he went through."

As a lighter side to the intense drama of The Final Days, Bernstein is proud of the fact that neither he nor Woodward has revealed the identity of their source, known as "Deep Throat."

"It's the only real secret in the whole world, I think. And Woodward and I know. Nobody else knows. It's terrific. The Russians know what we do, we know what the Russians do, but nobody knows who this guy is."

Lane Smith stars as President Richard M. Nixon in the three-hour docudrama, The Final Days, the behind-the-scenes private story of Watergate, one of the most momentous events in recent American history, airing Sunday on ABC.

Cable stations feature haunting selection of Halloween movies

By Shelia Odak

Ghosts, goblins, witches, warlocks and things that go bump in the night. That's what you can expect when Oct. 31 rolls around. You can also expect to be bombarded with every horror film ever made. That's exactly what cable is offering this Halloween. So, turn out the lights, cuddle close to someone and prepare to be scared out of your socks.

The festivities start on Oct. 30 when Cinemax presents Horror Night. Beginning that afternoon, madmen and demons will invade the television starting with The Werewolf, and continuing in that fine horror tradition with such classics as My Best Friend Is a Vampire, Poltergeist II: The Other Side, Poltergeist III, Pumpkinhead (one of my personal favorites), Waxwork (watch out for the head-squooshing scene) and The Shining.

On the 31st, things really get rolling. The good thing about the selections are that there is something for everyone to enjoy, from the youngest child who believes ghosts live under his bed, to the teenager who wants to see as much blood and guts as he possibly can, to those who enjoy a good, old-fashioned black and white thriller.

For the older members of the family, HBO offers three of its original Tales from the Crypt stories in a special titled Trilogy. These are guaranteed to make your hair stand on end and your flesh crawl.

For the younger generation, Disney is offering a special night of gentler Halloween stories. The lineup includes The Adventures of Icabod and Mr. Toad and Halloween Is Grinch Night. Afterward, when the kids have gone to bed, mom and dad can enjoy The Ghost and Mrs. Muir and The Haunting of Barney Palmer.

Heather O'Rourke, Poltergeist

Everyone in the family can partake of these next selections. Nickelodeon is presenting a marathon four hours of Bewitched, which features the first episodes of the series. AMC is offering its own brand of trick or treat fun with Son of Dracula, Black Friday, This Is Your Life: Boris Karloff, House of Frankenstein and Dracula's Daughter.

Die-hard fans of Frankenstein will want to be sure and catch the tripleheader on The Movie Channel, which features Frankenstein, Bride of Frankenstein and Son of Frankenstein. (What? No Second Cousin Once Removed of Frankenstein?)

For those who would rather laugh than scream, there is also The Ghost and Mr. Chicken and Munster, Go Home on TBS.

There's no way one person could watch all these selections, so pick out your favorites, grab the remote control, and all the Halloween candy you didn't give away, and enjoy ghosts and goblins from the safety of your own easy chair.

Jaclyn Smith stars in Settle the Score as a Chicago policewoman who, having been raped 20 years before, returns home to find her attacker, Monday on NBC.

Jaclyn Smith plays victim bent on tracking rapist

Howard Duff plays mysterious role

By Mary Ann Townsend

Jaclyn Smith stars as a Chicago policewoman who returns to her hometown to track down the man who raped her 20 years earlier in Settle the Score, Monday, Oct. 30, on NBC.

When she returns, she discovers that similar assaults are still being committed, and becomes even more determined to reveal her assailant's identity.

Howard Duff stars as her father, who mysteriously gives her a cold reception. Richard Masur plays her older brother. Louise Latham plays her mother and Jeffrey DeMunn portrays her childhood friend, who becomes her sole confidant and partner in the investigation when her family discourages her from exposing the secret of her rape.

"It's kind of an unraveling of, she has a score to settle but we don't know with whom," Duff said. "It goes on from there, and to tell you anymore than that would give away the plot. But anyway, it's kind of dark and violent, and kind of scary, I guess, from her standpoint because she doesn't know who it is that's guilty."

Duff is a veteran of more than 40 years of acting, starting in the late 1940s with the radio role of detective Sam Spade. He made his feature film debut in 1947's Brute Force, and most recently appeared in No Way Out with Kevin Costner and Gene Hackman. His television career runs the gamut from a show he did with his ex-wife, Ida Lupino, called Mr. Adams and Eve in the 1950s, to the primetime soaps Flamingo Road and Knots Landing in the 1980s.

Broadcast dates are set for NBA's 44th season

By Jeff Thompson

The NBA will tip off its 1989-90 season with a dozen games on Friday night, Nov. 3, with the expansion Minnesota Timberwolves and Orlando Magic raising the number of teams to 27.

The Timberwolves will open at Seattle on Nov. 3, and The Magic will play its first game on Nov. 4, against the New Jersey Nets at the Orlando Arena.

On opening night, the defending champion Detroit Pistons will open at home against the New York Knicks in the first half of a nationally televised TNT cable doubleheader, with Golden State at Phoenix in the second game.

Also on TNT, on Tuesday, Oct. 31, will be the annual NBA Hall of Fame Game from Springfield, Mass. This year's contest pits Milwaukee against New York.

The league's 44th season will consist of 1,107 games, up from 1,025 a year ago to accommodate the two new teams. The season will run 171 days, the same as last year, and conclude on Sunday, April 22, 1990.

Each of the league's 27 teams will appear at least once on TNT, while as many as 15 teams could appear on CBS, depending on choices to be made for six dates on which the network has listed alternative games. That network will carry 16 games throughout the season, the same number as last year.

Unclaimed Funds Ads Generate 1,250 Inquiries

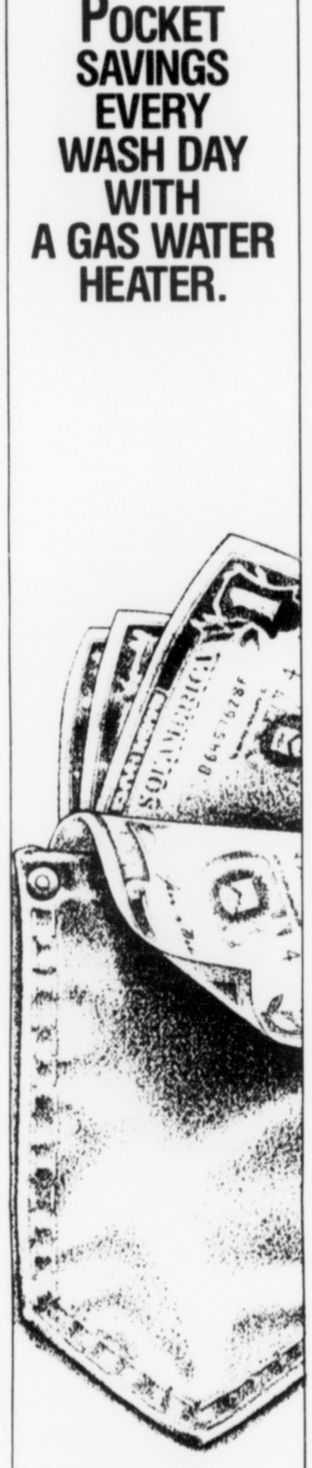

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein said the Unclaimed Property Section of his office received more than 1,250 inquiries last week as a result of advertising 6,740 names of apparent rightful owners of uncollected insurance benefits or other unclaimed funds.

The ads, which are also running in newspapers this week, are attempting to locate owners of approximately $1.7 million in insurance benefits. "If you see your name or the name of someone you know, there are instructions at the top of the advertisement telling you how to contact our office," Goldstein said.

The comptroller noted that the unclaimed insurance benefits being advertised often result from matured endowment policies taken out on children, while they were young. "The policy might still have a cash value, even if the payments weren't kept up," he said.

If the funds remain unclaimed, the money is transferred to the state. "However, that doesn't mean the money is lost to its rightful owner," Goldstein said. "Under Maryland's custodial law, the rightful owner or legitimate heir can claim the funds at any time in the future."

Brethren Church To Hold Peace Event Saturday

A Peace Event will be held this Saturday, October 28, at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren, at 12:30 p.m., beginning with a "pot luck" meal and with a program to follow. This event is designed for all age groups and there will be opportunities to share concerns and ask questions, according to the Rev. Paul Stauffer, pastor, who invites the public to attend.

Rev. Stauffer said each year the Brethren Peace Fellowship encourages emphasis on peace program in worship services and special events. "The purpose is to lift up the Christian Peace witness as part of the gospel, to explore and discuss a Biblical basis of peace, and the historical peace position of the Church as related to personal, community, and world choices and concerns," he said.

This year the Peace Committee has as its leader, David Eberly, program coordinator of the Brethren World Peace Academy, New Windsor, ordained minister, retired school teacher, lawyer, and presently engaged in Reconciliation Median studies at George Mason University.

"This Peace Event should provide 'food' for the followers of Christ as they seek to learn the things that make for peace," the Rev. Stauffer said.

The Oak Park Church is located just off old Rt. 135 across from Southern High School.

COMMUNITY SERVICE DAY was proclaimed recently and members of the Student Service Alliance classes at both Northern and Southern high schools participated in the observance by landscaping the areas around their school signs. New Project To Aid Landowners And Wildlife

The University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service (MCES) is introducing a new educational effort to help landowners and land managers improve wildlife habitat through the use of good forest management practices.

The Coverts Project for Wildlife and Forestry in Maryland is funded by a grant from the Ruffed Grouse Society and developed in cooperation with the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. (The word "coverts" refers to thickets that provide shelter for wildlife).

Recent studies of private landowners in Maryland and elsewhere show that people own land for a variety of reasons, with aesthetics, recreational opportunities and habitat for wildlife topping the list. Timber is less important to most landowners.

"We hope the Coverts Project will help dispel the belief that forest management means nothing more than timber production," says Jonathan Kays, an MCES regional natural resources specialist. "Our goal is to show by example that forest management is compatible with a variety of landowner objectives, including recreation and wildlife protection."

Initially, the program will involve 30 woodland owners nominated by agencies, organizations and individuals involved in forestry and wildlife management. Once selected, these participants will attend a free, expense-paid, three-day workshop to learn about the concepts of ecology, management and use of forest resources; communication and leadership skills; and factors that affect the way forests are managed. They will then be asked to share this information with other woodland owners.

"We don't expect these volunteers to become experts in forest management, but rather to learn enough to be able to assist other woodland owners," says Kays. "We'll ask them to develop action plans they feel will be most effective in their communities."

He expects widespread support for the program because it offers both economic and environmental benefits.

Kays is preparing a brochure that will provide more details on the project. It will be available this fall at local Extension offices, Soil and Water Conservation District offices, and offices of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. Persons interested in receiving a brochure can also call Jonathan Kays at (301) 791-2298 for more information.

Resort Management Program Developers Hosted At Luncheon

A luncheon for community persons who helped Garrett Community College develop the curriculum for the new Resort Management program was held recently at the college. Highlight of the occasion was the official "unveiling" of the program by Dean Lillian Mitchell.

In her presentation, Dean Mitchell pointed out that, once this program has been approved by the State Board for Community Colleges, it will attract high level students because it will be an exemplary program. One of its requirements will be the completion of 600 hours of practical experience in all phases of resort management.

The Resort Management program, which GCC plans to implement in September, 1990, will be articulated with Frostburg State University so that students can complete four years of study.

Attending the luncheon from Frostburg State University were Dr. Dan Pantaleo, vice-president for Academic Affairs, and Dr. Charles Sterrett, chairman of the Business Department. Representing Garrett Community College were Dean Mitchell, Dr. Steve Herman, Dr. Nancy Priselac, Jim Allen, Joan Crawford, Mike Logsdon, Sam Butler, and the DACUM facilitators John Gould and Tom Kierstead. Ken Bittinger, supervisor of vocational education, represented the Garrett County Board of Education.

Other guests at the luncheon were Janie Ours, Laura Lambert, and Barbara Rohrbaugh, from Canaan Valley; Karen Tyree from McClive's Restaurant, Kathryn Wick from Sky Valley Association; and Ruth Umbel from Red Run Inn.

Legal Aid Bureau Notes November Outreach Schedule

The Legal Aid Bureau provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Bureau is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832. Residents of the Grantsville area are requested to call the Cumberland office at 777-7474 and an appointment will be scheduled if necessary.

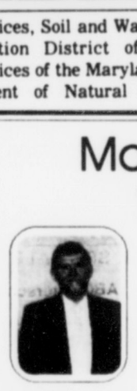

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for the Outreach location or for an appointment at the Cumberland office, according to Bureau officials.

Deadline For Tourism Grant Proposals Noted

The Maryland Department of Economic and Employment Development (DEED) has announced that October 31 is the deadline for filing discretionary grant proposals for events scheduled for the first quarter of 1990. The discretionary grants, which are administered by DEED's Division of Tourism and Promotion, are available on a quarterly basis to organizations sponsoring an event, project or attraction that promotes tourism in Maryland.

Grant proposals must include the name of the organization, a detailed description of the event or project and its purpose and the amount requested. Applications should also include a breakdown of how the funds will be spent. Allowable expenses included advertising costs, design and production costs for promotional materials, postage costs related to the promotion and entertainment connected with the special event.

"The purpose of these grants is to enhance the partnership between DEED and various organizations throughout the state that promote tourism," said Dean Kenderdine, DEED's assistant secretary for tourism and promotion. Kenderdine cited the 1989 "Cycle Across Maryland" event as an example of a grant recipient that successfully promoted its event with state funds and generated tourism throughout the state.

Grant applications are available from the Grant Officer, Division of Promotion and Tourism, Department of Economic and Employment Development, Suite 900, 217 East Redwood Street, Baltimore, MD 21202. Deadline for submission of grant proposals for events occurring between January 1 and March 31, 1990 is October 31, 1989. County tourism officers are ineligible for this particular type of grant.

State Parks Set Halloween Events

Four western Maryland State Parks have announced free Halloween activities which have been planned for families.

Carolyn Mathews, regional park programmer, said, "Parents are requested to accompany their children to any of these programs. The activities are fun and family-oriented and not designed to frighten children. Please dress for the weather and bring a flashlight to the evening events."

Deep Creek

Deep Creek State Park will open the weekend of haunting with an afternoon Halloween Party for children. The Day Use upper parking lot above the ballfield will be the gathering place for a hayride, games, a campfire, and refreshments.

The program will begin at 2 p.m. on Saturday, October 28, but will be cancelled if it rains. Anyone wishing more information should call 387-5563.

Herrington Manor

Abijah Herrington extends an invitation to a Halloween Party at Herrington Manor State Park at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday. The event will feature a graveyard hike, hayride, treats from Smokey the Bear, games for children, and a costume contest.

The party will be conducted at the concession building, and will move inside if it rains. The number at the park is 334-9180.

New Germany

New Germany State Park will offer a "Ghost and Goblin Get Together" on Saturday at 7 p.m.

Activities include a ghost and goblin walk, games, and a costume contest with prizes for the best costumes in the age groups 0 — 7; 8 — 13; and 14 — 100.

Participants should meet at the New Germany recreation hall. Parking will be in Lots 4 and 5. A park spokesman said, "Rain will not melt the ghosts and goblins coming to this program."

More information can be obtained by calling the park at 895-5453

Rocky Gap

On both Friday and Saturday nights at Rocky Gap State Park, Flintstone will host "Things That Go Bump in the Night". This haunted campground hike will be held from 7 to 9 each evening.

The hike is self-guided, and visitors can gather around a roaring campfire after venturing into the darkness.

The program will be cancelled if it rains either evening, and anyone wishing further information should call 777-2138.

GCC Plans For Drug, Alcohol Awareness Week

The first week of December has been designated Drug and Alcohol Awareness Week at Garrett Community College, according to Clyde Hetrick, president of the Student Government Association.

A college-wide planning effort involving students, faculty, and staff has been organized. Plans are to have a presentation by a guest speaker every day at noon in the auditorium, and a Friday evening program that will include a drug scene scenario by members of the college theatre group. Speakers who have already been scheduled include the Honorable Fred A. Thayer, Sheriff Van Evans, Craig Abrahamson, Annette Livengood, and Beth Doerr.

Students working on the planning committee include the SGA officers, Hetrick, Dan McKenzie, vice president; Patty Hickey, secretary; Clyde Fike, treasurer; Cathy Carnes, sophomore representative; and Dan Malone, freshman representative. Chairpersons of the committee are Ron Sunny and Lisa Sweitzer. Other members are Bonnie Sunny, Donna Hall, Leona Rodeheaver, Melissa Miner, Annette Shepard, Bobbi Biggs, Peggy Brown, Debbie Baker, Diana Shockey, and Libby Kitzmiller.

Foster Parent Training Funds Gain Approval

Governor William Donald Schaefer has announced Board of Public Works approval of a $238,382 contract to provide additional training for foster parents throughout the state.

Chaired by the governor, the Board of Public Works also is comprised of Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Treasurer Lucille Maurer. The board is empowered by the General Assembly to approve major construction and consultant contracts, equipment purchases, property transactions and other procurement actions.

"By helping foster parents do their job more effectively, we can greatly benefit our children and the citizens of Maryland," Governor Schaefer said.

The contractor, Family and Child Services, Inc., of Columbia, Md., will use current foster parents as co-trainers. The organization will provide approximately 100 intense, six-hour training sessions for 2,000 foster parents across the state. These care givers are employed by the Department of Human Resources Social Service Administration's Foster Care Program.

"Foster parenting is a dedication and an art. It is also a skill that can be enhanced by training and the sharing of experiences. Through further learning, our foster care providers will sharpen their skills and deepen their sensitivities, which means better care for our children," said Secretary Carolyn W. Colvin, of the Department of Human Resources.

Family and Child Service, Inc., also will serve as consultants to the Maryland Foster Parents Association, a statewide network of care providers. They will conduct two pilot workshops to help foster parents and agency personnel improve their teamwork skills, and establish a quarterly newsletter to continually update providers on foster care issues.

GYPSY MOTH INSPECTIONS

Take Action Now To Prevent The Loss Of Your Woods & Forest

In Pennsylvania during a three-year period, there was a ten-fold increase each year in the number of acres defoliated. In the second year of defoliation the number of acres skyrocketed from 80,000 acres to 800,000 acres. The next year, 6.5 million acres were lost. In Preston County last year, 6,000 acres were defoliated.

The advancing devastation is now at the Maryland-West Virginia line! Some spraying is being done by the West Virginia Department Of Agriculture but funds are limited and all lands cannot be treated. Many landowners will need to protect themselves. Don't wait for your trees to be defoliated, it's too late then.

Contact us for more information and a professional inspection. The best months are October and November. Contact us now for an appointment.

We will make egg mass counts, map your property showing where egg masses are seen, recommend the best course of action, and provide literature to help you understand the effect on your woods.

Whether you use your forest for recreation or long-term investment, a severe attack can leave it virtually useless for decades.

Call now for an appointment, or write for information.

Daniel McKenzie Is GCC Student Of The Week

This week's Garrett Community College Student of the Week is Daniel McKenzie, son of Patrick and Mary McKenzie, Grantsville.

A freshman at GCC, McKenzie is enrolled in the Psychology Program and wants to pursue a doctorate degree in that field. He serves as vice president of the Student Government Association and works in the college library. In his spare time, he enjoys reading, writing, music, movies, and visiting new places.

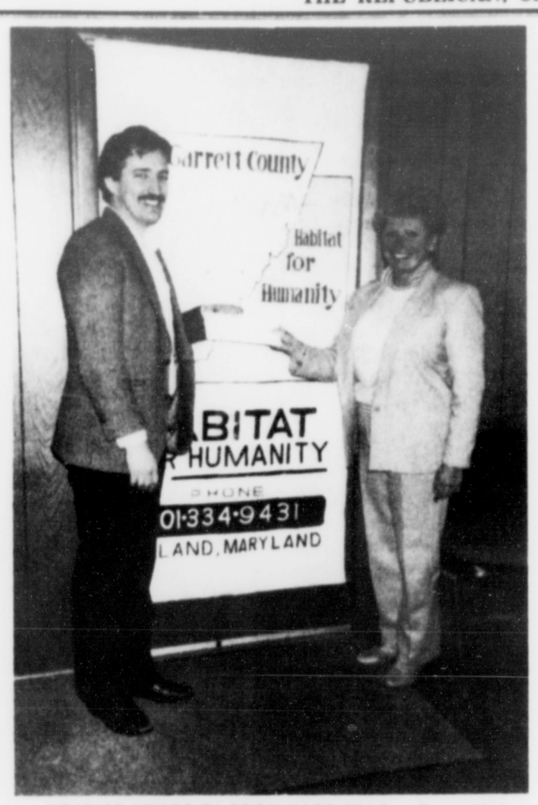

When asked to comment on GCC, he said, "GCC is a good place to gain college experience before moving on to a bigger college. The faculty and staff here are very willing to help students with their needs."

Energy Assistance Now Available Through CAC

The Garrett County Community Action Energy Assistance Program, which helps pay winter heating bills, is available to all low-income families in Garrett County.

Eligible families may receive up to $732 towards the cost of their heating fuel. Renters who have their utilities included with their rents are also eligible; this includes roomers and boarders.

Applications can be made on appointment basis at the Community Action building at 360 W. Liberty Street, Oakland. Appointments can be made at Oakland, Accident, and Grantsville. Information concerning the necessary documentation can be obtained by calling the office at 334-9431.

HOSPICE BENEFITS FROM YARD SALE — Duane Yoder, director of the Garrett County Chapter of Habitat for Humanity, graciously accepts a donation check in the amount of $365, which is one-half the proceeds collected at the Great American Yard Sale. That was a nationwide campaign conducted by the Better Homes and Gardens franchise. Patty Manown, director of marketing for A&A Realty/Better Homes and Gardens, presented the check.

DNR Advises Boat Owners Of Operation I.D.

October is Crime Prevention Month and the Maryland Natural Resources Police Force is ready to help boat owners "take a bite out of crime."

"Operation Identification," implemented several years ago by the Natural Resources Police, is being emphasized during Crime Prevention Month, as many boat owners are thinking about securing their vessels for the season.

Cpl. Ralph Parker, spokesman for the Natural Resources Police, explained, "With an electric engraving pen you inscribe your Maryland vehicle operator's license number on valuable property in and around your vessel. Thieves are discouraged from stealing marked property that is readily identifiable by either the police or property owners."

If unable to remove marine equipment or personal property from vessels, the Natural Resources Police suggests the equipment be engraved.

Parker said participants in "Operation ID" will be given decals to be displayed on their vessel, which alone may discourage the thief.

What about valuables that cannot be engraved? Parker suggests taking a color photograph of those items and store it in a safe place, perhaps with an insurance company.

For more information on "Operation ID" and engraving pens, persons may contact the nearest Natural Resources Police Office or call (301) 974-2327.

CONSERVATION WINNERS — Three Garrett County 4-H clubs were winners of the annual conservation awards presented for fair booth competition by the Garrett County Soil Conservation District. Six clubs submitted booths for competition and the three winners were the Shepherds 4-H Club, first place winning $100; Monte Vista 4-H Club, second place winning $75; and Ryan's Glade, third place winning $50. The presidents of the three winning clubs recently met at the Garrett Soil Conservation District office to receive checks on behalf of their clubs from Conservation District Director and Treasurer Claude Wagner Jr. Pictured, left to right, are: Jessica Teets, Monte Vista 4-H Club; Sam Wright, Shepherds 4-H Club; Wagner; and Jennifer Reeves, Ryan's Glade 4-H Club. The contest is open to any county 4-H Club or FFA Chapter who wishes to use a conservation theme such as soil, water, wildlife or forestry. The booths are subject to the same criteria as the other fair booth entries, and are judged in regular 4-H and FFA categories first. They are then judged a second time for their conservation value. This is the second year the Garrett Soil Conservation District has sponsored this fair booth competition as an incentive for youth to promote conservation.

REAL ESTATE

FAMILY TRAFFIC JAM?

What if you chose to purchase a home because you fell in love with it? What if, the day after you moved in, you noticed that the nearest grocery store was twelve miles away, the nearest school was halfway up a mountain, and 325 small children tramped through your yard each day on the way up the mountain to school?

Would it occur to you that you should have taken time to notice the traffic patterns around the outside of the home before buying it? Would it surprise you to know there are also traffic patterns inside your home?

Of course there are. Take your present home, for example. Imagine that each member of your family has bright yellow wet paint on the bottom of their shoes for just twenty-four hours. Imagine the trail they would leave on your floors as they pursue their regular activities for just one day. That trail would be like a "family traffic pattern." And, it would be a good indication of the room arrangement a new home should have to best suit your family's needs.

Determine the most suitable door, hallway, and bedroom locations in order to provide an easy flow of traffic through your home. If you like to entertain, check out the potential traffic from kitchen and dining to living, family and recreation rooms. Thinking ahead can be the key to "easy living."

If you need information to help you solve a real estate puzzle, call us at 387-5303. We'll be happy to share our knowledge with you at no cost or obligation.

Mt. Top Church Slates Films For Friday Evening

The Mountain Top Christian Assembly of God Church, located along Rt. 135 just east of Mtn. Lake Park, will host its monthly movies for all ages this Friday, Oct. 27, at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The evening will begin with a Bible Adventure Series film for children entitled "Joshua and The Promised Land," an animated film based on the life of this Bible hero.

The later film for older persons will be "Pilgrim's Progress," which follows Christian, the pilgrim, through many of the adventures unfolded in the book, plus visualizations and encounters which give the allegory added meaning and emphasis. The Slough of Despond, Hill of Difficulty, Vanity Fair, Pliable, Mr. Obstinate, Worldly Wiseman, Evangelist, and Mr. Interpreter constantly plot to keep Christian from reaching the celestial city, Apollyon.

A love offering may be given to help cover the costs of renting the films. The evening will conclude with a time of fellowship and refreshments in the church basement.

All are invited to attend.

CHURCH NEWS

A Joint Worship service will be held at Emmanuel Lutheran Church this Sunday morning at 10 a.m. to celebrate the Reformation. Holy Communion will be celebrated.

Emmanuel will have a congregational meeting on Sunday, November 5, following worship. The purpose is to discuss the proposals made by the architect.

The youth of the parish will "Trick or Treat" this evening, October 26. They will return to Emmanuel for a Halloween Party. The teenagers will stay for a "lock-in" sleep-over party.

St. John's will be the host for World Community Day on Friday, November 3. This is one of the yearly celebrations held by Church Women United of Garrett County. Registration will begin at 12:30 p.m. and the worship service will be at 1 p.m. The program this year was written by a team of Korean-American women, and the title of the worship program is "To Pray Is To Risk." All women are invited to attend.

A planning meeting for the celebration was held last week at St. John's. Attending were Shirley Harkins, Barbara Herbert, Carole Peck, Olive Groves, Lori Schmuck and children, Hannah and Esther; Ida Reckner, Audrey Brenneman, Charlotte Mousch, Evelyn Steyer and Martha Glotfelty.

St. John's held a congregational dinner on Sunday evening. It was well attended.

BASS BAPTISM

During the Emmanuel Lutheran worship service on Sunday morning, Scott Edward Bass, infant son of Kevin and Carole Bass, was baptized. Sponsors for him were Barry Glotfelty and Lisa Shierer.

Lottie Brenneman, Linda Buckel, and Betty Buckel attended the ELCA retreat held at Jackson's Mill, W.Va., on Saturday and Sunday.

BUCKWHEAT CAKE SUPPER

The Bittinger 4-H Club will have a buckwheat, pancake and sausage supper this Saturday, October 28, from 4:30 p.m. on. The price is: adults, $3.50 and children, 10 and older, $2.50. The club invites all to attend.

EMMANUEL'S WOMEN MEET

Emmanuel's Women of the ELCA met October 13 at the church with 10 members present. The meeting opened with the purpose statement read in unison with the October response by Doris Knox. Ferne Beachy reported sending several get-well and sympathy cards.

An inventory was taken of the items received for the completion of the Layettes. It was decided to run the announcement in the bulletin again and extend the deadline to November 5, at which time the decision will be made as to the additional items needed to complete the nine layettes. Health kits and school kits should also be at the church by this date.

A letter and photo was shared by the group from the Christian Children's Fund sponsored child.

The program "Celebrating Women of Faith," a program for the ecumenical decade, was led by Ferne Beachy and Martha Glotfelty. The objectives of the program were to introduce women to their history in social reform movements in the country; to look at the goals of the Ecumenical Decade; and to celebrate the Ecumenical Decade for Churches in Solidarity with women.

The next meeting is scheduled for November 17, rather than November 10. The Thank Offering will be received at this time.

DINNER SLATED

The seventh annual dinner for the benefit of Lutheran Braille Workers, Inc., will be held at Northern Middle School cafeteria on Saturday, November 4, from 4:30 to 7 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door at $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. Baked goods and crafts will be for sale also. Aid Association for lutherans is sponsoring this event.

TAKE WESTERN TRIP

Don and Jane Sealing recently took a 16-day trip through the West. They visited all the points of interest in the national parks and visited with friends in Rawling and Lander, Wyo.

They then left for an 11-day trip to Don's army reunion in Nashville, Tenn., and then on to Cherokee, N.C., to visit the Indian Village. While in Nashville, Jane visited with a friend and took in the sights of that city. The Army Reunion next year is in Hot Springs, Ark.

SPEAKS TO HISTORY CLASS

Martha Glotfelty was the speaker for the Garrett County History class on Thursday, October 12, evening, at St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, Accident.

She spoke on the subject, "Farming in the Accident Area." She spoke of her experiences of living on a farm during the Depression of the 1930's, and of farmers in the area raising turkeys. Turkey suppers were served at Deep Creek Lodge and Northern High School, and in many ways the marketing of dressed turkeys and other activities were in her opinion the forerunner of the present Autumn Glory Festival.

Pastor William Carlson furnished two versions of how Accident received its name.

Dennis Margroff told of the naming of the Cove area, also, and spoke of farming in general in the Cove area.

Pastor Ernest Lindner, of St. John's Church, spoke at length of the history of his church, and passed out to all present a booklet, giving the history of his congregation for the past 125 years.

Miss Mary Love, course instructor, conducted a short business session for the class.

Demos Convene For Pig Roast

Over 100 attended the first Pig Roast of the Garrett County Democrat Club (in lieu of the annual picnic), held recently at the farm of Mike and Nancy Fratz near McHenry.

Planning to attend was Louis L. Goldstein, Comptroller of Maryland; however, due to intense foggy weather causing unfavorable road conditions, he was unable to attend.

Among those present were John Braskey, county commissioner; Dan McMullen of Cumberland, who is expected to publicly announce his candidacy for the position being vacated by John Bambacus, Maryland State Senator; Donald Goldbloom, Cumberland attorney; Kathy Vogt, representative of U.S. Senator Barbara Mikulski; and Nina Conway, representative of U.S. Senator Paul S. Sarbanes. Also in attendance were Central Commitee members for Garrett County: Spencer Schlosnagle, Donald Fratz, George Brady, and Bruce Opel; Mayor Wayne Fratz of Accident and Mayor Asa McCain of Oakland.

Chances were taken on a fruit basket which was won by George Brady. New memberships were taken by Membership Secretary, Doris Goldsborough. Musical entertainment was provided by Perry Kamp and Keith Bittinger.

The next meeting of the Garrett County Democratic Club will be held at the home of Harold and Phyllis Trickett, 116 Church Street, Oak Park, Oakland, on Tuesday, November 14, at 7:30 p.m. Michael Inglese will be the guest speaker who will speak on political campaign strategy for the next election.

All members and prospective members are invited to attend.

Maryland Red Ribbon Campaign Now Underway

The Executive Director of the Maryland Alliance for Drug Free Youth has announced the 1989 Maryland Red Ribbon Campaign.

"The intent is to get communities involved and to get them working together on this drug situation," said Beverly S. Preston.

Appearing on the Maryland State Police Radio Program, a weekly public service radio broadcast, Preston said communities must change the way they think about alcohol and other drug abuse.

"It's going to be a change of attitude," stated Preston. "Alcohol is the most serious drug problem nationwide, and here in Maryland we still have far too many people who feel marijuana is a harmless drug," Preston stated.

The Maryland Red Ribbon Campaign is a cooperative effort of the Governor's Alliance to Prevent Substance Abuse, the Maryland State Department of Education, the prevention branch of the Alcohol Drug Abuse Administration, and the Maryland Alliance for Drug Free Youth.

Governor William Donald Schaefer led a kickoff ceremony in Annapolis last Friday, October 20, which launched a week of activities to promote this year's theme, "The Choice for Me, Drug Free." The Governor's Alliance to Prevent Substance Abuse will distribute 500,000 red ribbons to all junior high and middle school students. The red ribbons will also be displayed by county and state employees.

The Maryland State Police Radio Program is a weekly public service broadcast carried on approximately 50 radio stations in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Women's Ag Forum To Focus On Crucial Issues Facing Consumers

Food safety. Animal rights. Biotechnology. Land use and development. These are the issues that will affect the future of Maryland's largest industry — agriculture. They are also among the timely topics to be discussed at the Women's Agricultural Forum, November 8, at the Turf Valley Country Club near Ellicott City.

"These are crucial issues facing all of us," said Forum Co-Chair Patricia Stabler. "As voters, we'll be called to vote upon them — with our pocketbooks and at the ballot box."

One issue, food safety, receives national media attention on a regular basis. Coverage of Alar on apples, salmonella in poultry and eggs, and cyanide in grapes has left many consumers frightened and confused.

Jo Ann Smith, an assistant secretary of agriculture, will share her thoughts on food safety issues and discuss how the agriculture industry can best educate the public.

"I think it's safe to say that food safety will be the issue of the nineties," Smith noted. Although the United States has the safest food supply in the world, many consumers remain unconvinced. We in agriculture must help the American public understand the concept of acceptable risk as it relates to food, while at the same time working to increase the safety of our food supply even more."

Other speakers will discuss last year's Governor's Conference on the Future of Maryland Agriculture, the new structure of the University of Maryland, the new Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation and the results to date of the "Save-the-Bay" campaign.

Farming In Maryland..... Bernice Kepple, Farm Editor

Price Support Loans Available

Farmers who elect to store their crops after harvest to take advantage of future price increases may want to apply for a price support loan from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. "Loans will be available to all producers who are participating in the 1989 farm programs," county ASCS official, William F. DeWitt, said.

Loan rates on 1989 program crops are No. 2 Corn or better at the county rate of $1.84/bushel.

"A price support loan will provide farmers with operating cash and allow time to make marketing decisions, or to hold grain for feeding later," DeWitt said. Farmers who plan to commingle their 1989 and 1988 harvests and request a loan must first contact the county ASCS office, he said.

Under the price support loan programs, the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) makes loans to eligible farmers or to cooperative marketing associations. Loans mature on demand, but no later than the last day of the ninth month following the month in which the loan application is made, DeWitt explained. Stocks may be stored on the farm or in an approved commercial warehouse. The commodities serve as collateral for the loan.

To protect the CCC's interest, ASCS performs a lien search on all commodities pledged for price support loans, except those made to cooperative marketing associations. If a lien is recorded on the crop, the farmer must obtain a lien waiver.

The ASCS official said corn loans will be available until May 31, 1990.

Honey Production Down In 1989

Honey production in Maryland was one-third of the normal annual production of 250,000 pounds during 1989. The primary reason for the decline in production was the excessive rains which washed nectar from blossoms.

Allegany and Garrett counties and Maryland's Eastern Shore had the largest reduction in honey crop in the state. In the central part of the state, honey production varied depending on location of the bees and amount of rainfall.

I. Barton Smith Jr., State Apiary Inspector for the Maryland Department of Agriculture, reports that due to this year's reduced honey crop, many bee colonies have insufficient stores of honey to survive the coming winter. Smith urges beekeepers to check their colonies and feed them now if they are short on food. A bee colony requires 60 pounds of honey, which is consumed during cold months, in order to survive the winter.

Beekeeping as a hobby or sideline business declined slightly during the year. There are 1,776 registered beekeepers with 12,376 honey bee colonies in the State.

In Maryland, more than $30 million worth of crops require bee pollination for maximum yield and best quality. Crops pollinated by honey bees include apples, pears, cherries, cucumbers, squash, melons, berries and lima beans. Moreover, honey bees pollinate flowers in much of Maryland's woodland and flower gardens.

BANQUET SPEAKER — James C. Richardson will speak about farm conservation planning at the Garrett County Farm Bureau Banquet slated for October 27, 7 p.m., at the Grantsville Fire Hall. He currently serves as the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service State executive director for Maryland. His brother and he are the seventh generation to live on and work their Harford County family farm.

State's Apple Prices Expected To Hold; Quality Good; Quantity Down

Prices are expected to remain stable for Maryland's high quality, but small quantity apple crop this year, according to an industry spokesman. John Rinehart, chairman of the Maryland Apple Commission, says that approximately 600,000 bushels of apples have been picked by the state's producers this year, the smallest harvest in quite a few years. The quality of the apples is rather good, he says, although apple size is not quite as large as it should be for a light-crop year.

Rinehart expects prices to remain stable, with processing fruit up in price a little because of the short supply, but fresh fruit prices not quite as high — about $2 a box lower. This drop in fresh fruit prices is because "the 1989 national apple crop is the second largest in the history of the United States," Rinehart said.

This 600,000 bushel apple crop is down at least 60 percent because of last summer's drought and a hard spring freeze this past April. Rinehart said that the one million bushel crop in 1988, coupled with the drought last summer, created a lot of stress on the trees. For that reason, bud development (which determines how much fruit is produced the following year) was not what it should have been. Those two factors, the '88 drought and the '89 freeze, along with the number of orchards which have gone out of business in the past few years, created this large drop in apple production, Rinehart concluded.

Rick Heflebower, regional fruit crop specialist for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, agreed that crop yield in Maryland will be down about 60 percent below normal. He also agreed that this year's quality — both shape and color — is good.

Heflebower says that 60 percent of the state's apple crop goes to processing plants in Pennsylvania and Virginia to be made into applesauce, juice and slices. The remainder of the crop is sold as fresh fruit. He explained that along with the diminishing number of acres planted to apples in the state, the number of varieties is also diminishing. This, he said, is largely due to the discontinuance of Alar by the state's apple producers.

According to Heflebower, Alar was used on Maryland apples prior to 1986, when the controversy began. It was used to promote a red color and to help the apples stay on the tree until fully ripe. Alar was also very beneficial to the Stayman apple. Heflebower explained that Stayman apples will crack and a fungus sets in. These cracked apples are a total loss. They are not marketable and are usually not even picked, he said.

He added that there is much more demand for Stayman apples than there is supply, with many growers deciding not to grow Staymans in the future. The closest apple in flavor and seasonal time frame is the Ida Red, Heflebower said, but added that it is not really a substitute for Stayman apples.

McIntosh is another apple variety that, in Maryland, falls from the tree prematurely without the use of Alar. Again, growers are replacing McIntosh apples with another variety, this time Empire.

"I think we will see this more and more in the future," Heflebower said. "There will be more and more fruits we can't grow because of the loss of a chemical, and other varieties will have to be substituted."

Before 1986, when Maryland lost two of its largest growers near Hancock, the state produced 70 million to 80 million pounds of apples. Since that time, Maryland's harvest fell to 40 million pounds. The state has lost about eight to 10 growers during the past five years, Heflebower said. Far Western Maryland has no commercial orchards at all any more. Washington County, the state's leading apple-producing county, and Frederick County has between 20 and 25 growers, with another 10 to 15 growers scattered across Carroll, Baltimore, Harford and Cecil counties.

In the late 1920s, Washington County had hundreds of small orchards on 12,154 acres — nearly six times today's acreage in the county. From 1982 to 1987, the number of apple orchards in that county slid from 62 to 45 and the acreage shriveled from 4,556 acres to 2,100, according to the latest census data from the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Farmers Reminded To Petition For ASC Nominees

Garrett County farmers are reminded that the county ASCS offices are now receiving nominations for ASCS Community and County committee election candidates. William F. DeWitt, chairperson of the Garrett County ASC Committee, encourages farmers to use this opportunity to nominate their farm neighbors as candidates in the ASC committee election.

DeWitt said the ASC committee provides the important service of administering government farm programs in the local community. The election will be conducted by mail from November 24 to December 4. Eligible farm voters will be provided with instructions for filling out the secret ballot and returning it to the county ASC office.

Most resident farmers are eligible to hold office as ASC committee-members. If a farmer would like detailed information concerning eligibility requirements, he or she should contact either a present committee member of the Garrett County ASCS office.

In filling out a petition, farmers should be careful to include the name of only one nominee, the signatures of at least three eligible ASC voters who support the nominee, and certification that the nominee is willing to serve if elected. Petitions must contain this information to be accepted. The completed petition should be dated and mailed or hand-delivered to the county ASCS office no later than October 30.

ASC committee elections are open to all eligible ASC voters without regard to race, color, religion, sex, age, handicap, or national origin. DeWitt explained that any concerned farmers with an interest in serving fellow producers would be an asset to the ASC committee. For this reason, farmers are urged to petition for the farmers of their choice. The individual producer will benefit in the long run from a responsible, concerned team of ASC committee members in the local administration of U.S. government farm programs, DeWitt said.

Crop Notes

•As most of you are probably finding out, corn frosted before it naturally matures, dries down very slowly. At present, there is a lot of high moisture corn on the local market. Keep close watch on the condition of the corn. I have found a lot of corn kernel sprouting on the ear. Sprouting certainly lowers the nutritional value, slows down drying and enhances the chances for molding. Although this good weather is nice, it may encourage more sprouting and sprout growth on immature corn.

•Keep in mind that combined grain is generally 2 to 3% higher in moisture than the moisture check that you did prior to harvesting.

•If you're cribbing ear corn that is in excess of 18% moisture, make sure there is plenty of air movement throughout the crib.

Private Pesticide Applicator's Licenses

As usual, the response is very light. According to Maryland Department of Agriculture's list several of you have your licenses expiring December 31, 1989. For those of you who took and passed the closed book exam in 1987, recertification workshops will be held on October 31, 1989, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m. at the Extension Office. You need only to attend one session. For those of you who need to take the examination, I will have two workshops (attend only one) — November 1, 10:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m.; and November 2, 7:30 p.m.-9:30 p.m. at the Extension Office. Attending is optional. If you're not attending a workshop, you should contact my office for study materials for the test on November 8, 7:30 p.m. at the Extension Office. I will not be offering this program again this year.

Soybean Harvest Now Underway

Maryland's soybean harvest is underway according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service. The number of days suitable for fieldwork averaged 5.0 over the state. Topsoil moisture was rated none very short, none short, 91 percent adequate, and nine percent surplus. Subsoil moisture was none very short, none short, 64 percent adequate, and 36 percent surplus.

Field corn was in good condition with 91 percent of the acreage in the mature stage, behind last year's 94 percent and the five year average of 92 percent. Harvest of corn for grain progressed to one-half complete, about the same as last year's 49 percent but behind the average of 57 percent. Corn silage harvest was 91 percent complete, behind last year's 93 percent and the normal of 94 percent. Soybeans were in good condition throughout the State. Seventy-four percent of the acreage had turned color, behind last year and the normal progress of 80 and 85 percent complete, respectively. Forty-two percent of the soybean acreage shed leaves, behind last year's 53 percent and behind the normal average of 60 percent. Soybeans were harvested on five percent of the acreage, ahead of last year's three percent, but behind the five year average of seven percent.

The fourth cutting of alfalfa hay progressed 24 percentage points to 78 percent complete, one point ahead of last year and the same progress as the five-year average. A third cutting of clover and other hay was made on 62 percent of the acreage. Hay supplies were adequate. Wheat acreage was nine percent seeded, behind last year's 19 percent and the five year average of 23 percent. Barley seedings are 28 percent complete. Last year at this time 53 percent of the barley acreage was seeded and the five year average was 51 percent complete. Twenty-two percent of the rye acreage was seeded compared with 44 percent last year and the average of 47 percent. Oats seedings were three percent complete, seven points behind last year and 17 points behind the normal rate of seedings.

WEATHER

Maryland's weather for the week ended October 6 was slightly cooler than normal with heavy precipitation. Precipitation averaged 1.27 inch and ranged from 0.83 inch at Patuxent NAS to 2.54 inches at Chestertown. Temperatures averaged 61.2 degrees, 0.5 degree below the normal of 61.7 degrees. Minimum temperatures were mostly in the low to mid-40's with a few scattered lows in the high 30's. For the second straight week, extreme Western Maryland had temperatures 32 degrees or below. Maximum temperatures were in the mid to upper 70's except extreme Western Maryland which were in the low 70's.

"GOOD NEWS. WE'VE JUST STEPPED UP FROM HOPELESSLY-MIDDLE-CLASS TO BARELY-MIDDLE-CLASS!"

DeWitt Releases Info On Feed Grain Program

Although the 1990 Feed Grain Program contains the same acreage reduction requirements as in 1989, county ASCS official, William F. DeWitt, says target prices and loan rates for next year's corn and oats will be slighty lower.

Local farmers enrolled in the 1990 Feed Grain Program will be eligible for target price protection at $2.75 per bushel for corn, and $1.45 per bushel for oats. National average price support loans per bushel are $1.57 for corn and $.81 for oats.

DeWitt says malting barley will not be exempt from acreage reduction requirements, and barley and oats bases will be split for the 1990 crop.

The program does not contain paid land diversion provisions.

Signup for the 1990 Feed Grain Program begins January 16 and ends April 13, 1990.

Pesticide Applicator License Workshops, Testing Scheduled

The test will be given by the MDA on Wednesday, November 8, 7:30 p.m., also at the Extension Office.

Reservations must be made for either of the optional workshops and those who plan to take the examination must make reservations. Persons can do so by calling the Extension Office at (301) 334-1990.

Carol Rodeheaver and Amanda Haskiell, sisters of the groom, distributed programs at the church. Betsy Thayer, friend of the bride, was the guest book attendant.

The cake was baked and decorated by Leota Martin and cut and served by Kim Haskiell, sister of the groom, and Stacey Werkman, cousin of the bride.

The Garrett Transportation program of Community Action has announced Paul Green as Employee of the Week.

Green is employed as a full-time transportation driver for local and out of town trips. He has met the standing requirements for his position, and he has been trained in passenger assistance.

According to a CAC spokesman, "It is the job of every transportation driver to achieve and maintain a reputation for safe and efficient service. In addition, every driver should strive to develop a certain rapport with the client, whereby they feel at ease and safe in the vehicle. Paul has proved that he has a genuine concern for those that he transports."

Green commented, "I find a certain satisfaction in my work. It is a useful service. It can be both eye opening and heart warming, and I am especially touched by the children that we transport. I am glad to help."

Linda Green, program director, added, "We appreciate Paul and his efforts. He has come to us with much to offer, and his army training is certainly an asset that may be carried over into other areas such as vehicle maintenance. He has made a comfortable fit to our team."

Green is a U.S. Army veteran with more than 20 years service as a technical supply sergeant. He is a member of the Bloomington Methodist Church, where he enjoys singing in the choir. He resides in McCoole with his wife and son.

Qualification for Federal funding under Title IV is contingent on an approved State Surface Coal Mining Regulatory Program and a State Abandoned Mine Lands Reclamation Plan. Maryland has received Office of Surface Mining (OSM) approval of both programs. Project funding will originate from the Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund, administered by OSM.

It is the goal of the Maryland Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program to promote the reclamation of abandoned coal mine areas in Maryland that have been left in an inadequately reclaimed condition and endanger the health and safety of the public, degrade the quality of the environment, and/or diminish the beneficial use of land and water resources.

Comments are solicited on the relative priority of the projects listed below and/or any other abandoned mine problem in the Maryland Coal Region. The Bureau requests information from the public concerning abandoned mine problems that pose a potential threat to the public health and safety or severely degrade the environment.

A public meeting concerning the proposed projects will be held if any person(s) or organization requests a hearing before Monday, November 6, 1989. The proposed hearing will be held as follows:

Wednesday, November 8, 1989
MD Bureau of Mines
Hill Street School
69 Hill Street
Frostburg, MD 21532

Further information concerning any of these projects can be obtained by contacting the Maryland Bureau of Mines, 69 Hill Street, Frostburg, MD 21532, (301) 689-4136. Written comments concerning these projects and the Maryland Abandoned Mine Reclamation Program will be received at the public hearing until Friday, November 10, 1989. Address all comments to the Maryland Bureau of Mines, 69 Hill Street, Frostburg, MD 21532. Attention: Jeffrey S. McCombs.

The proposed project description includes the county location, nearest town or physical feature, and the nature of the problem.

1. Bartlett Hill Landslide Abandoned Mine Reclamation Project, Russell Road, Barton, Allegany County.

An active landslide, originated by deep mine drainage lubrication of a soil slip plane, poses a threat to public health and safety. The landslide is an emergency problem which jeopardizes the integrity of two residences, numerous outbuildings, the Barton Water supply transmission line and Russell Road.

2. Lonaconing Subsidence Abandoned Mine Reclamation Project Jackson Mountain Road, Lonaconing, Allegany County.

An abandoned deep mine complex, abandoned deep mine openings and abandoned mine drainage pose a threat to public health and safety. The overlying rock and soil above the deep mine complex has subsided beneath the Jackson Mountain Road, resulting in an emergency safety problem for users of the roadway. Additionally, the abandoned deep mine openings pose a hazard to public safety and the abandoned mine drainage degrades the environmental quality of Georges Creek.

House Blasted By Lightning Bolt Tuesday

A Crellin area house sustained major damage Tuesday afternoon after the electric transformer on a utility pole outside the house was struck by lightning and the blast then followed the wire into the house.

Ken and Martha Shaffer, of the Snowy Creek area, were both in the house when the blast hit. "I thought the whole house exploded," Shaffer said. "It sounded like there was someone standing next to me who fired a shotgun."

Shaffer said he was on his way up the basement steps and Mrs. Shaffer was in the kitchen when it hit. "The lightning blew a hole in the house where it came in and another one where it went out," he said. "It also blew a big hole in the ground and even brought down big limbs out of the trees right outside."

Shaffer said that the jolt blew the windows out of his basement, ruined his oil furnace, blew out light bulbs, switches, and outlets, ripped the roofing off the house along the metal flashing, blew insulation all over the basement, and most likely ruined a number of appliances. He said it also knocked items off the wall and off of shelves.

"I'm working on my television right now (Wednesday afternoon), but I'm afraid it's ruined, too," he said, adding that his antenna and rotor were destroyed.

His 21-foot deep freezer also shut down, but he said that it has been repaired.

He said his homeowner's insurance should cover most of the damage and, as of yesterday, the insurance adjustor had not yet made an estimate of the damages.

"We will probably find more and more things that are wrong over the next several days,"

TWO KILLED IN PLANE CRASH — A single engine plane crash that occurred Sunday morning near McHenry claimed the lives of two Pennsylvania men. The pilot died shortly after impact and the passenger died the following day in Pittsburgh, at Allegheny General Hospital's trauma center. For reasons unknown, the pilot attempted to land in a field near Garrett County Airport almost immediately after takeoff from the airport. The crash is currently under investigation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Department and the Federal Aviation Administration. See story for details.

Yough Mountain House Destroyed By Fire Monday

Fire of undetermined origin leveled a summer cottage in the Youghiogheny Mountain Resort west of Oakland late Monday night.

Oakland and Terra Alta volunteer firefighters were summoned by the Garrett County Office of Emergency Management at 11:26 p.m. to respond to the house, located at the intersection of Black Oak and Birchwood drives and owned by Edward Light, of Pasadena. A neighbor, Roy Wood, called in the alarm after he heard ammunition going off as a result of the fire.

Upon their arrival, firemen found the one-story, four-room frame structure burned down to the foundation. The walls had collapsed toward the center of the house.

According to James Martin, fire investigator for Allegany and Garrett counties, no one was in the house at the time; however the Light family had been there earlier in the day before returning to their home in Pasadena. He estimated the loss to be $25,000 and said that Light did have insurance on the structure. He said the cause of the blaze is still under investigation.

Also responding to the scene were the county air cascade vehicle, presently being housed at Bittinger VFD, and the Southern Rescue Squad. There were no injuries reported. Firemen remained on the scene for over two hours.

Oakland VFD was called to the scene again Wednesday just after 10 a.m. after the fire rekindled.

Two Pennsylvania Men Die As Result Of McHenry Plane Crash

Two Pennsylvania men are dead as the result of a single engine airplane crash near McHenry on Sunday.

According to Detective Pat Kelly, Garrett County Sheriff's Department, the pilot of the airplane, Ronald Podrebarac, 33, Pittsburgh, died shortly after impact.

The aircraft's passenger, William John Todd, 32, Munhall, was taken to Cumberland Memorial Hospital in critical condition following the accident. From there he was transported to Allegheny General Hospital, Pittsburgh, where he died early Monday morning.

The aircraft crashed at 11 a.m. about one mile west of the Garrett County Airport, according to Detective Kelly. "The plane had just taken off from Garrett County Airport when, for unknown reasons, the pilot attempted to make a landing in a nearby field, at which time the plane struck ground."

Firefighters from Accident and Deep Creek Lake responded to the scene of the accident. They hosed down the debris, and there was no fire. Northern Garrett Rescue Squad members removed the victims from the wreckage.

The Fededral Aviation Administration and the Garrett County Sheriff's Department are currently conducting a joint investigation of the plane crash.

Aerobic Diehards Stars Of Disney TV Program; To Air November 10

"When you wish upon a star, makes no difference who you are, everything your heart desires will come to you."

The line from this famous Disney song possibly best describes Oakland's Aerobic Diehards' recent trip to Orlando, Florida, where they performed on the "Hall of Fame" segment of the "New Mickey Mouse Club" show. The program will air on the Disney channel on Friday, November 10, at 5:30 p.m. A special showing will be held during the "Hall of Fame Party" at Brenda's Body Shop in Oakland on November 11, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Brenda Brosnihan, owner of Brenda's Body Shop, is the coach of the Diehards, a youth aerobic team.

Disney, known for their ability to do everything first-class, gave the girls "star treatment," Ms. Brosnihan said. The group was met at the airport and transported to a Ramada Resort Hotel. Tourists come to the New Disney MGM theme park to learn how TV shows are made.

"As we rehearsed on the Mickey Mouse Club set, we could see curious visitors through the tinted glass above observing all our actions," Brenda said. The Diehards worked directly with the stage manager, producer, executive producer, and the director. "It was a real lesson watching each of these professionals run the show," said Brosnihan.

It takes 150 people, the largest production crew in the entire country, to air this variety show.

According to Producer Margie Freedman, the "New Mickey Mouse Club," program is the most popular program on the Disney channel, which currently has nearly five million subscribers. "Today's show had a real upbeat style geared to target the interest of children between the ages of 12-18," she said.

Ms. Brosnihan's son, Pete, was able to sit in the audience and view the actual show while the adults were placed in a special room with a monitor along with the relatives of the "Mouseketeers."

"The girls really got to experience first-hand the work and many facets that make a television show," Brosnihan said.

There were four different cameras which focused from various angles. The Diehards repeated their routine three times in order for the camera to obtain all the necessary perspectives for future editing.

Brosnihan said, "How the final cut appears will be as much of a surprise to us as those who view the show on November 10."

Following the girls' routine, they were then lined up and had an opportunity to introduce themselves. Lexi Long and Joy McCain were both interviewed by the Mouseketeers and then the team was presented with "The Mickey," a large golden Mickey Mouse award to represent their being inducted into the Mickey Mouse Club Hall of Fame.

The Diehards also had a chance to visit the Ebcot Center before making their way home.

Ms. Brosnihan expressed her appreciation to all the people who attended the "Mickey Mania Pre-Celebration" and supported their fundraisers to help with the extra expenses of

Oakland Coke Plant To Close Doors Next Spring In Consolidation Effort

Oakland's Coca-Cola Bottling Plant will be closing its doors as part of a consolidation effort by the Central Coca-Cola Company.

Steve McCauley, territorial manager for Central Coca-Cola, said that a target date of next spring has been set for shutdown of the Oakland and Romney, W.Va., plants.

"The business has grown so that it is no longer feasible to operate from these locations," said McCauley. "By consolidating the older plants that are now too small and no longer efficient we'll be able to distribute better from another location.

"We'll still have the local employees and local staff, like the same family, just a different house," he explained. "It's just a better decision for us, financially and otherwise we'll be better able to serve the community from a different location."

The Oakland plant employs 15 people, while 12 are employed at the Romney plant. The Oakland plant was built in 1923. Since then, the soft drink business has grown over the years.

There are currently four plants in the Maryland, West Virginia area; Oakland, Romney, Cumberland and Fairmont. By consolidating the Oakland and Romney plants into Cumberland, the company hopes to continue and improve its service to the community.

"There will be only minor changes. The majority of employees won't be affected. We may not need quite as many people, maybe not as many people to load the trucks, but

Local Doctor Loses Medical License, Found Guilty Of Sexual Misconduct

Maryland's medical discipline board recently revoked the license of a local family doctor after finding that he had sexual relations with six patients during the six years he had been practicing in Garrett County.

Dr. P. Daniel Miller, Oakland, agreed to allegations of sexual misconduct and admitted to having sexual relations with six patients.

On October 16, the Board of Physician Quality Assurance found Miller guilty of immoral conduct in the practice of medicine and failure to meet accepted standards of medical care.

Dr. Miller is a family practice physician who specialized in gynecology, obstetrics and counseling.

Dr. Miller may file a petition for reinstatement after June 1, 1990, but the board will not consider his application unless he remains under the care of a psychiatrist, who must submit regular progress reports to the board. Dr. Miller must also submit to an evaluation by a board-appointed psychiatrist.

According to reports from the medical discipline board, the sexual abuse began in 1982, the year the doctor established practice in Garrett County.

According to the Final Order of the Board of Physicians Quality Assurance, the first reported incident occurred in 1982 when he kissed a female patient. He kissed the patient's sister one year later when she came to him for treatment.

In September 1983, he kissed another patient whom he was treating in a hospital emergency room, according to reports from the board. He later called her at home and advised her to have an affair.

In 1987, he removed a female patient's blouse, fondled her breasts, and kissed her for an hour, after advising her to have an affair in an earlier phone conversation, according to the board's findings. Dr. Miller continued a sexual relationship

County And State Discuss Strategies For War On Moths

Garrett County and the Maryland Department of Agriculture (MDA) are planning strategies to be used in combatting next year's anticipated gypsy moth infestation, according to information recently released at a press conference with the Garrett County Commissioners.

Commissioner Elwood Groves stated, "We recognized early this year that as well-intentioned as the State program was, it was clearly insufficient. That was when we initiated the gypsy moth task force."

Along with the Commissioners, Robert Fousek, County Clerk, has been in contact with Charles Puffinberger, MDA, Senator John Bambacus and Jim Simms, Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

The county and State representatives have agreed to conduct separate programs to combat the County's infestation.

The county will deal with trees on private lands. It will be responsible for developing and conducting a pest control program. This includes surveys, selection of spray sites, marking spray sites, selecting an aerial contractor to apply insecticide and notifying landowners.

Garrett County will fund, or

Date Scheduled For Stinson Murder Trial

Garrett County State's Attorney James L. Sherbin reported this week that a date has been set for the murder trial of Juanita Irene Stinson in Washington County Circuit Court. Currently, the trial is scheduled to begin April 2, 1990, at 9 a.m.

Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer granted a motion to remove the trial on October 3. During a hearing last Thursday in Garrett County Circuit Court, Judge Thayer denied a motion to remove the perjury trial as well, ruling that it remain in Garrett County.

The 56-year-old Oakland woman is charged with the murder of Charles William Stinson, her husband. A police investigation resulted in the discovery of Stinson's dismembered body in a shallow grave near the couple's home on April 21.

Former German Exchange Student Returns For Visit 40 Years Later

by Sandra Cusack

"To live and let live: I didn't hear that saying until I came here, but that is the saying I have lived by. Much of my doing and thinking over the past 40 years was influenced in a big way by my stay here," said Ernst Woerner. "It was a great experience."

Ernst spent a year living and working in the United States in 1949, when he was 18, as part of what was called an exchange program. He stayed with the Wayne and Claudia Hamilton family in Red House, attending school at Oakland High School and working on the Hamilton's dairy farm.

He returned to the United States for the first time in 40 years this fall, this time bringing his wife, Elsbeth. The couple spent several weeks touring the U.S. with a German tour group and German speaking guide, as Elsbeth speaks very little English, but decided to spend the last several days of their tour visiting with Wayne Hamilton.

"Of course, we corresponded regularly for many years, but then, all of a sudden, we didn't hear any more. We were often curious as to what happened to him," said Wayne. "Then last year, before Christmas, we received a letter from him. Even Claudia, in her illnes, was anticipating Ernst's visit."

Unfortunately, Mrs. Hamilton died several months before Ernst and his wife visited.

Ernst explained that he saw an advertisement for young German people living in rural areas or working in agriculture to come to America.

"It was called an exchange program, but it was really only one side going to the other," said Ernst.

Young German students were provided with the opportunity to live, work and study in the United States for a one-year period. Though called an exchange program, no students from America were sent to live in Germany.

The Church World Service implemented the program. The Service operates for many denominations with the philosophy of peace for all and distributes relief goods throughout the world to places where they are needed. Wayne explained that it is one of the first movements that he knows of that encouraged and sponsored peace.

The Church of the Brethren in New Windsor provided students with homes throughout Maryland. Wayne and his fami-

End To Lake Drawdown Noted By Lake Office

The recent drawdown of Deep Creek Lake water levels has ended, effective October 30, according to the Lake Management Office. Penelec officials notified the Lake Management Office that the shoreline erosion work on Rock Lodge Road has been completed, and that they have begun to raise the level of the lake.

Lake levels reached an elevation of 2452 feet in early October prior to the maintenance work. Penelec will begin to raise the level to 2455 feet in keeping with historic winter lake levels.

The rate of rise in lake levels is dependent upon weather conditions and hydro-electric generation schedules. Penelec has reported that it hopes to get lake levels up prior to the winter freeze.

"TO LIVE AND LET LIVE" — Ernst Woener visited the United States as an exchange student from West Germany 40 years ago and said that he learned the saying "to live and let live" while here. "Much of my doing and thinking over the past 40 years was influenced by my stay here," said Ernst. He recently returned with his wife Elsbeth for a visit to the area, staying with his host from the previous visit, Wayne Hamilton. DIEHARDS STAR ON DISNEY PROGRAM — The Aerobic Diehards, a youth aerobic team based in Oakland, reached "the big time" once again this past month by traveling to Disney World's new MGM theme park in Orlando, Florida, and performing on the "Hall of Fame" segment of the "New Mickey Mouse Club" show. The girls were inducted into the Mickey Mouse Club Hall of Fame for which they were presented "The Mickey" award, a large, golden Mickey Mouse trophy. The Diehards are coached by Brenda Brosnihan, owner of Brenda's Body Shop, Oakland. The program will air on the Disney channel at 5:30 p.m., Friday, November 10.

A SHIFTING LOAD WAS REPORTEDLY the cause of this tractor-trailer mishap which occurred last Thursday on Route 48 near Grantsville. Maryland State Police reported that Roger Errett, 29, Mount Pleasant, Pa., was traveling east near the Casselman River Bridge when the load shifted, causing him to lose control. The truck overturned and lost its load, an empty 60,000-pound propane tank. The tank went across the westbound lane and stopped on the shoulder of the road. Tpr. G.S. Becker investigated the accident, charging Errett with traveling with an insecure load. Errett was reportedly treated at the scene by the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Also responding to the accident was the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department. Becker reported that there was no danger since the tank had been purged. Photos by Craig Speicher.

Ida Maust Well Qualified To Be County's "Most Beautiful Person"

by Joan B. Crawford

The warm October sun shone brightly on the golden world of Autumn Glory as the parade began to form. Band members milled about excitedly, checking their instruments; pretty girls in evening gowns took their places on the floats; drivers jockeyed their vehicles into position; thousands of spectators waited anxiously along the parade route. In the back seat of a yellow convertible, ready to ride in the parade, Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person wished she could be with one of her "families," away from the attention and the limelight.

As Ida Maust now remembers that moment, she says, "Riding in the parade was one of the hardest things I ever had to do." People who know her can understand that. Ida has never sought attention or expected praise for the many hours she spends helping others. "God has done so much for me," she says. "I enjoy helping other people, from the very poor to the very wealthy. I never expected anything like this."

But as she rode through the streets of Oakland, she began to see many familiar faces in the crowd — members of Habitat families who were living in new homes because of her tireless work, loved ones of Hospice patients she had cared for, women and children who had come to her for shelter at the House of Hope, two- and three-year-old tots of her Sunday School class with their older siblings and parents. As they waved to her and cheered, she smiled and waved back, and love was in the air. Not one of them doubted for a second that she deserved this most recent honor.

Ida's work with Habitat for Humanity started with the first organizational meeting in 1983. For several years she served on the Family Selection Committee, but she is now chairman of the Family Ministry Committee. In this capacity, she makes regular visits to all of the 18 families who are now living in Habitat houses, and the two who are waiting for houses. These families have come to know her as their friend, and they call her when they need a listening ear or a helping hand.

The Family Ministry Committee plans events for Habitat homeowners — the dedication ceremonies of new homes, workshops on home ownership, picnics, and other social gatherings.

"Working with Habitat is a rewarding experience," Ida says, "because the families work together to get their homes, and they share in the feeling of satisfaction when the home is completed. It is not a hand-out. I have gained so much from the experience of working with these families."

In the summer when church groups and young people come from other states to participate in the Habitat work camps that rehabilitate housing for Garrett County residents, Ida is busy in church kitchens serving breakfast and dinners and packing lunches for the campers.

For three weeks every summer, during strawberry season, Ida and her family don't do anything but take care of "Strawberry Acres," the farm where she lives, as hundreds of people come to pick berries. One day she claims to have answered 100 phone calls. Then there are the chores of a later season when corn, broccoli, and cauliflower are harvested.

As a care giver for Hospice, Ida has given more hours than any other volunteer. Twice she has spent over 100 hours a week with her patient. "Family dynamics are different then," she says. "Patients don't want to burden their families, and they need someone to unload their problems on. I get very involved with the patients and their families." To date, Ida has worked with about 20 families, and just this summer was invited to two weddings of granddaughters of former Hospice patients.

One would think that there wouldn't be time in a week for Ida to do one more thing, and yet she had found time to be a student at Garrett Community College, where she needs only six more credits for her degree in sociology. "I have enjoyed college tremendously," she says. "It has been my recreation. Everyone has been so helpful and understanding."

Ida has raised nine children of her own, and a boy who lived with the family because he needed a home. She proudly names them — David, who owns Casselman Lumber; Gerald, who works at Casselman; Christine, a registered nurse in Iowa City; Charlotte, a geriatric aide at the Goodwill Nursing Home; Gloria, who lives in Florida; Twila, who works in graphic design for the Wisp; Conrad, a student at GCC; and Sheldon, a senior at Northern High School. She is looking forward to Christmas when they will all be home, along with five granddaughters.

When Ida Maust is asked how she is able to do as much as she does in a given week, she shrugs and says, "People don't know how much they miss by not reaching out. All I need to do is listen and be there for others." And that is the essence of Garrett County's Most Beautiful Person.

A TWO-ALARM CHEMICAL SPILL occurred last night at the Keyser's Ridge Truck Stop along Rt. 40, six miles west of Grantsville. According to Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department Chief Herman Yoder, a tractor-trailer's fuel line, running from tank to engine, snagged on a curb and ruptured, dumping several hundred gallons of diesel fuel onto the parking lot. Grantsville and Accident firemen distributed and then recovered chemical spill absorbent (pictured above foreground) to retrieve fuel stretching over 50 yards at the farthest points. Coordinated by Chief Yoder and Maryland Department of Environment representative Larry Morgan, approximately two dozen firefighters worked more than two hours to contain the 9:45 p.m. emergency. Three Injured In Two-Vehicle Crash Sunday

Three persons were injured in a two-vehicle crash Sunday morning on U.S. Route 135.

According to Maryland State Police at McHenry, Stephen D. Wilson, 39, Lonaconing, was traveling east on Route 135 in a 1987 Ford Ranger. Jetta M. Ashby, 48, Oakland, was traveling north on Weber Road in a 1981 AMC Sprint. Wilson reportedly failed to stop for a red light, striking Ashby's car broadside.

Taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad were Ashby and two passengers in her vehicle, David Ashby and Linda Holler. Both passengers were treated and released, while Ashby was admitted and later discharged, according to a hospital spokesman.

The accident was investigated by Tpr. J.K. Moore, who reported that both drivers were charged. Wilson was charged with failing to stop at a red traffic signal, while Ashby was cited for a seatbelt violation.

A two-vehicle accident occurred Saturday afternoon on the Cranesville Road.

Police reported that Jeffrey K. Roszell, 22, Oakland, was southbound on the Cranesville Road in a 1984 Chevrolet Blazer. Joy A. Freudnshuh, 60, Oakland, was operating a 1983 AMC Eagle, and was attempting to make a left turn onto the Cranesville Road from a private driveway.

Police said Freundshuh pulled directly into the path of Roszell's vehicle, causing a collision. Roszell reportedly attempted to stop, but was unable to do so in time.

Freundshuh was taken to Garrett Memorial by a private vehicle, where a spokesman reported that she was treated and released.

The accident was investigated by Tfc. J.E. Foley, who charged Freundshuh with failing to yield the right of way at the entrance to a highway and a registration violation.

No one was seriously injured in a two-car crash Saturday afternoon on U.S. Route 219.

Police said all three vehicles were southbound. The first car, a 1979 Ford Thunderbird, was operated by Marvin D. Lewis, 19, Oakland. He was followed by a 1977 Ford Thunderbird driven by Geraldine A. Arnold, 56, Eglon, W.Va. The third vehicle, a 1986 Chevrolet Custom, was operated by Edward N. Lipscomb, 55, also of Eglon.

According to police, Lewis was in the process of making a left turn into a private driveway, and Arnold was braking, but not completely stopped. Lipscomb struck Arnold's car in the rear, causing it to also strike Lewis' vehicle.

The Southern Rescue Squad transported Lewis to Garrett Memorial, where he was reportedly treated and released.

The mishap was investigated by Tpr. J.K. Moore, who charged Lipscomb with failing to control his speed to avoid a collision.

Police investigated a two-vehicle accident Sunday on Route 135.

John L. Griffin Jr., 49, Kitzmiller, was traveling west in a 1981 Pontiac LeMans, while James E. Soult, 21, Swanton, was eastbound in a 1987 Ford Bronco II.

Police said Soult ran across the center of the road and struck a guardrail, then collided head-on with Griffin's car.

Both Soult and his passenger, Tammy L. Tichnell 17, Oakland, were taken to Garrett Memorial by the Southern Rescue Squad. A spokesman there reported that they were both treated and released.

The accident was investigated by Tfc. J.E. Foley, who charged Soult with driving a motor vehicle on a highway without required license and authorization, failing to drive on the right half of the roadway when required, and reckless driving.

A single-vehicle accident occurred Tuesday on the Sand Flat Road.

Police reported that Holly M. Cole, 19, Petersburg, W.Va., was southbound in a 1988 Chevrolet Corsica. The vehicle apparently lost traction on the wet roadway and slid across the center of the road and off the left side. The car then struck a utility pole and overturned.

A passenger in the vehicle, William L. Nice, 24, Morgantown, W.Va., was taken to Garrett Memorial following the accident, where a spokesman reported that he was treated and released.

The mishap was investigated by Tfc. G.R. Chaney, who reported that Cole was charged with failing to drive on the right half of the roadway when required.

One person was charged with DUI following a two-vehicle accident last Friday on Third Avenue in Loch Lynn.

According to police reports, Zada Tovey, 40, Mtn. Lake Park, was driving a 1973 Ford Pinto, while Terry W. Imhoff, 42, also of Mtn. Lake Park, was operating a 1986 Dodge Ram.

Both vehicles were reportedly stopped on Third Avenue at its intersection with Paul Street. Tovey apparently backed up and struck Imhoff's vehicle in the front end.

Tfc. J.E. Foley investigated the incident and charged Tovey with unsafe backing, driving while under the influence of alcohol, driving an uninsured vehicle, a foreign license restriction, and reckless driving. No injuries were reported.

Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

Suppresses calorie absorption

SWEDEN—Medical researchers at the University of Kuopio, in Finland, have discovered (accidentally) a new weight-loss formula. The new discovery appears to enable an overweight individual to lose pounds and fatty tissue without conventional dieting or exercise.

Scientists made the discovery while searching for a form a to lower cholesterol. In a con lled study of a test group of people, cholesterol levels remained unchanged but the doctors were astounded to find that every patient who used the formula lost weight. The published report of this study stated, "A highly significant decrease in body weight was seen" in patients who received the formula.

The formula was then tested at another prestigious European university hospital. Again, all patients lost weight even though they did not change their eating habits. The report detailing this study, published in the British Journal of Nutrition, stated: "Body weight was significantly reduced even though the patients were specifically asked not to alter their dietary habits". One patient in this study lost more than 30 pounds.

According to one informed source, the active ingredient comes from a 100% natural botanical source and contains no drugs or stimulants. When taken before mealtime it bonds with the food you eat and "ties up" calories, especially those from fats, suppressing their absorption.

A significant portion of the calories ingested therefore pass through the digestive system unabsorbed. The body has to get energy to replace the lost calories, so it starts to burn stored fat, which can result in rapid body weight loss. Clinical testing has verified the safety of this formula for long-term use.

The formula is marketed in capsule form in the United States under the trade name Cal-Ban 3000. A firm located in Tampa, Florida, has exclusive North American distribution rights. A review of the customer files of this company revealed the names of hundreds of people who have lost as much as 20, 40 or 80 or more pounds overall with Cal-Ban 3000. This appears to be a golden opportunity for people who are plagued by fat and cellulite that they can't seem to lose by conventional methods.

Cal-Ban 3000 is reasonably priced at $19.95 for a 3-week supply and $38.95 for a 6-week supply. Postage and handling is $3. VISA, M/C, AMEX and COD orders are accepted. To order call TOLL-FREE 1-800-537-3723 or purchase locally at Englander's Pharmacy, 205 E. Alder, Oakland, MD.

Call today to begin the pleasant transformation from fat and flab to the slender firm body you want! If you fail to achieve a major weight loss you may return the empty bottle within 30 days for a 100% refund.

Travesty Of Justice . . .

Undoubtedly this is not the only editorial written in response to what we would call a travesty of justice, but we believe we should throw in our two cents worth of outrage for those readers who haven't heard about the event.

It was reported about two weeks ago that a lifeguard, who pleaded guilty to raping an 11-year-old girl at a YMCA in Rockville, served one day of a five-year sentence and was then released from jail.

The sentencing guidelines for Derrick Anthony Parker, 21, were four to nine years in prison, although the second-degree rape charge carries a maximum penalty of 20 years. The probation officer had recommended to Montgomery County Circuit Court Judge William Cave that Parker be sentenced to 18 months in jail.

Judge Cave gave Parker a five-year sentence, but suspended all but three days of it and because inmates typically serve one-third of their sentence, Parker was released after serving one day. ONE DAY.

Cave said a long prison term "wouldn't benefit him (Parker) and may conceivably have a disastrous effect." He added, "Incarceration will not restore that which was taken from her... and will not, in my opinion, deter other people from committing rape because they do not think of that at the time."

It is incredible to us that the judge was fearful that incarceration may have "a disastrous effect" on poor old Derrick. What about the disastrous effect on the little girl that was caused by this criminal? What kind of a message does this send to all other low-life individuals who may be considering doing the same deed? "Why not proceed with it if I am only going to jail for a day?"

While we know nothing else about Judge Cave, we believe that this single, reprehensible act should provide grounds for having him removed from his bench. Such a judgment turns justice into a total farce, is a slap in the face to law enforcement officials, promotes rather than deters such abusive crimes, allows criminals to go virtually unpunished for their deeds, and, worst of all, sends a message to a little girl and her family that what this man did to her was really just a minor infraction of the rules.

Judge Cave, why not do everyone a favor and seek some other form of employment?

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

This is concerning the recent youth league championship game controversy. In any sport there are rules that have to be followed. These rules teach good sportsmanship and ensure fairness for everyone involved. When any rule is stretched or broken the league suffers the president of the league should make sure these rules are enforced at all times, he did not and I believe this is what started the controversy.

The day of the championship game between the Raiders and Steelers, the Steelers broke two league rules before the game started. First: they raised the gate fees and made everyone pay, even a baby. The league rules state you cannot raise the fees. The league president knew this and still allowed it. Naturally the Steelers received all of the gate money. Second: they didn't bring their weight scales. There is a weight limit on each team and the Steelers are known for their large players. All they received was a 15-yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct. All the players (overweight or not) got to play. The league rules state that if the team doesn't bring their scales they must forfeit the game. This is one rule we will push to be carried out.

There were three particular bad calls made on the Raiders, two of which would have been touchdowns, causing much disbelief from everyone.

The Steelers talked of the looks on their players faces when the team didn't show up to play them, (I understand this was because they insisted on all of the gate money) they should have come across the field the day of the division championship game and looked at our players. Our boys played an outstanding game. They watched fellow league members break rules and get away with it, along with bad calls from the referee. They had looks of disbelief, anger and hurt because of the unfairness, everyone did.

I don't care what anyone says we won that game and the Steelers know it. We walked off that field champs, in more ways than one. We played fairly.

Officially everyone is still in the same league. When the Raiders and Dolphins decided to play it was for the benefit of the players because of the unfairness toward them. The league president knew they were going to play, but he cancelled the league insurance on them anyway before the game was played. What kind of president is this? Doesn't he care for the safety of the players? We (Raiders and Dolphins) paid for the insurance out of the gate money the day of the games, so they would be covered in case of an accident.

Trophies were bought (by the coaches) for each team, and a pizza party was given after the game with everyone walking away friends, as it should be.

Dave Martin is an excellent head coach and doesn't deserve the arrogant remarks from last week's comments.

He teaches good sportsmanship and fairness. You never have and never will hear him verbally abuse any of his players. (You could hear the Steelers coach clear across the field). He is respected. This is why he is standing up for the rights of the Raiders.

There is talk of removing the league completely, this is wrong! More boys will be in trouble, losing interest in sports. This will also affect our JV and Varsity football. Our boys need this league, and we as parents should see that it stays here.

We need a stronger league with everyone involved following the rules. We need a league president who will enforce these rules with no exceptions. This teamwork will allow everyone to be a part of the good sportsmanship that this league stands for.

Thank you,
Donne Tusing
A Proud Raiders Fan

To the Editor:

I am writing in regards to comments made by Oakland Raiders Coach, Dave Martin, in last week's Republican (10/26) concerning his and others' decisions to divert from the Mt. Top Youth Football League.

I'm sorry, but your justification for these actions taken seem petty and ridiculous. Your own comments clearly stated that you felt the "main problem" bring this about was a lack of record-keeping and minute-taking during meetings by league officials. Why then are the students athletes from the Northern Steelers and the Oakland Jets being singled out and denied the opportunity for future participation due to this "main" problem? It's not making sense yet, Dave.

Dave Martin, you then went on record with extremely false accusations claiming the Steelers were violating league policy by recruiting from somewhere other than a local school. You even came up with a name for one; you called it the "Salem School." Sorry, but the Maryland Salem Children's Trust is not at all a school. What it is, though, is a group home for emotionally and physically abused, neglected and homeless children from throughout Garrett County as well as the rest of the state of Maryland. There was no recruiting. One of the few requirements for a child to become a resident of this home is that they must be able to be enrolled in the Garrett County School System, and like all the rest of the children in their community, they either attend Grantsville Elementary or Northern. They have always attended those schools since Salem opened its doors to these children in 1978. Surely the Steelers are able to recruit from Northern Middle School, aren't they? Could it be that what really bothered you was the fact that one of these children from Salem (the only one on first string) just happened to score the winning TD against your team in that triple-overtime defeat your team suffered on 10/15/89 that ended your season a week earlier than you would have preferred? Your team's players have nothing to be ashamed of after losing a triple-overtime. They played with heart, determination and intensity, but did the Steelers really recruit anywhere new this year? No, Dave.

In your comment, you also complained of the Steelers not providing the weigh scales for your final game against them since they were supposedly the "home team" even though it was played at Southern. I just wish you would answer the following questions. If the Steelers were the "home team," why were they positioned on the visitors' side of the field? Weren't the Oakland Raiders soundly defeated by these same Steelers, with weigh scales just seven days

Gov. Schaefer Speaks Out

DISASTER RELIEF
MARYLANDERS ARE GOOD NEIGHBORS
by Governor William Donald Schaefer

Americans have always opened their hearts and their pocketbooks when there is a disaster in a foreign land. Now, Americans need to help other Americans who are suffering the effects of three recent natural disasters. The recordbreaking tides and winds of Hurricane Hugo, the flooding caused by Tropical Storm Jerry, and the devastation of the Northern California earthquakes have brought destruction to our shores.

In each of these cases, Maryland was spared from the potential effects of a life-threatening disaster. A slight turn to the north or a strengthening of the wind direction could have brought Hurricane Hugo right up the coast and down on Ocean City and the surrounding area. We have been extremely fortunate — blessed many would say.

I want to thank the people of Maryland for their ourpouring of support and caring for those who have been hurt by these disasters. Immediately following the passage of Hurricane Hugo, Marylanders began searching for ways to help. Within 12 hours of the storm's landfall in Charleston, our own State Highway Administration had dispatched emergency equipment and workers to South Carolina to help prevent further damage. Within a week, volunteers within the Highway Administration had gathered more than five truckloads of tools and building materials to help South Carolinians rebuild and repair damaged homes. That was only the beginning.

Large corporations, individual citizens, and local neighborhoods all banded together to provide help where help was badly needed. Many Maryland counties set up special collection points or funds to collect relief supplies. The residents of Washington County, for instance, collected several truck loads of materials for South Carolina victims. The Mack Truck Company which has a large plant in Hagerstown transported the materials to rural South Carolina. That spirit of giving has continued through the horrifying reports of new disasters in Texas and California.

Many non-profit groups in Maryland have played important roles in organizing relief efforts to the disaster areas. I especially want to commend the staff and volunteers of the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army for their tireless dedication and work during these very difficult times. In the first two weeks after Hurricane Hugo struck, the Red Cross served more than 7 million meals to storm victims. Hundreds of homeless families are still housed in Red Cross shelters. And the demands will continue for many more weeks.

One of the major problems in helping storm and earthquake victims has been to identify what aid they need most and how to get it to them quickly and efficiently. As I have spoken with local officials, it has become clear that the primary need is not for clothing or food donations. The greatest need is for funds which can be used within the affected areas to buy the specific materials and foodstuffs needed. For this reason, my office launched a special fund drive for money for hurricane relief.

During the last few weeks as the geographical area of needs expanded so dramatically, it has become clear that we must better focus our assistance. I have asked the Red Cross to help us direct the monies already donated for hurricane relief to those areas most in need, and I have agreed to serve as honorary director of the special Red Cross Disaster Fund Drive. Money collected by this fund will go directly to disaster victims — no overhead, no administrative costs. Contributors can designate funds directly for a specific project. For example, contributions can be earmarked especially for the California relief efforts or aid to homeless families in the Caribbean.

Thanks to all the citizens of Maryland who care, who volunteer, and who get involved and who make our state such an outstanding place to live and work.

You may send contributions directly to the Red Cross, Box 630020, Baltimore, Maryland 21263, or you may write to me, Governor William Donald Schaefer, The State House, Annapolis, MD 21401.

More Jeers For Jerry

by Craig Speicher

Recently, a letter to the editor from a Mrs. Kimberlie Rush criticized a parody I wrote, Dr. Gallwell's Strange Burden, comparing it to liberal opinions and Big City News (whatever that is); She wrote, I am a Christian and happen to take offense at cheap shots at people who may have faults (don't we all) . . . and suggested that The Republican find a good local charity that could use some community support. Oh yes, she also commented that a $1.10 newspaper was worth $10 in coupons, the remainder of the paper being useful as firestarter.

Maybe the humor throughout the parody obscured the more subtle but serious facts that inspired the satire in the first place. So I will spell it out again, more directly and simply.

But first, consider televangelist Oral Roberts. Years ago, Roberts claimed a 900-foot high Jesus told him to build a city of faith, including a prayer tower, hospital and medical school. Donations were skydiving, but the huge Jesus apparently inspired enough funds to complete The Kingdom of Oral. When falling income menaced Roberts again, he reported that God would take him home if donations were not forthcoming. Then, a gambler who owned a racetrack donated apparently enough money to keep Roberts earthbound, but the contribution revealed a much truer picture of Roberts' schemes.

Nowadays the City of Faith is a city of folly. Oral Roberts University is so financially destitute that it has withdrawn from NCAA sports classification and competition. The Jesus-ordained hospital is foundering with empty beds, and the medical school is a fiscal corpse, the students there bailing out and transferring to other schools from which they will be able to graduate.

The point being, that large numbers of students, personnel, money and materials went into creating an institution like a house built on sand — sands of delusions and illusions. Since the Jesus of Roberts' theology is omniscient and infallible, perhaps Roberts is serving a counterfeit, an angel of light.

Roberts' unauthorized biography, Give Me That Prime Time Religion, portrays a hustler who regularly concocts emergencies to which supporters always rally with checks waving.

Another unauthorized biography explains that Jim Bakker — surprise! — also periodically manufactured crises, timed to coincide with monthly distribution of Social Security checks — then laughed as the elderly kissed their money goodbye.

And what about Jimmy Swaggart? Revealed, reviled, rejected, reformed, he was so heartbroken over his sins that he

FRIENDS OF THE RUTH ENLOW LIBRARY

I am going to do it this time. I have been thinking about doing it for several years and have not had the courage until now. Most of you will be outraged or dismayed, but a few of you may understand and even applaud my daring. My subscription to National Geographic runs out next month and, brace yourself, I am not going to renew! No matter how much opprobrium is heaped upon me, I have resolved to stand firm. Henceforth, if I read National Geographic it will be at the library. I still think it's a great publication, but I keep having nightmares about all of the trees in the world being replaced by huge stacks of yellow magazines.

The Board of Directors of The Ruth Enlow Library had a pleasant surprise this fall. The county commissioners provided funds to enlarge the parking lot at the Accident Library and to repair floors at the Grantsville Library. Both of these projects were planned for coming fiscal years, but needed to be done sooner. We commend the commissioners for recognizing the need and making funds available.

The Children's Book Fund total has just passed $6,700 with a $250 donation from Buffalo Coal Company of Bayard, W.Va. Other recent donations include: Mettiki Coal Corporation, $150; teachers at Dennett Road Elementary School, $108; and donations of $100 each from Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Alvarez; Dr. and Mrs. Robert Coughlin; Lonnie J. Kuhn, D.D.S.; Dr. and Mrs. Barry F. Conger; Success Floor Covering; Jan Florists; Dr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Johnson; and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Williams Jr.

Nancy Pagenhardt keeps me updated with a list of the donations she receives for the Children's Fund. The groups of donors are interesting. The response from the medical community, both medical doctors and dentists, has been outstanding with 19 donations received. The response from community businesses has been as follows: Oakland/Mt. Lake Park, 21; Friendsville, 10; Kitzmiller, six; Deer Park, two; and Bayard, W.Va., one. With over $3,000 needed to reach our goal, I hope that other area businesses will be heard from.

Our newest life members are: Dr. Karl and Sharon Schwalm; Mildred R. Shilke; Katharine L. Smith; and Mary Elizabeth Stover.

Martha Grimes' latest book, The Old Silent, is her most complex work to date and I believe it is her best. Rock music and musicians play a major part in the story and, although I would never have thought of it, the juxtaposition of rock and roll and an English mystery provide an interesting combination. All of her usual characters are present. I can hardly wait to read Ms. Grimes' next book to see how Vivian escapes her impending marriage.

The Mind Wanders

by Sherry Frantz

Let me tell you a story.

A fable, actually, and I've entitled it "The Bat and The Squirrel."

There was, once upon a time, a mountain princess who lived in a house in the woods in an area known as "Blueberry Hill." She lived her life there always mindful of Mother Nature.

Her delight and respect for Mother Nature led her to believe that this land was enjoyed by all the living creatures who wished to share this land with the princess. Once, she even welcomed a black bear into her yard who happened to be passing through. The princess was very cordial with the creature and not at all offended by his presence (although she kept a reasonable distance).

But for all her loving thoughts and generosity toward the creatures of nature, the mountain princess felt that her house was her own private sanctuary, not to be entered by the animals outside.

She thought this was her secret. (After all, this was not a fitting philosophy for this self-pronounced beneficent spirit.)

But, alas, the Bat and the Squirrel were frollicking about the house one night while the princess (sans pea) lay sleeping in her bed. The two creatures decided they would like to get inside the house to discover what the world of the princess was like.

The Bat was quick to point out to the Squirrel that the lady could walk about freely outside, sometimes crushing nuts as she walked, sometimes stepping on the Bat's most delicious insect before it had an opportunity to take to the air. So why were they not allowed to roam about inside her domain?

The Bat then challenged the Squirrel to find a way inside the house. Taking the challenge, the Squirrel raced up one side of the house, scampering about on the roof, until he eventually found an opening under the eaves.

Once inside, he was delighted to find the princess asleep, and crept closer to get a better look. He was amazed at this large soft structure she rested on. As he sat on her shoulder, he suddenly felt her move very abruptly, shooting up to a sitting position. And, as he ran for shelter, he heard the most hideous screams coming from her mouth.

The Squirrel then found his way outside again and breathlessly reached his companion, who was anxiously awaiting a full report.

"I think she must be crazy," said the Squirrel. "I heard her shouting something like, 'Do I look like a nut to you?' "

The Bat and the Squirrel decide then to stay in their own territory, lest the crazy mountain princess banish them completely from Blueberry Hill.

But one night, a few months later, the Bat was playing outside when he noticed a quite delectable-looking cricket crawl under one of the eaves. He bravely decided to take a chance at this morsel and, following his victim, found himself inside the house of the princess.

The Bat was frantically flitting about when the princess awoke and began some pretty frantic flitting of her own. She had a wild look in her eyes, and was racing through the house in no apparent direction. He surmised that she must be as terrified as he had been, and deciding to enjoy this one-woman circus, discreetly hung himself on a rafter to watch and wait.

He observed that the princess was holding a strange device up to her face and speaking desperately into one end of it. She seemed to be inquiring about some sort of help for bat-tered women.

As the princess crawled back into bed, pulling the covers up around her head, she caught sight of an acorn rolling across the floor, and she knew at that moment that her rescuers were already too late.

Moral: When someone says you have bats in your belfry, check it out. (Or, Sometimes you feel like a nut. Sometimes you don't.)

Vandalism Causes $3,500 In Damages

The Garrett County Sheriff's Department is currently investigating a destruction of property that caused over $3,000 in damages.

William F. DeWitt, Deer Park, reported that his school bus' motor blew up after the oil line was cut, apparently during the night of October 18 while the bus was parked at Route 135 Amoco, Oakland. The damage to the motor is estimated at $3,500. Deputy D.L. Crossland is conducting an investigation.

The Sheriff's Department is investigating several other instances of theft and destruction of property that have occurred recently.

A spokesperson for Nemith Construction, Oakland, reported the theft of a window and a heat form that will reportedly cost $900 to replace. According to Deputy J.D. Murphy, an Andersen 4' by 2' double pane window and a "37A" heat form were removed from a residence that is under construction in Sky Valley. The theft occurred between October 12 and 26.

Donald Joseph Ringer, Loch Lynn, reported the theft of $755 in fishing equipment from a boat parked in the back yard of his residence. According to Deputy R.P. Shaffer, the theft occurred between September 1 and October 25. There are no suspects at this time and the investigation is continuing.

John T. Wilson, Mountain Lake Park, reported the theft of his Honda dirt bike from outside his Route 219 North residence. The motorcycle was stolen on the night of October 22, by a perpetrator(s) who pushed the vehicle from the residence. The red dirt bike had a kinked rear fender, black racing number plates, and a Blackwater 100 sticker on a side plate, and is valued at $400. According to Deputy J.B. Sowers, the investigation is continuing.

Omission Noted

In last week's issue of The Republican there was a photograph of members of the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department receiving a donation of a chain saw and a multi-purpose saw from Bausch & Lomb and Green Acres Garden Center. The cutline should also have stated that the chain for the chain saw (with a retail value of $60) was donated by Mac McClung, Rosedale.

Agencies Meet For Monthly Staff Meeting

Representatives from various county agencies met with the Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday for their monthly staff meeting.

Health Department

Jay Cross, Garrett County Deputy Health Officer, noted that the department is serving as the focal point for the Family Crisis Resources Center, Inc. He reported that he has not seen any difficulty with the transition, and volunteers have been calling to offer their help.

Joanna Younger was introduced as the new director of mental health and addictions.

Library

Edith Brock, of the Ruth Enlow Library, reported that painting began today at the Oakland branch of the library. Once that phase is completed, new carpeting will be installed.

The work at Grantsville will be delayed because the books must all be moved. Hopes are to begin during the Christmas season so young people from the community can help with the moving.

Environmental Health

Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County Environmental Health Officer, reported that landfill is still underway on Phoenix Hill near Barton, and is meeting with some opposition in Allegany County.

Economic Development

Tom Jones, director of Garrett County Economic Development, reported that proposals were opened last week on the last segment of the preliminary feasibility study for the Grantsville Industrial site. The emphasis was on water and sewerage as well as the final layout for the access road.

Three proposals were received, and the low bid from Morgan France was accepted. This segment will be completed by the end of the calendar year, and the project will then proceed into the funding stage.

Community Action

Duane Yoder, director of Garrett County Community Action, reported that the Oakland Senior Center has been moved to the campmeeting grounds at Mtn. Lake Park as part of the process of vacating the building. Several administrative offices will be moved next week.

Don Friend was hired two weeks ago to serve as housing director. He replaced Meg Ellis, who is now serving as director of development at Community Action.

Work is currently underway on the budget. Yoder noted that the governor has indicated that funds for Community Action will be almost double that of last year. However, the funding is about one quarter of what was requested.

Planning and Zoning

John Nelson, director of the Garrett County Planning and Zoning Commission, reported that the Information Booth project will not get underway this year because the needed permits are not in order. The grant will be extended until December 1990.

Promotion Council

Diane Wolfe, director of the Garrett County Promotion Council, reported that Autumn Glory was very successful, with "great weather and lots of people."

She attended the Maryland Governor's Conference on Tourism, where the council won the Maryland Travel Council Excellence in Travel Award for the Garrett County Calendar of Events. The next Conference on Tourism will be held at the Wisp Resort — the first conference in western Maryland.

Work has begun on the 1990 Calendar of Events, which should be available by mid-December. Next week, the council will begin accepting advertisements for the 1990-91 Garrett County Vacation Guide.

GCC

Dr. Stephen Herman, Garrett Community College President, introduced Jim Allen as the new director of technology at GCC. Hopes are to convert the technology center into a resource center for the community.

Herman noted that the college is in the midst of their fundraising campaign. They have three years to raise $125,000 to take advantage of matched monies from the state as well as six Garrett County businesses.

Herman also mentioned the program which will allow fifth grade students to attend a full week of college. He noted that the staff members are "very excited."

Herman reported that the Middle States small team recently visited the college and conducted their interview. The results will not be reported for three months, but Herman noted that the interview went very well, and the school was referred to as a "potential jewel."

Sanitary Commission

Wendell Beitzel, director of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission, noted that the bid for the Deep Creek storage facility has been awarded. However, the project has been delayed by the paperwork needed to obtain an ARC grant through the Farmers' Home Administration. He stated that the tank will not be finished until the end of next summer.

The Crellin Sewer project is nearing completion. Remaining work includes the installation of sand and the UV system, circulation filter, and the actual clean-up.

Beitzel reported that the Trout Run treatment facility is now substantially complete, and is under operation. A final inspection is all that is needed for that project.

Man Sentenced To Six Years For Housebreaking

During regular Garrett County Circuit Court proceedings last Thursday, an Oakland man was sentenced to six years in the Department of Corrections for a charge of daylight housebreaking.

Charles J. Wassil, 22, Oakland, pled guilty to the charge. The judge suspended three years of the sentence and placed Wassil on three years supervised probation.

Wassil pled guilty to the charge during a September 28 trial, when a pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Not prosecuted were charges of burglary, felony theft, and destruction of property.

The charges stemmed from a June 17, 1989, incident on the Sand Flat Road, Deer Park.

Wassil was represented by John R. Toston.

In a separate case, the judge sentenced Belinda K. Springer, 24, Hagerstown, to three years in the Department of Corrections for a charge of daylight housebreaking. The sentence was suspended, and Springer was placed on three years supervised probation.

Springer entered a guilty plea on September 28, and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered.

Charges of felony theft and conspiracy were not prosecuted. The charges were filed by R.L. Sines of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department as the result of a break-in at a residence on Paradise Point Road, Deep Creek Lake. The incident occurred between January 31 and February 20.

Springer was represented by Toston.

The judge sentenced Blair A. Baker, 24, Grantsville, to one year in the Garrett County Jail for a charge of distributing marijuana. Baker pled guilty to the charge on September 14, when the judge ordered a pre-sentence investigation.

A charge of possession of marijuana was not prosecuted. The charges stemmed from a March 4, 1989, incident in Grantsville. According to court records, Baker sold the drug to a police informant.

Baker's attorney was Lawrence V. Kelly.

In another case, Vicki K. Kamp, 25, Grantsville, received a $300 fine after she pled guilty to driving while intoxicated. A charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol was not prosecuted.

Kamp was arrested by Deputy J. Sowers of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department on June 11, 1989.

Kamp's attorney was Robert C. Hesson.

Oakland Man Charged With Child Abuse

An Oakland man was arrested last Thursday in connection with the battery of a ten-month old child, according to reports from the Garrett County Sheriff's Department.

Gary Fay Fazenbaker, 24, has been charged with child abuse and assault and battery. According to Deputy R.L. Sines, the suspect was involved in a domestic dispute with the child's mother, Lisa Renee Sweitzer, when he attempted to strike Sweitzer, and instead struck the baby on the head. The baby allegedly sustained a three-inch bruise as a result of the blow. The child was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad where she was treated for head injuries and released, according to police reports.

Fazenbaker was also charged with breaking and entering and assault and battery upon Lisa Renee Sweitzer, according to Sines.

The suspect is currently being held in the Garrett County Jail in lieu of $10,000, ten percent cash bond.

In other news from the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, David Lee Hardesty, 40, Deer Park, was arrested last Thursday on a warrant charging him with destruction of property and violation of an ex parte order. According to Det./Sgt. D.W. Tucker, he was taken to the Garrett County Jail. He is currently being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Funds Approved For Moving Of Compton School

The board of directors of Spruce Forest Artisan Village have learned that the Maryland Historical Trust has finally approved the funds that will be used to move and restore the old Compton School house to the pioneer village near Penn Alps, Grantsville.

The Compton School, believed to have been built in the early 1700s, is currently located along New Germany Road. The structure was recently donated by Cora Broadwater. A.J. Wiley Construction of Springs, Pa., and Preservation Associates Inc. of Hagerstown will be responsible for the moving and restoration project.

"This is a great day for Penn Alps and for the Village," proclaimed Esther Yoder, manager of Penn Alps. "Few people realize the effort it takes to preserve our heritage, but it is worth it."

Jack Dueck, administrator at Penn Alps, indicated that this project began as a dream and hope of Dr. Alta Schrock, founder of Penn Alps. "Although the building was donated in the summer of 1988," said Dueck, "Dr. Schrock's dream is only now taking shape."

The official signing of loan papers was held at Penn Alps last Friday.

I remember you in this solemn hour, my dear mother. I remember the days when you did dwell on earth, and your tender love watched over me like a guardian angel. You have gone from me, but the bond which unites our souls can never be severed; your image lives within my heart. May the merciful Father reward you for the faithfulness and kindness you have shown me. May He lift up the light of His countenance upon you, and grant you eternal peace!

D.R. Elementary Students Choose To Be Drug Free

A school news magazine article inspired a group of fourth graders at Dennett Road Elementary School to initiate a school-wide drug awareness campaign.

The students approached Virginia Gregory, teacher, and Virginia Thayer, classroom assistant, with an idea for the campaign. Mrs. Thayer worked with the class to plan "My Choice...Drug Free" Week at the school.

Mrs. Thayer and Les McDaniel, the school's guidance counselor, then coordinated activities for the school.

Local business and civic organizations supported the effort. The Oakland Coca-Cola Bottling Company donated a banner reading "Hugs Are Better Than Drugs." Jan Florists donated ribbon and large bows for Red Ribbon Day. The Elks Club gave the school ribbons bearing the slogan "My Choice...Drug Free," enough for every student and staff member in the school. Dr. Barry Conger donated pins and envelopes for the ribbons.

Nine peer counselors from Southern High School, under the direction of Randy Paugh, guidance counselor, came to perform a role play concerning drug use. The peer counselors then discussed many alternatives to drug use.

Mrs. Gregory's reading group made "Hugs Are Better Than Drugs" bookmarks for each school student. The group also made posters, currently displayed in the school's hallway.

There were many favorable comments from the teachers, according to a school spokesperson.

The fourth and fifth grade students who participated in the discussion with Southern High School's peer counselors also appeared enthusiastic. One student commented, "They (the peer counselors) were really good. They really know what it's like to see people's drug problems."

Byron Named To Health Task Force

U.S. Representative Beverly B. Byron has been named to the Democratic Caucus Issues Task Force on Health, an 11-member panel designed to address the national crisis of medical care costs.

"In this country we spend an average of $2,051 per person annually for health care," Congresswoman Byron said. "That represents over 11 percent of our GNP. It is apparent that we need a comprehensive health care agenda for the nation, and I'm pleased that I will be able to take part in the development of such a plan."

The first order of business for the task force will be to poll a cross section of the American population to gauge public perception of health care choices and costs.

"I have talked to my constituents at length about the growing health care crisis," Byron said. "But a national cross section of opinions will be most helpful in developing and implementing new initiatives in health care cost containment.

"Americans are facing difficult choices when it comes to the cost of medical procedures. New technologies carry greater price tags, but even standard medical care continues to rise in cost," Byron said.

"This task force will explore methods of expanding the accessibility of quality health care for all Americans."

ROTARIANS MEET

Connie Groves, volunteer director of Hopemont Hospital, presented a program about the history of that institution at the October 19 meeting of the Terra Alta Rotary Club.

Groves told the Rotarians that the idea of having a tuberculosis sanitarium was conceived in 1911 by a group of state officials who believed such a facility should be built in northeastern West Virginia in an area where the altitude was high. Tuberculosis was rampant at the time and only attempted cure was high altitude, fresh air, good food, and isolation.

Over the years the institution grew to accommodate 300 inhabitants. As new drugs were developed to cure tuberculosis, the need for hospitalization gradually declined.

In 1965 the sanitarium became Hopemont Hospital for the chronically ill. It functioned as such at full capacity for a number of years, but in 1982 an attempt was made to change the hospital into a personal care home. At the time many patients were being discharged from mental hospitals. It was believed they could take care of themselves if they were given a chance. Hundreds of these patients were transferred to Hopemont to determine if they could function in a less-restrictive environment. Groves said the experiment was not very successful.

Now Hopemont has a mixed population that includes those who are chronically ill, those who are mentally retarded, and non-violent patients suffering from some forms of mental illness.

House Blasted

Shaffer said, "so right now it's impossible to know just how much damage there is."

The Oakland Fire Department was called to the residence after the strike because it was feared that the house was on fire. "The house was full of that sulphur-smelling smoke that lightning always leaves," Shaffer said. But there was no fire discovered.

Shaffer said he and his wife were uninjured, however his ears are still ringing from the blast.

"The people from Potomac Edison said they rarely see such a powerful strike," he said, "the way it bounced all over the place and even knocked those big limbs out of the trees.

"All I can say is that we were really lucky that we didn't get hurt and the house didn't burn down," he concluded.

"I think the carburetor is flooded."

War On Moths

will cost-share with the participating landowners for the gypsy moth control program on private lands.

MDA money will not be used to conduct a program on private lands. Federal cost-share money similarly will not be used for the private lands program conducted by the county.

The MDA and the Department of Natural Resources will conduct and fund a program to protect trees on State lands from gypsy moths.

The MDA will discuss with the county possible State involvement in a program to spray certain "sensitive areas" such as those along Deep Creek Lake. The State uses the pesticide BT, which is not as effective as Demolin, but is considered safer around water. A State-involved program would be under the direction of the State and would be conducted as time and resources permit.

For this program in "sensitive areas" the county would pay both the county and State shares of the program costs (approximately 53 percent), with the federal cost-share paying the remaining 47 percent.

The "sensitive areas" would be recommended by the county, with concurrence by the State.

More specific details of these programs will be developed by representatives of the county and the State, and set forth in a Memorandum of Understanding.

The MDA has agreed to provide the county with technical advice and assistance, and to evaluate and discuss revisions to the different programs.

More than upsetting a delicate ecological balance, the gyspy moth infestation directly threatens the fifth largest industry in the State, according to Puffinberger.

Garrett County alone employs 690 persons in 44 timber-related industries in the county.

"Most oak trees cannot stand two defoliations," stated County Commissioner Ernie Gregg, emphasizing the urgency of the situation with which we are currently faced. "Other species do not have the economic impetus that hardwoods have."

The County Commissioners maintain that by conducting programs in conjunction with and in addition to State programs, Garrett County will benefit from a greater pool of resources with which to fight the infestation.

As previously mentioned, the State uses BT to combat the gypsy moths, but according to Garrett County Commissioners, the stronger chemical compound Demolin will be considered for use in parts of Garrett County.

Rams Edged By Spartans For Second Close Defeat

For the second week in a row, the Southern High Rams were edged by their opponent in the final seconds of the game, as they lost to Bishop Walsh, 22-20, Friday evening in Oakland. This defeat and the 3-0 loss to Tucker County the previous week is the first time since 1982 that Southern has recorded two consecutive defeats.

There were just 38 seconds left on the clock when quarterback Scott Mahle crossed the goal line on a six-yard run to give the Spartans the victory, their sixth in eight starts. It was the third loss in eight games for the Rams.

The Rams kicked off to begin the game, but Brian Sines recovered a Mahle fumble on the first play of the game at the Bishop Walsh 30-yard line to set up Southern's first touchdown. Billy Welch, who returned after being out of the line-up for four weeks with a broken foot, carried the ball four consecutive times to move the ball 13 yards to the 17. Then quarterback Tommy Ritchey carried the ball around the left side on a rollout for the touchdown at the 8:57 mark of the first quarter. John Milligan's kick for the extra point was wide.

2-36	Punts-Average	2-32
5-50	Penalties-Yards	4-25

Following the ensuing kickoff, the Spartans moved the ball 51 yards on 14 plays before being stopped at the Southern 25, but Mahle kicked a 42-yard field goal to make it 6-3.

Southern's next drive was halted at the Bishop Walsh 42 when Robbie Hovatter intercepted a Ritchey pass. On the next play, Joe Ross, the area's second leading rusher (behind Northern's Darren McKenzie), raced up the middle for a 63-yard touchdown run with 4:38 remaining in the first half. Mahle's kick for the extra point was wide, leaving the score at 9-6 at halftime.

The Rams received the kickoff to open the second half and Ritchey engineered a 73-yard, 11-play drive that was capped by a nine-yard touchdown run by Welch at the 6:27 mark. Milligan's kick for the conversion was blocked.

Ross then took the Ram kickoff and carried the ball 22 yards to the Spartans' 48. He gained 11 more yards on the next two plays and then Donald Princes broke loose up the middle for a 41-yard touchdown run at the 5:01 mark of the third quarter. Mahle booted the extra point to make it 16-12 in favor of the Spartans.

Bishop Walsh had an opportunity to put the game away when the Rams fumbled the kickoff on their own 34. But the Southern defense held and forced Mahle to attempt a 34-yard field goal. The snap was bobbled and Mahle was tackled, giving possession back to the Rams.

Southern then marched 74 yards on 14 running plays to eat up all but 2:23 of the fourth quarter. The drive culminated with a four-yard touchdown run by Welch and a Ritchey pass to Mike Freyman for the two-point conversion to give the Rams a 20-16 advantage. Welch carried the ball on 13 of the 14 plays.

But the 2:23 was too much time to give to the explosive Spartans and Mahle, who completed eight of 12 passes for 135 yards on the evening, connected on three consecutive strikes in that final winning drive before running for the touchdown himself. His pass for the two-point conversion failed, but the extra two points were not needed, as Southern's final attempt to score ended when Hovatter recorded his second interception.

Ross finished with 109 yards on 18 carries, while Welch recorded 163 yards on 31 attempts.

"This was one of the toughest, most frustrating losses since I've been at Southern," Coach Tom Woods stated. "We had prepared well for the game and we really felt we were doing all the things we needed to do to win. But we left too much time on the clock."

Woods said there were several bright spots for the Rams, though. "We did a good job containing Ross," he said, "Even though he finished with just over 100 yards, if you take away his 63-yard run, he would have had under 50 yards.

"We were also very pleased with Billy Welch's performance. He ran hard and made some great cuts.

"Joby Tasker (sophomore) also played an excellent game at nose guard. He was one of our leading tacklers," he said. Marshall Pike, Jon Nazelrod, and Tasker each had seven tackles.

"We thought the play of our offensive line was much improved over the previous week, also," he said.

"We knew going in that it was going to be a close, hard-fought game and, when you watch the film of the game, you see two virtually even teams. If we played 10 times, we would each probably win five of them, and only by a few points," he said.

The injury problems continued to mount for the Rams, as sophomore B.J. Shaffer sustained a broken hand and will be out for the season. Chuck Graham is still out of the line-up this week with a neck injury and Kevin Green, who had hoped to return last week, will also not play this week as he continues to nurse a shoulder injury.

"We have never had such a problem with injuries," Woods said. "It's just one of those freaky things that happens occasionally. We are not doing anything different than in the past, but we have usually been very fortunate over the years as far as injuries are concerned."

Two tough games remain on the Rams' schedule, however, the first of which will be this Friday night at home against Beall. In the pre-season Beall was expected to be one of the top teams in the area, as a veteran squad of seniors returned this year. However, it has been a frustrating year for Coach Bill Patterson and the Mountaineers, who are currently 3-5. Their last two games were lost in overtime, to St. James and to Poolesville.

Offensively, Beall is guided by several three-year starters, including junior quarterback Shannon McKenzie (6-3, 185), who, according to Woods, has the strongest arm in the area. Also spearheading the offense are senior flanker Rick Duckworth (5-11, 169), senior split end and sometimes tailback Greg Carter (6-0, 170), and senior guard Will Vogtman (5-9, 235).

They run almost everything from the I-formation and are about a 50-50 run-pass team.

"One of the things that makes Beall hard to prepare for is that sometimes McKenzie will switch to tailback and they will bring in Bryan Lewis (5-9, 150-pound senior) at quarterback," Woods said. "Then sometimes Carter will switch from flanker to tailback."

Their 5-3 and 5-2 defense is led by Vogtman at tackle, McKenzie at end, junior Jason Robinson (5-9, 174) at linebacker, and the area's top track athlete, senior Chris Loar (6-2, 180) at safety.

"Last year we were trailing Beall 14-0 at halftime before we went on to win (21-14)," Woods said. "They always give us a lot of trouble defensively. They gamble a lot on defense, using a lot of blitzing."

Beall also has a strong kicking game, with McKenzie handling the punting chores and Tony Himmler as place kicker.

"Beall has very good size and probably the best team speed of any team we've seen this year," Woods said. "But we've had good practices this week and this is a key game for us because, if we can win our last two, we will win the Highland Conference title. Plus, a 7-3 season is a whole lot better than a 5-5 season."

Kickoff at the Southern field tomorrow night is set for 7:30.

GOING FOR A SACK of Bishop Walsh quarterback Scott Mahle last Friday night is Southern defensive back Mike Fulmer, as teammates Jeremy Smith (No. 52) and Doug Lewis (No. 32) head that way to lend assistance. Mahle led the Spartans to a 22-20 victory over the Rams as they scored a touchdown with just 38 seconds left in the game. The 5-3 Rams will attempt to rebound this Friday night at home against Beall.

Three Emergency Waterfowl Hunting Regs Announced

Three amendments to regulate baiting, use of live decoys, and use of regulated shooting areas (RSA) have been announced by the Department of Natural Resources Secretary Torrey C. Brown. The Executive and Legislative Review Committee of the Maryland General Assembly passed these amendments as emergency proposals for the 1989-90 hunting season.

RSA hunters may now shoot captive-raised ducks that are raised by other RSA owners. The change in the regulation is that RSA owners previously were able to allow their hunters to shoot the captive-raised, properly marked ducks without regard to a federal or state bag limit. State-released mallard ducks and wild waterfowl that are shot must still conform to the established federal season and bag limit. The regulation further states that state-released ducks, in all regards and under all circumstances, are considered wild ducks.

The regulation for RSAs further states that there shall be no feeding of captive-raised mallard ducks for a period of 15 calendar days before the hunting of wetland game birds and that all feed must be absent from the site for 10 calendar days before the hunting of the wetland game birds. There may be no feeding of captive-raised ducks during the established federal open season.

Live decoy regulations were changed to track the federal government's live decoy regulation, which states that any tame or captive live ducks must be confined for a period of 10 consecutive days prior to hunting wild waterfowl.

The baiting regulation amendment deals with broadcasting of seed. If seed is broadcast for a cover crop, the seed must be disced, plowed under or germinated. Any residual seed must be removed so that the ground is clear for the 10 days immediately preceding the hunting of wetland game birds.

Dr. Brown noted, "The Department of Natural Resources is charged with stewardship responsibilities for the waterfowl resource. Because of the declining waterfowl populations, the Department has enacted these amendments to ensure protection of these species and their continued conservation so that this resource may continue to be enjoyed by all residents of the state."

Cystic Fibrosis Benefit Slated At Alpine Pool

Alpine Lake Resort Pool, near Terra Alta, W.Va., will sponsor a lap swim for Cystic Fibrosis on Friday, November 10 and Saturday, November 11. There is no school that day and the pool will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Admission is free, as pool usage has been donated by Alpine Lake Resort. Lifeguards will count and verify the number of laps completed.

Swimmers should find their own sponsors, who can pledge by the hour of lap swimming (two hour limit) or by the lap. A sponsor can be a friend, neighbor, relative or business. Sponsor sheets can be picked up at the pool and will be validated after the swim.

Checks should be made payable to Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. All money is to be turned into Alpine Lake Resort, Route 2, Box 99 D-2, Terra Alta, WV, 26764 by Sunday, November 19.

Cystic fibrosis is a little-understood genetic disease which causes excess mucus in the body, — choking the lungs and major organs. It is painful and is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults. It is always fatal. Before the CF Foundation was established, few children born with CF ever reached kindergarten age. Now most survive into their teens.

The Foundation says science is making major breakthroughs in their understanding of cystic fibrosis.

Lap swim participants will be eligible to win prizes. Persons may contact the Lake Resort pool at (304) 789-2481 or Deb Reall at (301) 334-8823.

HALT! seems to be the command of this Valley defenseman as Northern High School's Darren McKenzie goes scooting on by for a big gain against the Black Knights last Saturday night on the Southern High School field. Although McKenzie had another 200-plus yardage night and continues to lead the area in rushing, the Huskies were defeated by the Knights, 20-13. Northern will host West Preston at the Southern field this Saturday night.

McKenzie Gains 226 Yards, But Huskies Fall To Valley

Despite a 226-yard effort by the area's leading rusher, Darren McKenzie, and despite the fact that his team finished with 75 more yards of offense, the Northern Huskies were upset Saturday night by the Valley Black Knights, 20-13, on the Southern High School field.

The difference in total offense was actually greater, because the Huskies lost 100 yards on 10 penalties, while Valley was pushed back 50 yards on five violations. The loss was the fifth in eight starts for the Huskies, while the Knights improved to 2-7.

The Huskies wasted no time getting on the scoreboard first, as they kicked off to the Knights, recovered their own kickoff on the Valley 30-yard line, and on the first play from scrimmage, handed the ball to McKenzie who raced right up the middle for the 30-yard touchdown run. Jon Houser booted the extra point to give the Huskies a 7-0 lead just 23 seconds into the game.

Valley responded in the same period with a 66-yard touchdown pass from Todd Zais to his brother Jared Zais at the 4:37 mark. The kick for the extra point was no good.

The second quarter saw no additional scoring, so at halftime the Huskies held a 7-6 advantage.

The Black Knights took the lead for good at the 9:18 mark of the third period when fullback Keith Phillips scored on a two-yard dive and then ran for the two-point conversion to make it 14-7. Phillips led the Knights' ground game with 110 yards on 24 carries.

The Huskies came back with a touchdown just over a minute later when McKenzie broke loose on a 66-yard run. However, Coach Tom Vent elected to go for two points to take the lead, but the run was stopped short, leaving the score at 14-13.

The final touchdown by the Knights was scored on the last play of the game when Paul Kelly raced into the end zone from nine yards out as the buzzer sounded. The conversion was not attempted.

The Huskies nearly pulled it out late in the fourth quarter when they were deep in their own territory, but on a third down and long yardage, quarterback Chad Sines tossed the ball to McKenzie in the backfield, who then fired a long pass that was caught, but then fumbled by the Northern receiver.

McKenzie gained his 226 yards on just 22 carries, for an average of just over 10 yards per carry. His season total is now 1,478 yards.

When asked why he elected to go for the two-point conversion in the third quarter instead of kicking the extra point, Coach Vent said, "We decided to go for the win right then. We thought that if we could get the lead then, we would be able to keep them from scoring the rest of the game.

"After our first play of the game (the touchdown run), things just gradually went downhill for us," Vent said. "I still think we are playing a lot better football than in the past, but we just don't seem to have the right attitude yet. Our defense did not play well, we had penalties against us for mistakes that should never happen this far into the season, and they were able to capitalize on our mistakes. We just have a real problem with concentration. I believe in our kids, but until they really believe in themselves, they aren't going to win many ball games."

Vent again noted the difficulty in having to play "away" every weekend, even though their home games still have been in Garrett County. "It's really tough on our players and it has also really reduced the turnout of our fans. We do appreciate the support we have gotten from Southern fans this year, though. Quite a few of them have come out to watch us play."

Vent was quick to praise the efforts of several players, however, including McKenzie and Johnny Joe Friend, who recorded over 20 tackles. "I can't say enough about guys like Darren and Johnny Joe," he said. "They play hard every down, and so do a lot of our kids. But some of them don't and seem to be just going through the motions. You really have to want to play the game if you are going to be successful at it."

To make matters worse for the Huskies, three more players were added to the injury list, one of whom has been lost for the season. Junior guard and linebacker Stacy Fike, who injured his foot early in the game and then tore ligaments in his knee in the second half, is finished for the 1989 season. Quarterback Chad Sines also sustained a knee injury and is questionable for this Saturday night, as is junior center John Hughes. "It is just a day-to-day thing with Chad and John," Vent said. "We can only hope they will be ready by Saturday."

Things will not get any easier for Coach Vent and the Huskies this week when they host West Preston at Southern's field Saturday night. The Panthers are currently 5-3 and two of their wins have come over Central and East Preston, two teams also defeated by the Huskies.

The Panthers are led offensively by their quarterback, Buddy Mayfield, fullback David Boggs, and tailback Jeff McCrobie.

"We have never beaten West Preston since I've been here, and it's certainly not going to be any easier this year," Vent said. "They play tough, hard-nosed football over there and we are going to have to be ready to play."

Kickoff is slated for 7 p.m. Saturday at the Southern High field.

SPORTS LEAGUE SUPPORTS RESCUE SQUADS — The Garrett Sports League recently contributed $500 each to the Northern and Southern Garrett County rescue squads, proceeds from the 1989 Best of the West Triathlon, held in August. Accepting the funds from Mike Kozier, president of the League, were Rayma Weeks, president of Southern Rescue, and Steve Hamilton, representing Northern Rescue. Nancy Railey was the director of the Triathlon and among the sponsors of the event were Coors, Lohr Distributors, Coca-Cola, the Oakland Mayor and Town Council, and the Greater Oakland Business Association.

Northern Girls Whip Aggies In 3-2 Thriller

After dropping the first two games in a match with Flintstone Aggies, the Northern girls volleyball team fought back to win the next three games and the match before a cheering home crowd last Wednesday evening. The win improved the Huskies' record to 7-4 with one match remaining, against cross-county rival, Southern.

Coach Vonda Yunker's team was down two games to none, as they lost the first two by scores of 15-12 and 15-11, but then won the next three, 15-6, 15-12, and 15-9.

Kristin Edwards led the Huskies in scoring with 17 service points, as she was perfect from the line with 26 good serves. Pam Brenneman added 15 points while Tracie Yommer chipped in with 12. Yommer, Cara Wachter, and Stephanie Thomas each recorded game points.

The Huskies made good on 116 of 121 serves for a sizzling 96 percent effort.

The Huskies' net play was impressive, as they had 31 spikes for points or side-outs. Pam Brenneman hit 15 of that total, while Edwards recorded five.

Defensively, Edwards had three blocks and Pam Brenneman finished with two. Saves were recorded by Audra Speicher, Kim Beal, and Tammy Brenneman.

Flintstone's leading scorer was Billie McCuster.

The Northern junior varsity team did not have the same success, however, losing to the Flintstone jayvees, 2-15, 15-7, and 2-15. April Slagle led the Huskies with six points and Pam Miller finished with five. Melissa Thomas led the Northern net attack with five kills.

Beth Hoopengardner led the Aggies with 16 points.

The Northern jayvees are now 5-3 and will also conclude their season against Southern.

earlier? Have the Steelers ever failed to provide the scales when playing at the Northern field? Finally, is this any reason to divide a league that has been existing for 18 years?

Dave Martin, I just wish the same expedient energies used by you and others to divert from this league could have been used more constructively to strengthen the Mt. Top Youth League. After all, it seems if this much destruction could happen in one day (10/15-10/16), just think what a positive impact you could on this league in the next nine months till next season. Even if you try with half the heart, determination and intensity as these youths have this year, you could make the league's 19th season its strongest ever!

Clearly, the real problem seems to be your inability to cope with defeat. Have you thought at all what a diverse impact yours and others' actions can have on present and future student athletes? Or have you thought of the "oh-so-poor message" going out to these children? Your actions are as much as saying "We can't handle the heat, so we're getting out of the kitchen"! We all make mistakes, Dave, but fortunately it may not be too late to show the youths and adults of this county your ability to rise above it all and work toward reconciliation.

Sincerely,
Patric Cooper
Residential Supervisor

To the Editor:

As Coach of the Terra Alta/Aurora Dolphins, I read with great interest the various articles and letters to the Editor from your October 26 issue concerning the Mountain Top Youth Football League. I now offer a different viewpoint from those printed.

To begin, it should be pointed out that while the problems of our league did not surface until this year, they began three years ago. For the sake of space I will address only the last two weeks of this season.

Shortly after Dolphin/Jet game of October 8, there was a request made by the Steeler Coaches to play their upcoming playoff game at Terra Alta. They also requested that they receive all monies generated by both the W.Va. division playoff game, and the Md. division playoff game. The Steeler coaches were told that they were welcome to use the Terra Alta facilities, but they were not entitled to, nor would they receive the total gate receipts. The Dolphins proposed a compromise of a 50/50 split of gate receipts. This compromise was offered, not because the Dolphins were obligated in any way, but because:

(1) the Dolphins understood the situation the Steelers had been in all year, having no home games, since their field had been under repair all year.

(2) the Dolphins have expenses, just like any other team, and need money generated by gate receipts to help offset these expenses.

This compromise was rejected by the Steelers, who then implied they would force both playoff games to be played at Southern.

The Steelers insisted that since they had the best overall record, they were entitled to host both playoff games at their choice of site. League rules DO NOT state that the best overall record controls the PLAYOFF GAMES. League rules state that the DIVISION WINNER controls the PLAYOFF GAMES. League rules give the best overall record the choice of site for the CHAMPIONSHIP GAME. This interpretation of the rules was verified by the Dolphins through our League President on October 9.

On October 10, a call was received from our League President stating that officials used by our League from the Cumberland area were refusing to officiate the playoff games if there was anything less than a doubleheader at one site — Southern. I was not satisfied with this and called the head official, Gene Payton, myself. I was informed by Mr. Payton that at no time did his office say they would not officiate games at two different sites. A tentative agreement was reached between Mr. Payton and myself. I was requested to have our League Secretary, Bill Ferry, call and confirm these arrangements.

I contacted Mr. Ferry on October 11, who assured me that he would call and confirm the arrangement with the Cumberland officials. Mr. Ferry further assured me that there would be no further questions on where the playoff games would be held. The Steeler/Raider game would be at Southern starting at 1:30 on October 15. The Dolphin/Viking game would be held at Terra Alta starting at 3:30 on October 15.

Saturday, October 14, I reached Mr. Ferry to verify confirmation had been given to the officials. Mr. Ferry told me that he had passed that responsibility on to our League President. At approximately 9:30 p.m. on the 14th, I reached our President. At this time I was told that he had decided to hold both playoff games at the Southern site. I told him it would be very difficult for the Dolphins to change their plans on such short and late notice. Further, that it was unfair to take the projected profits away from the Dolphins. The Parsons Vikings expressed the same opinion, and so the WV Playoff game was held in Terra Alta, as originally scheduled and as League rules called for.

At halftime of the Steeler/Raider game it was announced by our League President that both the Dolphins and Vikings had forfeited, and that the Thomas/Davis Rams would represent the WV division in the Championship game. The Dolphins were informed of this ruling at the completion of their game with the Vikings.

With learning of this ruling, the Dolphins considered their options.

(1) Request a League meeting to question the legality of our President's ruling.

(2) Withdraw from the League.

(3) Accept a game with a subsitute team, if the Steelers would not agree to meet us.

It was decided to first call for a League meeting. Our President refused to call this meeting. I then decided a deadline of Tuesday, October 17, 5:00 p.m., would be placed for word to be received from the League and/or the Steelers on the status of the League Championship game. If no word was received by the deadline, the Dolphins would accept a game with the Raiders.

The Dolphins practiced on Monday, October 16, and although I strongly doubted that a game between the Dolphins and Steelers would materialize, no word of this was mentioned to our players. The Dolphin players left practice on Monday night still believing that they would meet the Steelers the following Sunday for the League Championship.

Tuesday, October 17, 5:30 p.m., with the deadline having passed and no word received from either the League or the Steelers, the Dolphin players were informed that they had been considered by the League to have forfeited and were being replaced by the Rams in the Championship game. It was explained that they had two options:

(1) to end their season at that point, or

(2) to accept the proposed game with the Raiders.

It was unanimous that we accept the game with the Raiders.

To complete this chain of events, The Steeler coaches did contact me, but it was after the deadline (The Steelers had from Sunday, October 15, at approximately 2:00 p.m. until Tuesday, October 17, 5:00 p.m.) They had received word that the Rams declined the offer to meet for the League Championship, and were now ready to talk to the Dolphins. I refused to approach my kids with their proposal and further confuse them. The Steelers had their chance. They were given every reasonable opportunity by the Dolphins, but failed to take advantage of these opportunities.

I respectfully submit this information on behalf of the Dolphins. If there are still questions un-answered, I am willing to meet with those who have those un-answered questions. You may contact me at my residence in Terra Alta.

With hope that all problems within our Mountain Top Youth Football League will be resolved, I am:

Editor's note: A meeting of the Mt. Top Youth League was held Tuesday night and it is reported that many of the problems concerning the league are being "ironed out." We hope to have a detailed story in next week's issue.

Also, for clarification, the Dave Martin who is coach of the Oakland Raiders is the owner of Martin's Auto Parts and not the Dave Martin who is employed in the office of Garrett County Clerk of Court.

To the Editor:

This letter is in response to the accusations made concerning the Northern Steelers in your October 26 edition.

POINT #1: Record keeping. Raider Coach Dave Martin voiced concern that no record-keeping or minutes are kept on anything agreed upon. Yet Martin and his staff have sat at numerous League meetings and have said nothing about this being a problem until now.

POINT #2: Jets having 38 players. The Steelers brought this matter up at a League meeting the week of September 24, and the matter was taken care of at that time, with no penalties assessed.

POINT #3: Concerning 3 touchdown lead. First of all, this is NOT a League rule. Approximately 2 years ago it became a "gentlemen's" agreement among the coaches that after 3 touchdowns teams would start substituting freely. The Steelers did this in every regular season game, sometimes to the point of pulling the entire first string before halftime. However, due to the Steeler second team's size and ability, it would have been hard for some to recognize these substitutions. Also the first time, a 15-minute extra quarter for the inexperienced players was introduced.

This was approved by all teams at a League meeting in August. Consequently, the Steeler 2nd and 3rd teams got nearly as much playing time as the first team. For the record, one coaching staff asked us not to pull our first string during regulation play. This decision was questioned by the Steeler Staff. The Steeler Coaches will not at any time risk any younger, lighter player against a 135 lb. 13-year-old.

POINT #4: Concerning Eligibility. First of all, Coach Martin, explained to the Steelers exactly where the Salem School is located. (The Salem Children's Trust, on the Lower New Germany Road, is a home for displaced children). Football is giving these kids the opportunity to be part of an organized youth activity. Furthermore, ALL PLAYERS LISTED ON THE STEELER ROSTER ARE REGISTERED IN GARRETT COUNTY SCHOOLS.

POINT #5: Gate Fees. Coach Brenneman and President Welch did, in fact, set the fees for the playoff game, because there was no one else present to make the decision. It was his understanding that in previous years, the ticket prices were raised for the playoff and championship games due to the increased cost of the referees and the championship money ($100) awarded. Therefore it makes good business sense to raise prices to cover your overhead. The Steelers publicly apologize about charging for any youth under the age of 9.

POINT #6: Scales. It is true the Steelers did not have scales for the Maryland Division Playoff game. Contrary to Martin's remark, we did not know the scales were not at Southern, as they have always been there when we played at other times. However, the Steelers were penalized 15 yards at the start of the game for this violation, just like Coach Martin has been when he didn't have scales to start a game. Coach Martin (Raiders) and Coach Wayne Georg (Steelers) agreed to play the game without weigh-in, because the scales were not available.

Now it is time for the facts. This is an account of the happenings from October 8th, 1989 to October 22, 1989.

Sunday, Oct. 8: A League meeting was held at half-time at Southern Field. The teams involved in the playoffs were present.

Monday, Oct. 9: There was supposed to have been a League Meeting at the Courthouse. No one was there.

Tuesday, Oct. 10: Denver Welch called to finalize where and when the playoff games would be held. It was agreed that the WV playoff game would be held at 1:30 p.m., they could use the locker room at 12:30 p.m., and that the Steelers would not run the game clock. The Maryland playoff game would be 3:00 p.m., all on October 15.

Friday, Oct. 13: Dave Martin called Coach Brenneman and wanted to know when and where we were playing.

Saturday, Oct. 14: Bill Kelly, Terra Alta Dolphin Coach, called President Welch and said Bill Ferry gave them permission to play in Terra Alta instead of at Southern. Bill Kelly called the Steelers and wanted to know if it would interfere with us if they played in Terra Alta. The Steelers called Denver and explained what had taken place. President Welch called Parsons Vikings (the other team involved in the WV playoffs) and told them to be at Southern at 1:30 p.m. on the 15th ready to play.

Sunday, Oct. 15: The Vikings and Dolphins failed to show up for their game, and the Raiders and the Steelers played the Maryland Division Playoff game. The game went into triple overtime with the Steelers winning the game. The Raider coaches were upset at losing and said they were not finished and they would be playing somewhere next Sunday. They apparently left Southern and went to Terra Alta and had their own meeting with several teams present.

Monday, Oct. 16: Dave Martin called Larry Brenneman at work and told him this meeting was held and the Dolphins, Raiders, Rams, Vikings, and Bears were forming their own League and the Steelers and the Jets were OUT. They (the Raiders) were playing the Dolphins for the "championship." Coach Georg called Martin and tried to iron things out and get him to let the championship game be held as scheduled, and all he (Martin) had to say was "I'm torqued, and I want justice."

The Steelers called Denver Welch to relay the happenings to the President of the League. Larry Brenneman asked Coach Tom Vent, of NHS, to call Coach Tom Woods, SHS, to try to get this thing resolved, but nothing was solved.

Tuesday, Oct. 17 Steeler Coach Larry Brenneman called Head Coach Bill Kelly of the Dolphins to try to get things straightened out so we could play a championship game. The Steelers offered to split the gate and the 50-50 money from the previous week, and even come to Terra Alta to play the Championship game. He said he would check with his coaches and get back Wednesday.

Wednesday, Oct. 18 Bill Kelly called Coach Brenneman and said that it was the decision of the Dolphin coaches and their sponsor (who has yet to be named) to play the Raiders for their own Championship. Even after explaining what this would mean to the players, who had worked so hard since August, and the friction it was going to cause in the communities, the Dolphins and their sponsor would not agree.

Sunday, Oct. 22 the Steelers were at Southern, ready to play, and the Dolphins did not show up to play. The game was declared a forfeit 2-0 in favor of the Steelers.

In summary, the Steelers demand that the accusations we have been charged with by the Oakland Raiders and the no-show Terra Alta Dolphins and not admitted having done, be proven beyond a shadow of a doubt to be true. If such allegations are found true, we, the Northern Steelers, will be more than happy to forfeit all regular season games, Division Championship game, League Championship Game, Trophy and the $100 for the 1989 Season. If none is found true, we DEMAND a public apology from those involved in this mess.

Sincerely yours,
Steeler Coaching Staff

To the Editor:

I read with disgust this past week at the appalling lack of sportsmanship displayed by the coaches and administrators of the new renegade Youth Football League. This act and another administrator's decision in the Mt. Top Oldtimers Basketball League to exclude a team from joining their league because they did not want to have an odd number of teams again this year leads me to believe that there is a strong need in this county for a Department of Recreation and Parks.

Our county is one of the few counties in the State of Maryland that does not have Department of Recreation & Parks and the advantages of having one are numerous. There are many leagues in many sports played by all ages in this county. All of these leagues are run by a few dedicated individuals who spend countless hours of their free time organizing and working towards the enjoyment of thousands of participants.

However, as can be seen by these latest two incidents, not everybody who participates or would like to participate is given an equal opportunity to do so. A Department of Recreation & Parks would ensure that all individuals would have an equal chance to participate.

This would take a heavy burden off the many people who run the many leagues in our area and would avoid decisions made in the heat of the moment that might affect our youth and how they perceive decisions should be made in times of crisis.

A Department of Recreation & Parks would not only help established leagues in team sports, but would help in opening up many of the public facilities that are closed to the general public for recreation purposes. I do not think that public facilities should be used by groups that do not want to give equal opportunity to all participants who would like to be included in that event.

To the Editor:

This letter is directed at a couple who decided to help themselves to property belonging to the community, were seen and recognized doing this act, and told a serious untruth about their intentions.

The local business people have an organization called the Greater Oakland Business Association know as GOBA. This organization has been a functioning part of the community for several years. We endeavor to promote our town and county to local residents and hope to introduce ourselves to people outside the community and state.

So far, our efforts have been for the good of both town and county. GOBA raised the money to buy the new downtown Christmas decorations, . . . etc.

This year, local GOBA members and the Monte Vista 4-H decorated the downtown Oakland area for Autumn Glory. We are proud of our community and like for it to look its best at all times. Several hundred hours of volunteer labor went into decorating all the parking meters in the downtown area. Corn stalks were gaily wrapped around each meter and crowned with a gorgeous handmade bow.

All the merchants received compliments about how nice downtown looked and everyone took pride in their town — merchants, shoppers, and parade goers alike. GOBA planned to leave the meters decorated until Thanksgiving when Christmas trimmings would replace the autumn theme.

Well, the unforgivable happened. Last week a GOBA member spotted a couple taking all the bows from the meters in town. When questioned about their actions, they replied they were taking the bows for crafts. The GOBA member was puzzled by this as it had not been mentioned at any meetings and she asked the president of GOBA about it.

As it turned out, no plans had been made to donate the bows to any organization as GOBA planned to re-use them in future decorating themes. The couple seen taking the bows had lied about their intentions and were indeed stealing the bows from the town. This couple was driving a tan pickup truck and could not be located after intense searching of town that day.

It is appalling when things like this happen in a small town. Some try to improve and there is often a small-minded person trying to tear down. GOBA spent many man hours and much money in this decorating and certainly would not begrudge someone a bow it they had a desperate, dying need for one.

Take pride in your town and don't steal from the community. Please return our bows! If your life is not complete without several dozen huge bows, GOBA will try to arrange a charity drive and donate the money to your need for purloined bows.

Sincerely,
Lori A. Orr

Editor's note: The writer of the following letter to the President of the United States asked that it be published in this column.

My Dear Mr. President:

I fear you are about to make another mistake that will haunt you for the balance of this presidency and probably deny you a second term. It will decimate the Republican Party and fracture the delicate bonding of "Reagan Democrats," such as myself, who are now registered Republicans. The only positive feature politically of your declared intention to veto the thoughtful extension of abortion rights recently passed by the Congress, is that your selection of a running mate will lose its pre-eminence as your most inexplicable, monumental mistake to date.

Let me hasten to say that I still believe in you, Mr. President, and I want very much for you and the Republican Party to succeed. Please do not allow an active minority to push you toward political suicide and to stifle a very promising future for our Party — this country can ill-afford a resurgence of the left.

If you honestly believe that the vast majority of ALL the people — well over 70 percent without massaging the numbers — do not believe strongly in the rights of women to control their own destinies and the biological workings of their own bodies, then you, as well as your advisors on this matter, are out of touch with reality. Proceed on your present course at your own peril, with the knowledge that in doing so you are dooming your own Party to take a giant step backwards for NOTHING! The People, through their normally insipid representatives in Congress, will repudiate this attempt, and all others like it, to limit the fundamental rights of women. This is an area where you can not turn back the clock, and reason, by sham or substance. It comes under the mantle of basic human rights and personal freedom to choose what's best for yourself and your loved ones — there is no place for "Big Brother" here. As real Republicans, we should be championing their clause, not trying to deny basic rights to over half our populace through oblique maneuvers.

Please re-think your stated intentions in this very sensitive matter, before it's too late. Don't let the militant right, a small minority, destroy your very promising presidency — and cripple our Party.

Respectfully yours,
Ronald R. Rowan

Garrett Planning Commission OK's Lake Construction

The Garrett County Planning Commission met recently and the major agenda item was a discussion of proposed plans to re-design U.S. Rt. 219 in the Deep Creek Lake area. That topic was covered in detail in the October 19 issue of The Republican. Other issues addressed at the same meeting are as follows:

Carmel Cove

The commission gave its unanimous final approval of construction on the first phase of the Carmel Cove Planned Residential Development (PRD) pending approval of the water supply by the Maryland Water Resources Administration.

The PRD, slated for construction by Legacy Homes, will consist of 30 single family dwellings on 14 lakefront lots and 16 back lots. A bed and breakfast, with up to five guest rooms, is also slated to be built. The PRD will be placed on 53 acres of land between Glendale Rd. and Carmel Cove. The developer hopes to provide a dock for each of the 14 lakefront lots, and has allowed for an additional 800 feet of shoreline to remain undeveloped.

The approved first phase of construction will consist of the development of eight of the lakefront lots.

Re-Zoning Along U.S. Route 219 South of Thayerville

A group of property owners whose homes are adjacent to U.S. Route 219, just south of Thayerville have recently revised their petition to have their property zoning changed from Town-Residential to Commercial to having the zoning changed to Town-Center. The properties located across the highway from these are currently zoned Town-Center. The Garrett County Planning Commission had recommended that the initial request for Commercial zoning be denied, but will consider this modified request and will offer a recommendation to the Garrett County Commissioners at the November meeting of the Garrett County Planning Commission.

Reappointments to Deep Creek Lake Zoning Board

Two local men were recently reappointed to the Deep Creek Lake Zoning Board, according to information received at last week's press conference with the Garrett County Commissioners. John Marple and Dr. Bill Savage will once again serve in this capacity.

FABRIC PLUS — A new business, Fabric Plus, recently joined Oakland's downtown business section at 212 Alder Street. Betty DeWitt, owner/manager of Fabric Plus, said that the shop carries a wide variety of fabrics, notions, Butterick patterns, along with a number of ready made items, including clocks, photo albums, pillows and quilts. All of the items are made by Betty DeWitt and she also makes some clothing and does alterations. The shop is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., on Friday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. and is closed on Sunday.

with this patient for over a year.

Dr. Miller disclosed to the board that he had sexual relations with five other patients, according to the board's Final Order.

In May 1988, he prescribed a tranquilizer for a woman and removed her clothing during a counseling session. He attempted to have sex with her at that time, advising her that she should have an affair.

According to the Final Order of the board, "The opinion of (Dr. Miller's) treating psychiatrist is that (his) behavior was not a result of a psychiatric illness but resulted from his failure to have normal psychosexual development and his failure to observe boundary lines.

"The opinion of (Dr. Miller's) treating psychiatrist is that (he) has made progress in dealing with the factors that led to his having sexual relations with his patients, and did not deny the inappropriateness and harm caused by his actions.

"The opinion of (Dr. Miller's) treating psychiatrist is that it is highly unlikely that (he) will engage in sexual relations with patients again because (he) is not denying his actions, (he) has insight into his problems, and (he) will be returning to a small town where his actions will be closely monitored."

Dr. Miller voluntarily surrendered his license last July.

Other media have recently reported that two of Dr. Miller's Oakland partners were willing to accept him back in to practice, according to information obtained from a July hearing, but according to a spokesperson for his former partners, "Dr. Miller will no longer be practicing with Garrett Medical Group."

Settlement Noted In Injury Case

A case arising from a motor vehicle collision which was scheduled recently for jury trial was settled out of court. According to the claimants' attorney, Paul C. Sullivan, the claims of Berlin Friend, Dianna Rhodes, Patrick Friend and William Upole were settled with Allstate Insurance Company for an undisclosed amount.

According to documents filed in the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Friend was a passenger in a vehicle operated by William D. Upole on October 2, 1987. Two other passengers, Ms. Rhodes and Patrick Friend, were also in the Upole vehicle. Upole was traveling south on Turkey Neck Road and Leslie Bittinger was traveling north on Turkey Neck Road when Bittinger failed to keep right of the center line and struck the Upole vehicle.

As the case was settled favorably to the claimants, the defendants was required to pay the costs of the preceedings in addition to the settlement amounts paid to the claimants.

While Sullivan represented the claimants, Bittinger and Allstate were represented by William Rudd, Cumberland.

More women under 30 have increased the amount of milk they drink than any other group. That's the findings of a new Penn State study designed to find out who is drinking more milk.

Nationwide, 14 percent reported they were drinking more milk while 10 percent said they were drinking less milk.

Younger women make up the majority of those people making a move toward milk.

When you shop locally, you're not just spending money, you're investing it. Part of every dollar you spend locally is returned to your community in the form of merchants' taxes, contributions to local charities and employee salaries.

Local business firms help pay the taxes that support schools and other vital community services. Their charitable contributions support your house of worship, youth activities and more. When you support local businesses by shopping locally...you're also supporting your own community.

No need to roam...the best shopping's here at home!

The Garrett County Crime Solvers case of the week is the request for information about the following:

The Maryland State Police are currently investigating a destruction of property which occurred at the Tri Star Mining, Koontz job site 6, located off Route 36 near Lonaconing in Garrett County.

Sometime between September 27 and 29, 1989, unknown suspects placed dirt in the crank case oil of several pieces of large mining equipment. The damage in this case could exceed $250,000.

Anyone with information about this case or any other unsolved crime is asked to call Garrett County Crime Solvers at 334-1975. The caller may remain anonymous, and need not appear in court.

If a tip leads to the arrest and charging of the responsible party, the caller is eligible for a reward of up to $1,000.

Forestry Board Association Meets At Inner Harbor

The State Association of Forestry Boards met October 27-28 at the Inner Harbor in Baltimore. The forestry board members toured the Cylburn Arboretum on Friday afternoon and toured the Baltimore Harbor on Friday evening aboard the Bay Lady.

The theme of the meeting was the partnership between the forestry board members, and the Department of Natural Resources, Forest, Park and Wildlife Service. "As volunteers, the forestry board members are a very important part of promoting the management of our forest resources today," stated Jim Mallow, associate director, Forest, Parks and Wildlife Service, who stressed the need for cooperation between the forestry boards and Forest, Park, and Wildlife Service to meet the world wide issues facing forestry today. "Some of the issues such as global warming, acid rain, and the loss of forest land will require cooperation from other organizations also," he said.

Jim Roberts, state forester for the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, had served as president of the National Association of State Foresters this past year, and he shared some of his experiences with the boards. He stressed the need for partnerships with other groups that are concerned about natural resources. Groups such as the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society, the forest industries, and others are joining with the National Association of State Foresters to face these problems.

Wally Orlinsky, of the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, addressed the group on the need for reforestation as a way of addressing some of these problems. He will be working with businesses, and civic organizations across the state, promoting reforestation on public land, under a new program called the "Greening of Maryland."

Russ Hyde, chairperson of the Association of Forestry Boards, told the group about a project the Anne Arundel County Board completed last spring. The Anne Arundel Board undertook a tree planting program on school properties called the Chesapeake Bay School Reforestation Project, using county funding.

This program proved so successful that the program will be expanded statewide this year. Jeff Horan, chief of the Urban Forestry Program with the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, explained that each forestry board would receive $1,500 through the Green Shores program, to use in a tree planting program on school property this year.

Jack Brodie, president of the Maryland Forests Association, introduced Ms. Dee Horner, the new director of the Maryland Forests Association, and stressed Maryland Forest Association's support for "partnership" among groups concerned about natural resources.

Stark McLaughlin, bay forester in Caroline and Talbot counties, gave the board members a report on the 1989 Forestry Board Workshop. Plans for the 1990 workshop are currently beginning. The workshop will be held in Garrett County again, and the dates for next year's program are August 12-19.

On Saturday, the board members visited the Marine terminal at Dundalk. The Port of Baltimore is about the eighth largest port in the United States. The export of forest products through the port is becoming an increasing part of the port's business.

The Association members also toured several urban tree planting projects which were a part of the "Greening of Dundalk" program last year. This urban reforestation project was a joint effort between the citizens of Dundalk and the Forest, Park and Wildlife Service.

The Garrett County Forestry Board was represented by John Forman, Mike Kozier, Carroll DeWitt, and Dr. Frank Custer.

told his own church where to go when it attempted to discipline him.

But how could he recover the sharp drop in mega-money income after his downfall? Gimmicks to the rescue! Just shed enough tears on stage to drown a crocodile, and soon the cash starts flowing again like the Savage River.

Yes, Kimberlie Rush, evangelists certainly may have faults. Jim Bakker's faults put him in jail.

(By the way, Mrs. Rush, the foreman of the jury that convicted Bakker was also a Christian. Is the foreman a liberal? And exactly what is a liberal? Someone less godly than yourself)?

Unholy hypocrisy, tremendous cash flows, gimmicks, extreme financial irresponsibility and outright fraud: It sounds like the Televangelists Syndrome.

Where does Jerry Falwell fit in?

Falwell may not turn on the tears as easily as Swaggart or Jim and Tammy Bakker, but he is a master manipulator, just as adept as Oral Roberts at portraying himself as God's man of the century, a man who has taken the commercialization of religion where no huckster has gone before.

If it could be said that no other minister has advanced as much respect for Christians in America as Billy Graham — a highly plausible statement — it could be just as easily argued that no one, before Bakker's downfall, has inspired as much hatred for Christians as Jerry Falwell.

When Falwell sued widely-detested pornography publisher Larry Flynt for libel, even the U.S. Supreme Court sided with Flynt.

Makes you wonder, doesn't it?

Falwell's pockets, like the bottomless pit, are never full. Give him $10 this month, and next time he wants just $100. Send him $100, and his typewriter bangs out MORE! MORE! MORE! faster than a lashing pit viper.

At any given point, Falwell is either threatening that this may be his ONE FINAL EFFORT to save America from Americans; or his ministry is on the verge of collapse (any wonder why?) and would you please, please, please get your contribution in the mail immediately because you're already five hours behind the Holy Ghost Schedule (known but to God and Jerry); or God has just given a revelation that Falwell is supposed to take a giant STEP OF FAITH with your money. (Does Falwell ever take these steps with his own money)?

Near the end of 1988, Falwell mass-mailed another of his typical sky-is-falling letters, begging shamelessly as he revealed that Liberty University could be indebted another 30 years. He very specifically described a strange and most unusual spiritual revelation, a burden, in which, we are expected to believe, God directed Falwell to raise money towards Liberty University's debts, preferably before God calls me home to glory.

(Did you hear that echo? Sounds like Oral Roberts way up in his prayer tower with a bullhorn)!

Now I'm not an accountant, but the financial condition of Liberty University sounds awfully similar to the one at Oral Roberts' empire.

And what Falwell's late-1988 letter didn't reveal to his supporters was his $100,000 annual salary, which grew to $125,000 when he got a raise, also in late 1988.

All this at a time when many small churches and countryside ministries, without the benefits of multi-million dollar television broadcasts, struggle to keep their doors open. Memberships dribble off until ministers need second jobs because their bare-bones congregations can't support them.

Is it possible that the American Soul and Wallet are addicted to what SOMETIMES amounts to nothing more than canned, convenient and televised junk religion? Unwittingly and frequently — but not always — the public is mesmerized and hypnotized by a public relations television unit that viewers never see.

It is probably true that some — but not all — supporters of electronic ministeries are hung by the noose of their own greed, as they succumb to the delusions of evangelists promising God-granted prosperity in return for cash donations to these same evangelists. (Oral Roberts compares this theology to reaping a crop after sowing seed). Strangely, these cash-desperate preachers never seem to follow their own formulas for prosperity by giving money, only taking it.

But what is wrong with earning mounds of money?

Nothing, if you think like Donald Trump. But for someone who claims devotion to Christ, Jerry $125,000 Falwell appears to have a few cracks in his cross.

Consider:

1) They have been robbed of the truth, and think that godliness is a means to financial gain.

2) No servant can serve two masters. You cannot serve both God and money.

3) For the love of money is the root of all evil.

4) It is easier for a camel to go through a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God.

5) Are you getting too liberal for you, Mrs. Rush?

6) In hell, where (the rich man) was in torment, he looked up and saw Abraham far away.

7) Listen now, you rich men, weep and howl, for your miseries that shall come upon you.

Mrs. Rush worried that my parody might offend Liberty University supporters.

Well I feel this way, Mrs. Rush: Considering what the Roberts, Swaggarts, Bakkers, and yes, Falwells, have already done collectively to America, shouldn't parents and students know ahead of time about a purported Christian school whose financial footing is faltering, while the head of that institution, professing wisdom, makes more than a tenth of a million dollars annually?

Or, Mrs. Rush, should parents/students simply jump in, on blind faith, and I do mean BLIND.

That is, after all, precisely what happened to Oral Roberts medical school students; and is very similar to the experiences of Jim Bakker's Heritage USA lifetime partners.

Mrs. Rush writes about . . . people who may have faults (don't we all), but are trying to turn this nation back to God as Craig Speicher put it.

Actually, Mrs. Rush, the words are a verbatim quote from Jerry Falwell: I will not stand by and let Christian young people, who have a vision to turn this nation back to God, be forced to attend a secular university.

(Of course Fallwell won't stand by! People who make $125,000 a year spend much of their time sitting around in Corinthian leather furniture)!

My parody ridiculed the fact that Falwell pretends that he and Liberty University alone stand between America and brimstone.

And if, rather than going through his typically hysterical histrionics, he actually believes that Liberty students have a vision to turn this nation back to God, the students certainly seem to be taking their time.

By the way, could someone — perhaps Mrs. Rush — please tell me what generation ever turned a single state, let along the whole nation, back to God?

Histrionics, histrionics, histrionics.

Where's my sense of religion? Well, Mrs. Rush, I am a writer and happen to take offense at cheap shots at people who may have faults (don't we all?), but are trying to awaken the few people who remain potential victims of religious delusions. (Somebody, somewhere is paying to keep Jimmy Swaggart on the air, God only knows why. Likewise, there are people who would do anything to keep Jim Bakker out of jail).

And while we're on the subject of cheap shots, Mrs. Rush, let's consider Christ himself. Never was anyone more merciful, understanding and compassionate. Yet there was one group who Christ never let up on, referring to them as whitened sepulchers full of dead men's bones, a brood of vipers and children of your father, the devil. These people, pure and simple, were religious hypocrites. In Christ's time, SOME of the Pharisees (probably most of them) fitted into this group. Today, SOME Televangelists fit the description.

Too bad you weren't around 2,000 years ago, Mrs. Rush, to enlighten Jesus on cheap shots!

More recently, in a major city, there was a particular, popular religious broadcast (I don't recall if it was television or radio). Oddly, from time to time, a large newspaper in that city heard rumors of bizarre behaviour about the Christians operating the broadcast. Several times, the newspaper acquired what seemed to be sufficient evidence to expose some discrepancies of the supposed Christians. Yet each time, just as a news story was ready to break, the evidence somehow fell apart. And rather than anger the broadcast's supporters with marginal evidence, the paper would kill the feature.

Then, in 1987, a ray of light broke through the confusion in the newsroom, and jaws dropped everywhere as the religion story of the decade grew into fact upon indisputable fact. The city was Charlottesville, and the subjects of the story, of course, were Jim and Tammy.

Thus, I'm not rattled if someone gets offended when I parody or satirize a sacred cow, or, as the case may be, a sacred bull.

Even so, for someone who disdains cheap shots, it amuses me that Mrs. Rush is the first and only reader, in the seven years I have written for the public, to write a negative comment about my work. And she did it while she could have been volunteering at a good local charity for which she cares so much!

Such sacrifice! Such comapssion!

Yeah, I can see why newspapers are little more than coupons and firestarter for Mrs. Rush.

To her, the subject is closed before her newspaper is ever opened.

Good Food and how to prepare it!

CAULIFLOWER winner by a head!

CAULIFLOWER . . . A NUTRITIONAL BOUQUET

Cauliflower comes from the more sophisticated side of the cabbage family, but don't let its bright green jacket and attractive, white-budded florets fool you. Cauliflower packs a nutritional wallop. It's classified among the cruciferous vegetables, along with broccoli, cabbage and Brussels sprouts. Scientists have linked elements in some cruciferous vegetables with lower rates of colon cancer, according to the American Institute for Cancer Research. These vegetables are also good sources of cancer-fighting vitamin C and fiber.

Now is the best time to buy cauliflower, and the best quality heads will be white or creamy-white with firm flower clusters. Loose, open clusters indicate overmaturity, and those with wilted, spotted or brown areas should also be avoided. Store your cauliflower in the refrigerator and use it three to five days for top flavor and nutrition.

When cooked with care, cauliflower has a delightful, delicate flavor. When cooked too long, it darkens and a harsh taste develops. To retain nutrients, try steaming it (20 - 30 minutes for a whole cauliflower, 10 minutes for florets). Or use florets in a stir-fry dish with or without first steaming slightly. Cauliflower is also delicious when served raw with a lowfat dip.

Among the best seasonings for cauliflower are thyme, basil, dill, nutmeg, parsley, caraway, celery seed, curry powder, mace, mustard, rosemary, sage, savory, tarragon, garlic, chives, lemon juice or ginger. A little lemon juice in your steaming water will also help keep cauliflower white.

EVERY PRESCRIPTION IS A MIRACLE DRUG

Because, after a personal examination and study of your problem, your physician has selected the one specific medicine he believes will help you most. The odds are it will.

That is why it is wiser to depend on your physician's prescriptions when sick instead of home remedies prepared for the average person. Also, when you treat yourself you can only treat the symptoms which distress. But a physician has the knowledge to find the cause of your sickness and cure it.

Losing and Finding

Lost something? Most of us have at one time or another.

Frantically we search. There is a checking of pockets, rummaging through drawers and a continuous mumble of questions. Where could it be? Did it slip out of my pocket? Places like a sink drain, under a car seat or behind a pillow come to mind. We retrace our steps. Time passes and we wonder if it will turn up. We try to reassure ourselves that it will.

Losing money, a wallet or identification cards makes us feel terrible. The loss of Grandma's very special ring or Pop's cherished old watch saddens us deeply. Many things can be replaced while others cannot.

Consider the consequences of losing your faith in God. If we grieve for the loss of earthly things and objects, how much more should we grieve for having lost all that is heavenly and eternal.

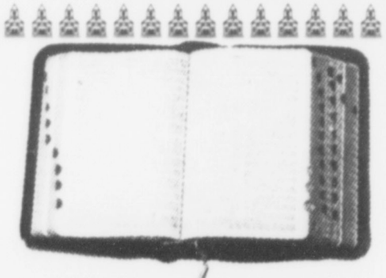

SEEK THE THINGS THAT ARE ABOVE.

SEEK AND YE SHALL FIND.

Seek Him in His house this week.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHO IS WORTHY?
November 5, 1989

Background Scripture: Revelation 4 through 5
Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 2:1-10

The Rev. James T. Parsons is the pastor of one of the fastest growing churches in America, but his marriage is a failure. (This name, as all those that follow, is fictitious.)

O.T. Penneypecker owns a string of the most successful banks in America, but two of his teenage children are hooked on hard drugs.

Ima Commer is a cinch to win her party's nomination for the Vice Presidency, if her alcoholism can be kept under control.

Just when we think we've found someone whom we can look up to, the media or someone informs us that there is something in their past or present that proves they are not quite so worthy of our esteem and support as we had imagined. "How the mighty are fallen low!" seems a growing and recurring theme in our society.

TO OPEN THE SCROLL

For many of us this is a hard reality to bear. We need some untainted heroes and unvarnished role models. We need someone to be all those things that we are not. For some people, this takes the form of extreme cynicism about human nature. These people expect to be disappointed by everyone and their expectations are hardly ever disappointed.

The writer of Revelation helps to put this into proper perspective when in his vision he sees and hears "a strong angel" asking "Who is worthy to open the scroll and break its seals?" (5:2).

Up to this point, his vision has been of God's great majesty and holiness. God is on his throne. The whole hierarchy of heaven is prostrate before Him and the four "living creatures" sing unceasingly: "Holy holy holy is the Lord God Almighty who was and is and is to come" (4:8). But his experience quickly changes from exhaltation to sorrow when he realizes that "no one in heaven or on earth was able to open the scroll or look into it, and I wept much that no one was found worthy to open the scroll or look into it" (5:3).

WEEP NOT!

It is at this moment of despair that the writer of Revelation is lifted up with the assurance that there is one who is worthy—one who, unlike all others, is unstained, uncompromised, and unspoiled: "Weep not; lo, the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has conquered, so that he can open the scroll and its seven seals" (5:5).

We need not be lifted up into ecstacy, as was the writer of Revelation, to share his assurance that, although all others may fail us, there is one who has never and will never fail us and thus is worthy of our full and complete faith and commitment. For his worthiness is the only cure for the imperfection that we share with all other human beings.

Klan's power rises, falls in 'Cross of Fire'

Mel Harris plays victim of power

By Mary Ann Townsend

Mel Harris recently took a break in filming thirtysomething to talk about her role in NBC's upcoming miniseries Cross of Fire, in which she stars as the doomed girlfriend of a powerful Ku Klux Klan Grand Dragon.

Cross of Fire, airing Sunday and Monday, Nov. 5 and 6, reenacts the true story of David Curtis Stephenson, a KKK Grand Dragon and one of the most powerful men in Indiana, whose efforts to increase the Klan's presence in the Midwest during the 1920s ultimately wound up in a murder trial.

Harris plays Madge Oberholtzer, a progressive former school teacher struggling to organize a reading program for migrant workers. Oberholtzer is immediately attracted to Stephenson (John Heard), even though she was leery about his involvement with the Klan. The fact she seemed to be ahead of her time interested the actress who plays her.

"Especially for 1925, she's an independent woman who is also, I think, very trusting of people, very caring, very committed," Harris said.

That very strength led to her attraction to the powerful Stephenson, and even though she did not let herself be blinded by her feelings for him, she ultimately became a victim of them.

"I think she lived within certain conventions. I mean she certainly dressed the way you dressed in that time—wore hats in public generally like ladies did then," Harris said. "But on the same base she was not bothered because she wasn't married. I think she was certainly content with the choices that she'd made in her life. I think she had a lot of self confidence. I think she was happy. I don't think she was a renegade or a rebel by any means. She was just following her own voice, and just a little bit different. I don't think she meant to be different, she just was."

Mel Harris plays an innocent young woman who falls in love with a charismatic Ku Klux Klan leader, whose sudden rise to power explodes in personal tragedy in Cross of Fire, airing on NBC Sunday and Monday, Nov. 5 and 6.

Renegade or not, Oberholtzer made a fateful decision to confront Stephenson after the Klan attacked a migrant family. That confrontation, as well as her rejection of his advances, ultimately resulted in her death and a murder trial for Stephenson.

The trial is presented on the second night of the miniseries. Lloyd Bridges stars as Eph Inman, the hotshot attorney hired to defend Stephenson who begins to secretly hope he loses the case so that justice is served.

Klan leaders, afraid their organization will lose its influence because of the trial, withdraw their support of Stephenson, marking the beginning of the end of the Klan's hold on the nation.

"I did a bit of research, but as far as Madge Oberholtzer, there isn't a lot written about her," Harris said. "In most of the accounts, the articles and the stories written about the trial and the incident certainly focus more on Stephenson than they do on Madge. She was more of a sideline even though sort of the reason it all happened."

The Three Stooges on video

Not their feature length movies so much, but the 20- to 45-minute shorts we all grew up watching. Usually, they're packaged three episodes to a tape. Be sure to get the one where The Stooges pose as plumbers to hide out from gangsters. That one delivered the great line, "Dis house sho' gone crazy!"

Basketball gets its own set of official trading cards

By Jeff Thompson

Major League Baseball has had them for years. In fact, some people are *fan*atic about them. They have also proven to be quite profitable.

They are the official trading cards of the game, and now it looks like there could be another kind of collection under that Christmas tree this year for children, adults, card collectors and, especially, basketball fans.

The NBA has introduced NBA HOOPS, the official trading cards of the sport of basketball.

The inaugural series contains 300 cards and is being distributed by Hoops Cards, a subsidiary of the Liggett Group. The cards can be bought in supermarkets, convenience stores and other related retailers throughout the country.

"The NBA is fan-tastic, and these collectors cards are for the fan, the collector and for kids everywhere," said Don Fish, vice president of NBA Hoops Card Company. "There's only one better way to enjoy the action and that is to be at the game."

Kids, animals take spotlight on CBS' 'Peaceable Kingdom'

By Anne Wheeler

The adult actors in CBS' Friday night series Peaceable Kingdom have thrown caution to the wind. For years, showbiz has warned actors about being upstaged by animals and children, and both are featured in the series about a zookeeper who lives at the zoo with her three children.

Michael Manasseri, who plays oldest son Dean, has had rapid success with his acting career, finding work in a Broadway musical (Oliver!), two primetime series (Raising Miranda and Peaceable Kingdom), and a film (License to Drive).

Melissa Clayton, who plays Manasseri's younger sister, Courtney, had a less successful entry into show business. On her first audition, for a hamburger chain, she did not get the break she deserved that day. Since then, however, she has appeared on several series, and has a role in the upcoming feature film Caddie Woodlawn. Born in Aspen, Colo., she lives with her family in Southern California.

Co-starring with Clayton in Caddie Woodlawn is Victor DiMattia, who plays her little brother, Sam, in Peaceable Kingdom. Born in Salt Lake City in 1980, he started acting when he moved with his family to Los Angeles at age 5. He has done guest spots on many primetime series, and voice-over work in the films Crocodile Dundee II, Clean and Sober and Turner and Hooch.

Christine Cromwell, starring Jaclyn Smith as a brilliant lawyer and financial advisor, joins the rotating series of The ABC Saturday Mystery, premiering this week.

ABC adds a new series to its Saturday Mystery

Jaclyn Smith stars as sleuth

By Justin Marshall

Jaclyn Smith joins Burt Reynolds, Peter Falk and Telly Savalas as the star of her own wheel in the rotating ABC Saturday Mystery series beginning Saturday, Nov. 11, when Christine Cromwell premieres.

In her recurring two-hour mystery series, Smith stars as a brilliant lawyer and financial advisor for a major San Francisco investment firm.

Christine Cromwell has had somewhat of a charmed life. She has an interesting mother who, after becoming a widow, remarried six times. Christine, herself, graduated from Sarah Lawrence and Harvard Law School, and after three years as a public defender, joined a small investment firm whose clients must have a net worth of at least $15 million.

The former Charlie's Angels star looks forward to having a series, especially one that airs every fourth week, so that more quality and care can go into the project. More importantly, however, she liked the concept of the show.

"This is going to have really a sense of fun and a sense of style and glamour. And it really is, you know, more in the genre of the mystery movies in the '30s and '40s," Smith said. "The audience will get to go along with me and solve this mystery. I like that. I've always liked the whodunit, and this is classic in that style."

Christine Cromwell will be light mystery like the others in the series, including B.L. Stryker, Columbo and Kojak.

Thomas Ian Griffith portrays Rock Hudson in the ABC-TV production Rock, airing in late November. The story, based on Hudson's life, ages 29-year-old Griffith 38 years. Billy Moses has been cast as Marc Christian, Rock's live-in lover boy.

Jack Scalia, who plays Tony Wolf in the new series Wolf, has made himself so much at home in San Francisco, where the series is filmed, that two restaurants have already named dishes after him. At Scoma's, diners can order Pasta al la Scalia; and at Trattoria Contadina, the new dish is Scampi di Scalia. Buon apetitio!

Two workers at a Skid Row mission and two police detectives, who just happened to be driving by, rescued actor Kevin Dobson from serious injury when he was attacked by a knife-wielding transient. Dobson, a regular donor of clothing to the downtown Midnight Mission, was just entering the mission with some clothing when he was attacked.

Lynne Stewart, who portrays Miss Yvonne, the most "beautiful woman in Puppetland," on Pee-wee's Playhouse, will be seen without her bouffant hairdo in an upcoming episode of Peaceable Kingdom.

Valerie Bertinelli stars as distraught mother

Dramatic roles help change image

By Anne Wheeler

Valerie Bertinelli demonstrates her talent for drama once again when she stars as a single mother who is threatened with losing custody of her daughter in Taken Away, Sunday, Nov. 5, on CBS.

When family services authorities and the police remove a young girl from her seemingly unattended home, her working mother (Bertinelli) must fight to prove that she is a fit mother, and that authorities have only seen circumstantial evidence.

Bertinelli, the wife of rock singer Eddie Van Halen, has had a successful career in television. For 10 years she starred as "kid sister" Barbara Cooper in the CBS series One Day at a Time. That role as a goody-goody teen earned her a Golden Globe Award for Best Supporting Actress in a Television Series, but it has also made her break into movies more difficult.

The actress knows, however, that one day producers will look beyond her fresh, cute face and see her talent, just like they did with another youthful looking star. "They'll come around," she said of movie producers. "If I don't start doing features until I'm 35 or 40, that's fine. The parts can only get better. They came around for Sally Field."

Roles like the one in Taken Away can only help change the viewing public's image of Bertinelli as a bubbling teenager. Other roles she has had in television movies and miniseries that should help include I'll Take Manhattan, Pancho Barnes, Rockabye, Young Love, First Love, The Promise of Love, The Princess and the Cabbie, I was a Mail Order Bride, The Seduction of Gina, Shattered Vows and Silent Witness.
